[1] Section 68C is merely an enabling section and there is nothing contained in that section which makes it compulsory or mandatory for a State transport undertaking to prepare a scheme. 1960 Bom 68 (91) [AIR V 47 C 24].

[2] It is the duty of the State undertaking when it prepares a scheme under S. 68C to decide whether it will take up a whole route or a portion thereof. If it decides to take a portion of the route, it should specify that portion only in the scheme. The scheme must be capable of being carried out all at once and not piecemeal. 1960 S C 350 (352) [AIR V 47 C 58] : 1960-2 S C R 130.

[3] A scheme cannot be said to violate the provisions of Art. 14 on the ground that it covers only some of the several routes in an area on which stage carriages are being plied for public transport. 1960 S C 1073 (1076) [AIR V 47 C 193]. (Such a scheme must be regarded as one for the notified routes and not for the entire area.) * 1959 Andh Pra 292

(305) [AIR V 46 C 87] : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 437 (DB).

[4] An express recital in the scheme by the State Transport Authority of its formation of the opinion that the scheme is necessary in the interests of the public is not a condition of the validity of the scheme. Such an expression of opinion is manifest from the very fact of its proposing a scheme under the section for providing for road transport undertaking. 1959 S C 308 (319) [AIR V 46 C 43] : 1959 Supp 1 S C R 319 + 1959 Andh Pra 292 (301) [AIR V 46 C 87] : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 437 (DB). (The functions contemplated in Chapter IV-A are essentially of an executive nature and hence the supervisory jurisdiction of the High Court will not extend to such acts.)

[5] The fact that no materials were given in the draft scheme to show as to how efficient, adequate, economical and co-ordinated road services would be provided by the State transport undertaking does not affect its validity. 1960 Pat 575 (579) [AIR V 47 C 198] (DB).

[6] The failure on the part of State Government to make rules under S. 68-I does not affect the validity either of the draft scheme under S. 68-C or of the approved scheme under S. 68-D. 1960 Pat 575 (579) [AIR V 47 C 198] (DB).

[7] The provisions of the Act do not authorise the Government to initiate the scheme and then hear the objections and representations, thus constituting itself a judge in its own cause in derogation of the principles of natural justice. 1959 S C 1376 (1380) [AIR V 46 C 194] : 1960-1 S C R 580.

[8] The Chief Minister of the State is not a part of the department of the Government

68D. Objection to the scheme.

(1) Any person affected by the scheme published under section 68C may, within thirty days from the date of the publication of the scheme in the Official Gazette, file objections thereto before the State Government.

(2) The State Government may, after considering the objections and after giving an opportunity to the objector or his representatives and the representatives of the State transport undertaking to be heard in the matter, if they so desire, approve or modify the scheme.

(3) The scheme as approved or modified under sub-section (2) shall then be published in the Official Gazette by the State Government and the same shall thereupon become final and shall be called the approved scheme and the area or route to which it relates shall be called the notified area or notified route:

Provided that no such scheme which relates to any inter-State route shall be deemed to be an approved scheme unless it has been published in the Official Gazette with the previous approval of the Central Government.

STATE AMENDMENT*HYDERABAD

In its application to the Hyderabad areas of the States of Andhra Pradesh and Bombay (now Maharashtra), section 68D is the same as in the Central Act given above, subject to the following modifications, namely,—

- (a) for the words "State Government" wherever they occur in the Central Act the word "Government" is substituted; and
- (b) in the Proviso to sub-section (3) in the Central Act after the words "inter-State route" the words "or to any route covering more than one hundred and fifty miles and serving places connected by railway" are inserted.—Hyd. Act XLV of 1956, S. 4 [5-10-1956].

constituted as a statutory undertaking under the Act and therefore, whatever may be the policy of the Government in the matter of nationalisation of bus transport, he cannot be said to have initiated the scheme under S. 68C. Hence in the absence of proof that he has expressed his bias for the scheme the hearing by him of the objections to the scheme is not in violation of the principles of natural justice which place an embargo on a person being a judge in his own cause. 1959 S C 1376 (1380, 1381, 1382) [AIR V 46 C 194] : 1960-1 S C R 580.

[9] Where the Court sets aside only the approval of a scheme by the Government on the ground that its enquiry was not consistent with the principles of natural justice and not the scheme itself it is not necessary to prepare a scheme afresh and notify it under S. 68C. All that the Court contemplates by its order is that there should be a fresh enquiry into the objections already submitted as well as the objections that may still be received. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (216) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

Section 68D — Note 1

[1] Where the authority invested with the power to consider the objections gives an opportunity to the objectors to be heard in the matter and deals with the objections in the light of the object intended to be secured by the scheme, the ultimate order passed by the authority is not open to challenge in Supreme Court either on the ground that another view may possibly have been taken or that detailed reasons have not been given for upholding or rejecting the contentions raised by the objectors. 1960 S C 1073 (1079) [AIR V 47 C 193]. (No appeal lies to the Supreme Court against the order passed by the State Government approving or modifying the scheme.)

[2] In approving or modifying a scheme the minister or an officer of the Government who has been invested with power to hear objections under the section acts judicially and the approval or the modification cannot be called in question merely on a presumption of bias based on the fact of his being a limb of the Government. It can be challenged only on reliable evidence showing such bias. 1960 S C 1073 (1079) [AIR V 47 C 193] + 1960 Andh Pra 214 (219, 220) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB). (Mere possibility of bias is not sufficient. There must be reasonable grounds for assuming that there is a real likelihood of there being bias.)

[3] Where the Chief Minister holding an enquiry received representations from the State undertaking after the closure of the hearing and in the absence of the petitioners (private operators), the enquiry cannot be attacked on this ground, if the representation filed on behalf of the undertaking did not contain any material which was not argued in the presence of the petitioners. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (220, 221) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

[4] Apart from the question whether the State Government acting under S. 68-D is under an obligation to set out the reasons in support of its conclusions, where there is an order adducing the reasons in support of the conclusions from the fact that a copy of this was not furnished to the petitioners but what 68E. Cancellation or modification of scheme.

Any scheme published under sub-section (3) of section 68D may at any time be cancelled or modified by the State transport undertaking and the procedure laid down in section 68C and section 68D shall, so far as it can be made applicable, be followed in every case where the scheme is proposed to be modified as if the modification proposed were a separate scheme.

STATE AMENDMENT*HYDERABAD

In its application to the Hyderabad areas of the States of Andhra Pradesh and Bombay (now Maharashtra), section 68E is the same as in the Central Act given above.—Hyd. Act XLV of 1956, S. 4 [5-10-1956].

68F. Issue of permits to State transport undertakings.

(1) Where, in pursuance of an approved scheme, any State transport undertaking applies in the manner specified in Chapter IV for a stage carriage permit or a public carrier's permit or a contract carriage permit in respect of a notified area or notified route, the Regional Transport Authority shall issue such permit to the State transport undertaking, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in Chapter IV.

was given to them was the operative part of the order approving the scheme, it does not follow that the order was not supported by reasons. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (221) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

[5] An order under the section which discloses that the main points arising in the matter had received the careful attention of the authority and that his opinions were formed on the material on record and the attendant circumstances and also sets out the various considerations which weighed with him in arriving at his decision cannot be challenged on the ground that all the objections were not considered by the authority from four standpoints, namely, whether the scheme initiated by the State Transport undertaking would provide an efficient, adequate, economical and properly co-ordinated transport service. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (221) [AIR V 47 C 72] : I L R (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

[6] The order approving the scheme can only be issued in the name of the Governor—But the decision is that of the Chief Minister and both of them, i. e., the decision and the order notified in the official gazette, are to be read as the integral part of the same order. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (221) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

[7] State Road Transport Corporation preparing scheme under S. 68-C of Motor Vehicles Act—State Government approving same with certain modifications—Tabular part of approved scheme referring to "certain routes or portions thereof" — Preamble of draft scheme however referring to the routes and different parts thereof—Held that the draft scheme and the approved scheme and the order of the Minister of Transport on the draft scheme were parts of a single proceeding and so the tabular statement of the approved scheme should be considered in the light of the preamble of the draft scheme. Therefore the word 'or' in tabular statement of the approved scheme should be interpreted in a conjunctive sense. Hence the intention of the State Road Transport Corporation must be held to be to take over the entire routes mentioned, by virtue of the scheme and not merely portions thereof. The scheme therefore was not void for vagueness. 1960 Pat 575 (578) [AIR V 47 C 198] (DB).

[8] Where the Chief Minister in charge of the Motor Transport of the State had directed the Secretary to Government, Home Department, to hear the objections, there is nothing to prevent the Secretary from giving a personal hearing to the parties, when the ultimate responsibility vested in the Government and it is the Government that approved of the scheme finally. Hearing of objections of parties is not a judicial or quasi-judicial act but only an administrative one and hence such acts are not amenable to certiorari. 1959 Andh Pra 292 (303, 305) [AIR V 46 C 87] : I L R (1958) Andh Pra 437 (DB).

Section 68E — Note 1

[1] Section 68-E is inapplicable to a case where the approval of the scheme alone is quashed. Its impact is only on the cancellation of the scheme by the State Transport undertaking or the Corporation as the case may be. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (217) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

Section 68F — Note 1

[1] Where a scheme prepared by the State Transport undertaking is approved and published by the State Government, it is the duty of the undertaking to carry out the scheme and in pursuance of it to apply for permits under S. 68F (1). There is no difficulty for the undertaking to apply for permits relating to the entire scheme at the same time. Where the undertaking decides to take up a portion of the route only it should specify that portion in the scheme. 1960 S C 350 (353) [AIR V 47 C 58] : 1960-2 S C R 130.

[2] It is not legally obligatory on a State Transport undertaking to mechanically commence the services on all the proposed routes on one and the same date. 1960 Pat 575 (581) [AIR V 47 C 198] (DB).

(2) For the purpose of giving effect to the approved scheme in respect of a notified area or notified route, the Regional Transport Authority may, by order,—

- (a) refuse to entertain any application for the renewal of any other permit;
- (b) cancel any existing permit;
- (c) modify the terms of any existing permit so as to—
  - (i) render the permit ineffective beyond a specified date;
  - (ii) reduce the number of vehicles authorised to be used under the permit;
  - (iii) curtail the area or route covered by the permit in so far as such permit relates to the notified area or notified route.

(3) For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that no appeal shall lie against any action taken, or order passed, by the Regional Transport Authority under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2).

STATE AMENDMENT

HYDRABAD

In its application to the Hyderabad areas of the States of Andhra Pradesh and Bombay (now Maharashtra), section 68F is the same as in the Central Act given above, subject to the modification that sub-section (3) reads as follows, namely,—

“(3) No appeal shall lie against any action taken or order passed, by the Regional Transport Authority under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2). The Government, may however, revise the order of the Regional Transport Authority if the same is not in accordance with the approved scheme.”—Hyd. Act XLV of 1956, S. 4 [5-10-1956].

Section 68F — Note 1 contd.

[3] A scheme proposed by a statutory authority and approved by the Government can be validly implemented by another authority which is its successor. Hence, where after the approval of the scheme proposed by its State Transport Department the Government creates a Road Transport Corporation and entrusts to it the functions of its State Transport department, the Corporation as the successor of that department is entitled to implement that scheme. 1959 S C 308 (328) [AIR V 46 C 43] : 1959 Supp 1 S C R 319+ 1959 Andh Pra 292 (301) [AIR V 46 C 87] : 1 LR (1958) Andh Pra 437 (DB).

[4] Section 68F entitles the State Transport undertaking to a permit for these vehicles automatically notwithstanding anything contained in Chapter IV of the Act in respect of a notified route. The Regional Transport Authority is bound under this provision to issue a permit to them. It is therefore a question of fulfilling a legal formality and does not affect the right of the State Transport Undertaking to ply its buses provided they are sanctioned by the scheme. 1959 All 197 (204) [AIR V 46 C 48].

[5] The State Transport Authority applying for stage carriage permits under S. 68 F (1) must also comply with the provisions of Ss. 45, 46 and 57. Hence a permit cannot be validly granted to it on an application which has not been made within the time prescribed by S. 57 (2). 1960 S C 350 (352) [AIR V 47 C 58] : 1960-2 S C R 130.

[6] Section 68F (2) does not refer to a new application made by any person for grant of a permit, and it, at least in this respect, does not overlap the provisions of S. 47. 1960 Bom 278 (283) [AIR V 47 C 80] : ILR (1960) Bom 87 (DB).

[7] A combined reading of S. 68 F (2) and

R. 11 of Andhra Motor Vehicles Rules makes it clear that the order contemplated under the said sub-section can be made by the Regional Transport Authority only after giving due notice to the persons likely to be affected by the said order. Where the Regional Transport Authority passed the order and communicated the same to the persons affected and gave them only a day for complying with that order, which in the circumstances could not be considered to be due notice within the meaning of the rule, the Regional Transport Authority did not strictly comply with the provisions of the rule. 1959 S C 1376 (1383) [AIR V 46 C 194] : 1960-1 S C R 580.

[8] The omission to serve notices under R. 11 of the Andhra Pradesh Motor Vehicles Rules renders an order passed under sub-s. (2) only irregular and not one without jurisdiction. 1960 Andh Pra 214 (222) [AIR V 47 C 72] : ILR (1959) Andh Pra 585 (DB).

[9] Section 68 F (2) (c) (iii) clearly contemplates that where there is partial overlapping of the route of the operator over the notified route, the Regional Transport Authority has power to curtail the length of the route covered by the permit in so far as such permit overlaps the notified route. The power of the R. T. A. to curtail the route under S. 68 F (2) (c) (iii) is co-extensive with the power of refusal of permit under S. 68 F (2) (a). 1960 Pat 575 (580) [AIR V 47 C 198] (DB).

[10] The Regional Transport Authority carries out duties which are administrative but in certain respects of a quasi-judicial nature and therefore when it finds that an order has been made inadvertently overlooking the fact that the law has meanwhile changed, it can review it and rectify the mistake. 1959 Cal 543 (547) [AIR V 46 C 148].

[11] Chapter IV-A cannot be read as containing the only provisions under which the 68G. Principles and method of determining compensation.

(1) Where, in exercise of the powers conferred by clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 68F, any existing permit is cancelled or the terms thereof are modified, there shall be paid by the State transport undertaking to the holder of the permit compensation the amount of which shall be determined in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (4) or sub-section (5), as the case may be.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), no compensation shall be payable on account of the cancellation of any existing permit or any modification of the terms thereof, when a permit for an alternative route or area in lieu thereof has been offered by the Regional Transport Authority and accepted by the holder of the permit.

(3) For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that no compensation shall be payable on account of the refusal to renew a permit under clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 68F.

(4) Where, in exercise of the powers conferred by clause (b) or sub-clause (i) or sub-clause (ii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 68F, any existing permit is cancelled or the terms thereof are modified so as to prevent the holder of the permit from using any vehicle authorised to be used thereunder for the full period for which the permit would otherwise have been effective, the compensation payable to the holder of the permit for each vehicle affected by such cancellation or modification shall be computed as follows :—

(a) for every complete month or part of a month exceeding Two hundred fifteen days of the unexpired period of the permit : rupees

(b) for part of a month not exceeding fifteen days of the One hundred unexpired period of the permit : rupees

Provided that the amount of compensation shall, in no case, be less than four hundred rupees.

(5) Where, in exercise of the powers conferred by sub-clause (iii) of clause (c) of sub-section (2) of section 68F, the terms of an existing permit are modified so as to curtail the area or route of any vehicle authorised to be used thereunder, the compensation payable to the holder of the permit on account of such curtailment shall be an amount computed in accordance with the following formula, namely :—

$$\frac{Y \times A}{R}$$

Explanation. — In this formula,—

(i) “Y” means the length or area by which the route or area covered by the permit is curtailed ;

(ii) “A” means the amount computed in accordance with sub-section (4) ;

(iii) “R” means the total length of the route or the total area covered by the permit.

Section 68F — Note 1 (contd.)

Government can ply stage carriages and as taking away the right of the Government to obtain permits under S. 42 (1) for the buses it intends to run. 1960 S C 801 (804, 805) [AIR V 47 C 134]. (Under S. 68F (1) the State Government is entitled as a matter of right to the necessary permits to run its buses.)+ 1960 Bom 278 (282) [AIR V 47 C 80] : ILR (1960) Bom 87 (DB). (No scheme prepared by corporation under S. 68C—Still it can apply for permits under S. 47.)+ 1960 Pat 506 (507) [AIR V 47 C 167] (DB). (Routes not notified under S. 68C—State Transport can still apply for permits under Chapter IV.)

Section 68G — Note 1

[1] The fact that this section provides for payment of compensation to the permit-holder whose permit is cancelled before the expiry of its term cannot irresistibly lead to the conclusion that the legislature proceeded on the basis that the cancellation of a permit involved a transfer of property from the permit-holder to the State and that Chapter IV-A is a piece of colourable legislation in fraud of Art. 31 of the Constitution. 1959 S C 308 (317, 318) [AIR V 46 C 43] : 1959 Supp 1 S C R 319+ 1959 Andh Pra 292 (299) [AIR V 46 C 87] : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 487 (DB).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Committee feel that the rates of compensation provided in the Bill are not adequate. They have accordingly increased the rates of compensation payable—

(i) for every complete month or part thereof exceeding 15 days of the unexpired period of a permit from Rs. 100/- to Rs. 200/- ;

(ii) for any part of a month not exceeding 15 days of such unexpired period, from Rs. 50/- to Rs. 100/- ; and

(iii) the minimum compensation payable to the holder of a permit for each vehicle has been raised from Rs. 200/- to Rs. 400/-."

STATE AMENDMENT

HYDERABAD

In its application to the Hyderabad areas of the States of Andhra Pradesh and Bombay (now Maharashtra), section 68G is the same as in the Central Act given above, subject to the modification, namely, clauses (a) and (b) of sub-section (4) and the Proviso thereto read as follows :

- |   |                    |
|---|--------------------|
| "(a) for every complete month or part of a month exceeding fifteen days of the unexpired period of the permit ; | One hundred rupees |
| (b) for part of a month not exceeding fifteen days of the unexpired period of the permit ;                      | Fifty rupees       |

Provided that the amount of compensation shall, in no case, be less than two hundred rupees."

68H. Payment of compensation.

The amount of compensation payable under section 68G shall be paid by the State transport undertaking to the person or persons entitled thereto within one month from the date on which the cancellation or modification of the permit becomes effective :

Provided that where the State transport undertaking fails to make the payment within the said period of one month, it shall pay interest at the rate of 3½ per cent. per annum from the date on which it falls due.

STATE AMENDMENT

HYDERABAD

In its application to the Hyderabad areas of the States of Andhra Pradesh and Bombay (now Maharashtra), section 68H is the same as in the Central Act given above.

—Hyd. Act XLV of 1956, S. 4. [5-10-1956.]

68I. Power to make rules.

(1) The State Government may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Chapter.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- the form in which any scheme or approved scheme may be published under section 68C or sub-section (3) of section 68D ;
- the manner in which objections may be filed under sub-section (1) of section 68D ;
- the manner in which objections may be considered and disposed of under sub-section (2) of section 68D ;
- the manner of service of orders under this Chapter ;
- any other matter which has to be, or may be, prescribed.

STATE AMENDMENT

HYDERABAD

In its application to the Hyderabad areas of the States of Andhra Pradesh and Bombay (now Maharashtra), section 68I is the same as in the Central Act given above except that for the words "State Government" the word "Government" is substituted.

Section 69I — Note 1

[1] Though power is given under S. 68-I to State Government to make rules that section does not impose a duty upon the State Government to make rules. Hence a failure on the part of the State Government to make rules under the section does not affect the legal validity either of the draft scheme under S. 68-C or of the approved schemes under S. 68-D. 1960 Pat 575 (579) [AIR V 47 C 198] (DB).

CHAPTER V

CONSTRUCTION, EQUIPMENT AND MAINTENANCE OF MOTOR VEHICLES.

69. General provision regarding construction and maintenance.

Every motor vehicle shall be so constructed and so maintained as to be at all times under the effective control of the person driving the vehicle.

70. Power to make rules.

(1) A State Government may make rules<sup>a</sup> regulating the construction, equipment and maintenance of motor vehicles and trailers.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, rules may be made under this section governing any of the following matters either generally in respect of motor vehicles or trailers or in respect of motor vehicles or trailers of a particular class or in particular circumstances, namely:—

- (a) the width, height, length and overhang of vehicles and of the loads carried;
- (b) seating arrangements in public service vehicles and the protection of passengers against the weather;
- (c) the size, nature and condition of tyres;
- (d) brakes and steering gear;
- (e) the use of safety glass;
- (f) signalling appliances, lamps and reflectors;
- (g) speed governors;
- (h) the emission of smoke, visible vapour, sparks, ashes, grit or oil;
- (i) the reduction of noise emitted by or caused by vehicles;
- (j) prohibiting or restricting the use of audible signals at certain times or in certain places;
- (k) prohibiting the carrying of appliances likely to cause annoyance or danger;
- (l) the periodical testing and inspection of vehicles by prescribed authorities;
- (m) the particulars other than registration marks to be exhibited by vehicles and the manner in which they shall be exhibited; and
- (n) the use of trailers with motor vehicles.

CHAPTER VI

CONTROL OF TRAFFIC

71. Limits of speed.

(1) No person shall drive a motor vehicle or cause or allow a motor vehicle to be driven in any public place at a speed exceeding the maximum speed fixed for the vehicle by or under this Act or by or under any law for the time being in force :

Provided that such maximum speed shall in no case exceed the maximum fixed for the vehicle in the Eighth Schedule.

73. Power to have vehicle weighed.

*[(1)] Any person authorised in this behalf by the State Government may, if he has reason to believe that a goods vehicle or trailer is being used in contravention of section 72, require the driver to convey the vehicle to a weighing device, if any, within a distance of '[2 kilometres] from any point on the forward route or within a distance of '[10 kilometres] from the destination of the vehicle for weightment; and if on such weightment the vehicle is found to contravene in any respect the provisions of section 72 regarding weight, he may, by order in writing, direct the driver to convey the vehicle or trailer to the nearest place, to be specified in the notice, where facilities exist for the storage of goods, and not to remove the vehicle or trailer from that place until the laden weight '[* *] has been reduced or the vehicle has otherwise been treated so that it complies with section 72.

*[(2) Where any excess goods are removed from any goods vehicle or trailer for storage under sub-section (1) such person as may be authorised in this behalf by the State Government shall cause a notice in writing to be served on the owner of the vehicle or trailer, as the case may be, requiring him to remove the goods within the time to be specified in the notice and if the owner of the vehicle or trailer refuses or fails to remove the goods within the time specified, the authorised person may sell the goods by public auction and the balance of the sale proceeds, after deducting therefrom the charges for the storage of the goods and the costs incidental to the sale, shall be paid to the owner of the vehicle or trailer, as the case may be :

Provided that where the excess goods removed are of a perishable nature, the sale can be held immediately after causing the notice to be served on the driver of the vehicle or trailer.]

[a] Section 73 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) thereof by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 65 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [b] Substituted for "one mile" by the Motor Vehicles (Second Amendment) Act, 1960 (LI of 1960), S. 4 [w. e. f. 1-1-1961]. ### OBJECTS AND REASONS

"It has come to notice that action taken against drivers and owners of goods vehicles, under section 124 read with section 73 of the Act, has not proved sufficiently deterrent to curb the tendency to overload goods vehicles. The amendment [by the introduction of sub-section (2)] is designed to effectively check this growing tendency."—S.O.R."

74. Power to restrict the use of vehicles.

The State Government or any authority authorised in this behalf by the State Government, if satisfied that it is necessary in the interests of public safety or convenience, or because of the nature of any road or bridge, may by notification in the Official Gazette prohibit or restrict, subject to such exceptions and conditions as may be specified in the notification, the driving of motor vehicles or of

Section 74 — Note 1

[1] A notification that no motor vehicle other than certain cars shall ply on certain roads without the previous written permission of the authority is invalid because it is ultra vires the powers conferred by the section. 1952 Nag 111 (114) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1952) Nag 69.

[2] The exceptions and conditions subject to which the power of prohibition or restriction may be exercised under this section must also proceed from the same consideration which necessitated the prohibitions or restrictions themselves. The exceptions and conditions cannot be arbitrary. 1952 Nag 111 (114) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1952) Nag 69.

Provided that where any prohibition or restriction under this section is to remain in force for not more than one month, notification thereof in the Official Gazette shall not be necessary, but such local publicity as the circumstances may permit, shall be given of such prohibition or restriction.]

75. Power to erect traffic signs.

(1) The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] or any authority authorised in this behalf by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may cause or permit traffic signs to be placed or erected in any public place for the purpose of <sup>a</sup>[bringing to public notice any speed limits fixed under sub-section (2) of section 71 or any prohibitions or restrictions imposed under section 74, or generally for the purpose of] regulating motor vehicle traffic.

(2) Traffic signs erected under sub-section (1) for any purpose for which provision is made in the Ninth Schedule shall be of the size, colour and type and shall have the meanings set forth in the Ninth Schedule, but the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] or any authority empowered in this behalf by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may make or authorise the addition to any sign set forth in the said Schedule, of transcriptions of the words, letters or figures thereon in such script as the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may think fit, provided that the transcriptions shall be of similar size and colour to the words, letters or figures set forth in the Ninth Schedule.

(3) Except as provided by sub-section (1) no traffic sign shall, after the commencement of this Act, be placed or erected on or near any road; but all traffic signs erected prior to the commencement of this Act by any competent authority shall for the purposes of this Act be deemed to be traffic signs erected under the provisions of sub-section (1).

(4) A <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, by notification in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette], empower any District Magistrate or Superintendent of Police <sup>b</sup>[(or, in the Presidency-towns, the Chief Presidency Magistrate or the Commissioner of Police)] to remove or cause to be removed any sign or advertisement which is so placed in his opinion as to obscure any traffic sign from view or any sign or advertisement which is in his opinion so similar in appearance to a traffic sign as to be misleading.

<sup>c</sup>[(5) No person shall wilfully remove, alter, deface, or in any way tamper with, any traffic signs placed or erected under this section.

(6) If any person accidentally causes such damage to a traffic sign as renders it useless for the purpose for which it is placed or erected under this section, he shall report the circumstances of the occurrence to a police officer or at a police station as soon as possible, and in any case within twenty-four hours of the occurrence.

(7) For the purpose of bringing the signs set forth in the Ninth Schedule in conformity with any international convention relative to motor traffic to which the Central Government is for the time being a party, the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make any addition or alteration to any such sign and on the issue of any such notification, the Ninth Schedule shall be deemed to be amended accordingly.]

76. Parking places and halting stations.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] or any authority authorised in this behalf by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, in consultation with the local authority having jurisdiction in the area concerned, determine places at which motor vehicles may stand either indefinitely or for a specified period of time, and may determine the places at which public service vehicles may stop for a longer time than is necessary for the taking up and setting down of passengers.

77. Main roads.

A <sup>A</sup>[State Government] or any authority authorised in this behalf by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, by notification in the <sup>A</sup>[Official Gazette] or by the erection at suitable places of the appropriate traffic sign referred to in Part A of the Ninth Schedule, designate certain roads as main roads for the purposes of the regulations contained in the Tenth Schedule.

78. Duty to obey traffic signs.

<sup>A</sup>[(1)] Every driver of a motor vehicle shall drive the vehicle in conformity with any indication given by <sup>b</sup>[a mandatory traffic sign] and in conformity with the driving regulations set forth in the Tenth Schedule, and shall comply with all directions given him by any police officer for the time being engaged in the regulation of traffic in any public place.

<sup>A</sup>[(2)] In this section "mandatory traffic sign" means a traffic sign included in Part A of the Ninth Schedule, or any traffic sign of similar form (that is to say, consisting of or including a circular disc displaying a device, word or figure and having a red ground or border) erected for the purpose of regulating motor vehicle traffic under sub-section (1) of section 75.]

[a] Section 78 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) thereof by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1942 (XX of 1942), S. 18 [3.4.1942]. [b] Substituted for "a traffic sign included in Part A of the Ninth Schedule", ibid. [c] Added, ibid.

Section 76 - Note 1

[1] A notification issued by the prescribed authority under S. 76 which merely stated that motor vehicles could stand only at the stand specified and nowhere else cannot be construed as prohibiting the vehicles from being taken to and kept in the garage of the owners for repairs. Hence it cannot be said that the notification has in anyway interfered with the fundamental right of the owner under Article 19 (1) (g) of the Constitution to carry on the business of plying stage carriages or running the motor garage for the repairs of motor vehicles. 1959 J & K 141 (143) [AIR V 46 C 59].

[2] Section 76 in so far as it relates to public service vehicles empowers the authority to make provision only for parking places and halting stations. It confers no power on it for determining the place of a permanent bus stand, that is to say a bus stand which is a sort of radiating centre of all the bus traffic of the town. Hence an order declaring a bus stand in a town whether private or public as unsuitable for use is ultra vires of the powers of the authority under S. 76. 1951 Mad 419(421) [AIR V 38 C 127]; ILR (1951) Mad 571 (DB). Held further that the order in this case was liable to be set aside also on the ground that it was passed without notice to the owner of the bus stand.)

[3] A bus stand was serving as a common terminus for two different routes. The R.T.A., in exercise of the powers conferred on them by the Rules framed under the Act shifted the terminus of one of the routes with the result that the buses operating on that route began to ply further up on the road which before the change was exclusively a part of the other route. But the R.T.A. effected the change without giving notice of the alteration to the operators on the other route. In these circumstances it was held that the alteration would not be allowed to stand because the R.T.A., which was a quasi-judicial body was bound by the principles of natural justice to give notice to those operators even though the Rules themselves did not expressly lay down any such obligation on them. (1956) ILR (1956) Andh 319 (323).

[4] The transport authority in consulting the municipality before passing an order whereby it altered the starting places and termini of all public service vehicles from a privately owned bus stand to the municipal bus stand acts only within the scope of its powers even though the rule framed by the Government has not made such consultation obligatory. 1953 S C 79 (83) [AIR V 40 C 22]; 1953 SCR 290. (The order cannot also be said to be mala fide because the Collector as the head of the District and acting in his executive capacity presided over the meeting at which the order was passed and also opened the municipal bus stand.)

79. Signals and signalling devices.

The driver of a motor vehicle shall on the occasions specified in the Eleventh Schedule make the signals specified therein :

Provided that the signal of an intention to turn to the right or left or to stop may be given by a mechanical or an electrical device of a prescribed nature affixed to the vehicle.

80. Vehicles with left hand control.

No person shall drive or cause or allow to be driven in any public place any motor vehicle with a left hand steering control unless it is equipped with a mechanical or electrical signalling device of a prescribed nature and in working order.

81. Leaving vehicle in dangerous position.

No person in charge of a motor vehicle shall cause or allow the vehicle or any trailer to remain at rest on any road in such a position or in such a condition or in such circumstances as to cause or be likely to cause danger, obstruction or undue inconvenience to other users of the road.

82. Riding on running board.

No person driving or in charge of a motor vehicle shall carry any person or permit any person to be carried on the running board or otherwise than within the body of the vehicle.

83. Obstruction of driver.

No person driving a motor vehicle shall allow any person to stand or sit or anything to be placed in such a manner or position as to hamper the driver in his control of the vehicle.

84. Stationary vehicles.

No person driving or in charge of a motor vehicle shall cause or allow the vehicle to remain stationary in any public place, unless there is in the driver's seat a person duly licensed to drive the vehicle or unless the mechanism has been stopped and a brake or brakes applied or such other measures taken as to ensure that the vehicle cannot accidentally be put in motion in the absence of the driver.

It is the person giving a signal who alone knows and he must be the sole judge of the necessity of giving the signal. 1933 Nag 177 (178) [AIR V 20] : 34 Cri L Jour 1260.

No driver of a two-wheeled motor cycle shall carry more than one person in addition to himself on the cycle and no such person shall be carried otherwise than sitting on a proper seat securely fixed to the cycle behind the driver's seat.

86. Duty to produce licence and certificate of registration.

(1) The driver <sup>a</sup>[and the conductor, if any,] of a motor vehicle in any public place shall, on demand by any police officer in uniform, produce his licence for examination.

(2) The owner of a motor vehicle <sup>a</sup>[other than a vehicle registered under section 39], or in his absence the driver or other person in charge of the vehicle, shall on demand by a registering authority or any person authorised in this behalf by the State Government produce the certificate of registration of the vehicle and, where the vehicle is a transport vehicle, the certificate of fitness referred to in section 35.

(3) If the licence or certificates, as the case may be, are not at the time in the possession of the person to whom demand is made, it shall be a sufficient compliance with this section if such person produces the licence or certificates within ten days at any police station in <sup>b</sup>[India] which he specifies to the police officer or authority making the demand:

Provided that, except to such extent and with such modifications as may be prescribed, the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to a driver driving as a paid employee, or to the driver of a transport vehicle or to any person required to produce the certificate of registration or the certificate of fitness of a transport vehicle.

Section 86 -- Note I

[1] The demand for licence can be made under sub-section (1) only when the accused is found driving a motor vehicle in a public place and not otherwise. (55) 1955 Raj L W 503 (503).

[2] Failure to produce the driving licence on demand by the Police Officer is an offence and not merely non-carrying of it on person. Where, therefore, there is no indication that a demand was made by police to produce the licence, a person cannot be convicted. 1932 Lah 383 (364) [AIR V 19] : 33 Cri L Jour 646. (Case decided under the Act of 1914.)

[3] No person is a driver unless driving. Further, it is only a police officer who can demand the licence and a Magistrate's order requiring the driver to attend a Magistrate's house or Court with his licence is illegal. 1927 All 478 (479) [AIR V 14] : 28 Cri L Jour 492: 49 All 754. (Case decided under the Act of 1914.)

[4] The conviction for a failure to comply with sub-s. (1) is not sustainable in the absence of proof that police officer who demanded the licence was in uniform at the relevant time. 1960 J & K 139 (140, 141) [AIR V 47 C 59] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1453 (DB). (A plea of guilty by the accused cannot make good the defect because it amounts only to the admission of the acts alleged and not an offence as defined by the statute.)

licence while driving his vehicle cannot be prosecuted and punished under S. 3 unless he has also failed to produce the licence within the time prescribed by sub-section (3) of the section. (57) 1957 Cri L Jour 86 (88) (Pat).

[6] There is no authority for the proposition that a motor-car which carries mails, and also carries passengers, is exempt from the operation of the ordinary rules about licence for drivers and those restricting the number of passengers to be carried under the permit. 1927 Bom 154 (155) [AIR V 14] : 28 Cri L Jour 397 (DB). (Case decided under the Act of 1914.)

[7] Unless it is specifically found by the Magistrate on the evidence adduced by the prosecution that the person who demanded the registration certificate was an authorised person the conviction under sub-section (2) cannot be sustained. Hence the conviction based on the mere affirmation in the complaint must be set aside as invalid. 1960 J & K 139 (141) [AIR V 47 C 59] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1453.

[8] A failure to produce the registration certificate on a demand made by a police officer falling below the rank of officers authorised by the State Government in that behalf does not amount to an offence punishable as a contravention of sub-section (2). (55) 1955 Raj L W 503 (503).

87. Duty of driver to stop in certain cases.

(1) The driver of a motor vehicle shall cause the vehicle to stop and remain stationary so long as may reasonably be necessary—

- (a) when required to do so by any police officer in uniform, or
- (b) when required to do so by any person in charge of an animal if such person apprehends that the animal is, or being alarmed by the vehicle will become, unmanageable, or
- (c) when the vehicle is involved in the occurrence of an accident to a person, animal or vehicle or of damage to any property, whether the driving or management of the vehicle was or was not the cause of the accident or damage, and he shall give his name and address and the name and address of the owner of the vehicle to any person affected by any such accident or damage who demands it provided such person also furnishes his name and address.

(2) The driver of a motor vehicle shall, on demand by a person giving his own name and address and alleging that the driver has committed an offence punishable under section 116, give his name and address to that person.

(3) In this section the expression "animal" means any horse, cattle, elephant, camel, ass, mule, sheep or goat.

88. Duty of owner of motor vehicle to give information.

The owner of a motor vehicle the driver <sup>a</sup>[or conductor] of which is accused of any offence under this Act shall, on the demand of any police officer authorised in this behalf by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], give all information regarding the name and address of and the licence held by the driver <sup>a</sup>[or conductor] which is in his possession or could by reasonable diligence be ascertained by him.

89. Duty of driver in case of accident and injury to a person.

When any person is injured as the result of an accident in which a motor vehicle is involved, the driver of the vehicle or other person in charge of the vehicle shall—

- (a) take all reasonable steps to secure medical attention for the injured person, and, if necessary, convey him to the nearest hospital, unless the injured person or his guardian, in case he is a minor, desires otherwise;
- (b) give on demand by a police officer any information required by him, or, if no police officer is present, report the circumstances of the occurrence at the nearest police station as soon as possible, and in any case within twentyfour hours of the occurrence.

[2] In order to bring home the charge under S. 37 (1) (a) to the accused the prosecution must prove by evidence that the police officer who signalled the accused to stop was in uniform at the time. tion only when the information sought is possessed by him or is such that it could be collected by him by exercise of reasonable diligence. 90. Inspection of vehicle involved in accident.

When any accident occurs in which a motor vehicle is involved, any person authorised in this behalf by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, on production if so required of his authority, inspect the vehicle and for that purpose may enter at any reasonable time any premises where the vehicle may be, and may remove the vehicle for examination :

Provided that the place to which the vehicle is so removed shall be intimated to the owner of the vehicle and the vehicle shall be returned without unnecessary delay.

91. Power to make rules.

(1) The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Chapter.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for —

- (a) the nature of the mechanical or electrical signalling devices which may be used on motor vehicles ;
- (b) the removal and the safe custody of vehicles including their loads which have broken down or which have been left standing or have been abandoned on roads ;
- (c) the installation and use of weighing devices ;
- <sup>A</sup>[(cc) the maintenance and management of godowns for the storage of goods removed from over-loaded vehicles and the fees, if any, to be charged for the use of such godowns ;]
- (d) the exemption from all or any of the provisions of this Chapter of Fire Brigade vehicles, ambulances and other special classes of vehicle, subject to such conditions as may be prescribed ;
- (e) the maintenance and management of parking places and stands and the fees, if any, which may be charged for their use ;

Madras Motor Vehicles Rules applies only where injury is caused to a member of the public or a public property by an accident in which the motor vehicle is involved. [1] Rule 166 of Orissa Motor Vehicles Rules of 1940 which is a statutory Rule and therefore has statutory force prescribes a very strict standard of care on the part of a driver when he is travelling backwards. It imposes a peremptory duty on him to satisfy himself that the ground to the rear is clear and that no one would be endangered or unduly inconvenienced by the operation. In the circumstances of a case it may even become necessary for him to get down from the car and examine the position to the rear every time before he makes an attempt at backing the vehicle. ## CHAPTER VII

MOTOR VEHICLES TEMPORARILY LEAVING OR VISITING *[INDIA]

92. Power of Central Government to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for all or any of the following purposes, namely :—

- (a) the grant and authentication of travelling passes, certificates or authorisations to persons temporarily taking motor vehicles out of *[India] to any place outside India or to persons temporarily proceeding out of *[India] to any place outside India and desiring to drive a motor vehicle during their absence <sup>b</sup>[from India];
- (b) prescribing the conditions subject to which motor vehicles brought temporarily into *[India] from outside India by persons intending to make a temporary stay in *[India] may be possessed and used in *[India]; and
- (c) prescribing the conditions subject to which persons entering <sup>a</sup>[India] from any place outside India for a temporary stay in *[India] may drive motor vehicles in *[India].

<sup>a</sup>[(1A) For the purpose of facilitating and regulating the services of motor vehicles operating between India and any other country contiguous to it under any reciprocal arrangement and carrying passengers or goods or both by road for hire or reward, the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules with respect to all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the conditions subject to which motor vehicles carrying on such services may be brought into India from outside India and possessed and used in India;
- (b) the conditions subject to which motor vehicles may be taken from any place in India to any place outside India;
- (c) the conditions subject to which persons employed as drivers and conductors of such motor vehicles may enter or leave India;
- (d) the grant and authentication of travelling passes, certificates or authorisations to persons employed as drivers and conductors of such motor vehicles;
- (e) the particulars (other than registration marks) to be exhibited by such motor vehicles and the manner in which such particulars are to be exhibited;
- (f) the use of trailers with such motor vehicles;
- (g) the exemption of such motor vehicles and their drivers and conductors from all or any of the provisions of this Act [other than those referred to in sub-section (4)] or of the rules made thereunder;
- (h) the identification of the drivers and conductors of such motor vehicles;
- (i) the replacement of the travelling passes, certificates or authorisations, permits, licences or any other prescribed documents lost or defaced, on payment of such fee as may be prescribed;
- (j) the exemption from the provisions of such laws as relate to customs, police or health with a view to facilitate such road transport services;

(k) any other matter which is to be, or may be, prescribed.]

(2) No rule made under this section shall operate to confer on any person any immunity in any State from the payment of any tax levied in that State on motor vehicles or their users.

(4) Nothing in this Act or in any rule made thereunder by a State Government relating to—

- (a) the registration and identification of motor vehicles, or
- (b) the requirements as to construction, maintenance and equipment of motor vehicles, or
- (c) the licensing and the qualifications of drivers <sup>e</sup>[and conductors] of motor vehicles

- (i) to any motor vehicle to which or to any driver of a motor vehicle to whom any rules made under clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1) or under sub-section (1A) apply ; or
- (ii) to any conductor of a motor vehicle to whom any rules made under sub-section (1A) apply.]

[a] Substituted for "the States" by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Schedule [1-4-1951]. [b] Substituted for "from British India", by A. C. A. O., 1948. [c] Inserted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 71 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [d] Sub-section (3) was omitted, ibid. [e] Substituted for "shall apply to any motor vehicle to which or to any driver of a motor vehicle to whom any rules made under clause (b) or clause (c) of sub-section (1) apply," ibid.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Section 92 (1A): "Section 92 of the Act and the Motor Vehicles International Rules, 1933, govern only the motor vehicles brought into India for a short stay or motor vehicles taken out of the country by persons going abroad temporarily. They do not include provisions regulating commercial traffic between India and the countries contiguous to it. The amendment . . . . makes provision for this purpose." —S. O. R.

CHAPTER VIII<sup>a</sup>

INSURANCE OF MOTOR VEHICLES AGAINST THIRD PARTY RISKS

93. Definitions.

In this Chapter—

- <sup>b</sup>[(a) "authorised insurer" means an insurer in whose case the requirements of the Insurance Act, 1938, are complied with ;]
- (b) "certificate of insurance" means a certificate issued by an authorised insurer in pursuance of sub-section (4) of section 95 ; and includes <sup>c</sup>[a cover note complying with such requirements as may be prescribed, and] where more than one certificate has been issued in connection with a policy, or where a copy of a certificate has been issued, all those certificates or that copy, as the case may be ;
- <sup>e</sup>[(c) "reciprocating country" means any such country as may on the basis of reciprocity be notified by the Central Government in the Official Gazette to be a reciprocating country for the purposes of this Chapter.]

[a] Chapter VIII shall have effect on and from 29-10-1956 in all Part B States to which the Act extends except the State of Travancore-Cochin : see S. R. O. 2419 dated 22-10-1956 in Gaz. Ind., 1956, Pt. II-S. 3, page 1784.

Chapter VIII shall take effect in the State of Kerala only from such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint ; and until that Chapter so takes effect in that State, Chapter VII of the Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Act, 1125, shall have effect in that State as if enacted in this Act.—See Proviso to sub-section (2) of section 1.

Chapter VII of the Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Act, 1125 (X of 1125) deals with "Insurance of Motor Vehicles against Third Party Risk".

Section 3 of the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1960 (V of 1960) is as follows, namely,—

"3. On the commencement of this Act,—

- (a) Chapter VII of the Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Act, 1125 shall cease to have effect in the territories transferred to the State of Madras by section 4 of the States Reorganisation Act, 1956, except as respects things done or omitted to be done before such commencement; and
- (b) Chapter VIII of the principal Act shall cease to have effect in the territories transferred to the State of Kerala under section 5 of the States Reorganisation Act, 1956, except as respects things done or omitted to be done before such commencement."

The said Amendment Act V of 1960 came into force on 15th July, 1960 — see Gaz. of Ind., 1960, Extra., Pt. II-S. 3 (ii), page 403.

[b] Substituted for the original clause, by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 72 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [c] Inserted, ibid.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendments made in 1956. — "The amendment in clause (a) is designed to remove any danger of conflict between section 93 of the Act and the provisions of the Insurance Act, 1938, under which a policy is not necessarily invalidated by temporary default in payment of deposits. . . . The amendment in clause (b) is aimed at bringing a cover note which has the same force, during its period of validity, as a policy of insurance, within the definition of 'certificate of insurance'." —S. O. R.

94. Necessity for insurance against third party risk.

(1) No person shall use except as a passenger or cause or allow any other person to use a motor vehicle in a public place, unless there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle by that person or that other person, as the case may be, a policy of insurance complying with the requirements of this Chapter.

Explanation. — A person driving a motor vehicle merely as a paid employee while there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle no such policy as is required by this sub-section shall not be deemed to act in contravention of the sub-section unless he knows or has reason to believe that there is no such policy in force.

*[(2) Sub-section (1) shall not apply to any vehicle owned by the Central Government or a State Government and used for Government purposes unconnected with any commercial enterprise.

(3) The appropriate Government may, by order, exempt from the operation of sub-section (1) any vehicle owned by any of the following authorities, namely :—

- (a) the Central Government or a State Government, if the vehicle is used for Government purposes connected with any commercial enterprise;
- (b) any local authority;
- (c) any State transport undertaking within the meaning of section 68A :

Provided that no such order shall be made in relation to any such authority unless a fund has been established and is maintained by that authority in accordance with the rules made in that behalf under this Act for meeting any liability arising out of the use of any vehicle of that authority which that authority or any person in its employment may incur to third parties.

Section 94 — Note 1

[1] The transferee of a car can claim the benefits of the insurance which stood in the name of the transferor only if he acts in compliance with the provisions of Rule 14 (c) of the Rules for Insurance of Motor Vehicles (Notification No. D. Dis 17/50/Addl. Fin. (Ins) dated nil published in the Gazette extra ordinary dated 13th April 1951). 1960 Ker 341 (342) [AIR V 47 C 156] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1461.

[2] Where the insurer would continue to be liable under a policy after the transfer of the vehicle only if such transfer had been approved by him and the vehicle is transferred without his approval and is used it must be held that such user is in contravention of S. 94. 1956 Cal 555 (562) [AIR V 43 C 159] (DB) + 1960 Ker 341 (342) [AIR V 47 C 156] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1461.

Explanation. — For the purposes of this sub-section, "appropriate Government" means the Central Government or a State Government, as the case may be, and in relation to any local authority or State transport undertaking, means that Government which has control over that local authority or State transport undertaking.]

[a] Substituted for sub-section (2), by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 73 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-sections (2) and (3).—"In sub-section (2) of section 94, the phrase "by or on behalf of" is considered too wide and might be taken to include a contractor working for a Government, who should not be entitled to receive exemption. The phrase "or State owned Railway" can conveniently be included in the phrase "owned by any Government in India" and may, therefore, be omitted. Moreover, even in the case of Government owned vehicles, exemptions should be restricted to motor vehicles used for administrative and allied purposes and not for vehicles used for a commercial purpose or for the purposes of a commercial department. A conditional exemption, may, however, be given to vehicles owned by the Government or by a local authority or a State transport undertaking and used for commercial purposes. It is being provided that exemption may be given when a fund for meeting the liabilities arising out of the use of such vehicles is constituted by them. This provision is based on the lines of section 41 (2) of the Road Transport Corporations Act, 1950."

—S. O. R.

95. Requirements of policies and limits of liability.

(1) In order to comply with the requirements of this Chapter, a policy of insurance must be a policy which—

- (a) is issued by a person who is an authorised insurer * [or by a co-operative society allowed under section 108 to transact the business of an insurer], and
- (b) insures the person or classes of person specified in the policy to the extent specified in sub-section (2) against any liability which may be incurred by him or them in respect of the death of or bodily injury to any person caused by or arising out of the use of the vehicle in a public place :

Provided that a policy shall not b[ * * * ] be required—

- (i) to cover liability in respect of the death, arising out of and in the course of his employment, of the employee of a person insured by the policy or in respect of bodily injury sustained by such an employee arising out of and in the course of his employment * [other than a liability arising under the Workmen's Compensation Act, 1923, in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, any such employee—
  - (a) engaged in driving the vehicle, or
  - (b) if it is a public service vehicle, engaged as a conductor of the vehicle or in examining tickets on the vehicle, or
  - (c) if it is a goods vehicle, being carried in the vehicle], or
- (ii) except where the vehicle is a vehicle in which passengers are carried for hire or reward or by reason of or in pursuance of a contract of employment, to cover liability in respect of the death of or bodily injury to persons being carried in or upon or entering or mounting or

Section 95 — Note 1

[1] A clause in the insurance policy that the insurer would be liable on the policy even in regard to the transferee of the vehicle only where the transfer had been made with his approval is not opposed to the provisions of the Act and hence it is a valid condition. 1956 Cal 555 (562) [AIR V 43 C 159] (DB).

[2] Section 95 (2) relates to insurance policy. It has nothing to do with user of a vehicle. When the insurance is as a private passenger vehicle the limit of the liability of the Company is prescribed in S. 95 (2) (c) irrespective of its user. 1959 Punj 297 (306) [AIR V 46 C 90] : ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB).

[3] The question whether the certificate of insurance which is necessary for the purpose of rendering the policy effective for the purposes of Chapter 8 is a question of fact. 1959 Punj 297 (303) [AIR V 46 C 90] : ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB). (Hence where no plea in regard to that question had been raised at the trial the plea cannot be raised at the appeal.)

alighting from the vehicle at the time of the occurrence of the event out of which a claim arises, or

(iii) to cover any contractual liability.

(2) Subject to the proviso to sub-section (1), a policy of insurance shall cover any liability incurred in respect of any one accident up to the following limits, namely :—

“(a) where the vehicle is a goods vehicle, a limit of twenty thousand rupees in all, including the liabilities, if any, arising under the Workmen’s Compensation Act, 1923, in respect of the death of, or bodily injury to, employees (other than the driver), not exceeding six in number, being carried in the vehicle;]

(b) where the vehicle is a vehicle in which passengers are carried for hire or reward or by reason of or in pursuance of a contract of employment, in respect of persons other than passengers carried for hire or reward, a limit of twenty thousand rupees; and in respect of passengers a limit of twenty thousand rupees in all, and four thousand rupees in respect of an individual passenger, if the vehicle is registered to carry not more than six passengers excluding the driver or two thousand rupees in respect of an individual passenger, if the vehicle is registered to carry more than six passengers excluding the driver;

(c) where the vehicle is a vehicle of any other class the amount of the liability incurred.

(4) A policy shall be of no effect for the purposes of this Chapter unless and until there is issued by the insurer in favour of the person by whom the policy is effected a certificate of insurance *[* * *] in the prescribed form and containing the prescribed particulars of any conditions subject to which the policy is issued and of any other prescribed matters: and different forms, particulars and matters may be prescribed in different cases.

*[(4A) Where a cover note issued by the insurer under the provisions of this Chapter or the rules made thereunder is not followed by a policy of insurance within the prescribed time, the insurer shall, within seven days of the expiry of the period of the validity of the cover note, notify the fact to the registering authority in whose records the vehicle to which the cover note relates has been registered or to such other authority as the State Government may prescribe.]

(5) Notwithstanding anything elsewhere contained in any law, a person issuing a policy of insurance under this section shall be liable to indemnify the person or classes of person specified in the policy in respect of any liability which the policy purports to cover in the case of that person or those classes of person.

[a] Inserted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 74 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [b] The words “except as may be otherwise provided under sub-section (3)” were omitted, ibid. [c] Substituted for the former clause, ibid. [d] Sub-section (3) was omitted, ibid. [e] The words “or a cover note” were omitted, ibid.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendments made in 1956—Sub-section (1). Proviso (i) — “At present, it is discretionary with the State Governments to lay down that a policy of insurance should also cover liability arising under the Workmen’s Compensation Act, 1923. It is necessary to make this requirement compulsory.” Necessary provision is made in clause (i) of the Proviso.

Sub-section (2) (a) — “The amendment [by substitution of clause (a) in sub-section (2)] is intended to restrict the liabilities arising out of the Workmen’s Compensation Act to six employees carried in a vehicle.”

Sub-section (4A)—“The amendment [by the insertion of sub-section (4A)] is designed to check the prevailing mal-practice whereby insurance of motor vehicles is evaded by taking out a cover note at the time of payment of tax and not following it up with a regular policy of insurance thereafter. It is being made obligatory on an insurance company to notify to the prescribed authority whenever any such case comes to its notice.”

—S. O. R.

*[95A. Validity of policies of insurance issued in reciprocating countries.]

Where, in pursuance of an arrangement between India and any reciprocating country, any motor vehicle registered in the reciprocating country operates on any route or within any area common to the two countries and there is in force in relation to the use of the vehicle in the reciprocating country, a policy of insurance complying with the requirements of the law of insurance in force in that country, then, notwithstanding anything contained in section 95 but subject to any rules which may be made under section 111, such policy of insurance shall be effective throughout the route or area in respect of which the arrangement has been made, as if the policy of insurance had complied with the requirements of this Chapter.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Section 95A "is necessary to validate in India policies of insurance issued by the insurers of any reciprocating country in respect of motor vehicles which ply on any route common to India and the country concerned in pursuance of a mutual arrangement between the two countries."

—S. O. R.

96. Duty of insurers to satisfy judgments against persons insured in respect of third party risks.

(1) If, after a certificate of insurance [* * *] has been issued under sub-section (4) of section 95 in favour of the person by whom a policy has been effected, judgment in respect of any such liability as is required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 95 (being a liability covered by the terms of the policy) is obtained against any person insured by the policy, then, notwithstanding that the insurer may be entitled to avoid or cancel or may have avoided or cancelled the policy, the insurer shall, subject to the provisions of this section, pay to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree any sum not exceeding the sum assured payable thereunder, as if he were the judgment-debtor, in respect of the liability, together with any amount payable in respect of costs and any sum payable in respect of interest on that sum by virtue of any enactment relating to interest on judgments.

[1] Section 96 has not the effect of denying equal protection of laws to the insurers and is therefore not violative of Art. 14 of the Constitution. 1959 Punj 297 (302, 303) [AIR V 46 C 90] : ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB). (This section merely confers an additional right to the insurer namely that of defending himself even in the third party's action against an assured on certain specified grounds. His right to avoid liability on other grounds by taking appropriate action against the assured under the general law has, however, not been restricted by it.)

[2] The object and purpose of S. 96 is only to simplify the procedure for determining the parties' rights in a running down accident. Under the general law the injured person could file a suit only against the assured and could not implead the insurers. After the decision of this suit the assured becomes entitled to sue the insurers. These two independent suits arising out of the same accident involved considerable waste of time and money and therefore under S. 96 both the suits are combined in one without affecting in anyway the respective rights of the injured person and the insurers qua each other. In this context making the insurer liable while debarring him from raising in defence pleas which are open to the assured cannot amount to a violation of natural justice. Hence the section is not unconstitutional. 1959 Punj 297 (302) [AIR V 46 C 90] : ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB).

[3] Section 96 (2) deals with third party procedure where a person not a party to the suit would become liable to satisfy the decree passed in a run-down action. 1955 Punj 187 (188) [(S) AIR V 42 C 74] : I L R (1955) Punj 1174 (DB).

[4] Though the insurance company is not a necessary party in the suit for damages it may be made a party to the proceeding in order to enable it to watch its interest and see that there was no collusion between plaintiffs and the assured or to plead on the ground mentioned in sub-section (2) (a) and (b) of S. 96. 1957 Mad 236 (238) [AIR V 44 C 78].

[5] An insurer cannot be brought on record under sub-section (2) subject to the restriction that he could only watch the proceedings and not raise any defence. 1957 Mad 779 (780) [AIR V 44 C 256].

[6] An insurer who has a right to be made a party in an action by the injured person only under sub-section 2 of this section and not otherwise cannot plead in his defence all those grounds available at law including those the assured himself could have relied upon. His right to defence being a creation of the statute

(2) No sum shall be payable by an insurer under sub-section (1) in respect of any judgment unless before or after the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment is given the insurer had notice through the Court of the bringing of the proceedings, or in respect of any judgment so long as execution is stayed thereon pending an appeal; and an insurer to whom notice of the bringing of any such proceedings is so given shall be entitled to be made a party thereto and to defend the action on any of the following grounds, namely :—

- (a) that the policy was cancelled by mutual consent or by virtue of any provision contained therein before the accident giving rise to the liability, and that either the certificate of insurance was surrendered to the insurer or that the person to whom the certificate was issued has made an affidavit stating that the certificate has been lost or destroyed, or that either before or not later than fourteen days after the happening of the accident the insurer has commenced proceedings for cancellation of the certificate after compliance with the provisions of section 105; or
- (b) that there has been a breach of a specified condition of the policy, being one of the following conditions, namely :—
  - (i) a condition excluding the use of the vehicle—
    - (a) for hire or reward, where the vehicle is on the date of the contract of insurance a vehicle not covered by a permit to ply for hire or reward, or
    - (b) for organised racing and speed testing, or
    - (c) for a purpose not allowed by the permit under which the vehicle is used, where the vehicle is <sup>aa</sup>[a transport vehicle], or
    - (d) without side-car being attached, where the vehicle is a motor cycle; or

he can defend the action only on the grounds specifically mentioned in the sub-section. 1959 S C 1331 (1333, 1334) [AIR V 46 C 187]; 1960-1 S C R 168; I L R (1959) Punj 1835 * 1959 Punj 297 (302) [AIR V 46 C 90]; I L R (1959) Punj 714 (DB)*1955 Punj 187 (188) [(S) AIR V 42 C 74]; ILR (1955) Punj 1174 (DB)*1953 Bom 109 (110) [AIR V 40 C 35]; I L R (1953) Bom 296 (DB). (Hence the right of the insurer to be made a party to the suit is also restricted to the self same matters on which it can put forward.)

[7] A change of ownership of the vehicle during the term of the policy will not result in the lapse of the policy. Hence the insurer cannot avoid the payment of compensation under the policy to the victim of an accident on the ground of the sale of the motor vehicle. ('60) 1960-2 Mad L Jour 202 (203, 204).

[8] The fact that the third party did not specifically rely on S. 96 in the trial Court cannot estop him from objecting to the insurer preferring an appeal against the decree on grounds other than those that are permitted to him under sub-section (2) of this section. 1959 Punj 297 (301) [AIR V 46 C 90]; ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB).

[9] The fact that the insurers were impleaded as defendants by the plaintiff himself at the time of the filing of the plaint and not on their own application later on cannot negative the effect of S. 96 and add to the insurers' right of defence against third party claims. 1959 Punj

297 (302) [A I R V 46 C 90]; ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB).

[10] Even where the insurer cannot come in and defend a suit by a third party under sub-section (2) he should be allowed as a matter of elementary justice to defend at least through the defendant or in the name of the defendant if the judgment in the suit is to be enforced against him. 1955 Bom 278 (279) [(S) AIR V 42 C 73].

[11] A notice through Court required to be given to the insurance company under S. 96 must be of a reasonable duration. Hence where an ex parte decree is passed and the insurance company satisfies the Court through the defendant who is nominal defendant only that it had no sufficient time to defend the case the Court acting under its inherent jurisdiction can set aside such decree. 1953 Bom 109 (111) [AIR V 40 C 35]; ILR (1953) Bom 296.

[12] It is no doubt true that the object of providing notice to the insurance company through the Court under S. 96 is to enable the insurance company to defend the action in its own right and in its own name under any of the grounds enumerated in this section but there is another purpose or object and that is to enable the insurance company to see that the action is properly defended and that the decree does not go against the defendant by default or that the decree is not passed collusively against the defendant. Hence where it is found that the defendant who had left India

- (ii) a condition excluding driving by a named person or persons or by any person who is not duly licensed, or by any person who has been disqualified for holding or obtaining a driving licence during the period of disqualification; or
- (iii) a condition excluding liability for injury caused or contributed to by conditions of war, civil war, riot or civil commotion; or
- (c) that the policy is void on the ground that it was obtained by the non-disclosure of a material fact or by a representation of fact which was false in some material particular.

[(2A) Where any such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (1) is obtained from a Court in the State of Jammu and Kashmir or in a reciprocating country and in the case of a foreign judgment is, by virtue of the provisions of section 13 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, conclusive as to any matter adjudicated upon by it, the insurer (being an insurer registered under the Insurance Act, 1938, and whether or not he is registered under the corresponding law of the reciprocating country) shall be liable to the person entitled to the benefit of the decree in the manner and to the extent specified in sub-section (1), as if the judgment were given by a Court in India :

Provided that no sum shall be payable by the insurer in respect of any such judgment unless, before or after the commencement of the proceedings in which the judgment is given, the insurer had notice through the Court concerned of the bringing of the proceedings and the insurer to whom notice is so given is entitled under the corresponding law of the State of Jammu and Kashmir or of the reciprocating country, to be made a party to the proceedings and to defend the action on grounds similar to those specified in sub-section (2).

is not likely to defend the action and the notice under S. 96 has been served on the insurance company the Court can exercise its inherent powers under S. 151, Civil Procedure Code in the interest of justice and permit the insurance company to defend the action in the name of the defendant even on grounds not mentioned under sub-section (2). 1955 Bom 39 (41, 42) [(S) AIR V 42 C 9] : ILR (1954) Bom 1422 (DB) + 1960 Punj 131 (132) [AIR V 47 C 42] : ILR (1960) 1 Punj 365. (Assured himself defending action and objecting to insurer being allowed to defend on merits — Insurer unable to prove collusion on the part of the assured — Held, Court rightly refused to exercise its power under S. 151 Civil P. C. to allow the prayer of the insurer.) + 1955 Punj 187 (189) [(S) AIR V 42 C 74] : ILR (1955) Punj 1174 (DB).

[But see 1959 Punj 297 (303) [AIR V 46 C 90] : ILR (1959) Punj 714 (DB). (Suit against assured and insurer decreed against both — Assured not filing appeal — Insurer cannot be permitted by invoking powers under S. 151, Civil P. C. to argue the appeal in the name of the assured on grounds which the insurer cannot rely upon under sub-s. (2) of this section.)]

[13] The insurer cannot enforce against the insured the "control of proceedings clause" in the policy and represent him in the third party's action when the insured disputes his right to take over the defence in the action. Punj 131 (132) [AIR V 47 C 42] : ILR (1960) 1 Punj 365. (Even if he can enforce such a clause he must claim the right at the trial itself : When having failed on defence he took up at the trial he claims the right under the clause for the first time in revision his claim must be rejected as untenable.)

[14] A suit by a third party against the insurance company for damages sustained by him in a motor accident is not maintainable. The third party has a right of suit only against the insured. Section 96 gives him only the right to execute the decree obtained against the insured against the insurance company as if the company itself were the judgment-debtor. 1958 Andh Pra 309 (310) [AIR V 45 C 85] : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 281 + 1957 Mad 236 (238) [AIR V 44 C 78]. (Where the assured is dead he should implead his heirs and legal representatives. Without them he cannot proceed against the insurer.)

[15] Where a suit by the third party against the assured is barred by Art. 22 of the Limitation Act it is also barred against the insurance company which has been made a co-defendant in the suit. Art. 86 (b) of the Limitation Act cannot help to save the suit against the company because its application is limited to suits by the assured against the insurers. 1958 Andh Pra 309 (310) [AIR V 45 C 85] : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 281.

[16] Sub-section (2) does not contemplate the passing of a decree against the insurer himself. It is only a declaratory provision which permits the insurer being deemed to be the judgment-debtor for the purposes of executing the decree passed against the assured. 1959 J & K 90 (91) [AIR V 46 C 36] + 1957 Mad 236 (238) [AIR V 44 C 78].

[17] The decree passed against the assured in an action for damages can be enforced against the insurance company as if it is the judgment-debtor even though the insurance company is not a party defendant and is not

(3) Where a certificate of insurance "[* * *]" has been issued under sub-section (4) of section 95 to the person by whom a policy has been effected, so much of the policy as purports to restrict the insurance of the persons insured thereby by reference to any conditions other than those in clause (b) of sub-section (2) shall, as respects such liabilities as are required to be covered by a policy under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 95, be of no effect :

Provided that any sum paid by the insurer in or towards the discharge of any liability of any person which is covered by the policy by virtue only of this sub-section shall be recoverable by the insurer from that person.

(4) If the amount which an insurer becomes liable under this section to pay in respect of a liability incurred by a person insured by a policy exceeds the amount for which the insurer would apart from the provisions of this section be liable under the policy in respect of that liability, the insurer shall be entitled to recover the excess from that person.

(5) In this section the expressions "material fact" and "material particular" mean, respectively, a fact or particular of such a nature as to influence the judgment of a prudent insurer in determining whether he will take the risk and, if so, at what premium and on what conditions, and the expression "liability covered by the terms of the policy" means a liability which is covered by the policy or which would be so covered but for the fact that the insurer is entitled to avoid or cancel or has avoided or cancelled the policy.

(6) No insurer to whom the notice referred to in sub-section (2) <sup>b</sup>[or sub-section (2A)] has been given shall be entitled to avoid his liability to any person entitled to the benefit of any such judgment as is referred to in sub-section (1) <sup>b</sup>[or sub-section (2A)] otherwise than in the manner provided for in sub-section (2) <sup>b</sup>[or in the corresponding law of the State of Jammu and Kashmir or of the reciprocating country, as the case may be].

[a] The words "or a cover note" were omitted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1958 (C of 1958), S. 76 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [aa] Substituted for the words "a public service vehicle or a goods vehicle" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1960 (LVIII of 1960), S. 3 and Sch. II [26-12-1960]. #### OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (2A). — This sub-section "provides for the insurer's liability where the cause of action arises in the State of Jammu and Kashmir or in a reciprocating country."
—S. O. R.

97. Rights of third parties against insurers on insolvency of the insured.

(1) Where under any contract of insurance effected in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter a person is insured against liabilities which he may incur to third parties then—

(a) in the event of the person becoming insolvent or making a composition or arrangement with his creditors, or

eo nomine a judgment-debtor. Hence the absence of a direction in the decree that it should be paid by the insurance company solely or jointly with the assured cannot save the insurer from payment. 1956 Mad 464 (466) [AIR V 43 C 151] : ILR (1957) Mad 308.

[18] The claim of the insurer for exemption from liability on the ground that the policy in question had been cancelled and the certificate of insurance returned to them before the occurrence of the accident on the basis of which they are sought to be made liable falls within the ground of defence mentioned in sub-clause (a) of clause (2) of S. 96. 1957 Mad 779 (780) [AIR V 44 C 256].

[19] Where a fatal accident occurred while the vehicle was being driven by an unlicensed person with the connivance of and in the presence of the driver it was held that any liability to pay damages to the heirs of the deceased could not arise against the insurance company. 1955 Assam 157 (161) [(S) AIR V 42 C 36] (DB).

Section 97 — Note 1

[1] The third party can sue the insurance company directly under the policy where the insured is an insolvent. 1958 Andh Pra 309 (310) [AIR V 46 C 85] : ILR (1958) Andh Pra 261.

(b) where the insured person is a company, in the event of a winding up order being made or a resolution for a voluntary winding up being passed with respect to the company or of a receiver or manager of the company's business or undertaking being duly appointed, or of possession being taken by or on behalf of the holders of any debentures secured by a floating charge of any property comprised in or subject to the charge, if, either before or after that event, any such liability is incurred by the insured person, his rights against the insurer under the contract in respect of the liability shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any provision of law, be transferred to and vest in the third party to whom the liability was so incurred.

(2) Where an order for the administration of the estate of a deceased debtor is made according to the law of insolvency, then, if any debt provable in insolvency is owing by the deceased in respect of a liability to a third party against which he was insured under a contract of insurance in accordance with the provisions of this Chapter, the deceased debtor's rights against the insurer in respect of that liability shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary in any provision of law, be transferred to and vest in the person to whom the debt is owing.

(3) Any condition in a policy issued for the purposes of this Chapter purporting either directly or indirectly to avoid the policy or to alter the rights of the parties thereunder upon the happening to the insured person of any of the events specified in clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (1) or upon the making of an order for the administration of the estate of a deceased debtor according to the law of insolvency shall be of no effect.

(4) Upon a transfer under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) the insurer shall be under the same liability to the third party as he would have been to the insured person, but—

(a) if the liability of the insurer to the insured person exceeds the liability of the insured person to the third party, nothing in this Chapter shall affect the rights of the insured person against the insurer in respect of the excess, and

(b) if the liability of the insurer to the insured person is less than the liability of the insured person to the third party, nothing in this Chapter shall affect the rights of the third party against the insured person in respect of the balance.

98. Duty to give information as to insurance.

(1) No person against whom a claim is made in respect of any liability referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 95 shall on demand by or on behalf of the person making the claim refuse to state whether or not he was insured in respect of that liability by any policy issued under the provisions of this Chapter, or would have been so insured if the insurer had not avoided or cancelled the policy, nor shall he refuse, if he was or would have been so insured, to give such particulars with respect to that policy as were specified in the certificate of insurance issued in respect thereof.

(2) In the event of any person becoming insolvent or making a composition or arrangement with his creditors or in the event of an order being made for the administration of the estate of a deceased person according to the law of insolvency, or in the event of a winding up order being made or a resolution for a voluntary winding up being passed with respect to any company or of a receiver or manager of the company's business or undertaking being duly appointed or of possession being taken by or on behalf of the holders of any debentures secured by a floating charge on any property comprised in or subject to the charge, it shall be the duty of the insolvent debtor, personal representative of the deceased debtor or company, as the case may be, or the official assignee or receiver in insolvency, trustee, liquidator, receiver or manager, or person in possession of the property to give at the request of any person claiming that the insolvent debtor, deceased debtor or company is under such liability to him as is covered by the provisions of this Chapter, such information as may reasonably be required by him for the purpose of ascertaining whether any rights have been transferred to and vested in him by section 97, and for the purpose of enforcing such rights, if any; and any such contract of insurance as purports whether directly or indirectly to avoid the contract or to alter the rights of the parties thereunder upon the giving of such information in the events aforesaid, or otherwise to prohibit or prevent the giving thereof in the said events, shall be of no effect.

(3) If, from the information given to any person in pursuance of sub-section (2) or otherwise, he has reasonable ground for supposing that there have or may have been transferred to him under this Chapter rights against any particular insurer, that insurer shall be subject to the same duty as is imposed by the said sub-section on the persons therein mentioned.

(4) The duty to give the information imposed by this section shall include a duty to allow all contracts of insurance, receipts for premiums, and other relevant documents in the possession or power of the person on whom the duty is so imposed to be inspected and copies thereof to be taken.

99. Settlement between insurers and insured persons.

(1) No settlement made by an insurer in respect of any claim which might be made by a third party in respect of any liability of the nature referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 95 shall be valid unless such third party is a party to the settlement.

(2) Where a person who is insured under a policy issued for the purposes of this Chapter has become insolvent, or where, if such insured person is a company, a winding up order has been made or a resolution for a voluntary winding up has been passed with respect to the company, no agreement made between the insurer and the insured person after liability has been incurred to a third party and after the commencement of the insolvency or winding up, as the case may be, nor any waiver, assignment or other disposition made by or payment made to the insured person after the commencement aforesaid shall be effective to defeat the rights transferred to the third party under this Chapter, but those rights shall be the same as if no such agreement, waiver, assignment, or disposition or payment has been made.

100. Saving in respect of sections 97, 98 and 99.

(1) For the purposes of sections 97, 98 and 99, a reference to "liabilities to third parties" in relation to a person insured under any policy of insurance shall not include a reference to any liability of that person in the capacity of insurer under some other policy of insurance.

(2) The provisions of sections 97, 98 and 99 shall not apply where a company is wound up voluntarily merely for the purposes of reconstruction or of an amalgamation with another company.

101. Insolvency of insured persons not to affect liability of insured or claims by third parties.

Where a certificate of insurance has been issued to the person by whom a policy has been effected, the happening in relation to any person insured by the policy of any such event as is mentioned in sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) of section 97 shall, notwithstanding anything in this Chapter, not affect any liability of that person of the nature referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 95; but nothing in this section shall affect any rights against the insurer conferred under the provisions of sections 97, 98 and 99 on the person to whom the liability was incurred.

102. Effect of death on certain causes of action.

Notwithstanding anything contained in section 306 of the Indian Succession Act, 1925, the death of a person in whose favour a certificate of insurance '[* * *]' had been issued, if it occurs after the happening of an event which has given rise to a claim under the provisions of this Chapter, shall not be a bar to the survival of any cause of action arising out of the said event against his estate or against the insurer.

[a] The words "or cover note" were omitted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act 1958 (C of 1958), S. 77 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

103. Effect of certificate of insurance.

When an insurer has issued a certificate of insurance in respect of a contract of insurance between the insurer and the insured person, then—

- (a) if and so long as the policy described in the certificate has not been issued by the insurer to the insured, the insurer shall, as between himself and any other person except the insured, be deemed to have issued to the insured person a policy of insurance conforming in all respects with the description and particulars stated in such certificate; and
- (b) if the insurer has issued to the insured the policy described in the certificate, but the actual terms of the policy are less favourable to persons claiming under or by virtue of the policy against the insurer either directly or through the insured than the particulars of the policy as stated in the certificate, the policy shall, as between the insurer and any other person except the insured, be deemed to be in terms conforming in all respects with the particulars stated in the said certificate.

104. Duty to surrender certificate on cancellation of policy.

(1) Whenever the period of cover under a policy of insurance issued under the provisions of this Chapter is terminated or suspended by any means before its expiration by effluxion of time, the insured person shall within seven days after such termination or suspension deliver to the insurer by whom the policy was issued the latest certificate of insurance given by the insurer in respect of the said policy, or, if the said certificate has been lost or destroyed, make an affidavit to that effect.

(2) Whoever fails to surrender a certificate of insurance or to make an affidavit, as the case may be, in accordance with the provisions of this section shall be punishable with fine which may extend to fifteen rupees for every day that the offence continues subject to a maximum of five hundred rupees.

105. Duty of insurer to notify registering authority cancellation or suspension of the policy.

Whenever a policy of insurance issued under the provisions of this Chapter is cancelled or suspended by the insurer who has issued the policy, the insurer shall within seven days notify such cancellation or suspension to the registering authority in whose records the registration of the vehicle covered by the policy of insurance is recorded or to such other authority as the [State Government] may prescribe.

[1] The plaintiff in a suit for damages for personal injury, brought by him against the owner of the vehicle and insurance company, is entitled to bring on record, on the death of the owner during the pendency of the suit, his legal representatives. The cause of action survives under S. 102 only against the representatives of the deceased and not against the estate because the estate as such is neither a person nor the legal representative of a person against whom a decree can be passed. 1957 Mad 236 (241 to 243) [AIR V 44 C 78]. (The

L. Rs. cannot successfully resist the application of the plaintiff on the plea that they hold no estate of the deceased. Such a plea would avail them only when the decree is enforced against them.)

Section 105 — Note 1

[1] Omission to notify cancellation or suspension of a policy as required by S. 105 does not keep alive the rights of the third parties to claim benefits under that policy. 1956 Cal 555 (562) [AIR V 43 C 159] (DB).

106. Production of certificate of insurance.

(1) Any person driving a motor vehicle in any public place shall on being so required by a police officer in uniform <sup>a</sup>[authorised in this behalf by the State Government] produce the certificate of insurance relating to the use of the vehicle.

b[* * * * *]

(2) If, where owing to the presence of a motor vehicle in a public place an accident occurs involving bodily injury to another person, the driver of the vehicle does not at the time produce the certificate of insurance to a police officer, he shall produce the certificate of insurance at the police station at which he makes the report required by section 89;

b[* * * * *]

<sup>a</sup>[(2A) No person shall be liable to conviction under sub-section (1) or sub-section (2) by reason only of the failure to produce the certificate of insurance if, within seven days from the date on which its production was required under sub-section (1), or as the case may be, from the date of occurrence of the accident, he produces the certificate at such police station as may have been specified by him to the police officer who required its production or, as the case may be, to the police officer at the site of the accident or to the officer in charge of the police station at which he reported the accident :

Provided that except to such extent and with such modifications as may be prescribed, the provisions of this sub-section shall not apply to the driver of a transport vehicle.]

(3) The owner of a motor vehicle shall give such information as he may be required by or on behalf of a police officer empowered in this behalf by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] to give for the purpose of determining whether the vehicle was or was not being driven in contravention of section 94 and on any occasion when the driver was required under this section to produce his certificate of insurance.

(4) In this section the expression "produce his certificate of insurance" means produce for examination the relevant certificate of insurance or such other evidence as may be prescribed that the vehicle was not being driven in contravention of section 94.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendments made in 1956 — The amendments are intended "to enable the State Governments to restrict the powers of junior police officers in the matter of demanding production of certificates of insurance in respect of motor vehicles. It is considered that the driver of a transport vehicle should be required to carry the certificate of insurance on the vehicle at all times in order to facilitate the task of the checking staff . . . . As certificates of registration and fitness are already required to be carried on transport vehicles, this additional requirement is not likely to cause any inconvenience." —S. O. R.

107. Production of certificates of insurance on application for authority to use vehicle.

A <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may make rules requiring the owner of any motor vehicle when applying whether by payment of a tax or otherwise for authority to use the vehicle in a public place to produce such evidence as may be prescribed by those rules to the effect that either—

(a) on the date when the authority to use the vehicle comes into operation there will be in force the necessary policy of insurance in relation to the use of the vehicle by the applicant or by other persons on his order or with his permission, or

(b) the vehicle is a vehicle to which section 94 does not apply.

108. Co-operative Insurance.

(1) A <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, on the application of a co-operative society of <sup>a</sup>[transport vehicle] owners registered or deemed to have been registered under the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, or under an Act of a <sup>a</sup>[State] Legislature governing the registration of Co-operative Societies and subject to the control of the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the State, allow the society to transact the business of an insurer for the purposes of this Chapter <sup>b</sup>[ * * * ], subject to the following conditions, namely :—

- (a) the society shall establish and maintain a fund of not less than twenty-five thousand rupees for the first fifty vehicles or fractional part thereof and pro rata for every additional vehicle in the possession of <sup>c</sup>[members of, and insured with, the society subject to a maximum of one hundred and fifty thousand rupees] and the said fund shall be lodged in such custody as the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may prescribe and shall not be available for meeting claims or other expenses except in the event of the winding up of the society ;
- <sup>d</sup>[(b) the insurance business of the society shall, except to the extent permitted under clause (cc), be limited to transport vehicles owned by its members, and its liability shall be limited as specified in sub-section (2) of section 95 ;]
- (c) the society shall, if required by the State Government, reinsure against claims above <sup>e</sup>[such amount as may be specified by the State Government] ;
- <sup>f</sup>[(cc) the society may, if permitted by the State Government and subject to such conditions and limitations as may be imposed by it, accept re-insurances from other societies allowed to transact the business of an insurer under this section ;]
- (d) the provisions of this Chapter, in so far as they relate to the protection of third parties and to the issue and production of certificates, shall apply in respect of any insurance effected by the society ;
- (e) an independent authority not associated with the society shall be appointed by the State Government to facilitate and assist in the settling of claims against the society ;
- (f) the society shall operate on an insurance basis, that is to say,—
  - (i) it shall levy its premiums in respect of a period not exceeding twelve months, during which period the insured shall be held covered in respect of all accidents arising, subject to the limits of liability specified in <sup>g</sup>[ * * * ] sub-section (2) of section 95 ;
  - (ii) it shall charge premiums estimated to be sufficient, having regard to the risks, to meet the capitalised value of all claims arising during the period of cover, together with an adequate charge for expenses attaching to the issue of policies and to the settlement of claims arising thereunder ;
- (g) the society shall furnish to the <sup>h</sup>[Controller of Insurance] the returns required to be furnished by insurers under the provisions of the Insurance Act, 1938, and the <sup>h</sup>[Controller of Insurance] may exercise in respect thereof any of the powers exercisable by him in respect of returns made to him under the said Act ; [ * * * ]
- <sup>i</sup>[(h) the society shall, in respect of any business transacted by it of the nature referred to in clause (i) of the proviso to sub-section (1) of section 95, be deemed to be an insurer within the meaning of sub-section (1) of section 10 and sub-section (6) of section 13 of the Insurance Act, 1938 ;
- (i) the provisions of the Insurance Act, 1938, relating to the winding up of insurance companies shall, to the exclusion of any other law inconsistent therewith and subject to such modifications as may be prescribed, apply to the winding up of the society.]

(2) Except as provided in sub-section (1), the Insurance Act, 1938, shall not apply to any co-operative society of <sup>4</sup>[transport vehicle] owners allowed to transact the business of an insurer under this section.

[a] Substituted for "public service vehicle" by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 79 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [b] The words "as if the society were an authorised insurer" were omitted, ibid. [c] Substituted for "members of the society", ibid. [d] Substituted for the former clause (b), ibid. [e] Substituted for "a prescribed amount", ibid. [f] Inserted, ibid. [g] The words, brackets and letter "clause (b) of" were omitted, ibid. [h] Substituted for "Superintendent of Insurance" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1952 (XLVIII of 1952), S. 3 and Sch. II [2-8-1952]. [i] The word "and" was omitted by Act C of 1956, S. 79 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [j] Substituted for clause (h), ibid. [k] Substituted for the words "public service vehicle" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1960 (LVIII of 1960), S. 3 & Sch. II [26-12-1960]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendments made in 1956—"It is proposed to expand section 108 so as to make possible the co-operative insurance of goods vehicles as well as public service vehicles and to clarify what appears to be the present intention in regard to the scope of the business open to co-operative insurance companies. It is also necessary to raise the maximum amount of the fund to be established by a co-operative society transacting insurance business relating to motor vehicles, so as to bring it in line with the provisions of Insurance Act, 1938. The amendments make the necessary provision."

—S. O. R.

109. Duty to furnish particulars of vehicle involved in accident.

A registering authority or the officer in charge of a police station shall, if so required by a person who alleges that he is entitled to claim compensation in respect of an accident arising out of the use of a motor vehicle, or if so required by an insurer against whom a claim has been made in respect of any motor vehicle, furnish to that person or to that insurer, as the case may be, on payment of the prescribed fee any information at the disposal of the said authority or the said police officer relating to the identification marks and other particulars of the vehicle and the name and address of the person who was using the vehicle at the time of the accident or was injured by it.

*110. Claims Tribunals.

(1) A State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, constitute one or more Motor Accident Claims Tribunals (hereinafter referred to as Claims Tribunals) for such area as may be specified in the notification for the purpose of adjudicating upon claims for compensation in respect of accidents involving the death of, or bodily injury to, persons arising out of the use of motor vehicles.

(2) A Claims Tribunal shall consist of such number of members as the State Government may think fit to appoint and where it consists of two or more members, one of them shall be appointed as the Chairman thereof.

(3) A person shall not be qualified for appointment as a member of a Claims Tribunal unless he—

(a) is, or has been, a Judge of a High Court, or

(b) is, or has been, a District Judge, or

(c) is qualified for appointment as a Judge of the High Court.

(4) Where two or more Claims Tribunals are constituted for any area, the State Government may, by general or special order, regulate the distribution of business among them.

[a] Sections 110 to 110F were substituted for the former S. 110 by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 80 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sections 110 to 110F.—"Under the existing section 110, powers to appoint persons to investigate and report on motor accidents have been given to State Governments but the officers so appointed are not empowered to adjudicate on the liability of the insurer or on the amount of damages to be awarded, except at the express desire of the insurance company concerned. This provision has not helped persons of limited means in preferring claims on account of injury or death, because a Court decree has to be obtained before the obligation of an insurance company to meet claims can be enforced. It is, therefore, proposed to empower State Governments to appoint Motor Accident Claims Tribunals to determine and award damages." The amendments in these sections make the necessary provision.

—S. O. R.

*110A. Application for compensation.

(1) An application for compensation arising out of an accident of the nature specified in sub-section (1) of section 110 may be made—

- (a) by the person who has sustained the injury ; or
- (b) where death has resulted from the accident, by the legal representatives of the deceased ; or
- (c) by any agent duly authorised by the person injured or the legal representatives of the deceased, as the case may be.

(2) Every application under sub-section (1) shall be made to the Claims Tribunal having jurisdiction over the area in which the accident occurred, and shall be in such form and shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed.

(3) No application for compensation under this section shall be entertained unless it is made within sixty days of the occurrence of the accident :

Provided that the Claims Tribunal may entertain the application after the expiry of the said period of sixty days if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from making the application in time.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 110.

*110B. Award of the Claims Tribunal.

On receipt of an application for compensation made under section 110A, the Claims Tribunal shall, after giving the parties an opportunity of being heard, hold an inquiry into the claim and may make an award determining the amount of compensation which appears to it to be just and specifying the person or persons to whom compensation shall be paid ; and in making the award the Claims Tribunal shall specify the amount which shall be paid by the insurer.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 110.

*110C. Procedure and powers of Claims Tribunals.

(1) In holding any inquiry under section 110B, the Claims Tribunal may, subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, follow such summary procedure as it thinks fit.

(2) The Claims Tribunal shall have all the powers of a Civil Court for the purpose of taking evidence on oath and of enforcing the attendance of witnesses and of compelling the discovery and production of documents and material objects and for such other purposes as may be prescribed ; and the Claims Tribunal shall be deemed to be a Civil Court for all the purposes of section 195 and Chapter XXXV of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1895.

(3) Subject to any rules that may be made in this behalf, the Claims Tribunal may, for the purpose of adjudicating upon any claim for compensation, choose one or more persons possessing special knowledge of any matter relevant to the inquiry to assist it in holding the inquiry.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 110.

*110D. Appeals.

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), any person aggrieved by an award of a Claims Tribunal may, within ninety days from the date of the award, prefer an appeal to the High Court:

Provided that the High Court may entertain the appeal after the expiry of the said period of ninety days, if it is satisfied that the appellant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal in time.

(2) No appeal shall lie against any award of a Claims Tribunal, if the amount in dispute in the appeal is less than two thousand rupees.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 110.

*110E. Recovery of money from insurer as arrear of land revenue.

Where any money is due from an insurer under an award, the Claims Tribunal may, on an application made to it by the person entitled to the money, issue a certificate for the amount to the Collector and the Collector shall proceed to recover the same in the same manner as an arrear of land revenue.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 110.

*110F. Bar of jurisdiction of Civil Courts.

Where any Claims Tribunal has been constituted for any area, no Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to entertain any question relating to any claim for compensation which may be adjudicated upon by the Claims Tribunal for that area, and no injunction in respect of any action taken or to be taken by or before the Claims Tribunal in respect of the claim for compensation shall be granted by the Civil Court.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 110.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Committee think that courts should be debarred from issuing injunction not only in respect of any action which may be taken before such tribunal [that is, the Claims Tribunal]. The Committee have, therefore, inserted the words "or before" after the words "action taken or to be taken by" in section 110F." — J. C. R.

111. Power to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may make rules<sup>a</sup> for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Chapter.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

- (a) the forms to be used for the purposes of this Chapter ;
- (b) the making of applications for and the issue of certificates of insurance;
- (c) the issue of duplicates to replace certificates of insurance <sup>b</sup>[lost, destroyed or mutilated] ;
- (d) the custody, production, cancellation and surrender of certificates of insurance ;
- (e) the records to be maintained by insurers of policies of insurance issued under this Chapter ;
- (f) the identification by certificates or otherwise of persons or vehicles exempted from the provisions of this Chapter ;
- (g) the furnishing of information respecting policies of insurance by insurers;
- (h) the carrying into effect of the provisions of section 108 ;
- (i) adapting the provisions of this Chapter to vehicles brought into <sup>c</sup>[India] by persons making only a temporary stay therein <sup>d</sup>[or to vehicles registered in the State of Jammu and Kashmir or in a reciprocating country and operating on any route or within any area in India] by applying those provisions with prescribed modifications ; and
- (j) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed.

*[111A. Power of State Government to make rules.

A State Government may make rules for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of sections 110 to 110E, and in particular, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the form of application for claims for compensation and the particulars it may contain; and the fees, if any, to be paid in respect of such applications;
- (b) the procedure to be followed by a Claims Tribunal in holding an inquiry under this Chapter;
- (c) the powers vested in a Civil Court which may be exercised by a Claims Tribunal;
- (d) the form and the manner in which an appeal may be preferred against an award of a Claims Tribunal; and
- (e) any other matter which is to be, or may be, prescribed.]

CHAPTER IX

OFFENCES, PENALTIES AND PROCEDURE

112. General provision for punishment of offences.

Whoever contravenes any provision of this Act or of any rule made thereunder shall, if no other penalty is provided for the offence, be punishable with fine which may extend to <sup>a</sup>[one hundred rupees] or, if having been previously convicted of any offence under this Act he is again convicted of an offence under this Act, with fine which may extend to <sup>b</sup>[three hundred rupees].

STATE AMENDMENT

BIHAR

In its application to the State of Bihar, for section 112 substitute the following section, namely,—

"112. General provision for punishment of offences. — Whoever contravenes any provision of this Act or of any rule made thereunder shall, if no other penalty is provided for the offence, be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or, if having been previously convicted of any offence under this Act, with fine which may extend to two hundred and fifty rupees."

SECTION 112 — SYNOPSIS

1. Acts punishable under the section.
2. Evidence and proof.
3. Procedure.
4. Measure of punishment.
5. Previous conviction and enhanced punishment.

1. Acts punishable under the section.—

[1] An accused entering an inter-section of the main road carelessly and damaging another car is guilty of an offence under S. 112 and not under S. 116. (155) 1955 Mad WN 635 (638).

[2] Where a registered owner of a motor lorry for private use allows his driver to carry goods of another person for hire, the offence falls under R. 138, Madras Motor Vehicles Rules framed under the Act. The power conferred on the transport authority to suspend the permit in such cases cannot be regarded as a penalty for the offence, and, therefore, the owner can be prosecuted under S. 112. 1941 Mad 352 (352) [AIR V 28] : 42 Cri L Jour 320.

[3] Rule 4-20 (c) of the Punjab Motor Vehicles Rules has been validly made and hence its inclusion in a permit as a condition must also be held to be valid. Consequently a contravention of that Rule by the permit-holder carries with it the possibility of punishment under S. 112. 1957 Punj 145 (146) [(S) AIR V 44 C 63].

[4] The owner of a motor bus or lorry licensed to carry more than twelve passengers becomes liable to punishment under the Act for using the vehicle without the assistance of a licensed conductor because he is in breach of R. 78 of the U. P. Motor Vehicles Rules. The fact that the vehicle carried a cleaner in the vehicle does not absolve the owner because a cleaner is not a conductor and the rule in question refers to a conductor by using the word attendant. 1947 All 70 (71) [AIR V 34 C 37] (DB).

[5] Rule 79 (VIII) of the C. P. and Berar Motor Vehicles Rules enjoins upon the driver and conductor not to allow any person to be carried in excess of the specified capacity and for a breach of that Rule both of them can be punished under S. 112. 1957 Nag 94 (95) [AIR V 44 C 32] : ILR (1956) Nag 817 : 1957 Cri L Jour 1300 (1).

[6] Where the permit has specified a condition that the maximum number of passengers carried at any one time shall not exceed the number specified in the permit the driver and the conductor who overload the bus become punishable under S. 123 for a contravention of S. 42 (1). Hence even though a rule has also been framed by the Government making them responsible for not allowing an overload of passengers they cannot be punished under section 112 treating their contravention as one of that rule. The provisions of S. 112 cannot be invoked where the offence in question is punishable under some other provision of the Act. ('55) 1955 Raj L W 38 (39).

[7] Where the driver of a motor lorry used as a goods vehicle carries more than six persons in it without a permit though the vehicle is not loaded with goods at the time, he is guilty of a breach of R. 93 (2) of the Bombay Motor Vehicle Rules, and is liable to conviction under S. 112 of the Motor Vehicles Act. 1942 Bom 184 (185) [A I R V 29] : 43 Cri L Jour 645 (DB).

[8] The driver of a vehicle who fails to wear the badge as prescribed by R. 89 (a) of the M. B. Motor Vehicles Rules commits an offence punishable under S. 112. ('54) Madh B L J 1954 H C R 1012 (1014).

[9] The driver of a motor vehicle who waits at a place which is not a stopping place for the passengers to come from a hotel in front of that place becomes punishable for a contravention of R. 220 of the Madras Motor Vehicles Rules. 1946 Mad 175 (175) [A I R V 33 C 105].

[10] The mere taking of a cab with a defective meter to the Motor Vehicles Department for a renewal of the fitness certificate does not amount to a contravention of R. 174 (d) of the Bengal Motor Vehicles Rules because there is no user either of the cab or the meter within the meaning of the Rule in such a case. Therefore, the conviction of the owner under S. 112 is not sustainable. 1950 Cal 329 (330) [A I R V 37 C 117] : 51 Cri L Jour 1236.

[11] The duty to exhibit the Registered laden weight on a goods vehicle in the manner prescribed by R. 31 of the Jaipur Motor Vehicles Rules is cast on the owner by R. 24 and hence the driver of the vehicle cannot be punished under S. 112 for a contravention of that requirement. 1958 Madh Pra 29 (30) [A I R V 45 C 16] : 1958 Cri L Jour 51.

[12] Rules 78 and 79 of the U. P. Motor Vehicles Rules which deal with the duties of drivers and conductors do not lay it upon either of them to equip the public service vehicle with a fire extinguisher or even to see that it is equipped with one. Therefore, if a public service vehicle is not equipped with a fire extinguisher its driver and conductor cannot be held liable for contravention of S. 112 read with R. 162 of those Rules. 1952 All 278 (278) [A I R V 39] : ILR (1950) All 441 : 1952 Cri L Jour 588.

[13] The transferee of a vehicle cannot be punished under S. 112 for his failure to report the transfer within the prescribed time under S. 31. 1959 Raj 175 (177) [A I R V 46 C 66] : ILR (1959) 9 Raj 419 (DB).

[14] Licence expiring on February 2—Accused found driving on February 17—Licence got renewed by him on the same day with effect from February 2—Held, that at the time when prosecution was launched, accused could produce the licence which, in terms, was effective, from February 2, for one year and which was effective, therefore, on the day on which offence was alleged to have been committed. Conviction could not, therefore be sustained. 1942 Bom 216 (217) [A I R V 29] : 43 Cri L Jour 778 (DB).

[15] Where the operation of a rule has been suspended until further orders by the Government no offence of contravention of that rule punishable under S. 112 can arise while the suspension lasts. ('54) Madh B L J 1954 H C R 1012 (1014). (Rule 88 of the M. B. Motor Vehicles Rules suspended until further orders—Non-compliance with the rule during the period of suspension is no offence.)

2. Evidence and proof. — [1] An owner must be proved to have known or connived at the action of the driver in taking the vehicle through an unauthorised road or in carrying more than four servants in contravention of the limit mentioned in the permit before he can be punished for the same under S. 112. 1959 Orissa 50 (52) [A I R V 46 C 15] : ILR (1958) Cut 572 : 1959 Cri L Jour 358.

[2] To establish an offence under S. 3 read with S. 112 there should be proof not merely of the accused having driven a vehicle without a licence but also of his having done so in a public place. ('55) 1955 Raj L W 258 (259). (Hence he cannot be convicted on his confession where it contains no admission as to the latter requirement.)

[3] To convict an owner under S. 112 read with S. 5 it is not necessary to prove that he permitted another to drive the vehicle with knowledge that the other had no driving licence. 1951 Bom 308 (308) [A I R V 38 C 66] : ILR (1951) Bom 200 (DB).

[4] Before a conviction can be recorded for violation of R. 380 the following conditions must be satisfied; (i) there must be luggage carried by a stage carriage; (ii) the luggage must be outside the stage carriage, and (iii) the weather must be wet. It is only when all these three conditions co-exist that an obligation is laid to protect the luggage by a suitable waterproof covering. It is impossible to construe that rule to mean that a passenger bus should always have a tarpaulin while on road whether the weather is wet or dry for protecting the samans of the passengers from being drenched in case of rain. 1954 Mad 1014 (1015) [A I R V 41 C 348] : 1954 Cri L Jour 1558.

[5] It is of the utmost importance that when a prosecution for driving the car without proper lights is being undertaken, there should be independent and direct evidence indicating exactly the time at which the car had been observed being driven on the public road with defective lights. 1926 Pat 446 (448) [A I R V 13] : 27 Cri L Jour 1072.

(1) Whoever wilfully disobeys any direction lawfully given by any person or authority empowered under this Act to give such direction, or obstructs any person or authority in the discharge of any functions which such person or

[6] When the driver and the conductor of a lorry are prosecuted for committing a breach of the conditions of the registration certificate and the permit, they are required to be produced in evidence. If they do not care to produce them in Court the prosecution is entitled to produce secondary evidence. 1952 All 276 (277) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1950) All 441 : 1952 Cri L Jour 588.

3. Procedure.—[1] The procedure of issuing summonses by the Magisterial Courts purporting to charge motorists, owners or drivers of offences under the Act without giving the slightest particulars of the offences alleged is not justified by law. Section 68, Cr. P.C., incorporates the form of summons which is a statutory form contained in Sch. 5 of the Code and should be issued to the accused persons. 1928 All 261 (262, 263) [AIR V 15] : 29 Cri L Jour 357 (DB)+1936 All 761 (762) [AIR V 23] : 38 Cri L Jour 69 : ILR (1937) All 130. (Conviction based upon summons not giving notice of charge to accused is illegal.) * 1937 Oudh 444 (444) [AIR V 24] : 38 Cri L Jour 947 : 13 Luck 437. (Summons not specifying rule broken by accused—Trial is bad.) * 1934 Oudh 370 (371) [AIR V 21] : 35 Cri L Jour 1161.

[2] The conviction of an accused is not rendered invalid solely because the summons which ought to have been issued under S. 112 mentioned a wrong section and also failed to mention the rule which was broken by the accused. These are mere irregularities curable under S. 537, Criminal P. C., where no prejudice has been caused to the accused at his trial. (52) ILR (1952) 2 Raj 941 (943) (DB).

[3] The accused was charged with offences under Rr. 24(1), 48 and 49 of the Punjab Motor Vehicles Rules framed under the Act of 1914. The nature of the offence was not specified in the summons which was issued to him. The case was taken up before the date fixed and no adjournment was granted to the accused to enable him to produce his evidence in support of his defence. Held, that the accused was prejudiced in his defence and, therefore, his conviction could not be sustained. 1941 Lah 114 (115) [AIR V 28] : ILR (1940) Lah 678 : 42 Cri L Jour 481.

[4] Where the notice served on the accused did not contain the particulars of sections which were contravened and under which he was being charged but the accused knew the offence with which he had been charged and led evidence it was held that the omission was a mere irregularity which did not affect the conviction under S. 78 read with S. 112. 1955 Hyd 259 (260) [AIR V 42 C 76] : ILR (1955) Hyd 142 : 1955 Cri L Jour 1588 (1) (DB).

[5] Section 279 of the Penal Code is a self-contained provision like any other section in that Code prescribing the extent of punishment. Hence it is mistake in framing a charge under that section to connect or read it with S. 112 of the Motor Vehicles Act. 1958 Mad 286 (286) [AIR V 45 C 88] : 1958 Cri L Jour 775.

[6] Section 562 (1) (a), Criminal P. C., only applies to a certain limited class of cases, such as theft and so on under the Penal Code, but does not apply to an offence under the Motor Vehicles Act. 1926 Bom 230 (231) [AIR V 13] : 27 Cri L Jour 528 (DB).

[7] Rule 2 (g) of the Motor Vehicles Rules merely means that the word "Magistrate" means a stipendiary Magistrate where this word is used in the rules. The rules, however, do not deal with the trial of offences under the Act. Hence an offence under S. 112 read with R. 79 (iii) can be tried by an Honorary Special Magistrate. 1941 Oudh 266 (266, 267) [AIR V 28] : 42 Cri L Jour 350.

4. Measure of punishment.—[1] For an offence of overloading the fine to be imposed should be stiff and a deterrent multiple of the illegal profit made by overloading. 1960 Madh Pra 318 (318) [AIR V 47 C 157] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1339 (2). (A fine amounting to twenty-five times the irregular income was imposed.)

[2] A person who is convicted under S. 112 for violation of R. 90 (b) of Bengal Motor Vehicle Rules, can in addition to the punishments to which he may be liable, be disqualified from holding a licence to drive a motor vehicle. 1955 Cal 567 (568) ((S) AIR V 42 C 176) : 1955 Cri L Jour 1477.

5. Previous conviction and enhanced punishment.—[1] It is inequitable to exact from a person the enhanced fine under S. 112 of the Motor Vehicles Act unless he has suffered a first conviction and after that conviction he has again offended. 1942 Lah 123 (126) [AIR V 29] : 43 Cri L Jour 673 : ILR (1943) Lah 106 (DB).

[2] The words in S. 112 of the Motor Vehicles Act 'convicted of any offence under this Act' mean only convicted of an offence under the present Act and does not include convictions under the old Act of 1914 and so the latter cannot be taken into consideration in fixing the fine payable. 1941 Oudh 250 (250) [AIR V 28] : 16 Luck 644 : 42 Cri L Jour 406.

[1] A police officer may under the Act stop the bus not only for the purpose of regulating the traffic but also for other purposes such as to obtain the name and address of the driver etc. Hence in spite of the fact that the police officer, when he gave the signal to stop, was not regulating the traffic, the failure of the driver to obey the signal would amount to an offence under the Act. 1930 Mad 445 (445) [AIR V 17] : 31 Cri L Jour 639. (Case decided under S. 4 of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1914.)

authority is required or empowered under this Act to discharge, shall, if no other penalty is provided for the offence, be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

(2) Whoever, being required by or under this Act to supply any information, wilfully withholds such information or gives information which he knows to be false or which he does not believe to be true, shall, if no other penalty is provided for the offence, be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Committee feel that in providing a penalty in section 113 of the Act, a distinction should be made between the offence of wilful disobedience of any direction or obstruction on the one hand and the withholding of information or the giving of false information on the other. The Committee are of the view that the punishment in the former case should be restricted to fine, but that in the latter case the punishment may be imprisonment or fine or both as provided in the clause (now section)." —J. C. R.

114. Offences relating to licences.

*[(1)] Whoever, being disqualified under this Act for holding or obtaining a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence], drives a motor vehicle in a public place or applies for or obtains a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence] of, not being entitled to have a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence] issued to him free of endorsement, applies for or obtains a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence] without disclosing the endorsements made on a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence] previously held by him or, being disqualified under this Act for holding or obtaining a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence], uses in <sup>c</sup>[India] a <sup>b</sup>[driving licence] such as is referred to in sub-section (2) of section 9, shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to <sup>d</sup>[five hundred rupees], or with both, and any <sup>b</sup>[driving licence] so obtained by him shall be of no effect.

•[(2)] Whoever, being disqualified under this Act, for holding or obtaining a conductor's licence, acts as a conductor of a stage carriage in a public place or applies for or obtains a conductor's licence or, not being entitled to have a conductor's licence issued to him free of endorsement, applies for or obtains a conductor's licence without disclosing the endorsements made on a conductor's licence previously held by him shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, or with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees, or with both, and any conductor's licence so obtained by him shall be of no effect.]

[a] Section 114 was renumbered as sub-section (1) thereof by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 85 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [b] Substituted for "licence", ibid. [c] Substituted for "the States", by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951]. [d] Substituted for "two hundred and fifty rupees" by Act C of 1956, S. 85 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [e] Inserted, ibid.

115. Driving at excessive speed.

(1) Whoever drives a motor vehicle in contravention of section 71 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

(2) Whoever causes any person who is employed by him or is subject to his control in driving to drive a motor vehicle in contravention of section 71 shall be punishable with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees.

(3) No person shall be convicted of an offence punishable under sub-section (1) solely on the evidence of one witness to the effect that in the opinion of the witness such person was driving at a speed which was unlawful, unless that opinion is shown to be based on an estimate obtained by the use of some mechanical '[*] device.

Section 115 — Note 1

under section 75, a person cannot be convicted for the contravention complained of. 1959 Mys 144 (145) [AIR V 48 C 58] : ILR (1958) Mys 225 : 1959 Cri L Jour 750.

(4) The publication of a time table under which, or the giving of any direction that, any journey or part of a journey is to be completed within a specified time shall, if in the opinion of the Court it is not practicable in the circumstances of the case for that journey or part of a journey to be completed in the specified time without infringing the provisions of section 71, be prima facie evidence that the person who published the time table or gave the direction has committed an offence punishable under sub-section (v).

[a] The word "timing" was omitted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 86 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"It has been argued in Courts that a speedometer is not "a mechanical timing device" within the meaning of sub-section (3) of section 115. The amendment seeks to provide for the use of speedometer as evidence of excessive speed." —S. O. R.

116. Driving recklessly or dangerously.

Whoever drives a motor vehicle at a speed or in a manner which is dangerous to the public, having regard to all the circumstances of the case including the nature, condition and use of the place where the vehicle is driven and the amount of traffic which actually is at the time or which might reasonably be expected to be in the place, shall be punishable on a first conviction for the offence with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, and for a subsequent offence if committed within three years of the commission of a previous similar offence with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

Section 116 — Note 1

[1] The section deals with reckless driving dangerous to the public having regard to all the circumstances of the case while S. 279, Penal Code, refers to driving in a manner so rash or negligent as to endanger human life or to be likely to cause hurt or injury to any other person. 1938 Rang 161 (164) [AIR V 25]: 39 Cri L Jour 642 (DB).

[2] The accused was driving on the wrong side of road at a sharp corner entering into a thoroughfare of considerable traffic with the result that he came into collision with a motor bicycle, the side-car of which was damaged. It was due to the presence of mind of the person who was riding the motor bicycle that no further damage occurred — Held that an offence under S. 279, Penal Code, was committed. The offence was more serious than that contemplated by S. 5 of the 1914 Act. 1921 Sind 97 (97) [AIR V 8]: 16 Sind LR 147: 26 Cri L Jour 253 (DB).

[3] The section refers to a person who is driving a car in a manner which would in ordinary circumstances be proper, but owing to the special conditions of the road at the time he is riding on it, is improper. 1921 Sind 97 (97, 98) [AIR V 8]: 16 Sind LR 147: 26 Cri L Jour 253 (DB).

[4] A person is bound not to drive in a manner which would be dangerous to the public. In determining whether the manner of driving was dangerous to the public or not regard must be had to all the circumstances of the case and the amount of the traffic which actually was at the time in the place.

[5] In deciding whether an offence under S. 116 of the Act is committed, the Court has to consider whether the speed with which or the manner in which the vehicle was driven was dangerous to the public. In deciding this question the Court has to take into consideration circumstances of the case. 1953 Kutch 47 (48) [AIR V 40 C 32] + 1958 Raj 347 (348) [AIR V 45 C 114]: 1959 Cri L Jour 87.

[6] To convict a man for negligent driving an error of judgment alone is not sufficient. There must be criminal negligence and criminal negligence means gross or culpable neglect or failure to exercise that reasonable and proper care and precaution to guard against injury either to the public generally or to an individual in particular which, having regard to all the circumstances out of which the charge has arisen, it is the imperative duty of the accused person to have adopted. 1932 Cal 461 (462) [AIR V 19]: 59 Cal 113: 33 Cri L Jour 549. (Accused convicted for negligent driving by right side and thereby colliding with taxi-cab — Evidence that there was no space on left side and that space on right side was very narrow — Driver standing still at time of collision — Held that there was only error of judgment.) + 1931 All 708 (710) [AIR V 18]: 32 Cri L Jour 1061 + 1934 Nag 65 (66) [AIR V 21]: 30 Nag LR 317: 35 Cri L Jour 696 + 1950 Mad 71 (73) [AIR V 37 C 42]: 51

117. Driving while under the influence of drink or drugs.

Whoever while driving or attempting to drive a motor vehicle is under the influence of drink or a drug to such an extent as to be incapable of exercising proper control over the vehicle, shall be punishable for a first offence with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both, and for a subsequent offence if committed within three years of the commission of a previous similar offence with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

[7] A person cannot be convicted under S. 116 unless he is established to have driven his vehicle dangerously. Driving a vehicle recklessly is by itself no offence. 1950 Mad 71 (73) [AIR V 37 C 42] : 51 Cri L Jour 374.

[8] A motor vehicle cannot be driven recklessly along a place open to public traffic that is a road without potential danger to public and hence reckless driving in such circumstances amounts to dangerous driving and hence is an offence under S. 116. 1957 Andh-Pra 100 (102) [AIR V 44 C 42] : 1957 Cri L Jour 627. (AIR 1950 Mad 71, Criticised.)

[9] A collision resulting from an attempt to overtake a car in front at a high speed must be held to be in consequence of reckless and careless driving and not an error of judgment. Hence the accused must be held guilty of an offence under this section. 1960 Mad 50 (53) [AIR V 47 C 13] : 1960 Cri L Jour 239.

[10] Where the accused saw another car approaching him on its proper side of the road and where he ought to have drawn in behind the water-cart passing in the same direction as the accused and not have attempted to force his way past it in front of the oncoming car, held that the accused was guilty of dangerous driving. 1925 All 798 (800) [AIR V 12] : 26 Cri L Jour 1254.

*[123. Using vehicle without registration or permit.

(1) Whoever drives a motor vehicle or causes or allows a motor vehicle to be used in contravention of the provisions of section 22 or without the permit required by sub-section (1) of section 42 or in contravention of any condition of such permit relating to the route on which or the area in which or the purpose for which the vehicle may be used, shall be punishable for a first offence with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees and for a subsequent offence if committed within three years of the commission of a previous similar offence, with imprisonment which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both :

Provided that no Court shall, except for reasons to be stated in writing, impose a fine of less than five hundred rupees for any such subsequent offence.

(2) Nothing in this section shall apply to the use of a motor vehicle in an emergency for the conveyance of persons suffering from sickness or injury or for the transport of materials for repair or of food or materials to relieve distress or of medical supplies for a like purpose :

Provided that the person using the vehicle reports such use to the Regional Transport Authority within seven days.

SECTION 123 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Acts constituting offences under the section.
3. Liability of owners.
4. Liability of persons other than the owner.
5. Sentence.

1. Scope. — [1] A conviction under S. 16 of the J. and K. Motor Vehicles Act after the repeal of that Act, in a case to which S. 123 of the Central Act applies, cannot be sustained. Such a conviction is bad not only because the scheme of S. 123 is entirely different but also because it deprives the accused of proving the exception provided for under S. 123. ('49) 7 J & K L R 182 (183).

2. Acts constituting offences under the section. — [1] The use of a motor vehicle which does not possess a certificate of fitness current for the time being is a contravention of S. 22 and is therefore punishable under S. 123. 1959 All 489 (492) [A I R V 46 C 123]. (Proper course in such a case is to proceed against the operator.) +1955 All 618 (619) [(S) A I R V 42 C 179] : 1955 Cri L Jour 1443 (DB). (Running vehicle without a fitness certificate. Person in charge of the vehicle is liable as he must be deemed to have allowed such a use of the vehicle.)

[2] When a trailer which has not been separately registered is attached to a tractor and used there is a contravention of S. 22 which is punishable under S. 123 (1). ('58) ILR (1959) 2 All 631 (634, 635).

[3] The whole scheme of the Act makes it clear that a permit is available only to the person to whom it has been granted. Hence a person who takes a loan of a motor-vehicle from the permit-holder and runs it without taking a transfer of the permit commits an offence of running the bus without a permit in contravention of S. 42 (1) and becomes liable to punishment under S. 123. 1959 Mad 453 (456) [A I R V 46 C 145] : 1959 Cri L Jour 1192.

[6] Overloading the bus in contravention of the term of the permit is an offence punishable under S. 123. ('55) 1953 Raj L W 38 (39) + 1956 All 400 (400) [A I R V 43 C 140] : 1956 Cri L Jour 851 (2).

[7] Where a permit includes details of the number of passenger seats in the vehicle but does not express as a condition of the use of the vehicle that its seating capacity shall not be exceeded, overloading is not a breach of the condition of the permit punishable under S. 123 (1) read with S. 42 (1). 1943 Mad 283 (283, 284) [A I R V 30] : 44 Cri L Jour 479. (The breach however is one of R. 218 of the Madras Motor Vehicles Rules and is therefore punishable.)

[8] Rule 3 (b) of the Madras Motor Vehicles Rules excludes an employee of the permit-hol-

(3) Where a person is convicted of an offence under this section, the Court by which such person is convicted may, in addition to any sentence which may be passed under sub-section (1), by order—

(a) if the vehicle used in the commission of the offence is a motor car, suspend its certificate of registration for a period not exceeding four months;

(b) if the vehicle used in the commission of the offence is a transport vehicle, suspend its permit for a period not exceeding six months or cancel it.

(4) The Court to which an appeal lies from any conviction in respect of an offence of the nature specified in sub-section (1) may set aside or vary any order of suspension or cancellation made under sub-section (3) by the Court below and the Court, to which appeals ordinarily lie from the Court below may set aside or vary any such order of suspension or cancellation made by the Court below, notwithstanding that no appeal lies against the conviction in connection with which such order was made.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The provisions of section 123 have proved inadequate for effectively checking the growing tendency of owners of vehicles without permits using them for carriage of passengers for hire or reward. It is necessary to enhance the existing punishment for this offence and also to empower the Courts to suspend certification of registration of private cars for a period not exceeding four months and that of transport vehicles for a period of six months or to cancel them. The scope of the section is also being expanded to bring within its ambit offences relating to use of vehicles without registration."

—S. O. R.

"The Committee have amended this clause so as to provide that the penalty should be one of fine only in the case of a first offence and of imprisonment or fine or both in the case of a subsequent offence committed within three years of the commission of a similar previous offence."

—J. C. R.

der travelling by the bus on duty from the category of passengers. In view of that rule the presence of a trainee ticket checker in the bus in excess of the number of passengers permitted to be carried does not amount to an overloading of the bus in contravention of the conditions. 1959 Mad 439 (439) [AIR V 45 C 139]; ILR (1959) Mad 481; 1959 Cri L Jour 1188.

[9] In recording a conviction under the Act for overloading the vehicle it is necessary to ascertain what was the overload. A mascot in the shape of a pet rabbit carried in excess of the authorised quota of passengers could no doubt constitute technically an overload but that does not deserve a conviction for the offence of overloading. (49) 7 J & K L R 38 (40).

[10] Where no rules have been framed by the Government under S. 56 (b) (iv) and the prohibition on vehicles against carrying goods other than railway goods has been placed only by the registering authority the contravention of that restriction does not amount to an offence punishable under S. 123. 1957 J & K 9 (10) [AIR V 44 C 7]; 1957 Cri L Jour 446.

[11] In the absence of a condition in the permit that tickets shall be issued to the passengers a failure to issue tickets to the passengers cannot amount to an offence under S. 42 (1) read with S. 123 of the Act. 1951 All 403 (404) [AIR V 38 C 73].

3. Liability of owners. — [1] The owner who uses his motor car to carry goods to the station without a permit is guilty of an offence punishable under S. 123. 1945 Mad 440

(440) [AIR V 32]; 47 Cri L Jour 233; 1 L R (1946) Mad 222. (Car used to carry newspaper bundles to the station without a permit.)

[2] The owner of a vehicle would be liable under S. 123 when goods had been in fact carried by it contrary to the conditions of the permit. 1945 Mad 347 (348) [AIR V 30]; 44 Cri L Jour 526.

[3] An owner of a motor car who carries his luggage or other goods for his private use cannot be prosecuted for infringing S. 38 read with S. 22 and S. 123 (1) of the Act. 1959 Mys 221 (222) [AIR V 46 C 88]; 1959 Cri L Jour 1095.

[4] Where an empty lorry was found at a place outside the route for plying and it was not in the course of business covered by the permit but because it was a short cut-route, the provisions of Ss. 42 and 123 of the Act cannot be said to have been offended. 1960 Mad 265 (266) [AIR V 47 C 87]; 1960 Cri L Jour 923.

[5] Where in a permit for a lorry under the column "nature of goods to be carried" building materials are mentioned but under the column 'conditions' no restriction is mentioned with regard to the goods to be carried, carrying by the lorry goods, other than building materials cannot be said to be a violation of the conditions within the meaning of Ss. 42 and 123. 1950 Mad 837 (838) [AIR V 37 C 350]; 51 Cri L Jour 1587.

[6] Where a lorry is owned by two persons in partnership, each of them is the owner of the lorry and each of them is liable under the strict wording of S. 123 (1) for the illegal act and, therefore, it cannot be said that when one of them has been convicted and fined the other cannot be fined. But in such cases it is undesirable to exact a fine from all the owners separately. 1942 Lah 125 (128) [A I R V 29] : 43 Cri L Jour 673 : ILR (1943) Lah 106 (DB).

[7] It is open to the authorities to prosecute an owner under S. 123 for a contravention of the conditions of the permit or to cancel or suspend his permit under S. 60. The two sections are not in conflict with each other and hence the plea that there can only be a prosecution for a contravention of the conditions of a permit is untenable. 1955 Andh 277 (278) [AIR V 42 C 99] (DB) * ('57) 1957-2 Andh W R 296 (298).

[8] A manager of a limited company cannot be held liable under the provisions of the Act as the owner of a motor vehicle belonging to the company. He is merely an agent of the company acting under the control and directions of the Directors of the company. 1950 All 234 (237) [AIR V 37 C 89] : 51 Cri L J 734.

[9] There is a distinction between plying a motor vehicle without any permit at all or with a permit which had already expired on the one hand and plying a vehicle in contravention of the conditions laid down in a subsisting permit on the other. In the former case the requisite mens rea on the part of the owner may be inferred without any further evidence, but not in the latter case. 1959 Orissa 50 (52) [AIR V 46 C 15] : I L R (1958) Cut 572 : 1959 Cri L Jour 358.

[10] The prosecution has to prove all the ingredients of the offence beyond reasonable doubt when the owner is prosecuted for an offence under S. 112 or S. 123 of the Act. 1959 Orissa 50 (52) [AIR V 46 C 15] : I L R (1958) Cut 572 : 1959 Cri L Jour 358.

[12] In a prosecution of the owner on the ground that the driver had taken the vehicle through an unauthorised road or had carried more than the number of servants limited by the permit it is on the prosecution to prove that the owner knew or connived at the contravention. If there is no such evidence there can be no conviction either under S. 112 or S. 123. 1959 Orissa 50 (52) [AIR V 46 C 15] : ILR (1958) 1 Cut 572 : 1959 Cri L Jour 358.

[13] If the conductor and the Bus Driver conspire together and over-load a bus the owner cannot be punished unless, of course, it is proved that the over-loading was done at the instance or with the approval of the owner. 1960 Madh Pra 151 (152) [A I R V 47 C 71] : 1960 Cri L Jour 611.

4. Liability of persons other than the owner.—[1] Under S. 123 even a person other than the owner is liable to punishment for driving a motor vehicle in contravention of S. 42 (1). Section 123 when read together with S. 42 (1) does not lead to the conclusion that it makes the owner alone liable to punishment. 1959 S C 79 (82) [AIR V 46 C 14] : 1959 Supp 1 S C R 153 : ILR (1958) 2 All 973 : 1959 Cri L Jour 248. (The expression "whoever drives etc.," in the section is wide enough to cover both the owner and one who is not the owner even though the words "or causes or allows a motor vehicle to be used" may well refer to the owner—AIR 1956 All 27, Reversed.) * 1959 Ker 161 (163) [A I R V 46 C 55] : I L R (1959) Ker 37 : 1959 Cri L Jour 594 (DB). (Even before the amendment of the section a driver who drove a vehicle without a permit falls within the ambit of S. 123. The amendment only makes that clear beyond all doubt.) * 1959 Ker 248 (248) [A I R V 46 C 87] : 1959 Cri L Jour 1074 (DB). (After the amendment of S. 123 (1), notwithstanding that S. 42 (1) places an obligation only on the owner the driving of the vehicle by any other person either without a permit or in contravention of the conditions of the permit is an offence.) * 1958 Orissa 118 (123) [AIR V 45 C 32] : ILR (1958) Cut 113 : 1958 Cri L Jour 789 (DB) * 1958 Punj 316 (317) [A I R V 45 C 86] : 1958 Cri L Jour 1094 * 1957 Bom 243 (244) [(S) AIR V 44 C 84] : ILR (1957) Bom 291 : 1957 Cri L Jour 1236. (The expression 'whoever drives a motor vehicle' in S. 123 is not limited to the owner only.) * 1957 Raj 63 (64) [AIR V 44 C 25] : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 846 : 1957 Cri L Jour 230 (DB) * 1956 All 400 (400) [A I R V 43 C 140] : 1956 Cri L Jour 851 (2). [4] Where a bus is used in contravention of the terms of the permit, the conductor who is an officer in charge of it can be convicted under S. 123 for having allowed it to be used in that manner. (55) 1955 Raj L W 38 (39).

[5] Section 42 (1) and S. 123 are controlled by the rules. Hence the driver cannot be held liable for the contravention of a rule from the due observance of which he has been statutorily exempted and responsibility placed solely on the conductor. 1943 Mad 347 (348) [AIR V 30] : 44 Cri L Jour 526 + 1957 Nag 94 (95) [AIR V 44 C 32] : I L R (1956) Nag 817 : 1957 Cri L Jour 1300 (1)+1943 Mad 283 (283, 284) [A I R V 30] : 44 Cri L Jour 479. (Overloading bus—Driver is protected from all responsibility by R. 218 of the Madras Motor Vehicles Rules when there is a conductor on the vehicle.)

[6] Where the rules provide that the driver and conductor shall both be responsible for overloading the bus both of them would be contravening not only the rules but also subs. (1) of S. 42 by overloading the bus and therefore be liable to punishment under S. 123 (1). 1958 Orissa 118 (123) [A I R V 45 C 32] : I L R (1958) Cut 113 : 1958 Cri L Jour 789 (DB).

[8] In a prosecution under S. 123 (1) read with S. 42 (1) the burden of proof lies on the prosecution to establish the contravention alleged by it. No presumption that there was no permit for the vehicle in question or that the accused driver had contravened any condition of the permit can be made against him on the ground that he did not produce the permit in evidence. 1959 Ker 161 (163) [A I R V 46 C 55] : I L R (1959) Ker 37 : 1959 Cri L Jour 594 (DB).

[9] In a prosecution under S. 123, a statement by the co-accused (driver) that the accused was the conductor of the bus is no evidence against the accused. If the prosecution wish to rely upon that statement they should ask for separate trial and examine the co-accused as a witness. 1942 Cal 426 (426) [AIR V 29] : 43 Cri L Jour 558.

5. Sentence.—[1] In imposing a sentence under S. 123 the attitude of the accused is not relevant. (49) 7 J & K L R 182 (183).

[2] Where the offence is admittedly not his first offence, imposition of minimum sentence under Proviso to S. 123 (1) cannot be avoided on the ground that the accused is poor, that he pleaded guilty in ignorance of the provision imposing minimum sentence and that his conviction itself was recorded in appeal against an acquittal. 1959 Ker 248 (248) [AIR V 46 C 87] : 1959 Cri L Jour 1074 (DB). (AIR 1956 All 27, Not followed.)

[3] Where a man is charged with failing to get a permit from the Regional and Provincial Transport Authority, it is inequitable to exact the enhanced fine unless he has suffered a first conviction and after that conviction he has again offended. Hence where he is charged in several cases at one and the same time and convicted, he has not with knowledge of a conviction committed again the same offence. 1942 Lah 125 (126) [AIR V 29] : I L R (1943) Lah 106 : 43 Cri L Jour 673 (DB).

[1] A transferee of a motor vehicle using the same before he obtains the transfer of the insurance policy in the manner prescribed by the terms of the policy itself and rules relat-imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to *[one thousand rupees], or with both.

[a] Substituted for "five hundred rupees" by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 92 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

126. Taking vehicle without authority.

Whoever takes and drives away any motor vehicle without having either the consent of the owner thereof or other lawful authority shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to three months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both :

Provided that no accused person shall be convicted under this section if the Court is satisfied that the accused acted in the reasonable belief that he had lawful authority or in the reasonable belief that the owner would in the circumstances of the case have given his consent if he had been asked therefor.

127. Unauthorised interference with vehicle.

Whoever otherwise than with lawful authority or reasonable excuse enters or mounts any stationary motor vehicle or tampers with the brake or any part of the mechanism of a motor vehicle shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

*[127A. Offences by companies.

(1) If the person contravening any provision of this Act is a company, every person who, at the time the offence was committed, was in charge of, and was responsible to, the company for the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company, shall be deemed to be guilty of the contravention and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall render any such person liable to any punishment provided in this Act, if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company, and it is proved that the offence was committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any neglect on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Explanation. — For the purposes of this section,—

(a) "company" means any body corporate and includes a firm or other association of individuals; and

(b) "director", in relation to a firm, means a partner in the firm.]

[a] Inserted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 93 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"It has been noticed that difficulty generally arises in fixing liability when any motor vehicle belonging to a company, etc., is involved in an offence under that Act. The amendment in this clause makes a precise provision in order to obviate this difficulty."

— S. O. R.

128. Power of arrest without warrant.

(1) A police officer in uniform may arrest without warrant any person who ing to the insurance of motor vehicles commits an offence punishable under S. 125 because in such circumstances he must be held to be using an uninsured car. 1960 Ker 341 (342) [A I R V 47 C 156] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1461.

Section 128 — Note 1

[1] Before sub-s. (2) of S. 128 of the Motor Vehicles Act applies, it is the duty of the prosecution to establish that the offending driver was required under the provisions of the Act to give his name and address. 1941 Lah 423 (424) [AIR V 28] : 43 Cri L Jour 127.

commits in his view an offence punishable under section 116 or section 117 or section 126 :

Provided that any person so arrested in connection with an offence punishable under section 117 shall be subjected to a medical examination by a registered medical practitioner within two hours of his arrest or shall then be released from custody.

(2) A police officer in uniform may arrest without warrant—

(a) any person who being required under the provisions of this Act to give his name and address refuses to do so, or gives a name or address which the police officer has reason to believe to be false, or

(b) any person concerned in an offence under this Act or reasonably suspected to have been so concerned, if the police officer has reason to believe that he will abscond or otherwise avoid the service of a summons.

(3) A police officer arresting without warrant the driver of a motor vehicle shall, if the circumstances so require, take or cause to be taken any steps he may consider proper for the temporary disposal of the vehicle.

129. Power of police officer to impound document.

(1) Any police officer authorised in this behalf or other person authorised in this behalf by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, if he has reason to believe that any identification mark carried on a motor vehicle or any licence, permit, certificate of registration, certificate of insurance or other document produced to him by the driver or person in charge of a motor vehicle is a false document within the meaning of section 464 of the Indian Penal Code, seize the mark or document and call upon the driver or owner of the vehicle to account for his possession of or the presence in the vehicle of such mark or document.

(2) Any police officer authorised in this behalf <sup>a</sup>[or other person authorised in this behalf] by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, if he has reason to believe that the driver of a motor vehicle who is charged with any offence under this Act may abscond or otherwise avoid the service of a summons, seize any licence held by such driver and forward it to the Court taking cognizance of the offence <sup>a</sup>[and the said Court shall, on the first appearance of such driver before it, return the licence to him in exchange for the temporary acknowledgment given under sub-section (3)].

(3) <sup>b</sup>[A police officer or other person] seizing a licence under sub-section (2) shall give to the person surrendering the licence a temporary acknowledgment therefor and such acknowledgment shall authorise the holder to drive until the licence has been returned to him <sup>c</sup>[or until such date as may be specified by the police officer or other person in the acknowledgment, whichever is earlier :

Provided that if any Magistrate, police officer or other person authorised by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] in this behalf is, on an application made to him, satisfied that the licence cannot be, or has not been, returned to the holder thereof before the date specified in the acknowledgment for any reason for which the holder is not responsible, the Magistrate, police officer or other person, as the case may be, may extend the period of authorisation to drive to such date as may be specified in the acknowledgment.]

[a] Inserted by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1958 (C of 1958), S. 94 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957]. [b] Substituted for "A police officer", ibid. [c] Substituted for "or the Court has otherwise ordered", ibid.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Amendments made in 1956.—"By the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 129, a driver whose licence has been impounded receives a special authorisation to drive until his licence is returned to him by the Court. This defeats the object of the law inasmuch as it induces the offender to evade attendance in Court rather than appear before the Court. The proposed amendments are designed to provide a more satisfactory procedure, and to ensure that the innocent defaulter may be allowed extra time."

—S. O. R.

*[129A. Power to detain vehicles used without certificate of registration or permit.

Any police officer authorized in this behalf or other person authorized in this behalf by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, if he has reason to believe that a motor vehicle has been or is being used in contravention of the provisions of <sup>b</sup>[section 22] or without the permit required by sub-section (1) of section 42 or in contravention of any condition of such permit relating to the route on which or the area in which or the purpose for which the vehicle may be used, seize and detain the vehicle, and for this purpose take or cause to be taken any steps he may consider proper for the temporary safe custody of the vehicle.]

130. Summary disposal of cases.

(1) A Court taking cognizance of an offence under this Act <sup>a</sup>[shall], unless the offence is an offence specified in Part A of the Fifth Schedule, state upon the summons to be served on the accused person that he—

(a) may appear by pleader and not in person, or

(b) may by a specified date prior to the hearing of the charge plead guilty to the charge by registered letter and remit to the Court such sum not exceeding twenty-five rupees as the Court may specify.

(2) Where the offence dealt with in accordance with sub-section (1) is an offence specified in Part B of the Fifth Schedule, the accused person shall, if he pleads guilty to the charge, forward his licence to the Court with the letter containing his plea in order that the conviction may be endorsed on the licence.

(3) Where an accused person pleads guilty and remits the sum specified and has complied with the provisions of sub-section (2), no further proceedings in respect of the offence shall be taken against him, nor shall he be liable to be disqualified for holding or obtaining a licence by reason of his having pleaded guilty.

[a] Substituted for "may" by the Motor Vehicles (Amendment) Act, 1956 (C of 1956), S. 96 [w. e. f. 16-2-1957].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (1): Court shall state.—"At present it is discretionary with the Courts either to try cases relating to minor offences under the Act summarily or to deal with them in accordance with the ordinary provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. The amendment by the substitution of 'shall' for 'may' is intended to take away the discretion and to make it obligatory for all cases covered by section 130 to be tried summarily." —S.O.R.

131. Restriction on conviction.

No person prosecuted for an offence punishable under section 115 or section 116 shall be convicted unless—

(a) he was warned at the time the offence was committed that the question of prosecuting him would be taken into consideration, or

132. Jurisdiction of Courts.

No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the second class shall try any offence punishable under this Act or any rule made thereunder.

CHAPTER X

MISCELLANEOUS

133. Publication of and commencement of rules.

(1) Every power to make rules given by this Act is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(2) All rules made under this Act shall be published in the Official Gazette, and shall, unless some later date is appointed, come into force on the date of such publication.

result of that prosecution is convicted under S. 115 or S. 116 on the same facts. 1952 Bom 385 (386) [AIR V 39] : I.L.R. (1952) Bom 1100 : 1952 Cri L Jour 1446.

[2] The failure to prove even one of the conditions mentioned in this section renders the conviction under S. 115 or S. 116 unsustainable. 1958 Raj 347 (348) [AIR V 45 C 114] : 1959 Cri L Jour 87.

Section 132 — Note 1

[1] An offence under S. 86 of (J. and K.) Motor Vehicles Act is not a "civil offence" as mentioned in S. 69 of the Army Act as it is not triable by any Criminal Court in India. It is an offence in that State alone and triable by a criminal Court in the State. A criminal Court of the State of Jammu and Kashmir does not come within the definition of the "criminal Court" as defined in S. 3 (viii) of the Army Act and, therefore, the offence of which the accused is charged not being "civil offence" as defined in S. 3 (ii) of the Army Act is not triable by Court Martial but by a criminal Court of the State. 1960 J & K 139 (140) [AIR V 47 C 59] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1453.

Section 133 — Note 1

[1] Section 133 cannot transmute a rule framed under the Act into a section enacted by the legislature. The validity of the rule must depend on its being intra vires of the Act under which it is framed. (54) I.L.R. (1954) Trav-Co 771 (777). (Rule 156 (2) of Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Rules, 1952 providing for an appeal from an appellate order of the Central Board to Government is invalid being in contravention of S. 64.)

[2] Sub-s. (3) in providing for the placing of the rules made before the legislature has not made that a condition precedent or a condition subsequent to the coming into force of the rule. Its provisions are only directory and the non-compliance therewith will not render the rules made under the section invalid. 1958 Andh 129 (137) [S] AIR V 43 C 45] : I.L.R. (1956) Andh 800 (DB).

[3] In view of proviso 2 to S. 6 Part B States (Laws) Act, the rules framed under Rajasthan Motor Vehicles Ordinance which came into force from 30.3.1951, were valid, even though they were not placed before the legislature when it met, for the first time, in March 1952. 1955 Raj 19 (22) [AIR V 42 C 8] : I.L.R. (1953) 3 Raj 931 (DB).

[4] The Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Rules, 1950 were framed under S. 64 of the Travancore-Cochin Motor Vehicles Act, 1125 which did not contain any provision corresponding to S. 133 (3) of the Central Act and they have been specifically saved by the proviso to S. 6 of the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951. Hence those rules did not cease to be operative on 1.4.1951 with the extension of the Motor Vehicles Act, 1939 to the State on the ground that the requirements of S. 133 (3)

(3) All rules made under this Act by the Central Government or by any <sup>a</sup>[State Government] shall be laid for not less than fourteen days before <sup>a</sup>[Parliament or <sup>b</sup>[the State Legislature] ], as the case may be, as soon as possible after they are made, and shall be subject to such modifications <sup>c</sup>[as Parliament or such Legislature] may make during the session in which they are so laid.

(1) The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, for the purpose of carrying into effect the provisions of this Act, establish a Motor Vehicles Department and appoint as officers thereof such persons as it thinks fit.

(2) Every such officer shall be deemed to be a public servant within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code.

(3) The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may make rules to regulate the discharge by officers of the Motor Vehicles Department of their functions and in particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power to prescribe the uniform to be worn by them, the authorities to which they shall be subordinate, the duties to be performed by them, the powers (including the powers exercisable by police officers under this Act) to be exercised by them, and the conditions governing the exercise of such powers.]

(1) Where an appeal has been preferred or an application for revision has been made against any order passed by an original authority under this Act, the appeal or the application for revision shall not operate as a stay of the order passed by the original authority and such order shall remain in force pending the disposal of the appeal or the application for revision, as the case may be, unless the prescribed appellate authority or revisional authority otherwise directs.

of the Act were not complied with. 1954 Trav-Co 140 (141) [AIR V 41 C 49].

[5] A party who desires to challenge the validity of the amendment of rule on the ground that there was no compliance with the provisions of S. 133 of this Act read with S. 23 of the General Clauses Act must make an averment to that effect in his pleadings. In the absence of such an averment he will not be allowed to urge that contention at the time of the hearing of the case. 1959 J & K 141 (142) [AIR V 46 C 59] (DB).

[6] In a case decided under the Motor Vehicles Act of 1914 it was held that the Rules framed under that Act by the Government did not apply proprio vigore to the subjects of Indian States but if there was any reciprocity agreement between the Indian Government and the Government of the State they became binding on those subjects by the force of that agreement. ('39) 1939 Nag L Jour 355 (355).

Section 133A — Note 1

[1] The individual who is invested with the authority and is required to perform the duties incidental to an office is an officer. Hence the Regional Transport officer, who is an individual invested with the authority and required to perform the duties incidental to an office, is an officer within S. 133A. 1959 Andh-Pra 413 (416) [A I R V 46 C 117] : 1 L R (1959) Andh-Pra 375 (FB).

[2] The Regional Transport Officer who is administratively a subordinate of Transport Officer must be taken to be his subordinate for the purposes of S. 44A also. The fact that no rule has been made under S. 133A laying down such subordination is not material. 1960 S C 1191 (1198) [AIR V 47 C 208]. Section 134 — Note 1

[1] An order passed on an application which fails to furnish the particulars required under S. 46 cannot be saved by the provisions of sub-section (2). The omission is not a mere irregularity in view of the mandatory nature of S. 46. 1960 Mys 90 (93) [AIR V 47 C 25].

[2] Sub-section (2) neither applies to the orders of a competent authority under the Act which are wholly without jurisdiction nor affects the powers of the High Court to interfere with such orders under Article 226 of the Constitution. 1959 Mys 120 (122) [AIR V 46 C 49].

(2) No order made by a competent authority under this Act shall be reversed or altered on appeal or revision on account of any error, omission or irregularity in the proceedings, unless it appears to the prescribed appellate authority or revisional authority, as the case may be, that such error, omission or irregularity has, in fact, occasioned a failure of justice.]

11. Renewal of driving licences.

(1) Any licensing authority may, on an application made to it, renew a driving licence issued under the provisions of this Act with effect from the date of its expiry :

Provided that in any case where the application for the renewal of a driving licence is made more than thirty days after the date of its expiry, the driving licence shall be renewed with effect from the date of its renewal.

(2) An application for the renewal of a driving licence shall be made in Form B as set forth in the First Schedule and shall contain the declaration required by that form: provided that where the applicant does not or is unable to subscribe to the said declaration, the provisions of sub-section (5) of section 7 shall apply.

(3) Where an application for the renewal of a driving licence is made previous to, or not more than thirty days after, the date of its expiry, the fee payable for such renewal shall be nine rupees.

(3A) Where an application for the renewal of a driving licence is made more than thirty days after the date of its expiry, the fee payable for such renewal shall be eleven rupees:

Provided that the fee referred to in sub-section (3) may be accepted by the licencing authority, if it is satisfied that the holder of the driving licence was prevented by good cause from applying within the time specified in that sub-section:

Provided further that if the application is made more than five years after the licence has ceased to be effective, the licensing authority may refuse to renew the driving licence, unless the applicant undergoes and passes to its satisfaction the test of competence to drive specified in the Third Schedule.

(4) When the authority renewing the driving licence is not the authority which issued the driving licence, it shall intimate the fact of renewal to the authority which issued the driving licence.]

Explanation.—The figures "5'00-17", etc., in Table A represent, respectively, the nominal sectional diameter of the tyre and the diameter of the wheel rim; and the figures "30 × 5", etc., in Table B represent, respectively the over-all diameter of wheel and tyre and the nominal sectional diameter of the tyre, all figures being in inches. The actual sectional diameter of the tyre when mounted on its appropriate rim and inflated shall in no case be less than the nominal sectional diameter.

NOTE.—Tyres may be calibrated in so called metric sizes, for example, "170 × 20". In that case the first number represents the sectional diameter of the tyre in millimeters and the second number represents the diameter of the rim in inches. The permissible weight in pounds for each such tyre shall be determined by dividing the nominal sectional diameter of the tyre in millimetres by the figure 25·4, the quotient being the nominal sectional diameter in inches. The permissible weight given in Table A for the nearest equivalent nominal sectional diameter in inches and the actual rim-diameter shall be the permissible weight for that tyre."

NOTES. —

- (1) The figure 20 is given merely as an example. The actual figures will be as prescribed in each case where this sign is used.
- (2) The general design of the post is given for guidance.
- (3) Where the speed limit is, or is to be, imposed only on a certain class or classes of motor vehicle the class or classes will be specified on the "definition plate". Where in addition to a general speed limit applicable to other motor vehicles a special speed limit is, or is to be imposed on vehicles of a certain class or classes, the general speed limit will be specified on the disc and the special speed limit together with the class or classes of vehicle to which it applies will be specified on the "definition plate".

NOTE. — Sign No. 5 as here set forth may be amplified by instructions inscribed upon a definition plate placed below it as in the general arrangement set forth in sign No. 1 of this Part. Upon the definition plate may be set forth the times during which parking is prohibited. In like manner an arrow-head inscribed on the definition plate will indicate that parking is prohibited on that part of the street or road lying to the side of the sign to which the arrow-head points.

DRIVING REGULATIONS

1. The driver of a motor vehicle shall drive the vehicle as close to the left hand side of the road as may be expedient, and shall allow all traffic which is proceeding in the opposite direction to pass him on his right hand side.

2. Except as provided in regulation 3, the driver of a motor vehicle shall pass to the right of all traffic proceeding in the same direction as himself.

3. The driver of a motor vehicle may pass to the left of a vehicle the driver of which having indicated an intention to turn to the right has drawn to the centre of the road and may pass a tram-car or other vehicle running on fixed rails, whether travelling in the same direction as himself or otherwise, on either side :

Provided that in no case shall he pass a tram-car at a time or in a manner likely to cause danger or inconvenience to other users of the road or pass on the left hand side a tram-car, which, when in motion would be travelling in the same direction as himself, while the tram-car is at rest for the purpose of setting down or taking up passengers.

4. The driver of a motor vehicle shall not pass a vehicle travelling in the same direction as himself—

(a) if his passing is likely to cause inconvenience or danger to other traffic proceeding in any direction, or

(b) where a point or corner or a hill or an obstruction of any kind renders the road ahead not clearly visible.

5. The driver of a motor vehicle shall not, when being overtaken or being passed by another vehicle, increase speed or do anything in any way to prevent the other vehicle from passing him.

6. The driver of a motor vehicle shall slow down when approaching a road intersection, a road junction or a road corner, and shall not enter any such intersection or junction until he has become aware that he may do so without endangering the safety of persons thereon.

7. The driver of a motor vehicle shall, on entering a road intersection, if the road entered is a main road designated as such, give way to the vehicles proceeding along that road, and in any other case give way to all traffic approaching the intersection on his right hand.

8. The driver of a motor vehicle shall, when passing or meeting a procession or a body of troops or police on the march or when passing workmen engaged on road repair, drive at a speed not greater than "[25 km.] an hour.

9. The driver of a motor vehicle shall—

(a) when turning to the left, drive as close as may be to the left hand side of the road from which he is making the turn and of the road which he is entering;

(b) when turning to the right, draw as near as may be to the centre of the road along which he is travelling and cause the vehicle to move in such a manner that—

(i) as far as may be practicable it passes beyond, and so as to leave on the driver's right hand, a point formed by the intersection of the centre lines of the intersecting roads; and

(ii) it arrives as near as may be at the left hand side of the road which the driver is entering.

THE ELEVENTH SCHEDULE

SIGNALS

1. When about to turn to the right or to drive to the right hand side of the road in order to pass another vehicle or for any other purpose, a driver shall extend his right arm in a horizontal position outside of and to the right of his vehicle with the palm of the hand turned to the front

2. When about to turn to the left or to drive to the left hand side of the road, a driver shall extend his right arm and rotate it in an anticlockwise direction.

3. When about to slow down, a driver shall extend his right arm with the palm downward and to the right of the vehicle and shall move the arm so extended up and down several times in such a manner that the signal can be seen by the driver of any vehicle which may be behind him.

4. When about to stop, a driver shall raise his right forearm vertically outside of and to the right of the vehicle, palm to the front.

5. When a driver wishes to indicate to the driver of a vehicle behind him that he desires that driver to overtake him, he shall extend his right arm and hand horizontally outside of and to the right of the vehicle and shall swing the arm backwards and forwards in a semicircular motion.

(ACT VI OF 1942)

[The Act printed here is as on 15-9-1960.]

SECTIONS

1. Short title, extent and application.
2. Co-operative societies to which this Act applies registered before commencement of this Act.
3. Co-operative societies to which this Act applies registered after commencement of this Act.
4. Appointment and powers of Central Registrar of Co-operative Societies.
5. Penalty for failure to furnish information required under this Act.

- 5A. Transitional provisions regarding certain co-operative societies affected by reorganisation of States.
- 5B. Power to delegate.
- 5C. Transitional provision relating to certain multi-unit co-operative societies.
6. Power of Central Government to make rules.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Multi-unit co-operative societies, that is to say, co-operative societies operating over more than one province, are corporations within the meaning of entry 33 in List I of the Seventh Schedule of the Government of India Act, 1935, and the legislative and executive jurisdiction in respect of their incorporation, regulation and winding up is exclusively central. Any provisions of the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, or of the Provincial Co-operative Societies Acts which might purport to vest executive jurisdiction in respect of such multi-unit societies in provinces can have no valid basis. It is, therefore, necessary to legislate for the incorporation, regulation and winding up of co-operative societies operating over more than one province.

The Bill applies to the multi-unit societies, the existing legislation applicable to the societies operating within a single province. It will apply to all multi-unit societies irrespective of their nature of their work. Provision has been made to enable the Government to appoint a Central Registrar but as the number of multi-unit societies in existence at present is small, it is proposed to entrust the functions of the Central Registrar to the Provincial Registrars until the growth in the numbers of multi-unit societies makes the appointment of a Central Registrar necessary. Powers of inspection and audit of the branch offices of a multi-unit society will also be vested in the Registrars of the Provinces where such branch offices are situated, and they will also have power to call for such returns and information from the branches of multi-unit societies as they can call for from single-unit societies registered by them."

COGNATE ACTS AND PROVISIONS

1. CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1912.

[THE] MULTI-UNIT CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1942

[2nd March, 1942.]

An Act to provide for the incorporation, regulation and winding up of co-operative societies with objects not confined to one province.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the incorporation, regulation and winding up of co-operative societies with objects not confined to one province;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1942, Pt. V, p. 17.

1. Short title, extent and application.

(1) This Act may be called THE MULTI-UNIT CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES ACT, 1942.

2. Co-operative societies to which this Act applies registered before commencement of this Act.

(1) A co-operative society to which this Act applies which has been registered in any <sup>a</sup>[State] under the law relating to co-operative societies in force in that <sup>a</sup>[State] shall be deemed in any other <sup>a</sup>[State] to which its objects extend to be duly registered in that other <sup>a</sup>[State] under the law there in force relating to co-operative societies, but shall, save as provided in sub-sections (2) and (3), be subject for all the purposes of registration, control and dissolution to the law relating to co-operative societies in force for the time being in the <sup>a</sup>[State] in which it is actually registered.

(2) Where any such co-operative society has established before the commencement of this Act or establishes after the commencement of this Act a branch or place of business in a <sup>a</sup>[State] other than that in which it is actually registered, it shall, within six months from the commencement of this Act or the date of establishment of the branch or place of business, as the case may be, furnish to the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the <sup>a</sup>[State] in which such branch or place of business is situated a copy of its registered by-laws, and shall at any time it is required to do so by the said Registrar submit any returns and supply any information which the said Registrar might require to be submitted or supplied to him by a co-operative society actually registered in that <sup>a</sup>[State].

(3) The Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the <sup>a</sup>[State] in which a branch or place of business such as is referred to in sub-section (2) is situated may exercise in respect of that branch or place of business any powers of audit and of inspection which he might exercise in respect of a co-operative society actually registered in the ^[State].

Note.—Co-operative Societies operating over more than one State are corporations within the meaning of Entry 44 of List I of Sch. VII, Constitution of India, and the legislative and executive jurisdiction in respect of their incorporation, regulation and winding up is exclusively central. Any provision of the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912 or of the Provincial Co-operative Societies Acts which might purport to vest executive jurisdiction in respect of such multi-unit societies in the States has no valid basis. This Act legislates for the incorporation, regulation and winding up of multi-unit co-operative societies, i. e., societies operating over more than one State.

3. Co-operative societies to which this Act applies registered after commencement of this Act.

(1) A society which might, if its objects were confined to one ^[State], be registered as a co-operative society in any ^[State] under the law relating to co-operative societies in force in that ^[State], shall, notwithstanding that its objects are not confined to the State in which its principal place of business is to be situated, be deemed for the purposes of registration as a co-operative society to be situated wholly in that ^[State], and may be registered by the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of that ^[State] in accordance with the law relating to co-operative societies for the time being in force in that ^[State], and if so registered shall be deemed in any other ^[State] to which its objects extend to be duly registered in that other ^[State] under the law there in force relating to co-operative societies but shall, save as provided in sub-sections (2) and (3), be subject for all the purposes of registration, control and dissolution to the law relating to co-operative societies in force for the time being in the ^[State] in which it is actually registered.

(2) Where any such co-operative society establishes a branch or place of business in a ^[State] other than that in which it is actually registered, it shall within six months from the date of establishment of the branch or place of business furnish to the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the ^[State] in which such branch or place of business is situated a copy of its registered bye-laws, and shall at any time it is required to do so by the said Registrar submit any returns and supply any information which the said Registrar might require to be submitted or supplied to him by a co-operative society actually registered in that ^[State].

(3) The Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the ^[State] in which a branch or place of business such as is referred to in sub-section (2) is situated may exercise in respect of that branch or place of business any powers of audit and of inspection which he might exercise in respect of a co-operative society actually registered in that ^[State].

4. Appointment and powers of Central Registrar of Co-operative Societies.

(1) The Central Government may, if it thinks fit, appoint<sup>a</sup> a Central Registrar of Co-operative Societies.

(2) The Central Registrar of Co-operative Societies, if appointed, shall exercise in respect of any co-operative society to which this Act applies, to the exclusion of ^[State] Registrars, the powers and functions exercisable by the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the ^[State] in which such society is actually registered.

[a] The Joint Secretary in charge of Co-operation in the Ministry of Agriculture, Govt. of India, appointed as the Central Registrar of Co-operative Societies, see S. R. O. 114 dated 29-12-1956, Gaz. of Ind., 1957, Pt. II-Sec. 3 p. 65.

5. Penalty for failure to furnish information required under this Act.

If any co-operative society fails to furnish the information which it is required to furnish by or under sub-section (2) of section 2 or sub-section (2) of section 3, or to submit any return required to be submitted under either of those sub-sections, the society, and any officer or member of the society responsible for the failure, shall each be liable to fine which may extend to fifty rupees, and the registration of the society may, at the discretion of the Registrar of Co-operative Societies of the State in which the society is actually registered, be cancelled.

(1) Where by virtue of the provisions of Part II of the States Reorganisation Act, 1956, <sup>1</sup>[or any other enactment relating to reorganisation of States, any co-operative society which, immediately before the day on which the reorganisation takes place], had its objects confined to one State becomes, as from that day, a multi-unit co-operative society, it shall be deemed to be a co-operative society to which this Act applies and shall be deemed to be actually registered in the State in which the principal place of business of the co-operative society is situated.

(2) If it appears to the Central Registrar of Co-operative Societies necessary or expedient that any such society should be reconstituted or reorganised in any manner or that it should be dissolved, the Central Registrar may, with the approval of the Central Government, place before a meeting of the general body of the society held in such manner as may be prescribed by rules made under this Act, a scheme for the reconstitution, reorganisation or dissolution of the society, including proposals regarding the formation of new co-operative societies and the transfer thereto of the assets and liabilities of that society.

(3) If the scheme is sanctioned by a resolution passed by a majority of the members present at the said meeting, either without modifications or with modifications to which the Central Registrar agrees, he shall certify the scheme and upon such certification, the scheme shall, notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any law, regulation or bye-law for the time being in force, be binding on all the societies affected by the scheme, as well as the shareholders and creditors of all such societies.

(4) If the scheme is not sanctioned under sub-section (3), the Central Registrar may refer the scheme to such Judge of the appropriate High Court as may be nominated in this behalf by the Chief Justice thereof, and the decision of that Judge in regard to the scheme shall be final and shall be binding on all the societies affected by the scheme as well as the shareholders and creditors of all such societies.

Explanation.— In this sub-section "appropriate High Court" means the High Court within whose jurisdiction the principal place of business of the multi-unit co-operative society is situated.]

*[5C. Transitional provision relating to certain multi-unit co-operative societies.

(1) Where, in respect of any co-operative society specified in the Twelfth Schedule<sup>b</sup> which under the provisions of sub-section (1) of section 5A becomes a multi-unit co-operative society, the Board of Directors unanimously adopts any scheme for the reconstitution, reorganisation or dissolution of the society, including proposals for the formation of new co-operative societies and the transfer thereto of the assets and liabilities and employees of that society and the State Government of Bombay certifies the scheme at any time before the 1st day of May, 1960, then notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (2) or sub-section (3) or sub-section (4) of the said section or any other law, regulation or bye-law for the time being in force in relation to that society, the scheme so certified shall be binding on all societies affected by the scheme, as well as the shareholders, creditors and employees of all such societies, subject to such financial adjustments as may be directed in this behalf under sub-section (3), but no such scheme shall be given effect to before the said day.

(2) When a scheme in respect of a co-operative society is so certified, the Central Registrar shall place the scheme at a meeting, held in such manner as may be prescribed by rules made under this Act, of all the persons who, immediately before the date of certification of the scheme, were members of the society and the scheme may be approved by a resolution passed by a majority of the members present and voting at the said meeting.

(3) If the scheme is not so approved or is approved with modifications, the Central Registrar may refer the scheme to such Judge of the High Court at Bombay as may be nominated in this behalf by the Chief Justice thereof and the Judge may direct such financial adjustments to be made among the societies affected as he deems necessary, and the scheme shall be deemed to be approved subject to those financial adjustments.

(4) If in consequence of the directions given under sub-section (3), a society becomes liable to pay any sum of money, the State within whose area the society is located shall be liable as guarantor in respect of the payment of such money.]

[a] Inserted by the Bombay Re-organisation Act, 1960 (XI of 1960), S. 73 [w. e. f. 1-5-1960]. [b] That is, the Twelfth Schedule of the Bombay Re-organisation Act, 1960. (ACT XI of 1881)

1. Short title.

2. "Municipal Committee" defined.

3. Power to prohibit levy of tax.

3A. Power of State Government to prohibit levy of taxes on it.

4. Central Government to pay taxes referred to in section 3.

5. Payments to be made in lieu of taxes referred to in section 3A.

6. Decision of question arising under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"By the twenty-fourth section of the Cantonments Act, 1880, the Governor-General in Council is empowered to prohibit the levy of any tax in a cantonment, or to exempt any person or class of persons from the operation of any tax leviable there.

This power was conferred chiefly with a view to the exemption of military men in cantonments situate within the limits of municipalities from certain descriptions of municipal taxation. There are, however, cases in which, owing to the want of accommodation in cantonments or to some other cause, military men are compelled to reside within the limits of a municipality, but out of cantonments. In such cases the power in question is inapplicable, and it was accordingly proposed by the Select Committee on the Cantonment Bill that the defect should be supplied by a provision to be inserted in the Bill for the control of Municipal taxation, for the introduction of which leave had then been granted.

As, however, that Bill is not at present to be proceeded with, it has been thought desirable to make the necessary provisions in a separate Bill; and the present Bill has accordingly been prepared for this purpose.

The bill also provides for the exemption of Government property from municipal taxation, recent experience having shown such a power to be necessary."

[THE] MUNICIPAL TAXATION ACT, 1881

(ACT XI OF 1881)*

[25th February, 1881.]

An Act to give power to prohibit the levy of municipal taxes in certain cases.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower <sup>b</sup>[Government] to prohibit, in certain cases the levy of municipal taxes payable by persons in the military, <sup>c</sup>[naval] <sup>d</sup>[or air-force] service or by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government]; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1880, Pt. V, p. 193.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and Merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to States merged in the State of—

Bombay by Bom. Act IV of 1950;

Madhya Pradesh by M. P. Act XII of 1950;

Punjab by Punj. Act V of 1950.

[b] Substituted for "the Governor-General in Council" by A. C. A. O., 1948. [c] Inserted by the Amending Act, 1934 (XXXV of 1934), S. 2 and Sch. [d] Inserted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1927 (X of 1927), S. 2 and Sch. 1.

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE MUNICIPAL TAXATION ACT, 1881.

Local extent.

It extends to the whole of India except <sup>a</sup>[the territories, which immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part B States]; <sup>b</sup>[ * * * ].

[a] Substituted for "Part B States", by 2 A. L. O., 1956. Immediately before the 1st Nov. 1956, the following were the Part B States in India : Hyderabad, Jammu and Kashmir, Madhya Bharat, Mysore, Pepsu, Rajasthan, Saurashtra and Travancore-Cochin. [b] The words "and shall come into force at once" were omitted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (X of 1914).

2. "Municipal Committee" defined.

In this Act "Municipal Committee"* includes a Municipal Corporation or a body of Municipal Commissioners constituted by or under the provisions of any enactment for the time being in force.

[a] For the purposes of this Act, every Cantonment Board as defined in the Cantonments Act, 1924 (II of 1924), is deemed to be a Municipal Committee : see S. 97 of that Act.

3. Power to prohibit levy of tax.

Notwithstanding anything contained in any enactment for the time being in force, the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may, by an order in writing, prohibit<sup>aa</sup> the levy by a Municipal Committee of any specified tax—

- (a) payable by any person subject to the <sup>a</sup>[Army Act, the Indian Army Act,<sup>b</sup> 1911.] <sup>c</sup>[the Naval Discipline Act <sup>d</sup>[* * *] the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934.] <sup>e</sup>[the Air Force Act or the Indian Air Force Act,<sup>f</sup> 1932] who is compelled by the exigencies of military <sup>g</sup>[naval] <sup>h</sup>[or air-force] duty to reside within the limits of a municipality ;
- h [* * * * *].

The <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may, by a like order, rescind any such prohibition.

[aa] For instances of such Orders relating to the Military, see General Statutory Rules and Orders, Vol. II, p. 278; for exemption of bicycles and tricycles used by non-Commissioned Officers and Soldiers, see ibid. [a] Substituted for "Army Discipline and Regulation Act, 1879, or the Indian Articles of War", by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1927 (X of 1927), S. 2 and Sch. I. [b] See now the Army Act, 1950 (XLVI of 1950). [c] Inserted by the Amending Act, 1934 (XXXV of 1934), S. 2 and Sch. [d] The words "or that Act as modified by" were omitted by A. L. O. 1950. [e] Substituted for "or the Air Force Act" by the Air Force Act, 1932 (XIV of 1932), S. 130 and Schedule. [f] See now the Air Force Act, 1950 (XLV of 1950). [g] Inserted by Act X of 1927, S. 2 and Sch. I. [h] The words "or (b) payable by the Secretary of State for India in Council" were omitted by A. O. 1937.

Note : There are cases where due to want of accommodation in cantonments, military personnel are compelled to reside in municipal areas but out of cantonments. In such cases, powers given to the Central Government by the Cantonments Act, to exempt such persons from being subject to municipal taxes, are not enough. This section gives the Central Government this power.

Notwithstanding anything in any enactment for the time being in force, the <sup>a</sup>[State] Government may by an order in writing prohibit the levy by a Municipal Committee of any specified tax payable by the <sup>a</sup>[State] Government and may by a like order rescind any such prohibition.]

[a] Inserted by A. O. 1937.

4. Central Government to pay taxes referred to in section 3.

So long as any order made under section 3, prohibiting the levy of a tax on any person mentioned in <sup>a</sup>[* * * *] that section remains in force, the <sup>b</sup>[Central Government] shall be liable to pay to the Municipal Committee mentioned in the order the amount which otherwise would have been payable to such Committee by such person :

Provided that the <sup>c</sup>[Central Government] shall not be liable to pay any sum in respect of any horse which such person is bound, by the regulations of the service to which he belongs, to keep.

[a] The words "clause (a) of" were omitted by A.O. 1937. [b] Substituted for "Secretary of State for India in Council", ibid. [c] Substituted for "said Secretary of State in Council", ibid.

5. Payments to be made in lieu of taxes referred to in section 3A.

So long as any order made under <sup>a</sup>[section 3A] prohibiting the levy of any tax payable by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government], remains in force, the said <sup>a</sup>[State Government] shall be liable to pay to the Municipal Committee, in lieu of such tax, such sums (if any) as an officer from time to time appointed in this behalf by the [State Government] may, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, from time to time determine to be fair and reasonable.

6. Decision of question arising under this Act.

If any question arises whether any duty is military, <sup>a</sup>[naval] <sup>b</sup>[or air-force] duty within the meaning of this Act, the decision of the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] thereon shall be conclusive.

If any question arises whether any person is compelled as aforesaid to reside within the limits of a municipality or is bound as aforesaid to keep any horse, the decision thereon of such authority as the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf shall be conclusive.

[a] Inserted by the Amending Act, 1954 (XXXV of 1954), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Inserted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1927 (X of 1927), S. 2 and Sch. I.

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Indian Museum.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Indian Museum; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1909, Pt. V, p. 109; for Report of Select Committee, see ibid., 1910, Pt. V, p. 65.

This Act applies only to the Indian Museum, which is situated in Calcutta.

PRELIMINARY

1. Short title and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN MUSEUM ACT, 1910.

(2) It shall come into force on such <sup>a</sup>date as the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government], by notification in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette], may direct.

2. Constitution and incorporation of the Trustees of the Indian Museum.

- (a) the Governor of West Bengal, ex officio Chairman;
- (b) the Secretary to the Government of India in the Ministry concerned with matters relating to the Indian Museum, ex officio;
- (c) the Mayor of the Corporation of Calcutta, ex officio;
- (d) the Vice-Chancellor of the University of Calcutta, ex officio;
- (e) the Accountant-General, West Bengal, ex officio;
- (f) four persons to be nominated by the Central Government, one of whom shall be a representative of commerce and industry chosen in consultation with the Government of West Bengal;
- (g) one person to be nominated by the Government of West Bengal;
- (h) one person to be nominated by the Council of the Asiatic Society, Calcutta :

Provided that if any of the Trustees referred to in clauses (b), (c), (d) and (e) is unable to attend any meeting of the Trustees, he may, with the previous approval of the Chairman, authorise a person in writing to do so.]

(2) The Trustees shall be a body corporate, by the name of "The Trustees of the Indian Museum", with perpetual succession and a common seal, and in that name shall sue and be sued, and shall have power to acquire and hold property, to enter into contracts, and to do all acts necessary for and consistent with the purposes of this Act.

(3) The nominated Trustees shall, save as herein otherwise provided, hold office for a period of three years :

Provided that the authority nominating a Trustee may extend his term of office for one or more like periods.

[a] Substituted for the original sub-section (1) by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 2 [30-11-1960].

3. Minimum number of Trustees and quorum.

(1) The powers of the said body corporate may only be exercised so long and so often as there are <sup>a</sup>[six] members thereof.

(2) The quorum necessary for the transaction of business at a meeting of the Trustees shall not be less than <sup>b</sup>[four].

[a] Substituted for 'nine' by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960) S. 3 [30-11-1960]. [b] Substituted for 'six', ibid.

4. Power to appoint new Trustees.

If a nominated Trustee—

- (a) dies, or
- (b) is absent from the meetings of the Trustees for more than twelve consecutive months, or
- (c) desires to be discharged, or
- (d) refuses or becomes incapable to act, or
- (e) is appointed to perform the duties of <sup>a</sup>[any of the offices specified in clauses (a) to (e) of sub-section (1) of section 2], the authority which nominated the Trustee may nominate a new Trustee in his place.

[a] Substituted for the words, figure, brackets and letter "any office specified in section 2, clause (a)" by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 4 [30-11-1960].

5. Vacation of office by existing Trustees. [Repealed by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), section 5 [30.11.1960].]

PROPERTY AND POWERS OF THE TRUSTEES

6. Property vested in or placed under the control of the Trustees.

(1) All the property, whether movable or immovable, which at the commencement of this Act is held by the Trustees of the Indian Museum constituted by the Indian Museum Act, 1876, on trust for the purposes of the said Museum shall, together with any such property which may hereinafter be given, bequeathed, transferred or acquired for the said purposes, vest in the Trustees of the Indian Museum constituted by this Act on trust for the purposes of the said Museum :

Provided that the Trustees may expend the capital of any portion of such property which may consist of money on the maintenance, improvement and enlargement of the collections deposited in, presented to or purchased for, the said Museum or otherwise for the purposes of the same as they may think fit.

(2) The Trustees shall have the exclusive possession, occupation and control, for the purposes of such trust, of the land specified in the schedule, including any buildings which may have been, or may hereafter be, erected thereon, other than those portions thereof which have been set apart by the Trustees for the records and offices of the Geological Survey of India.

[a] Repealed by this Act, S. 17.

7. Power to Trustees to exchange, sell and destroy articles in collections.

Subject to the provisions of any bye-laws made in this behalf, the Trustees may, from time to time,—

- (a) deliver, by way of loan, to any person the whole or any portion of, or any article contained in, any collection vested in them under this Act;
- (b) exchange or sell duplicates of articles contained in any such collection and take or purchase, in the place of such duplicates, such articles as may in their opinion be worthy of preservation in the Museum ;
- (c) present duplicates of articles contained in any such collection to other Museums in "[India] ; and
- (d) remove and destroy any article contained in any such collection.

[a] Substituted for "the Provinces", by A.L.O., 1950.

8. Power to Trustees to make bye-laws.

(1) The Trustees may from time to time, with the previous sanction of the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government], make bye-laws consistent with this Act <sup>a</sup>[and the rules made thereunder] for any purpose necessary for the execution of their trust.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such <sup>b</sup>[bye-laws] may provide for—

- (a) the summoning, holding and adjournment of general and special meetings of the Trustees ;
- (b) the securing of the attendance of Trustees at such meetings ;
- (c) the provision and keeping of minute-books and account-books ;
- (d) the compiling of catalogues ;
- (e) the lending of articles contained in the collections vested in the Trustees ;
- (f) the exchange and sale, and the presentation to other Museums in "[India], of duplicates of articles contained in such collections ;

- (g) the removal and destruction of articles contained in such collections ; and
- (h) the general management of the Museum.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 6 [30-11-1960]. [b] Substituted for 'rules', ibid. [c] Substituted for "the Provinces" by A.L.O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

*[9. Power of Trustees to appoint officers and servants.

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), the trustees may appoint such officers and servants as they may consider necessary or proper for the care or management of the trust-property, and determine their functions.

(2) The recruitment and the conditions of service of such officers and servants shall be regulated by rules made under this Act.]

[a] Substituted for the original section 9 by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 7 [30-11-1960].

DUTIES OF THE TRUSTEES

*[10. Budget.

The Trustees shall, by such date in each financial year as may be specified by the Central Government, submit to that Government for approval, in the form specified by that Government in consultation with the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India, the budget of the next financial year, showing the estimated receipts and expenditure during the next financial year.]

[a] Sections 10 and 10A are substituted for the original S. 10 by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 8 [30-11-1960].

*[10A. Annual report and accounts.

(1) The Trustees shall, as soon as possible after the commencement of each financial year, submit —

(a) to the Central Government within such time or date as may be specified by the Central Government, a report giving a true and full account of their activities during the previous financial year and an account of the activities likely to be undertaken during the current financial year ;

(b) to such auditor as the Central Government may appoint in this behalf, accounts of all moneys expended by the Trustees during the previous financial year, supported by the necessary vouchers.

(2) The Trustees shall cause such report and accounts to be published annually for general information.]

[a] See foot-note [a] under section 10.

11. Collections of Asiatic Society to be kept distinguished in the Museum.

(1) The Trustees shall cause every article in the collections in the said Indian Museum formerly belonging to the Asiatic Society of Bengal *[(now known as the Asiatic Society, Calcutta)] and all additions that may hereafter be made thereto otherwise than by purchase under section 6, to be marked and numbered and (subject to the provisions contained in sections 7 and 16) to be kept and preserved in the said Museum with such marks and numbers.

(2) An inventory of such additions shall be made by the said Society, one copy whereof shall be signed by the Trustees and delivered to the said Society, and another copy shall be signed by the Council of the said Society and delivered to the Trustees, and shall be kept by them along with the inventory delivered to the predecessors in office of the Trustees when the said collections were deposited in the said Museum.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 9 [30-11-1960].

12. Articles received in exchange or purchased and moneys realised from sale to be held on trust.

All objects taken in exchange and articles purchased under section 7 and all moneys realised from sales made in accordance with the terms of the same section shall be held on trust and subject to powers and declarations corresponding as nearly as may be with the trusts, powers and declarations by this Act limited and declared.

SUPPLEMENTAL PROVISIONS

*[12A. Power of Central Government to issue directions to Trustees.

(1) In the discharge of their functions under this Act, the Trustees shall be bound by such directions on questions of policy as the Central Government may give to them from time to time :

Provided that the Trustees shall be given an opportunity to express their views before any direction is given under this sub-section.

(2) The decision of the Central Government whether a question is one of policy or not shall be final.]

[a] Inserted by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 10 [30-11-1960].

13. Officers under Act to be public servants.

All officers and servants appointed under this Act shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code ; * [ * * * ].

[a] The clause "and so far as regards their salaries, allowances, and pensions and their leave of absence from duty, they shall be subject to the rules which would be applicable if their service was service under the Central Government" was omitted by the Indian Museum (Amendment) Act, 1960 (XLV of 1960), S. 11 [30-11-1960].

14. Power to Trustees to keep collections not belonging to them.

Notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, the Trustees may, if they think fit, with the previous sanction of the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] and subject in each case to such conditions as it may approve and to such rules as it may prescribe, assume the custody and administration of collections which are not the property of the Trustees for the purposes of their trust under this Act, and keep and preserve such collections either in the Indian Museum or elsewhere :

Provided that if the trust constituted by this Act is at any time determined, any such collections shall not by reason of their then being in the Indian Museum become the property of Government.

*[15. Power to Trustees to part with certain property in their possession.

Subject to such conditions as the Central Government may approve, the Trustees may deliver possession of the whole or any part of the property described in the schedule to such person as that Government may appoint.]

[a] Substituted for the original section, by A. O., 1937.

*[15A. Power to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may, in consultation with the Trustees, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely,—

(a) the recruitment and the conditions of service of the officers and servants of the Museum;

Section 13 — Note 1

[1] Section 13 has no reference to tenure of service. Section 13 is quite definite as to the matters with which it purports to deal, and all that it provides is that so far as regards their 'salary' 'allowances' and 'pension' and their leave of absence from duty, they (i. e. officers and servants appointed under the Act) shall be subject to the rules which under the Civil Service Regulations for the time being in force would be applicable, if their service was service under the Government. That section has no reference at all to the question of the tenure of office. 1930 Cal 404 (408) [AIR V 17] : 57 Cal 231. (No regulations or conditions prescribed under S. 9—Tenure of employment can be terminated by reasonable notice.)

- (b) the form and manner in which the accounts of the Museum may be maintained and the manner in which such accounts may be audited;
- (c) the circumstances in which and the conditions subject to which the Trustees may assume the custody and administration of any collections referred to in section 14 and keep and preserve such collections;
- (d) the conditions subject to which the Trustees may deliver possession of any property in their possession to any other person.

(3) Every rule made under this section shall be laid as soon as may be after it is made before each House of Parliament while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two successive sessions and if before the expiry of the session in which it is so laid or the session immediately following, both Houses agree in making any modification in the rule, or both Houses agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so however that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that rule.]

16. Property in collections on determination of trust.

If the trust constituted by this Act is at any time determined,—

- (a) the collections and additions mentioned in section 11 shall become the property of the said Asiatic Society or their assigns, and
- (b) all the other collections then in the said Indian Museum shall, save as otherwise provided by section 14, become the property of <sup>A</sup>[Government].

17. Repeals. [Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (X of 1914), S. 3 and Sch. II.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"For several years past it has been the cherished desire of the Muslims of British India that Customary Law should in no case take the place of Muslim Personal Law. The matter has been repeatedly agitated in the press as well as on the platform. The Jamiat-ul-Ulema-i-Hind, the greatest Moslem religious body has supported the demand and invited the attention of all concerned to the urgent necessity of introducing a measure to this effect. Customary Law is a misnomer inasmuch as it has not any sound basis to stand upon and is very much liable to frequent changes and cannot be expected to attain at any time in the future that certainty and definiteness which must be the characteristic of all laws. The status of Muslim women under the so-called Customary Law is simply disgraceful. All the Muslim Women Organisations have therefore condemned the Customary Law as it adversely affects their rights. They demand that the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) should be made applicable to them. The introduction of Muslim Personal Law will automatically raise them to the position to which they are naturally entitled. In addition to this the present measure, if enacted, would have very salutary effect on society because it would ensure certainty and definiteness in the mutual rights and obligations of the public. Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) exists in the form of a veritable code and is too well known to admit of any doubt or to entail any great labour in the shape of research, which is the chief feature of Customary Law."

[THE] MUSLIM PERSONAL LAW (SHARIAT)
APPLICATION ACT, 1937 (ACT XXVI OF 1937)*

[7th October, 1937.]

An Act to make provision for the application of the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) to Muslims [* * *].

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the application of the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) to Muslims [* * *]; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1935, Pt. V, p. 136; for Report of the Select Committee, see ibid., 1937, Pt. V, p. 235.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and merged States, by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh, by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to the States merged in the State of Bombay, by Bom. Act IV of 1950, S. 3 [30-3-1950].

It has been adopted mutatis mutandis in the State of Madhya Bharat by the M. B. Adoption of Laws Act, 1953 (I of 1953), S. 2 and Sch. [24-1-1953].

As to the application of this Act to Cooh-Behar State, see section 3 (2) of the Cooh-Behar (Assimilation of Laws) Act, 1950 (LXVII of 1950).

[b] The words "in the Provinces of India" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950.

1. Short title and extent.

(1) This Act may be called THE MUSLIM PERSONAL LAW (SHARIAT) APPLICATION ACT, 1937.

(2) It extends to the whole of India *{except the State of Jammu and Kashmir} [* * *].

[a] Substituted for "except the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part B States", by the Miscellaneous Personal Laws (Extension) Act, 1959 (XLVIII of 1959), S. 3 and Sch. I [date of commencement not published up to 15-11-1960]. [b] The words "excluding the North-West Frontier Province" were omitted by A. C. A. O., 1948.

2. Application of Personal Law to Muslims.

Notwithstanding any customs or usage to the contrary, in all questions (save questions relating to agricultural land) regarding intestate succession, special property of females, including personal property inherited or obtained under contract or gift or any other provision of Personal Law, marriage, dissolution of marriage, including talaq, ila, zihar, lian, khula and mubaraat, maintenance, dower, guardianship, gifts, trusts and trust properties, and wakfs (other than charities and charitable institutions and charitable and religious endowments) the rule of decision in cases where the parties are Muslims shall be the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat).

STATE AMENDMENTS

ANDHRA PRADESH

Same as that of Madras.

MADRAS

For section 2 substitute the following section, namely:—

“2. Application of Personal Law to Muslims.—Notwithstanding any custom or usage to the contrary, in all questions regarding intestate succession, special property of females, including personal property inherited or obtained under contract or gift or any other provision of personal law, marriage, dissolution of marriage, including Talaq, Ila, Zihar, Lian, Khula and Mubaraat, maintenance, dower, guardianship, gifts, trusts and trust properties and wakfs the rule of decision in cases where the parties are Muslims shall be the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat).”

—Mad. Act XVIII of 1949, S. 2 [12-7-1949].

Section 2 — Note 1

[1] A claim to an estate on the ground that it is attached to the claimant's office by custom cannot be urged after the enactment of the Shariat law. 1947 P C 97 (98) [AIR V 34 C 27] : ILR (1947) Kar (PC) 200.

[2] It is only if there is a case of intestate succession that the provisions of the Shariat Act apply. If in a particular case on account of a special custom there was no question of an intestate succession, then the Shariat Act would not apply. 1958 Mad 144 (146) [AIR V 45 C 42]. (Where it is established that the parties in spite of their being Muslims followed Hindu law under custom and that the property of the deceased must belong to the other members of the joint family by survivorship there is no scope for the application of this Act.) *1959 Ker 67 (69) [AIR V 46 C 28] : ILR (1958) Ker 1266 (FB). (Act does not abolish rights and incidents of a Mappilla Marumakkathayam tarwad.) *('58) 1958 Ker L Tim 627 (628) (DB). (Suit for partition of Mappilla tarwad property—Marumakkathayam law and not the Shariat Act will apply.) * 1956 Mad 244 (246, 247) [AIR V 43 C 77] : ILR (1956) Mad 903 (DB). (The Shariat Act including the Madras amendment did not abolish the rights and incidents of a Moplah Marumakkathayam tarwad. The section expressly mentions “intestate succession” and it cannot apply unless a Muslim leaves property which would devolve on his heirs in the absence of a testamentary disposition. In a Mappilla tarwad no member has till partition a share in the property of the tarwad which devolves on his death as on intestate succession—AIR 1953 Mad 425, Overruled.)

[3] Where disputed alienation has been made in year 1931 and alienor has inherited this property under customary law his powers of alienation must be judged under law under which he took the estate, and not under different law. Provisions of Shariat Act do not deal with transfers and have no relevance. But when succession opens out regarding this property after death of alienor person who takes his estate under provisions of Shariat Act would certainly inherit absolute estate, and power to contest alienations regarding house property would automatically disappear. 1944 Lah 121 (125) [AIR V 31] (DB).

[4] Before the passing of this Act the reversioner had a right to sue for declaration that an alienation by the widow of the deceased in possession of the estate for her life-time under the customary law was not binding on him and that right which has already accrued to him can in no way be affected by the passing of this Act. The Act has no retrospective operation either expressly or by necessary implication. 1943 Lah 219 (220) [AIR V 30] (DB).

[5] The Act applies only where the parties are Muslims and in so far as it relates to marriages it affects marriages contracted in accordance with Mahomedan law. It contains no provision which would have the effect of making the personal law of Muslims applicable to marriages between Muslims and non-Muslims. 1941 Cal 582 (590) [AIR V 28].

[6] Section applies to testamentary trusts and wakfs—Khoja creating trust or wakf by will—Validity of trust or wakf is determined by Mahomedan law. 1947 Bom 122 (126) [AIR V 34 C 38] : ILR (1947) Bom 1.

[7] Section 2, has not restored in its complete form Mussalman Law of wakf. Effect of S. 2, is to make Mussalman Law expressly applicable to subjects which under terms of previous Acts and Regulations had to be decided on principles of equity and good conscience. 1940 Cal 501 (505) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 464 (DB).

[8] In an appeal pending on the date when this Act came into force the Court is not only entitled to but is also bound to apply its provisions where it has not to disturb or reopen a settled transaction by such application. 1953 Mad 445 (447) [AIR V 40 C 169]. (Suit by female heirs of deceased for a declaration of

3. Power to make a declaration.

(1) Any person who satisfies the prescribed authority—

(a) that he is a Muslim, and

(b) that he is competent to contract within the meaning of section 11 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, and

(c) that he is a resident of <sup>a</sup>[the territories to which this Act extends], may by declaration in the prescribed form and filed before the prescribed authority declare that he desires to obtain the benefit of <sup>b</sup>[the provisions of this section], and thereafter the provisions of section 2 shall apply to the declarant and all his minor children and their descendants as if in addition to the matters enumerated therein adoption, wills and legacies were also specified.

(2) Where the prescribed authority refuses to accept a declaration under sub-section (1), the person desiring to make the same may appeal to such officer as the State Government may, by general or special order, appoint in this behalf, and such officer may, if he is satisfied that the appellant is entitled to make the declaration, order the prescribed authority to accept the same.

[a] Substituted for "a Part A State or a Part C State", by S. A. L. O., 1956. [b] Substituted for "this Act", by the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application (Amendment) Act, 1943 (XVI of 1943), S. 2 [7.4.1943].

4. Rule-making power.

(1) The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may make rules to carry into effect the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing powers, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

(a) for prescribing the authority before whom and the form in which declarations under this Act shall be made;

(b) for prescribing the fees to be paid for the filing of declarations and for the attendance at private residences of any person in the discharge of his duties under this Act; and for prescribing the times at which such fees shall be payable and the manner in which they shall be levied.

(3) Rules made under the provisions of this section shall be published in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette] and shall thereupon have effect as if enacted in this Act.

their right to participate in the management of Durga and to rightful share of surplus income — Custom excluding them from such right on date of suit—Act passed pending appeal giving them such right—No vested rights affected by application of Act—Held, the appellate Court must apply Act and recognise the right of the plaintiffs.)

[9] In spite of the passing of the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937, S. 488, Cr. P. C., applies to muslims also. (57) 1957 All L Jour 300 (302).

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] The Shariat Act did not purport to make the Muslim Personal Law applicable to all matters relating to Muslims. Nor did it in terms totally abrogate custom and usage in respect of matters other than those enumerated in Ss. 2 and 3 of the Act. 1956 Mad 244 (246) [AIR V 43 C 77] : ILR (1956) Mad 905 (DB).

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] The repealed S. 5 ran as follows: "The District Judge may, on petition made by a Muslim married woman, dissolve a marriage on any ground recognised by Muslim Personal Law (Shariat)."

[2] There being no provision in the repealing Act (Dissolution of Muslim Marriages Act (8 of 1939) affecting proceedings which had been initiated under S. 5 of the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Act when it was in force and were pending at the time of its repeal the matter is governed by Cl. (e) of S. 8, General Clauses Act. Hence where the petition under S. 5 was pending before the District Judge on the date when the Act of 1939 came into force the petition does not automatically lapse and the District Judge is bound to decide it in accordance with the provisions of the Shariat Act. 1941 Lah 175 (176, 177) [AIR V 28] : ILR (1941) Lah 773 (DB).

6. Repeals.

*[The undermentioned provisions] of the Acts and Regulations mentioned below shall be repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, namely :—

(1) Section 26 of the Bombay Regulation IV of 1827;

(2) Section 16 of the Madras Civil Courts Act, 1873;

b[* * * * *]

(4) Section 3 of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876;

(5) Section 5 of the Punjab Laws Act, 1872;

(6) Section 5 of the Central Provinces Laws Act, 1875; and

(7) Section 4 of the Ajmere Laws Regulation, 1877.

This omission has the effect of reviving the operation of S. 37 of that Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The object of the present Bill is sufficiently indicated by the preamble to the Bill. For several years past, there has been a growing feeling amongst the Muhammadan community, throughout the country, that the numerous endowments which have been made or are being made daily by pious and public-spirited Muhammadans are being wasted or systematically misappropriated by those into whose hands the trusts may have come in the course of time. Instances of such misuse of trust property are unfortunately so very common that a Waqf endowment has now come to be regarded by the public as only a clever device to tie up property in order to defeat creditors and generally to evade the law under the cloak of a plausible dedication to the Almighty. In some cases the Mutwallis are persons who are utterly unfit to carry on the administration of the Waqf and who, by their

[1] Section 16 of the Madras Civil Courts Act was repealed but only so far as it was inconsistent with the provisions of the Central Act. It follows therefore that as regards matters not covered by the Central Act S. 16 continues to be applicable. 1956 Mad 244 (246) [AIR V 43 C 77] : ILR (1956) Mad 903 (DB). (Hence the Act which is applicable to moral delinquencies, bring discredit not merely on the endowment but on the community itself. It is believed that the feeling is unanimous that some step should be taken in order that incompetent and unscrupulous Mutawallis may be checked in their career of waste and mismanagement, and that the endowments themselves may be appropriated to the purposes for which they had been originally dedicated.

In some cases difficulties have arisen in finding out whether any particular properties are really subject to Waqf or not. There are numerous Waqf properties all over the country unknown to the public which the Mutawallis are treating as their own private property and dealing with in any way they think fit or necessary. It, therefore, seems that there should be a system of compulsory registration requiring a Mutawalli to notify to some responsible officer not merely about the fact of the Waqf, of which he is the Mutawalli, but also the nature and extent and other incidents of the endowment. Further, even where a Waqf is well-known and a Mutawalli is obviously thoroughly incompetent to carry on his duties, the public find a difficulty in instituting suits to remove him from his post by reason of the cumbrous procedure laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure. It is with a view to facilitate the institution of such suits that a provision has been made in the Bill. Lastly, there appears to be a general consensus of opinion amongst the Muhammadans throughout the country that there should be some responsible officer, who may go about and find for himself whether the various Waqf properties scattered throughout the country are being properly managed or not. It is not intended that Government should be called upon to bear the burden of appointing such an officer or his staff, and a provision has therefore been made in the Bill authorising the Central Committee (to be appointed in pursuance of the provisions of the Bill) to levy a rateable contribution from the Mutawallis for the purpose of meeting the cost on entertaining such an officer and his staff.... ### EXTRACT FROM SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT

"In view of the opinions received and of certain difficulties which presented themselves to us in the course of our examination of the Bill, we have decided largely to reduce the scope of the Bill. We are, in the first place, impressed by the objection put forward by most Local Governments to the multifarious duties which the Bill as introduced imposes upon the District Officer, and we agree that the administration of the measure, even on the reduced scale which we now propose, ought not to be imposed upon that official.

In the second place, we consider that the difficulties attending the question of the appointment and constitution of District and Central Committees make it undesirable to retain the provisions of Chapter III and other provisions of the Bill consequential thereon. We realise that the appointment of such Committees by the Government might give rise to considerable misunderstanding and in some cases lead to a discontent. At the same time, we are of opinion that the labour and expense of conducting the elections to such Committees on anything like a representative basis would go far to affect the utility of the proposed measure.

We further observe that some of the provisions of the Bill reproduce to a certain extent the provisions of existing enactments.

After full consideration of the whole question, we have decided that the Bill should make provision only for the compulsory rendition, as soon as possible after the commencement of the Act, of full particulars regarding each waqf, and thereafter of annual statements of accounts."

[THE] MUSSALMAN WAKF ACT, 1923 (ACT XLII OF 1923)*

[5th August, 1923.]

An Act to make provision for the better management of wakf property and for ensuring the keeping and publication of proper accounts in respect of such properties.

WHEREAS it is expedient to make provision for the better management of wakf property and for ensuring the keeping and publication of proper accounts in respect of such properties; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1921, Pt. V, p. 182; and for Report of Select Committee, see Ibid, 1923, Pt. V, p. 139.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and Merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to the States merged in the State of—

Bombay, by Bom. Act IV of 1950, S. 3 [30-3-1950].

Madhya Pradesh, by M. P. Act XII of 1950, S. 3 [3-4-1950].

Madras, by Mad. Act XXXV of 1949, S. 3 [1-1-1950].

It has also been adopted mutatis mutandis in Madhya Bharat by the M. B. Adoption of Laws Act, 1953 (I of 1953), S. 2 and Sch. [24-1-1953].

The Act shall not apply to any wakf to which the Wakf Act, 1954 (XXIX of 1954) applies—see S. 69 of that Act.

It does not apply also to wakfs to which Bihar Wakfs Act, 1947 (VIII of 1948) (see S. 4 (5) of that Act) and Delhi Muslim Wakfs Act, 1943 (XIII of 1943) (see S. 4 of that Act) apply.

Sections 5 to 10 of this Act shall not apply to any wakf to which the U. P. Muslim Waqfs Act, 1936 (XIII of 1936) applies—see S. 69 of that Act.

The Act has been repealed in its application to Bengal by the Bengal Wakf Act, 1934 (XIII of 1934), S. 82 and it has been repealed in part (namely, Ss. 3 and 4) in its application to the State of Uttar Pradesh by the U. P. Muslim Waqfs Act, 1936 (XIII of 1936), S. 70.

STATE AMENDMENT

MAHARASHTRA

In its application to Bombay area of the State of Maharashtra, after the preamble of the Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, the heading "Part I" shall be inserted.

—Bom. Act XVIII of 1935, S. 2 [23-9-1935].

Preliminary

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE MUSSALMAN WAKF ACT, 1923;

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) "benefit" does not include any benefit which a mutwalli is entitled to claim solely by reason of his being such mutwalli;
- (b) "Court" means the Court of the District Judge or, within the limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of a High Court, such Court, subordinate to the High Court, as the [State Government] may, by notification in the [Official Gazette], designate in this behalf;
- (c) "mutwalli" means any person appointed either verbally or under any deed or instrument by which a wakf has been created or by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be the mutwalli of a wakf, and includes a naib-mutwalli or other person appointed by a mutwalli to perform the duties of the mutwalli, and, save as otherwise provided in this Act, any person who is for the time being administering any wakf property;
- (d) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act; and
- (e) "wakf" means the permanent dedication by a person professing the Mussalman faith of any property for any purpose recognised by the Mussalman law as religious, pious or charitable, but does not include any wakf, such as is described in section 3 of the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, under which any benefit is for the time being claimable for himself by the person by whom the wakf was created or by any of his family or descendants.

Section 2 (b) — Note 1

[1] Under S. 2 (b) the District Judge can entertain an application to register a wakf under S. 3 and though the Court of an Additional District Judge is different from that of the District Judge, the District Judge can under S. 5 (2), Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act, transfer the application for registration to the Additional District Judge, who on such transfer can deal with the matter. (42) 1942 Pat W N 94 (96, 97).

Section 2 (c) — Note 1

[1] District Judge has no jurisdiction to pass any order appointing a mutwalli under S. 2 (c). But the District Judge can in exercise of powers of Qazi appoint a mutwalli in proper circumstances. 1933 Lah 27 (28) [AIR V 20].

Section 2 (e) — Note 1

[1] In order to constitute a property a wakf property within the meaning of this clause there should be evidence of dedication of that property to purposes which could bring into existence a wakf. 1930 Oudh 509 (510) [AIR V 17] (DB).

[2] The definition excludes from the purview of the expression 'wakf' all private wakfs, which were validated by the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act of 1913. Under the definition it is necessary that the person who makes a permanent dedication must be a Mussalman and that the dedication must be for purposes recognised by Mussalman Law as pious, religious or charitable. The expression wakf as used in the Act seeks to include substantially all wakfs which may be regarded as 'public wakfs' for the immediate appropriation to charity as distinguished from wakfs, alid aulad. 1953 Bom 92 (94) [AIR V 40 C 29] + 1932 All 322 (364) [AIR V 19] : 54 All 475 (DB).

[3] A wakf, the purpose of which is partly public and partly private, comes within the purview of S. 2 (e). 1929 Oudh 225 (228, 229) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 429 (FB) + 1933 Cal 581 (582) [AIR V 20] : 60 Cal 390 (DB) (1943) Mad 234 (234, 235) [AIR V 30]. (Section 3, Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, cannot apply to wakfs which subserve two purposes partly charitable and partly private but must apply to wakfs originally designed to serve one purpose only and that is private. Hence application under Ss. 7, 9, and 10, Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, is maintainable with respect to such a wakf by reason of S. 2 (e) of that Act.)

[4] The Act will govern a wakf even if it is not public within the meaning of S. 92, Civil P. C. 1946 Lah 209 (216) [AIR V 33 C 38] : ILR 1945 Lah 554 (DB). (Hence any person, who is interested in the wakf is at liberty to

(2) after S. 2, the heading “Part II” shall be inserted, ibid, S. 4.

*Statements of Particulars3. Obligation to furnish particulars relating to wakf.

(1) Within six months from the commencement of this Act every mutwalli shall furnish to the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property of the wakf of which he is the mutwalli is situated or to any one of two more such Courts, a statement containing the following particulars, namely :—

- (a) a description of the wakf property sufficient for the identification thereof;
- (b) the gross annual income from such property ;

take action under the Act and call upon the persons in charge to render accounts and to satisfy the Court that the income is being spent on proper objects—Note—This case has been reversed in AIR 1948 P C 163 on another point.)

[5] The provisions of Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, are applicable to a mixed wakf i. e. one that is partly a public wakf, that is devoted entirely to religious purposes and partly a private wakf. That part of the wakf which does not fall under S. 3, Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, is governed by Wakf Act, 1923. 1944 Bom 91 (93) [AIR V 31].

[6] For the purpose of constituting a wakf within the meaning of the clause it is not necessary that there should be an immediate dedication of the entire income of a property to the charity. It is open to a settlor to direct the use of a part of the income of his property for purposes which are regarded by the Mussalman Law as religious, pious or charitable and to divert the rest of the benefit to purposes which may be temporal either permanently or for a limited period, with an ultimate benefit to the charity. To the extent to which provision is made by immediately dedicating income of property for purposes which are religious, pious or charitable, there results a wakf which satisfies the definition in cl. (e) of S. 2 of the Act. 1953 Bom 92 (94) [AIR V 40 C 30].

[7] Where substantial portion of profits of endowed property is earmarked for support and maintenance of specified individuals who are relations of settlor and remaining portion for public of Shia community, wakf is not wholly for public purposes and the Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1920, and the Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, are not applicable to it. 1930 Oudh 53 (54) [A I R V 17] : 5 Luck 489 (DB).

[8] Wakf created among other charitable purposes for maintenance and support of wakif's wife and children—Wakf comes under S. 3, Mussalman Wakf Validating Act—Provisions of Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, will not apply until after death of such persons in view of Ss. 2 (e) and 3 (3) (b). 1937 Oudh 454 (455, 456) [AIR V 24] : 13 Luck 446 (DB).

[9] It cannot be said that the only person who can dedicate property must be a beneficial owner. The collection of money on terms which made it charitable in hands of trustees the subsequent investment of that money by the trustees in immovable property and their declaration of trust of that immovable property for the charitable purpose for which it was held constitute a good dedication. 1941 Bom 152 (153) [A I R V 28] : 1 L R 1941 Bom 328 : 42 Cri L Jour 517 (DB).

[10] The application of the Act does not depend upon the attitude of the mutwalli with regard to the origin of an alleged wakf. 1952 Oudh 210 (211) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 601 (FB).

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] Section 3 indicates that the Act applies to any property of a wakf within the jurisdiction of the local Court. A mutwalli with property within the local limits of the Small Cause Court at Bombay must furnish under S. 3 the required particulars although other properties of wakf may be situate and those who benefit from the wakf may be resident outside Bombay or outside British India. 1941 Bom 152 (153) [AIR V 28] : 1 L R (1941) Bom 328 : 42 Cri L Jour 517 (DB).

[2] District Judge cannot suo motu pass orders calling mutwalli to file particulars under S. 3. 1946 Mad 146 (147) [A I R V 33 C 83].

[3] The District Judge has no jurisdiction to appoint a receiver in proceeding started on an application for direction on a mutwalli to file particulars and accounts contemplated by the Act. An order appointing a receiver is therefore without jurisdiction and is liable to be set aside in revision though no appeal lies

- (c) the gross amount of such income which has been collected during the five years preceding the date on which the statement is furnished, or of the period which has elapsed since the creation of the wakf, whichever period is shorter ;
  - (d) the amount of the Government revenue and cesses, and of all rents, annually payable in respect of the wakf property ;
  - (e) an estimate of the expenses annually incurred in the realisation of the income of the wakf property, based on such details as are available of any such expenses incurred within the period to which the particulars under clause (c) relate ;
  - (f) the amount set apart under the wakf for —
    - (i) the salary of the mutwalli and allowances to individuals ;
    - (ii) purely religious purposes ;
    - (iii) charitable purposes ;
    - (iv) any other purposes ; and
  - (g) any other particulars which may be prescribed.
- (2) Every such statement shall be accompanied by a copy of the deed or instrument creating the wakf or, if no such deed or instrument has been executed or a copy thereof cannot be obtained shall contain full particulars, as far as they are known to the mutwalli, of the origin, nature and objects of the wakf.
- (3) Where —
- (a) a wakf is created after the commencement of this Act, or
  - (b) in the case of a wakf such as is described in section 3 of the Wakf Validating Act, 1913, the person creating the wakf or any member of his family or any of his descendants is at the commencement of this Act alive and entitled to claim any benefit thereunder, the statement referred to in sub-section (1) shall be furnished, in the case referred to in clause (a), within six months of the date on which the wakf is created or, if it has been created by a written document, of the date on which such document is executed, or, in the case referred to in clause (b), within six months of the date of the death of the person entitled to such benefit as aforesaid, or of the last survivor of any such persons, as the case may be.

against such an order. 1936 Cal 420 (420) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[4] The Act merely confers administrative powers upon the "Court". The object is to have on record full particulars of all wakf property and to enforce that the mutwalli shall honestly carry out the provisions of the trust imposed upon him, and to have in a convenient place information available to the public, or to any beneficiary of the wakf, in order that they may see whether the wakf property is being properly administered. If it is not, any one may file an information against the mutwalli so that the penalty imposed by S. 10 of the Act may be inflicted upon him. The "Court" is nowhere in the Act said to be acting in its judicial capacity. 1941 Lah 145 (148) [AIR V 25] : ILR 1941 Lah 395 (FB).

[5] Section 3 (2) provides for an inquiry as to the origin, nature and objects of the wakf whether such wakf was made orally or by means of an instrument. No doubt the inquiry in such cases must be a summary inquiry and will not be conclusive between the parties in any future controversy as regards the origin, nature and objects of the wakf but the Act does not exclude such enquiry altogether. 1932 Oudh 210 (212) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 601 (FB).

[6] If a mutwalli has complied with the provisions of S. 3 no question as to whether he admits the wakf or denies it can arise because by his conduct in furnishing the particulars of the wakf property he must be deemed to have admitted the wakf and his own position as mutwalli. 1932 All 362 (364) [AIR V 19] : 54 All 475 (DB).

[7] The Court designated to receive the particulars referred to in the Act cannot enter into an elaborate inquiry as to the existence of the wakf or to determine the right to mutwalliship between rival claimants. By leaving the right to mutwalliship under the object of the Act is not frustrated because Ss. 5 and 10 act as preventive against applications under S. 3 being made by persons who are not actual mutwallis. 1938 Pat 137 (138, 139) [AIR V 25].

[8] A person who has not even complied with this section cannot be said to have committed the offence of non-compliance with S. 5. Prior compliance with this section is necessary to bring into operation S. 5. 1949 Nag 137 (139) [AIR V 36 C 55] : ILR (1949) Nag 18 (FB).

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

Section 3 in its application to Uttar Pradesh is repealed.

—U. P. Act XIII of 1936, S. 70 [1-7-1941.]

4. Publication of particulars and requisition of further particulars.

(1) When any statement has been furnished under section 3, the Court shall cause notice of the furnishing thereof to be affixed in some conspicuous place in the Court-house and to be published in such other manner, if any, as may be prescribed, and thereafter any person may apply to the Court by a petition in writing, accompanied by the prescribed fee, for the issue of an order requiring the mutwalli to furnish further particulars or documents.

(2) On such application being made, the Court may, after making such inquiry, if any, as it thinks fit, if it is of opinion that any further particulars or documents are necessary in order that full information may be obtained regarding the origin, nature or objects of the wakf or the condition or management of the wakf property, cause to be served on the mutwalli an order requiring him to furnish such particulars or documents within such time as the Court may direct in the order.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

Section 4 in its application to Uttar Pradesh is repealed.

—U. P. Act XIII of 1936, S. 70 [1-7-1941.]

*Statement of Accounts and Audit*5. Statement of accounts.

Within three months after the thirty-first day of March next following the date on which the statement referred to in section 3 has been furnished, and thereafter within three months of the thirty first day of March in every year, every mutwalli shall prepare and furnish to the Court to which such statement was furnished a full and true statement of accounts, in such form and

[1] There cannot be any offence under S. 5 unless a statement has been delivered under S. 3; S. 5 cannot come into operation unless S. 3 has been complied with. 1941 Bom 152 (153) [AIR V 28]; 11LR (1941) Bom 328; 42 Cri L Jour 517 (DB) + 1949 Nag 137 (139) [AIR V 36 C 55]; 11LR (1949) Nag 18 (FB).

[2] The fact that his predecessor had failed to comply with S. 3 cannot be relied on by a succeeding mutawalli to escape the liability to furnish accounts under S. 5. He cannot plead that he is only continuing an abuse started by his predecessor and thereby try to escape the consequences of his default. 1943 Oudh 212 (213) [AIR V 30].

[3] A District Judge has power to scrutinise the accounts furnished by a mutwalli under S. 5 and disallow any inadmissible items of expenditure and order an amended statement of accounts to be filed. 1943 Nag 238 (239) [AIR V 30]; 11LR (1943) Nag 338.

[4] Apart from proceedings under S. 10 the District Judge cannot decide on merits the question as to the nature of the wakf or adjudicate upon the question whether the applicant was liable to furnish accounts under S. 5 or not. If the case falls under the Act then S. 5 lays down a substantive law which makes it incumbent on the mutwalli to file the statement under S. 5. There is no provision in the Act by which an alleged mutwalli can ask the Court to adjudicate upon whether he was liable to furnish accounts under S. 5 or not. 1940 Oudh 313 (314) [AIR V 27] (DB).

[5] Section 5 does not by itself contemplate the intervention of other persons for compelling the mutwalli to file his accounts except possibly as a mere reminder to the Judge that the accounts have not been filed with a view to induce the Judge to take proceedings under S. 10. There is no authority in the District Judge to pass an order that the mutwalli should file a statement of accounts. The only procedure provided is to punish him under S. 10 for not filing it. 1930 All 81 (81, 82) [AIR V 17]; 52 All 167 (DB).

[6] Where mutwalli does not deny that there is valid wakf but only denies that the wakf is a trust within S. 3, Charitable and Religious Trusts Act, 1920, and that he is a trustee, it is open to the District Judge to proceed under Mussalman Wakf Act, 1923, and call upon the mutwalli to furnish accounts. 1931 Pat 354 (356) [AIR V 18]; 10 Pat 506 (DB).

[7] Where the documentary evidence produced in the Court shows that the wakf is not public but private and further there is nothing on record to justify the inference that the wakf is one to which the provisions of S. (2) (e) apply, the Court cannot direct accounts to be furnished under S. 5. 1951 Ajmer 79 (1) (79) [AIR V 38 C 75].

containing such particulars as may be prescribed, of all moneys received or expended by him on behalf of the wakf of which he is the mutwalli during the period of twelve months ending on such thirty-first day of March or, as the case may be, during that portion of the said period during which the provisions of this Act have been applicable to the wakf :

Provided that the Court may, if it is satisfied that there is sufficient cause for so doing, extend the time allowed for the furnishing of any statement of accounts under this section.

[a] The provisions of sections 5 to 10 do not apply to any Wakf to which the United Provinces Muslim Wakfs Act, 1936 (XIII of 1936) applies, — See S. 69 of that Act, [1-7-1941].

*6. Audit of account.

Every statement of accounts shall, before it is furnished to the Court under section 5, be audited:—

(a) in the case of a wakf the gross income of which during the year in question, after deduction of the land-revenue and cesses, if any, payable to the Government, exceeds two thousand rupees, by a person who is the holder of a certificate granted by the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] under section 144 of the Indian Companies Act, 1913,<sup>B</sup> or is a member of any institution or association the members of which have been declared under that section to be entitled to act as auditors of companies throughout the <sup>C</sup>[territories to which this Act applies] ; or

(b) in the case of any other wakf, by any person authorised in this behalf by general or special order of the said Court.

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 5. [b] See now the relevant provisions of the Companies Act, 1956 (I of 1956). [c] Substituted for "Provinces" by A.L.O., 1950.

STATE AMENDMENT

MAHARASHTRA

In its application to Bombay area of the State of Maharashtra,

(1) after section 6, the following parts shall be inserted, namely :—

"PART III.

Powers of the Court to call for Particulars and Statement of Accounts.

6-A. Power of Court to call upon the mutawalli to submit statement. — (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 3, it shall be competent to the Court, on failure of a mutawalli to furnish a statement as required under the said section, to require the mutawalli to furnish, within such time as the Court shall fix, a statement containing all or any of the particulars referred to in the said section, including a copy of the deed or instrument, if any, creating the wakf.

(2) The provisions of section 4 shall apply to a statement furnished under this section as if such statement had been furnished under section 3.

6-B. Power of Court to require statement of accounts at any time. — (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in section 5, it shall be competent to the Court, on failure of a mutawalli to furnish a statement of accounts as required under the said section, to require the mutawalli to prepare and furnish, within such time as the Court may fix, a statement of accounts of the nature described in the said section and for such period as the Court may think fit.

(2) The provisions of section 6 shall apply to any statement of accounts required to be furnished under this section as if such statement of accounts were a statement of accounts furnished under section 5.

Section 6A (Maharashtra) — Note 1

[1] Where special order is made under S. 6-A directing certain particulars and accounts to be delivered by accused within fixed period and that order has been disobeyed, the accused are guilty of contempt of Court which can be dealt with by the High Court under the Contempt of Courts Act. 1942 Bom

PART IV.

Powers of the Court to Enquire.

6-C. Power of Court to enquire. — (1) The Court may, either on its own motion or upon the application of any person claiming to have an interest in a wakf, hold an enquiry in the prescribed manner at any time to ascertain —

- (i) whether a wakf exists ;
- (ia) whether such wakf is a wakf to which this Act applies <sup>a</sup> ;
- (ii) whether any property is the property of such wakf and whether the whole or any substantial portion of the subject-matter of such wakf is situate within the local limits of the jurisdiction of the Court ; and
- (iii) who is the mutawalli of such wakf.

(2) If it comes to the knowledge of the Court that a suit has been instituted in any civil Court in regard to any of the matters mentioned in sub-section (1), it shall stay the enquiry so far as it relates to, or is likely to be affected by, the Court's findings or order in regard to such matters, until the suit is finally decided in that Court.

(3) The Court shall from time to time ascertain whether such suit has been finally decided and after the final decision of the suit, it shall proceed with the enquiry in regard to such matters, if any, as may not have been decided in such suit.

(4) On completion of the enquiry provided for in sub-sections (1) and (3), the Court shall record its findings as to the matters mentioned in the said sub-sections, except such matters as may have been decided in the aforesaid suit.

(5) Save as provided in this section, the Court shall not, when acting under this section, try or determine any question of the title of any person claiming adversely to the wakf.

[a] See Sind Act XXIII of 1947, S. 2 [17-4-1947].

PART V.

Registration of Wakfs, Wakf Accounts and Wakf Administration Funds.

6-D. Registration of Wakfs. — (1) The Court shall, after the submission of a statement under section 3 or section 4 or section 6A and an enquiry, if necessary, held under section 6C, or merely after an enquiry held under section 6C, record, in such form as may be prescribed in a register called the Register of Wakfs, the following particulars :—

- (a) a description of the wakf property sufficient for the identification thereof ;
- (b) the gross annual income from such property ;
- (c) the gross amount of such income which has been collected during the five years preceding the date on which the statement is furnished, or during the period which has elapsed since the creation of the wakf, whichever period is shorter ;
- (d) the amount of the Government revenue and cesses and of all rents annually payable in respect of the wakf property ;
- (e) an estimate of the expenses annually incurred in the realisation of the income of the wakf property, based on such details as are available of any such expenses incurred within the period to which the particulars under clause (c) relate ;

Section 6C (Maharashtra) — Note 1

[1] Inquiry under S. 6-C (1) (i), can be held only where existence of waqf is admitted. Where existence of waqf is disputed District Court cannot enquire into its existence. 1945 Bom 157 (161) [AIR V 32] : ILR (1945) Bom 257 (DB).

[2] Question whether property is waqf property, is one which Court can inquire into under S. 6-C, but it cannot be referred to waqf committee under S. 6M as amended in Bombay. 1942 Bom 152 (153) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 240 : 43 Cri L Jour 726 (DB).

[3] Where the Judge refers a question which he ought to decide after holding an enquiry himself under S. 6(c) to the wakf committee and merely accepts the evidence which had been filed before the wakf committee and agrees with the conclusion which the committee had arrived at, the procedure is wrong. Evidence given before committee is not made evidence in proceedings before the Court and the Judge ought to hear the accused and take evidence. 1942 Bom 152 (153) [AIR V 29] :

[4] Where the notice served on the accused does not specify that it related to an inquiry under S. 6(c) it is open to the accused to say that he had no idea that an inquiry under S. 6(c) was being held and that if he had known the same he would have adopted different tactics from those which he did adopt. 1942 Bom 152 (153) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 240 : 43 Cri L Jour 726 (DB).

[5] Section 6C empowers Court of District Judge, either suo motu or upon application of any person claiming interest in waqf, to hold inquiry to ascertain whether waqf is a waqf to which Act applies. Thus the decision given is the decision of a Court which is subordinate to the High Court and, revision application under S. 115, Civil P.C., is maintainable. 1944 Bom 91 (92) [AIR V 31].

[6] In view of S. 6F, as amended in Bombay no appeal can lie from decision of the District Court on an inquiry under S. 6C. 1942 Bom 279 (280) [AIR V 29] (DB).

(f) the amount set apart under the wakf for—

- (i) the salary of the mutawalli and allowances to individuals ;
- (ii) purely religious purposes ;
- (iii) charitable purposes ;
- (iv) any other purposes ;

(g) the name of the mutawalli ; and

(h) such other particulars as may be prescribed.

(2) Statements, if any, furnished under sections 3, 4 and 6A shall be filed with the said Register of Wakfs.

6-E. Amendment of entries in Register of Wakfs.—(1) When any change occurs in any of the particulars recorded in the Register of Wakfs, the mutawalli shall, within three months of the occurrence of such change, report to the Court such change in the prescribed form, accompanied by the prescribed fee. The provisions of sections 3 and 4 shall, so far as may be, apply to any such statement.

(2) For the purpose of verifying the correctness of the entries in the Register of Wakfs or ascertaining any change which may have occurred in such register, the Court may hold an enquiry in the prescribed manner. The provisions of section 6C shall, so far as may be apply to any such enquiry.

(3) If the Court, after receiving a report under sub-section (1) and holding an enquiry, if necessary, under sub-section (2), or merely after an enquiry held under sub-section (2), is satisfied that a change has occurred in any of the particulars recorded in the Register of Wakfs with regard to a wakf, it shall amend in the prescribed manner the entry or entries affected by such change and shall file the report furnished under sub-section (1) along with the statement, if any, relating to the said wakf filed under section 3.

6-F. Entries in the Register of Wakfs and findings recorded under section 6C to be final subject to section 6G.—The entries made by the Court in the Register of Wakfs and the findings recorded under section 6C shall subject to the provisions of section 6G, be final for the purposes of this Act.

6-G. Making or amendment of entries in Register of Wakfs by order of Court.—A civil Court of competent jurisdiction deciding any question relating to any wakf may direct that the Court shall make such entries or amendments of entries in the Register of Wakfs relating to the said wakf as are consequential upon its decision, and the Court shall make such entries or amendments of such entries accordingly.

6-H. Maintenance of accounts and their audit.—(1) Every mutawalli of a wakf in respect of which an entry has been recorded in the Register of Wakfs shall keep regular accounts of all movable and immovable property received, and of all payments and alienations made and incumbrances created by him on behalf of the wakf of which he is the mutawalli. Such accounts shall be kept in such form and shall contain such particulars as may be prescribed.

(2) The account shall be balanced on the thirty-first day of March in each year, and shall be examined and audited annually or at such other intervals, and in such manner as may be prescribed and by the persons referred to in section 6.

(3) Every auditor acting under sub-section (2) shall have access to the accounts and to all books, vouchers and other documents and records in the possession and under the control of the mutawalli :

Provided that, if it is proved to the satisfaction of the Court that the gross annual income of any particular wakf is less than two hundred rupees, the Court may by order in writing exempt such wakf from the provisions of this section.

6-I. Annual contribution from wakfs.—Every wakf shall, for the purpose of meeting the charges and expenses incidental to the registration, superintendence, administration and control of wakfs, the maintenance of the registers of wakfs, the scrutiny and audit of accounts of Wakfs, the institution and defence of suits and proceedings relating to wakfs, and generally carrying into effect the purposes of this Act, be liable to pay to the Wakf Administration Fund of the district concerned annually such contribution, on such date and in such manner as may be prescribed .

Provided that the (Provincial Government) may, by rules made in this behalf, exempt from the provisions of this section any particular wakf or class of wakfs.

Section 6-I (Maharashtra) — Note 1

[1] Where the Mutwallis reside within the jurisdiction of the District Court but the property of the wakf is situate beyond its jurisdiction, the Mutwallis cannot be called upon to contribute to the Wakf Administration Fund under S. 6-I. Section 3 of the main Act and S. 6-I) as amended in Bombay make it clear that the property of the wakf referred to in the sections is the corpus and not the income. 1939 Bom 447 (448) [AIR V 26] : ILR (1939) Bom 611 (DB).

6-J. Wakfs Administration Fund.—For each district there shall be created a fund to be called the Wakf Administration Fund of the district concerned, and there shall be placed to the credit thereof the following sums, namely :—

- (a) any fee which may be levied under this Act,
- (b) contributions under section 6-I,
- (c) any sums received by the Wakf Administration Fund from private sources,
- (d) any sums allotted by (any Government) or by any local authority to the Wakf Administration Fund.

6-K. Application of Wakf Administration Fund.—The Wakf Administration Fund of a district shall be under the control and management of the Court and shall be applicable to the payment of charges for and expenses incidental to the registration, superintendence, administration and control of wakfs, the maintenance of the Register of Wakfs, the scrutiny and audit of accounts of wakfs, the institution and defence of suits and proceedings relating to wakfs, and generally carrying into effect the purposes of this Act.

PART VI.

SUPERVISION AND CONTROL.

6-L. Constitution and appointment of Wakf Committee.—(1) There shall be constituted in each district a Wakf Committee to advise and assist the Court in all matters relating to the registration, superintendence, administration and control of wakfs.

(2) The Committee shall consist of :—

- (a) the members of the Indian and State Legislatures.
- (b) two members elected in the prescribed manner by the mutawallis of all wakfs in the district registered under the Act,
- (c) two members elected in the prescribed manner by the members of each District Local board in the district professing the Mussalman faith from among their number,
- (d) one member elected in the prescribed manner by the members professing Mussalman faith of each municipality in the district constituted under the Bombay District Municipal Act, 1901,
- (e) two members elected in the prescribed manner by the members professing the Mussalman faith of each municipality in the district constituted under the City of Bombay Municipal Act, 1888, the City of Karachi Municipal Act, 1933, or the Bombay Municipal Boroughs Act, 1925, and
- (f) such other members not exceeding one-fourth of the total number of the members of the Committee as the State Government may nominate :

Provided that no person who does not ordinarily reside in the district or does not profess the Mussalman faith shall be eligible to be a member of the Committee.

6-M. Functions of Wakf Committee.—(1) It shall be competent to the Court to refer at any time to the Wakf Committee or any three or more members thereof, for advice, opinion, enquiry, report or recommendation, within such time as the Court may direct, any matter relating to the registration, superintendence, administration, and control of wakfs, and in particular any matter relating to—

- (a) the conduct of a mutawalli or a trustee in the administration of a wakf or his fitness to continue as a mutawalli or a trustee.
- (b) the settlement, cancellation or alteration of a scheme for the administration of a wakf, or
- (c) the application of the funds of a wakf or any surplus thereof.

(2) When the Court has referred any of the matters mentioned in sub-section (1) to a wakf committee or any members thereof for advice, opinion, enquiry, report or recommendation, and the committee or the members thereof, as the case may be, have, either unanimously or by a majority, made their recommendation in relation to the matter referred to them, the Court may pass orders as it thinks fit after giving due consideration to such recommendation—

- (i) suspending, removing or dismissing a mutawalli or trustee,
- (ii) appointing a new mutawalli or trustee,
- (iii) settling, cancelling or altering a scheme for the administration of wakf,
- (iv) directing the application, investment or deposit of the funds of a wakf or any surplus thereof in a particular manner or to a particular purpose.
- (v) generally for carrying out the purposes of the Act.

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorise the Court to pass any order which is inconsistent with the objects and purposes of the wakf.

Provided further that no order under this section shall be passed to the prejudice of any mutawalli or trustee without giving such mutawalli or trustee an opportunity to be heard.

(3) For the performance of any of the duties under sub-section (2) the Wakf Committee or any members thereof to whom the Court has referred any matter for advice, opinion, enquiry, report, or recommendation, the committee or such members thereof may by order in writing require—

- (a) the production of any document necessary for the purpose ;
- (b) the attendance of any person for the purpose of giving evidence or for the production of any document referred to in clause (a).

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 6-C shall, so far as may be, apply to any inquiry under sub-section (1) or (2).

6-N. Court's power to authorise members of Wakf Committee to institute suits, etc. — Notwithstanding anything contained in section 92 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, it shall be competent to the Court, after such enquiry as it may think fit, (a) to authorise any one or more of the members of a Wakf Committee to institute or defend any suit or proceeding for the purposes of the protection or recovery of the property of a wakf or for the application of the property of a Wakf to any public, charitable or religious purpose and (b) to allocate from the Wakf Administration Fund such sums as may, in the opinion of the Court, be necessary for the aforesaid purpose.

6-O. Inspection of wakf property, records and accounts. — (1) It shall be competent to the Court to direct one or more members of the Wakf Committee to undertake the inspection, in the prescribed manner, of the property, records and accounts of any wakf and to report to the Court, within such time as the Court may direct, the result of such inspection.

(2) It shall be competent to the Court to employ upon such terms and conditions as may be prescribed such persons as may in the opinion of the Court be necessary for carrying out the purposes of this Act and to pay them such remuneration from the Wakf Administration Fund as may be prescribed.

6-P. Court's power to order special audit. — It shall be competent to the Court at any time to order a special audit of the accounts of a Wakf by an accountant possessing the prescribed qualifications and to order the cost of such audit to be paid by the mutawalli from the income of the property of the Wakf or out of the Wakf Administration Fund.

6-Q. Publication of lists of wakfs. — There shall be published annually on such date as the State Government may determine in the (Official Gazette) and if the State Government so directs in the principal vernacular of the district in a newspaper circulating therein a list of Wakfs and a statement of the sums standing to the credit of the Wakf Administration Fund under the signature of the Court and in such form as the State Government may prescribe.

— Bom. Act XVIII of 1935, S. 5. [23-9-1935] as amended by Bom. Acts X of 1944 and XV of 1945.

(2) after section 6-Q inserted by Bom. Act XVIII of 1935 the heading "Part VII" shall be inserted. — Bom. Act XVIII of 1935, S. 6. [23-9-1935]

General Provisions

Section 10 — Note 1

[1] Under the Act the law imposes certain duties on a class of individuals and it must be presumed that it was further intended that the duties should be performed by those individuals and in the absence of voluntary performance, performance should be enforced. Section 10 which provides for penalties for failure to comply with the requirements of the Act clearly implies jurisdiction in the Court to enforce compliance with the provisions of the Act. 1932 Oudh 210 (212) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 601 (FB).

[2] In proceedings under S. 10 the Court has jurisdiction to inquire whether property is wakf within the meaning of the Act or not.

[6] Apart from the proceedings under S. 10 there is no provision in the Act by which the District Judge can decide on merits the question as to the nature of the wakf or adjudicate upon the question whether an alleged Mutwalli was liable to furnish accounts under S. 5 or not. 1940 Oudh 315 (314) [AIR V 27] (DB).

[7] Act confers no authority on Court to pass order that Mutwalli should file statement of accounts. Only procedure provided is to punish him for not filing it. 1930 All 81 (82) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 167 (DB).

[8] Mutwalli at time when Act came into force not complying with S. 3—Still the subsequent Mutwalli not furnishing accounts under S. 5 is guilty under S. 10. 1943 Oudh 212 (213) [AIR V 30].

[9] No provision is made in S. 10 for imposing a sentence of imprisonment in default of payment of fine and such sentence therefore cannot be imposed. No portion of the fine when realized should be ordered to be paid to the informer. 1932 All 389 (390) [AIR V 19] (DB).

[10] Under S. 10 the District Judge has power to scrutinise the accounts filed by the Mutwalli under S. 5 and disallow any inadmissible items of expenditure and order the statement of accounts to be amended. If the Mutwalli fails to amend the accounts the District Judge can impose a fine on him under S. 10. 1943 Nag 238 (239) [AIR V 30] : ILR (1943) Nag 538.

[12] If the requirements of S. 115, Civil P. C. are fulfilled a revision from an order under the Act would lie to the High Court under that section. 1932 Oudh 210 (213) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 601 (FR).

thereof under or in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, such person shall, if such failure to comply is not punishable under any of the sections of this Act, be on conviction punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees.

(2) A Criminal Court may, in passing an order of conviction for an offence under sub-section (1), specify the period within which the person convicted shall comply with the provisions of this Act which may be found to have been contravened by him, and may also prescribe a daily fine not exceeding Rs. 50 for every day for the period during which the default continues after the expiry of the period so specified :

Provided that, if the person failing to comply with any direction issued by such Court satisfies such Court that there is good reason for his failure to do so and applies for an extension of the period specified under this section, such Court may, if it thinks fit, extend the period and may remit the whole or any part of the fine paid or due.

10-B. Cognizance of offences. — (1) No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except by or with the previous sanction of the Court given in the prescribed manner.

(2) No Criminal Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or of a Magistrate of the First Class shall try an offence under this Act.

10-C. Prosecution of, and suits against, persons acting in good faith. — No suit or prosecution or other proceeding shall be instituted against any person for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

10-D. Recovery of sums due under this Act. — All sums due under this Act shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue."

— Bom. Act XVIII of 1935, S. 13. [23-9-1935].

Rules

11. Power to make rules.

(1) The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, after previous publication, by notification in the <sup>A</sup>[Official Gazette], make rules to carry into effect the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the additional particulars to be furnished by mutawallis under clause (g) of sub-section (1) of section 3 ;
- (b) the fees to be charged upon applications made to a Court under sub-section (1) of section 4 ;
- (c) the form in which the statement of accounts referred to in section 5 shall be furnished, and the particulars which shall be contained therein ;
- (d) the powers which may be exercised by auditors for the purpose of any audit referred to in section 6, and the particulars to be contained in the reports of such auditors ;
- (e) the fees respectively chargeable on account of the allowing of inspections and of the supply of copies under section 9 ;

Section 10B (Maharashtra) — Note 1

[1] Effect of the Act and Mussalman Wakf Bombay (Amendment) Act of 1935 is that any prosecution under S. 10 of principal Act must be with sanction of District Court and must be tried by Criminal Court not inferior to Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of First Class. An offence under S. 10 cannot, therefore, be tried by a District Court which is not a criminal Court. 1939 Bom 146 (147) [AIR V 26] : ILR (1939) Bom 336.

[2] The scheme of the Act after the addition of S. 10B to it by the Bombay Act 18 of 1935 is that offences under the Act are ordinary criminal proceedings to be tried by the ordinary criminal Courts subject however to the provisos that sanction for prosecution must have been given by a Court in the manner prescribed and that no Criminal Court of the second or third class Magistrate shall be competent to try the offence. 1938 Sind 149 (149, 150) [AIR V 25] : ILR (1939) Kar 82 : 39 Cri L Jour 805 (DB).

[3] Where a person is called upon to deliver accounts under S. 3 and fails to do so, and the Court holding that the person fell within the terms of the Act, directs that the papers be sent to the Public Prosecutor in order that he might take the appropriate action against the person, R. 26, Mussalman Wakf Rules, 1936, prescribing manner of giving sanction under S. 10-B is sufficiently complied with though it would be better to give formal sanction independently of the judgment in the case under S. 3. 1941 Bom 152 (153) [AIR V 28] : ILR (1941) Bom 328 : 42 Cri L Jour 517 (DB).

- (f) the safe custody of statements, audit reports and copies of deeds or instruments furnished to Courts under this Act; and
- (g) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed.

Provided that when in the opinion of the State Government such modification or rescission is likely to defeat or frustrate any of the purposes of this Act, the State Government may by notification in the Official Gazette declare that the modification or rescission shall have no effect and thereupon the rules shall remain in force as if they had not been modified or rescinded."

—Bom. Act XVIII of 1935, S. 14. [23-9-1935].

12. Savings.

Nothing in this Act shall—

- (a) affect any other enactment for the time being in force in the "[territories to which this Act applies] providing for the control or supervision of religious or charitable endowments; or

(b) apply in the case of any wakf the property of which—

- (i) is being administered by the Treasurer of Charitable Endowments, the Administrator General, or the Official Trustee, or
- (ii) is being administered either by a receiver appointed by any Court of competent jurisdiction, or under a scheme for the administration of the wakf which has been settled or approved by any Court of competent jurisdiction or by any other authority acting under the provisions of any enactment,

[a] Substituted for "Provinces", by A. L. O., 1950.

13. Exemption.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, by notification in the <sup>A</sup>[Official Gazette], exempt from the operation of this Act or of any specified provision thereof any wakf or wakfs created or administered for the benefit of any specified section of the Mussalman community.

[THE] MUSSALMAN WAKF VALIDATING ACT, 1913

[The Act printed here is as on 15-9-1960.]

CONTENTS

SECTIONS

- 1. Short title and extent.
- 2. Definitions.
- 3. Power of Mussalmans to create certain wakfs.

4. Wakfs not to be invalid by reason of remoteness of benefit to poor, etc.

5. Saving of local and sectarian custom.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The object of this Bill is to remove disability and great hardship that has been created by the recent decisions of the Privy Council in Abul Fata Mahomad Ishak and others v. Russonoy Dhur Chowdry and others, L R 22 Ind App 76 and other cases. The power of a Mussalman to make a settlement for or in favour of his family, children and descendants or what is known as wakf-atal-aulad to the Mussalman law is paralysed.

In the case above cited it was held that under Mussalman Law a perpetual family settlement expressly made as wakf is not legal and valid merely because there is an ultimate gift to the poor and it confirmed the decision in Ashanulla Chowdry v. Amarchand Kundu, reported in L R 17 Ind App 28 the principle of which was approved in a subsequent case of Abdul Gafur v. Nizamuddin L R 19 Ind App 170, where it was laid down that a gift is not good as wakf unless there is a substantial dedication of the property to charitable uses at some period of time or other.

The decision does not fix any limit of time, it simply says "some period of time or other". It does not define what is "substantial dedication". Thus it introduces the greatest uncertainty in the law and is generally opposed to the true principles and correct exposition of the Mussalman jurisprudence. This Bill is intended only to reproduce the Mussalman law of wakf-atal-aulad in a codified form with certain safeguards for the authenticity of the wakfnama and for prevention of fraud upon creditors or otherwise.

It is not intended to codify or define the general Law of wakf which must be governed by the Mussalman Law....."

—Gaz. of Ind., 1911, Part V, page 107.

EXTRACT FROM SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT

"We have restricted the provisions of the Bill so as to confine it to a measure specifically declaring the rights of Mussalmans to create wakfs of the character referred to in clause 3.

The clauses which deal with the manner in which wakfs may be created and with the registration of deeds creating wakfs have been omitted as they make important changes in the personal law governing Mussalmans and the avowed object of the Bill is not to make any change in this law but to restore it to the position which it is believed by many competent authorities to have occupied prior to the decisions of the Privy Council referred to in the Statement of Objects and Reasons. The omissions of these clauses has made it possible to omit many of the definitions and to shorten the Bill considerably.

We have added a clause to make it clear that no wakf is to be deemed to be invalid merely because the ultimate dedication to the poor or other charitable object of a permanent nature is postponed until after the extinction of the family of the person creating the wakf. We have further provided that nothing in the Bill shall affect any sectarian or local custom or usage".

An Act to declare the rights of Mussalmans to make settlements of property by way of "wakf" in favour of their families, children and descendants.

WHEREAS doubts have arisen regarding the validity of wakfs created by persons professing the Mussalman faith in favour of themselves, their families, children and descendants and ultimately for the benefit of the poor or for other religious, pious or charitable purposes; and whereas it is expedient to remove such doubts; It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1911, Pt. V, p. 107; for Report of Select Committee, see ibid., 1913, Pt. V, p. 59.

This Act has been declared to be in force in the Southal Parganas by Notification under S. 3 of the Southal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), see Bihar and Orissa Gazette, 1914, Pt. II, p. 413. It has been applied to wakfs created before its commencement, see the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1930 (XXXII of 1930), S. 2.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and Merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 (1-1-1950) and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 (16-4-1950).

It has also been extended to the States Merged in the State of—
Bombay, by Bom. Act IV of 1950, S. 3 (3-4-1950);

Madhya Pradesh, by M. P. Act XII of 1950, S. 3 (3-4-1950);

This Act is extended to the transferred territories in the State of Madras by Mad. Act XXIII of 1950, S. 3 and Sch. I.

It has been adopted mutatis mutandis in the State of Madhya Bharat, by M. B. Adoption of Laws Act 1953 (I of 1953), S. 2 and Sch. (24-1-1953).

The Act shall not apply to any wakf to which Delhi Muslim Wakfs Act, 1943 (XIII of 1943), applies.

1. Short title and extent.

(1) This Act may be called THE MUSSALMAN WAKF VALIDATING ACT, 1913.

(2) It extends to the whole of India except *[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part B States].

[a] Substituted for "Part B States", by 2 A. L. O., 1956. Immediately before the 1st November, 1956, the following were the Part B States in India :—Hyderabad, Jammu and Kashmir, Madhya Bharat, Mysore, Pepsu, Rajasthan, Saurashtra and Travancore-Cochin.

Preamble — Note 1

[1] The intention of the Act was not to restore the pure Muslim Law as understood in Arabia but was to make an amendment of the Anglo Muslim Law on the point. 1947 Lah 117 (133) [AIR V 34 C 25] : 1 L R (1946) Lah 300. (The Court has to interpret the language as it stands and should not be influenced by authorities prior to the Act which may have led to the enactment.)

[3] True intention and object of legislature in passing Act was merely to do away with effects of decision which said that bequests for charity should not be illusory or unsubstantial. 1928 Mad 1110 (1115) [AIR V 13] + 1955 Pat 270 (276) [(5) AIR V 42 C 86] : 54 Pat 133 (DB).

[4] The Act merely defines what is valid wakf. It does not purport to deal with validity

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (1) "Wakf" means the permanent dedication by a person professing the Mussalman faith of any property for any purpose recognized by the Mussalman law as religious, pious or charitable.
- (2) "Hanafi Mussalman" means a follower of the Mussalman faith who conforms to the tenets and doctrines of the Hanafi school of Mussalman law.

3. Power of Mussalmans to create certain wakfs.

It shall be lawful for any person professing the Mussalman faith to create a or otherwise of wakfs the objects of which are indefinite or uncertain. 1931 Sind 75 (77) [AIR V 18] : 25 Sind L R 415 (DB).

[5] Principles of Muhammadan Law are not excluded from application to wakf created under Act. 1935 Lah 626 (627) [A I R V 22] : 16 Lah 432 (DB).

[6] In the case of wakf governed by this Act the Court has jurisdiction under the Muhammadan law to permit the Mutwalli to deal with the property in certain circumstances. But the form of action by which such permission is to be sought is by way of suit and not an application. There is no provision either in this Act or any other enactment under which an application can be maintained for the purpose. 1944 Sind 183 (183, 184) [AIR V 31] : ILR (1944) Kar 69.

[8] The Act was made retrospective only by the subsequent Act of 1930 and even then only if right, title, obligation or liability already existing was not affected. 1938 Oudh 69 (76) [AIR V 25] : 13 Luck 723 (DB).

[9] Wakfs described under Act are not included in Musalman Wakf Act 42 of 1923. 1930 Oudh 509 (510) [AIR V 17] (DB). + 1929 Oudh 225 (228) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 429 (FB).

[10] Act covers private trusts only. ('45) 11 B R 293 (294).

Section 2 — Note 1

[1] Definition of "wakf" as given in the Act is not necessarily exhaustive. 1927 P C 22 (22) [AIR V 14] : 54 Ind App 23 : 5 Rang 7.

[2] Act does not deal with validity or otherwise of wakfs for objects which are indefinite and uncertain but declares that certain wakfs for maintenance and support of wakf, his family and descendants, shall, under certain circumstances, be treated as valid. 1929 Sind 52 (55) [AIR V 16] : 23 Sind L R 207.

[3] Wakf can be made of movable as well as immovable property and in fact "of any property" provided the conditions of the Act as to purpose and ultimate benefit are satisfied. 1936 All 15 (16) [AIR V 23] : 58 All 464 (DB). (Grove-holder's right can be subject-matter of wakf.)+1944 Mad 504 (509) [AIR V 31] : ILR (1945) Mad 276 (DB).

[4] The definition of 'wakf' does not require that there should be an express transfer of the corpus of the property to God. From the fact that a wakf has been created for the purposes which are considered by the Mohammedan Law to be religious and charitable it is implied that the wakf has transferred the ownership of wakf property in perpetuity to God Almighty. 1957 All 94 (100) [AIR V 44 C 23] : ILR (1954) 2 All 556 (DB).

[5] The test of a valid object of a wakf is not the benefit to the public as it is under the English law of charitable trusts. Pious acts recognised among the Mussalmans as being for the good of the soul of the settlor or his ancestors have been upheld as valid objects. 1947 Mad 176 (180) [AIR V 34 C 92] : ILR (1947) Mad 480 (DB).

[6] The mere use of the word 'wakf' in a deed, after passing of the Act, cannot necessarily imply a dedication to the poor. The ultimate object of the wakf has to be gathered from other expressions in the document. ('54) ILR (1954) 6 Assam 18 (40) + 1940 Cal 417 (421) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 189 (DB)+1932 Oudh 71 (74) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 300 (DB)+1930 All 837 (839) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 748 (DB) + 1929 All 180 (186) [AIR V 16] (DB)+1926 Mad 1110 (1114) [AIR V 13].

[7] If the primary object of the wakf is aggrandizement of the family, although there may be an ultimate and remote benefit reserved for charitable and religious purposes, it would be a private wakf but if the substantial benefit is reserved for such religious or charitable objects although some minor benefit is given to the members of the family or their descendants, the wakf should be considered as a public wakf. 1958 Mys 28 (31) [AIR V 45 C:8] : ILR (1957) Mys 130 (DE).

SECTION 3 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Wakfs permitted by the Act.
3. Wakf for maintenance and support.

wakf which in all other respects is in accordance with the provisions of Mussalman law, for the following among other purposes :—

- (a) for the maintenance and support wholly or partially of his family, children or descendants, and
- (b) where the person creating a wakf is a Hanafi Mussalman, also for his own maintenance and support during his lifetime or for the payment of his debts out of the rents and profits of the property dedicated :

Provided that the ultimate benefit is in such cases expressly or impliedly reserved for the poor or for any other purpose recognised by the Mussalman law as a religious, pious or charitable purpose of a permanent character.

Section 3 — Synopsis (contd.)

4. Settlor's family.

5. Wakf by Hanafi Mussalman.

6. Ultimate benefit must be reserved for charitable purpose—Proviso.

1. Scope. — [1] Act does not apply to public wakfs by which the benefit is reserved immediately and not ultimately for public purpose. (45) 11 B R 293 (294).

[2] Wakf partly public and partly private—Act does not apply. 1933 Cal 581 (582) [AIR V 20] : 60 Cal 790 (DB) + 1929 All 180 (183, 184, 186) [AIR V 16] (DB) + 1943 Mad 234 (234, 235) [AIR V 30] : (Section 3 (a) of Act VI of 1913 cannot apply to wakfs which subserve two purposes partly charitable and partly private, but must apply to wakfs originally designed to serve one purpose only and that is private.) + 1929 Oudh 225 (229) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 429 (FB). (Obiter.)

[See 1940 All 462 (463) [AIR V 27] + 1944 Bom 91 (93) [AIR V 31]. (That part of wakf which does not fall under Wakf Validating Act (i. e. relating to public wakf) is governed by Wakf Act 1923.) + 1937 Oudh 454 (455, 456) [AIR V 24] : 13 Luck 446 (DB). (Such wakfs are not excluded from Act—Wakf Validating Act would apply until death of such persons—Wakf Act 1923 will subsequently apply—AIR 1929 Oudh 225 (FB), held obiter.) + 1930 Oudh 53 (54) [AIR V 17] (DB).]

[3] A wakfnama, though not governed by Act, being created before Act, will be valid if dominating purpose and intention of grantor was charitable purpose and secondary and subsidiary object was to secure for his daughters any surplus that might remain after defraying expenses. 1918 Cal 829 (830) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[4] Assuming that after the passing of this Act it is possible to create a wakf apart from the terms of the Act the wakf so created can be considered to be valid only if the properties are given substantially to the charitable uses. If the effect of it on the other hand is to give them in substance to the wakf's family then it is invalid under the Muhammadan law. 1940 All 462 (463) [AIR V 27].

[5] There is no provision in Act which would enable the Court to entertain an application by the sole mutwalli asking for leave to sell property to wakf, falling within S. 3 of the Act. 1944 Sind 183 (183, 184) [AIR V 31] : ILR (1944) Kar 69.

[6] The Mutwalli of a wakf created under the Act is not a trustee inasmuch as the ownership of the property does not vest in him. He merely acts as a manager of the property. The property is transferred to the God and vests in him alone. 1951 All 512 (512) [AIR V 38 C 120] (DB) + 1958 All 38 (39) [AIR V 45 C 15] (DB).

2. Wakfs permitted by the Act. — [1] A usufructuary mortgage being not valid under the Muhammadan law the mortgagee cannot constitute a valid wakf in respect of his rights under such a mortgage. The wakf even though it may be valid under the provisions of this Act must fail on the ground that it is property which the wakf's religion considers unlawful to acquire. 1936 Oudh 213 (218, 219) [AIR V 23] : 11 Luck 735 (FB).

[2] The words "in all other respects" mean "which otherwise satisfies the conditions of valid wakf under Mussalman Law" — It does not include law of inheritance — Wakf not in accordance with Muhammad Law of inheritance — Wakf is not invalid. 1944 Pat 234 (241) [AIR V 31] : 23 Pat 203 (DB) + 1938 Lah 453 (453) [AIR V 25] : 11 L R (1938) Lah 435 (DB).

[3] One object good and one bad — Whole income can be devoted to good object. 1944 Mad 504 (511) [AIR V 31] : ILR (1945) Mad 276 (DB) + 1932 Oudh 71 (75) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 300 (DB).

[4] Where the bequest is for purposes one of which is charitable and the other merely benevolent and discretion is left to the trustee to spend the income on either object as he pleases, the whole bequest is bad for uncertainty. 1947 Lah 117 (131) [AIR V 34 C 25] : ILR (1946) Lah 300 (DB).

[5] The words "among other purposes" suggest that wakf can be made for purposes other than those described in S. 3. 1941 Oudh 492 (493) [AIR V 28] : 16 Luck 769 (DB). (Wakf in favour of servants is valid.) + 1944 Mad 504 (509) [AIR V 31] : ILR (1945) Mad 276 (DB).

[6] Existence of mortgage in property dedicated for wakf and making of provision for its discharge out of its rents and profits, would not invalidate wakf. 1922 Cal 429 (431) [AIR V 9] : 49 Cal 477 (DB).

[7] Intention to comply with Act—Liberal interpretation favouring validity should be adopted of wakf deed. 1947 Lah 117 (134) [AIR V 34 C 25] : ILR (1946) Lah 300 (DB).

3. Wakf for maintenance and support.—

[1] Wakf in favour of the members of settlor's

family is not invalid under provisions of S. 3. (1932) 138 Ind Cas 616 (617) (DB) (All).

[2] Main object of wakf, under the Act, need not be to devote property to what are charitable purposes under Mussalman Law. Main object may be to make settlement on settlor's family. 1927 P C 191 (192) [AIR V 14] : 54 Ind App 372 : 9 Lah 203* 1960 Mad 318 (319, 320) [AIR V 47 C 105] : 1 L R (1960) Mad 481. (Main purpose of wakf to provide for maintenance and support of Wakif's daughter and her descendants — Five Rupees per year reserved for performance of fatia and feeding of fakirs on Prophet's birthday — No express reservation of ultimate benefit in favour of religious object — It may be implied—Wakf is valid—Non-performance of charity does not invalidate it.)

[3] The Act makes it lawful for a Mussalman to tie up his property in perpetuity for the maintenance and support of his family, children or descendants provided he makes a provision that the ultimate benefit goes to a charitable object recognised by the Mahomedan Law as charitable and the charitable object is of a permanent nature. Where there is gift to charity in praesenti, the provision that trustees should not spend on charity so long as settlor is alive does not make the wakf invalid. But whole of trust property must be given to charity as ultimate bequest and not a small portion of it. 1946 Bom 342 (344) [AIR V 33 C 74]* 1947 Mad 176 (179) [AIR V 34 C 92] : ILR (1947) Mad 480 (DB).

[4] Where the material portions of a valid private wakf deed show clearly that the income of the wakf, apart from some minor expenses, was intended for the maintenance first of the founder, his wife and two younger daughters and then of his two cousins and their descendants with a further clause to the effect that if the cousins become heirless, the property will be used for other pious or charitable purposes, it was held that the two cousins, the widow and the two daughters of the founder are beneficiaries under the wakf deed and the income of the wakf property in the hands of the Mutwallis is 'income' received by them on behalf of these beneficiaries. 1958 Orissa 143 (145) [AIR V 45 C 37] (DB).

[5] The fact that the bulk of the income is reserved for the wakif and his descendants and they have not been given only just enough for their maintenance and support does not render the wakf one which is not for maintenance and support. 1952 All 127 (129) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1952) 2 All 806 (DB). (Reservation of the whole income for maintenance and support does not amount to creating successive life estates because the property immediately vests in God.)* 1957 All 94 (101) [AIR V 44 C 23] : ILR (1954) 2 All 556 (DB). (The fact that the deed recites that the wakif is reserving the whole of the income for the 'use' of himself and his descendants and does not state that the income is secured for his maintenance and support does not amount to creating any life interests.)

invalid. 1942 Bom 155 (158) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 441.

[7] Agarab cannot be beneficiaries under wakf. 1947 Lah 117 (134) [AIR V 34 C 25] : ILR (1946) Lah 300 (DB).

[8] Merely because beneficiary cannot take benefit under wakf by his not being a member of family, whole wakf is not invalidated. 1935 Lah 414 (415) [AIR V 22] (DB).

[9] Giving of benefit to kindred transgressing limits of Act—Interest of kindred as beneficiary can be cut and interest of charity, next beneficiary, accelerated. 1947 Lah 117 (135, 137) [AIR V 34 C 25] : ILR (1946) Lah 300 (DB).

[10] The word 'maintenance' is generally intended to mean lodging, boarding, clothing and other such necessities of life. The word 'support' appears to amplify the meaning of the word 'maintenance' and might include expenses not only for the necessities of life but also for all conveniences. 1952 All 127 (129) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1952) 2 All 806 (DB).

[11] Wakf by Cutchi Memon by will in 1934—After bequeathing movable property to various members of family and making provision for maintenance of his grand-children testator creating wakf of residue of his properties—Residue held could be ascertained—Dedication held not contingent—Wakf held not invalid on ground of uncertainty. 1944 Mad 504 (509) [AIR V 31] : ILR (1945) Mad 276 (DB).

4. Settlor's family.—[1] In order to come within the purview of the Act, every person benefited by the wakf, however remote in time from the settlor himself, must be in a position to trace his descent from a progenitor common to himself and the settlor. 1942 Bom 155 (157) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 441.

[2] Word "family" would include (1) all those persons residing in same house as settlor and dependent upon him for maintenance and (2) all those connected with settlor through common progenitor or by ties of common lineage. Therefore disposition in favour of sister's son residing with settlor is good and valid one. 1942 Bom 155 (157) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 441* 1940 All 383 (383) [AIR V 27]* 1928 All 516 (521) [AIR V 15] : 51 All 40 (DB). (Daughter-in-law living with settlor is member of family.)* 1930 All 169 (175) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 368 (DB). (Do.)

[3] Family includes both agnates and cognates. 1957 Mad 583 (587) [AIR V 44 C 171, (DB)].

[4] Family is not restricted to members living with and dependent on wakif — Son of half-brother, father's brother's son and half-sister are members of wakif's family. 1929 Oudh 25 (26) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 101 (DB).

[5] "Family" includes brother and his descendants. 1935 Lah 251 (265) [AIR V 22] : 16 Lah 782 (DB).

[6] 'Family' would include deceased brother's widow and his children and provision in wakf for their maintenance is valid. 1929 Lah 721 (727) [AIR V 16] (DB).

[7] Family includes nephews of settlor irrespective of whether they live in settlor's house or whether settlor is responsible for their maintenance. 1947 All 137 (138) [AIR V 34 C 64] : I L R (1946) All 575 (DB).

[8] Person adopted by wakf and residing with him comes within definition of 'family'. 1935 Lah 414 (415) [AIR V 22] (DB).

[9] Wakf niak-aulad reserving ultimate benefit to poor or for religious, pious or charitable purposes is valid — Word 'family' does not include any and every relation by blood or marriage. 1947 All 281 (284) [AIR V 34 C 113].

[10] Family includes only those persons for whose maintenance settlor is responsible. Distant collaterals and their descendants do not belong to family. 1925 Oudh 301 (303) [AIR V 12] + 1947 Lah 117 (134) [AIR V 34 C 25] : I L R (1946) Lah 300 (DB).

[1] Hanafi Mussalman can create wakf for his own maintenance during his life provided ultimate benefit is reserved for charitable purpose. 1927 Oudh 162 (169) [AIR V 14] (DB).

[2] Wakf by Hanafi Muhammadan providing that his debts be paid out of rents and profits of wakf property is valid. 1934 All 178 (179) [AIR V 21] : 56 All 293 (DB) + (57) 1957 Ker L T 849 (852).

[3] Settlor can under the Hanafi law reserve for his own maintenance and support during his life-time the income of the trust property. The Act, however, does not permit him to reserve the income of the trust property during his life for his own benefit and for such use as he may put it to. 1949 Bom 342 (345) [AIR V 33 C 74].

[4] Section 3 (b) of the Act applies to Sunnis but not to Shi'as. Whether the settlor who originally was a Sunni, had ceased to be a Sunni, and had become a Shia before the making of the wakf nama, which is expressed as made under the Act is a question of fact. 1946 P C 177 (177) [AIR V 33 C 51] : I L R (1945) Kar (PC) 161.

[5] Life interest reserved to Shia Muhammadan settlor—Wakf is void. 1943 Bom 366 (367) [AIR V 30] : I L R (1943) Bom 495 (DB).

(Such intention cannot be inferred from mere use of word 'wakf' in deed.) + 1926 Mad 1110 (1114) [AIR V 13] + 1932 Oudh 71 (75) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 300 (DB). (Word 'wakf' should not only satisfy definition in S. 2 but also satisfy proviso to S. 3—Mere use of word is not enough.)

[3] The ultimate gift to religious charities must be implied from the terms of the document and is not to be implied from the mere fact that the settlor was purporting to make a wakf. (57) 1957 Ker L T 849 (854) + (54) I L R (1954) 6 Assam 18 (41). (In case of vague disposition to Almighty for pious or religious purposes, the doctrine of cy pres cannot be brought into operation to validate a gift.) + 1952 All 127 (130) [AIR V 39] : I L R (1952) 2 All 806 (DB). (Income dedicated to kar-kher—Kar-kher although would include a charitable religious or pious object means not merely charity but any good work—Wakf must be struck down as void for uncertainty.) + 1938 All 404 (406) [AIR V 23] (DB) + 1932 Cal 93 (98, 103) [AIR V 19] : 59 Cal 402 (DB). (Effect rather than language must be construed. The settlor or his heirs can show that dedication was unreal or fictitious.)

[4] A gift to charity of three shares out of fifty in a wakfnama is not such a substantial part of the property as would render the deed valid under the Mahomedan Law before the passing of the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913. Where however there is a clear overriding charitable intention expressed in the preamble, which would absorb any beneficial interests in the usufruct not expressly covered by the deed and there is a provision that on the extinction of the lines of the three children who are to take the beneficial interests in the usufruct from generation to generation, the shares will be applicable in charity in accordance with the general charitable intent, the wakf must be held to be valid. 1948 P C 168 (173, 174) [AIR V 35 C 45] : Pak L R (1949) Lah 1.

[5] In the absence of any contrary indications the use of the term 'wakf' by the settlor may by itself be taken to imply an ultimate dedication for the poor or other unfailing charitable object. There is nothing in the Act to exclude such implication. 1947 Mad 176 (182) [AIR V 34 C 92] : ILR (1947) Mad 480 (DB).

[6] The specification of the particular religious and charitable objects for which the ultimate benefit is to be reserved is not necessary to constitute a valid wakf. Where an overriding intention to charity is clear the pious objects can be implied. 1941 All 235 (241, 242) [AIR V 28] : ILR (1941) All 443 (DB) * 1942 Cal 180 (199) [AIR V 29] (DB). (Waqf alal aulad by Shia—Overriding intention to charity—Cy pres applies—Wakf is good.) * 1947 Lah 117 (130) [AIR V 34 C 25] : ILR (1946) Lah 300 (DB). (General overriding trust for charitable purposes—Pious objects can be implied.)

[But see 1935 Lah 596 (597) [AIR V 22] (DB) * 1940 Oudh 324 (331, 332) [AIR V 27] : 15 Luck 586 (FB). (Wakf describing ultimate object of benefit as 'charitable purposes highly commendable according to Hanafi School' is not valid for vagueness unless wakf specifies particular object recognised by Mohammadan Law as religious, pious and charitable and is of permanent character.)]

[7] When the settlor creates a "wakf" partly for the maintenance and support of his family and children and partly for a specified charitable purpose such as, for instance, the support of a mosque, an ultimate reversion of the fund bestowed on the family could well be inferred in favour of such charity; for where a settlor has indicated a preference for a specific religious or charitable purpose of a permanent character by making a concurrent gift for it or otherwise, the condition of perpetuity can be fulfilled by implying an ultimate reservation in favour of such object, and it would not be necessary in such a case to bring in the poor. 1947 Mad 176 (182) [AIR V 34 C 92] : ILR (1947) Mad 480 (DB).

[8] The words 'of a permanent character' in the proviso must be regarded as indicating only those general purposes which are called religious, pious or charitable under all systems of Mahomedan Law. A gift for the maintenance of one's children, family or descendants cannot by any means be regarded as permanent. 1926 Mad 1110 (1115) [AIR V 13].

[9] If ultimate gift is for charity, paltriness of income set apart for such purpose is immaterial. 1929 All 180 (183) [AIR V 16] (DB) * 1947 Mad 176 (179) [AIR V 34 C 92] : ILR (1947) Mad 480 (DB) * 1932 Oudh 71 (75) [AIR V 19] : 7 Luck 300 (DB). (Fact that major portion is to be spent for maintenance of mutawallis and their children does not invalidate wakf.) * 1944 Pat 234 (241) [AIR V 31] : 23 Pat 203 (DB). (Two annas share of nett income of wakf estate to be spent for religious and charitable purposes. 13 annas share for maintenance of donor's family and their descendants of both male and female line and for charitable purpose as regards the remaining one anna to be treated as part of wakf property. Wakfnama did not offend against Act.)

[10] The Act makes the validity of a wakf dependent upon the ultimate benefit going to a public object and therefore it is necessary that malversation of the property resulting in prejudice to the ultimate public wakf by the intermediate beneficiary qua mutawallis should be prevented by their removal. 1930 Sind 315 (322) [AIR V 17] : 25 Sind L R 39 (DB). (Therefore the removal of a mutawalli is in no way dependent on his not being a beneficiary but must be considered on independent grounds.)

"Religious, pious or charitable purpose."

[11] In the context of Mussalman Wakfs "religious, pious or charitable purposes" in the section refer only to the purposes recognised as such by the Muhammadan Law. 1947 Mad 176 (180) [AIR V 34 C 92] : ILR (1947) Mad 480 (DB) * 1935 Mad 29 (31) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 204 (DB). (The expression "or charitable" does not provide an alternative to the words "religious, pious".)

[12] Benefits to poor and other purposes mentioned in the proviso are those regarded as charitable by general Muhammadan law apart from the usages of any particular sects. 1926 Mad 1110 (1114) [AIR V 13].

[13] Performance of fateha ceremonies is religious and charitable object within meaning of proviso to S. 3, and, therefore, the dedication of property for performance of fateha is valid. 1940 All 383 (384) [AIR V 27].

[14] Dedication merely for purposes of reciting Kuran over a tomb of a private person does not constitute a dedication for a "religious, pious or charitable purpose" within the meaning of that expression in the section. 1935 Mad 29 (31) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 204 (DB).

[15] Maintenance and support of family etc., of wakif does not come within phrase "other purpose recognized by Mussalman law as pious". 1940 Cal 501 (505) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 464 (DB).

4. Wakfs not to be invalid by reason of remoteness of benefit to poor, etc.

No such wakf shall be deemed to be invalid merely because the benefit reserved therein for the poor or other religious, pious or charitable purpose of a permanent nature is postponed until after the extinction of the family, children or descendants of the person creating the wakf.

5. Saving of local and sectarian custom.

Nothing in this Act shall affect any custom or usage whether local or prevalent among Mussalmans of any particular class or sect.

[THE] MUSSALMAN WAKF VALIDATING ACT, 1930

(ACT XXXII of 1930)

[The Act printed here is as on 15-9-1960.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Muhammadan Law permits a perpetual bequest in the form of wakf-a-aulad, that is a bequest for the benefit of the testator's descendants. As such, it contravenes the law against perpetuities as enacted in section 14 of the Transfer of Property Act, and, section 114 of the Indian Succession Act. A doubt was cast on this doctrine by the Privy Council in several cases in which their Lordships held such bequests illegal as abnoxious to the rule against perpetuities (Abul Fata v. Kasamaya, 22 C 619 (PC); Abul Gafur v. Nazamuddin, L R 19 Ind App 170; Mujibun-nissa v. Abdul Rahim, 23 A 233 (PC); Muhammad Munawar Ali v. Bazza Ibra, 27 A 320 (PC)). Mr. Jinnah introduced a Bill which became Act VI of 1913 restoring the validity of such wakfs.

But in several cases since decided this Act is held to be inapplicable to wakfs created before its enactment (Khajeh Solihman v. Salimullah, 49 C 820 (PC); Rahumunissa v. Shakh Manah Jan, 19 C W N 76; Mahomed Buhht v. Dewan Ajman Raja, 43 C 158; Amruba v. Azizabibi, 59 B 565).

As Act VI of 1913 was merely declaratory of the validity of such wakfs, it was understood that it would apply equally to all wakfs whether created before or since that enactment. But as the Courts have held otherwise, this Bill is framed to give that Act retrospective operation.

It is apprehended that Mussalman Wakf Validating Act (VI of 1913) was not intended to introduce a change in the old law being enacted to restore the old rule. This Bill will, if passed, carry out its intention by resolving a doubt resulting from recent cases."

—Gazette of India, 1929, Part V, page 240.

EXTRACT FROM SELECT COMMITTEE REPORT

"Clause 1.—This Bill is designed to give retrospective effect to the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, which has already been in operation without retrospective effect for seventeen years. We have decided that the retrospective effect shall not disturb titles which have already vested, either prior to 1913, or between 1913-1930. It follows that two distinct provisions are required, one to give the desired retrospective effect, and the other to save rights which have accrued prior to 1930. We have found it impossible to fit both these provisions into the Act of 1913, and we have accordingly reshaped this Bill not as an amending Bill, but as a distinct Bill to give retrospective effect to the Act of 1913, and have given it the short title of the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1930. We have accordingly amended the long title and preamble.

"Clause 2.—We have not been able to accept the substance of this clause without modification, as its effect would have been to disturb titles which had already been acquired in good faith, on the understanding that wakfs of the class contemplated in the Act of 1913 were not valid if created before 1913. We adhere to the sound principle that retrospective legislation should, as far as possible, save vested rights, and we have introduced a proviso to this effect. Otherwise, the clause as amended by us merely declares that the Act of 1913 shall apply to wakfs created before its commencement."

—Gazette of India, 1930, Part V, page 107.

[1] The Act authorises or sanctions a postponement of the ultimate gift to charity which would not have been valid under the general law. It does not, however, abrogate the rule of contingency under the Muhammadan Law. 1958 Cal 413 (413) [AIR V 45 C 100] (DB).

[2] Ultimate gift to poor and charitable purposes to take effect on extinction of heirs of wakif how low so ever is too remote and hence invalid. 1940 Cal 501 (505) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 464 (DB) + 1954 Cal 524 (525)

[AIR V 41 C 177]. (The postponement not only till after the descendants of male line but also after the daughter's line must be rejected.)

[3] Shia wakf—On extinction of line of wakif's children half share reserved for their benefit shall be spent on "proper acts of charity" and other part shall go to reserve fund established for improvement and extension of wakf—Gift to charity is not remote and illusory. 1942 Cal 180 (195) [AIR V 29] (DB) + 1935 Lah 251 (264) [AIR V 22] : 16 Lah 782 (DB).

An Act to give retrospective effect to the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913.

WHEREAS the Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, does not apply to wakfs created before its enactment ;

AND WHEREAS it is expedient to validate such wakfs without infringing any rights contrary thereto which may have already accrued or been acquired ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1929 Pt. V, p. 240 ; and for the Report of the Select Committee, see ibid, 1930, Pt. V, p. 107.

This Act has been declared to be in force in the Sonthal Parganas by Notification under S. 3 (3) (a) of the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation (III of 1872), see B. & O. Gaz. 1931, Pt. II, p. 903.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and merged States, by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to the States merged in the State of—Bombay : see Bom. Act IV of 1950, S. 3 [30-3-1950]. Madhya Pradesh : see M. P. Act XII of 1950, S. 3 [3-4-1950].

It has been adopted mutatis mutandis in Madhya Bharat by M. B. Adoption of Laws Act, 1953 (I of 1953), S. 2 and Sch. [24-1-1953].

The Act has been extended to the transferred territory in the State of Madras, by the Madras (Transferred Territory) Extension of Laws Act, 1960 (XXIII of 1960), S. 3 and Schedule I.

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE MUSSALMAN WAKF VALIDATING ACT, 1930.

2. Act 6 of 1913 to apply retrospectively.

The Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, shall be deemed to apply to wakfs created before its commencement :

Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed in any way to affect any right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred before the commencement of this Act.

Note : — The Mussalman Wakf Validating Act, 1913, which declared wakf-al-aulad, i. e., a perpetual bequest for the benefit of the testator's descendants, valid notwithstanding rule against perpetuities, was held not to be applicable to wakfs created before 1913. In order to remove this misconception the present Act has expressly made the 1913 Act retrospective in effect, but not so as to affect any right, title, obligation or liability already acquired, accrued or incurred before the commencement of the present Act.

An Act to provide for the formation of the Naga Hills-Tuensang Area of Assam as an administrative unit.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Eighth Year of the Republic of India as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1957 Extra, Pt. II-Sec. 2, p. 869.

1. Short title and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE NAGA HILLS-TUENSANG AREA ACT, 1957.

(2) It shall come into force on such date* as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

[a] The Act came into force on 1-12-1957, see Notification No. 3843 D/- 30-11-1957, Gaz. of Ind., 1957, Extra., Pt. II-Sec. 3, p. 2877.

2. Formation of Naga Hills-Tuensang Area.

As from the commencement of this Act, there shall be formed a new administrative unit in the State of Assam by the name of Naga Hills-Tuensang Area comprising the tribal areas which at such commencement were known as the Naga Hills District and Tuensang Frontier Division of the North East Frontier Agency.

3. Amendment of the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution.

In the Sixth Schedule to the Constitution, in paragraph 20,—

- (a) after sub-paragraph (2A), the following sub-paragraph shall be inserted, namely :—

“(2B) The Naga Hills-Tuensang Area shall comprise the areas which at the commencement of this Constitution were known as the Naga Hills District and the Naga Tribal Area.”;

- (b) in sub-paragraph (3) after the words “administrative area”, the brackets and words “(other than the Naga Hills-Tuensang Area)” shall be inserted ;

- (c) in Part A of the Table, item 4 shall be omitted ; and

- (d) in Part B of the Table, for item 2, the following item shall be substituted, namely :—

“2. The Naga Hills-Tuensang Area.”

Note:—The Sixth Schedule of the Constitution contains provisions as to the administration of tribal areas in Assam.

4. Amendment of the Delimitation Order.

In the Delimitation of Parliamentary and Assembly Constituencies Order, 1956,—

- (a) in the First Schedule, in the entry in column 3 against serial No. 37, the words “Naga Hills,” shall be omitted ; and

- (b) in the Second Schedule, in the part relating to Assam, the heading ‘Naga Hills District’ and all entries against serial Nos. 16, 17 and 18 shall be omitted.

5. Amendment of the Representation of the People Act, 1950.

In the Representation of the People Act, 1950,—

- (a) in Part II of the First Schedule—

- (i) for the entry—

“21. Part B Tribal areas ... 1”, the following entries shall be substituted, namely :—

“21. North East Frontier Tract ... 1
22. Naga Hills-Tuensang Area ... 1”;

- (ii) for the figure “503”, the figure “504” shall be substituted ;

- (b) in the Second Schedule, for the entry in column 3 against “2. Assam”, the entry “105” shall be substituted.

6. Provision as to the sitting member of Parliament.

Notwithstanding the alteration in the extent of the Autonomous Districts Parliamentary constituency in Assam effected by section 4, the sitting member of the House of the People representing that constituency shall be deemed to have been elected to the House of the People by that constituency as so altered.

7. Territorial extent of laws not to be affected.

The provisions of section 2 shall not be deemed to have effected any change in the areas to which any law in force immediately before the commencement of this Act extends or applies, and territorial references in any such law to the Naga Hills District, the Naga Tribal Area or the Tuensang Frontier Division shall, until otherwise provided by a competent legislature or other competent authority continue to have the same meaning.

Explanation.—In this section, law means any law, ordinance, regulation, order, bye-law, rule, scheme, notification or other instrument having the force of law in India or any part thereof.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"It is considered that the present University Officers Training Corps should be overhauled, but at the same time it is felt that full development of character and the capacity for leadership will be possible only when the requisite training is given to boys and girls while they are young and impressionable.

The problem is essentially educational which can be solved adequately only if the Educational Authorities take an active interest in this aspect of training and make it an integral part of school education. A good beginning to achieve this end can be made by the introduction of cadet training in schools and universities. With that object in view the present Bill has been drafted.

These units will be officered by members of the teaching staff, but regular training will be imparted wherever necessary by trained regular officers.

Provision is also included in the Bill for the raising of additional units as the exigencies of circumstances may require. The National Cadet Corps Committee recommended that open units should be constituted to which recruitment will be made from amongst boys earning a livelihood and the object of cl. 7 is to provide for such units."

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

- Amended by Acts III of 1951; LVII of 1952; XIX of 1955.
- Adapted by A. L. O., 1950.

[THE] NATIONAL CADET CORPS ACT, 1948

(ACT XXXI OF 1948)*

[16th April, 1948.]

An Act to provide for the constitution of a National Cadet Corps.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the constitution of a National Cadet Corps;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1948 Pt. V, p. 368.

This Act is made applicable to :—

- (a) the Chota Nagpur Division and the Santal Parganas District — See Bihar Gazette, 1948, Part I, page 1317;
- (b) Darjeeling District on and from 15-7-1948 — See Calcutta Gazette, 1948, Part I, page 912;
- (c) all the partially excluded areas in C. P. and Berar with certain modifications — See C. P. and Berar Gazette, 1948, Part I page 518.

This Act is extended to the State of Jammu and Kashmir subject to the provisions contained in the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951); see J. and K. Gaz. 27-12-1951, Pt. III, p. 459.

Under S. 2 of the Uttar Pradesh State Legislature Members Prevention of Disqualification (Supplementary) Act, 1953 (XX of 1953) [17-9-1953], a person shall not be disqualified for being chosen as, or for being, member of the Uttar Pradesh State Legislature by reason of the fact that he is enrolled in the National Cadet Corps under this Act.

1. Short title, extent and application.

(1) This Act may be called THE NATIONAL CADET CORPS ACT, 1948.

(2) It extends to the whole of India ^[* * *] and applies to all persons enrolled or appointed under this Act, wherever they may be.

[a] The words "except the State of Hyderabad" which were inserted by A. L. O., 1950, were omitted by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951].

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

"corps" means the National Cadet Corps constituted under this Act;

"enrolled" means enrolled in the Corps under this Act;

"prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act;

"school" includes any institution recognised in this behalf by the Central Government or the ^[State Government];

"university" means any university established by law in India and includes colleges affiliated to universities, intermediate colleges and such technical institutions of collegiate status, as are recognised in this behalf by the Central Government or the ^[State Government].

3. Constitution of the National Cadet Corps.

There shall be raised and maintained in the manner hereinafter provided a Corps to be designated the National Cadet Corps :

Provided that the Central Government may establish all or any of the units of the Corps as and when necessary.

4. Constitution and disbandment of units.

The Central Government may constitute in any ^[State] ^[* * *] one or more units of the Corps, members of which shall be recruited from amongst the students of any university or school, and may disband or reconstitute any unit so constituted.

[a] The words "or Acceding State" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

5. Division of Corps into Divisions.

There shall be three Divisions of the Corps, namely :—

(i) the Senior Division, recruitment to which shall be from amongst the students of the male sex of any university;

(ii) the Junior Division, recruitment to which shall be from amongst the students of the male sex of any school; and

(iii) the Girls Division, recruitment to which shall be from amongst the students of the female sex of any university or school.

6. Enrolment.

(1) Any student of the male sex of any university may offer himself for enrolment as a cadet in the Senior Division, and any student of the male sex of any school may offer himself for enrolment as a cadet in the Junior Division if he is of the prescribed age or over.

(2) Any student of the female sex of any university or school may offer herself for enrolment as a cadet in the Girls Division :

Provided that in the latter case she is of the prescribed age or over.

7. Central Government may raise other units.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the Central Government may, by notification, provide for the constitution of any other units of the Corps in any place and prescribe the persons or class of persons who may be eligible for enrolment therein.

Note.—Besides the three Divisions mentioned in S. 5, namely the Senior Division, the Junior Division and the Girls Division, the Central Government has power under this section to constitute any other unit of the Corps in any place.

8. Discharge.

Every person enrolled under this Act shall be entitled to receive his or her discharge from the Corps on the expiration of the period for which he or she was enrolled or on his or her ceasing to be borne on the roll of the university or school to which he or she may belong :

Provided that any person enrolled may be discharged at any time by such authority and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.

9. Appointment of officers.

The Central Government may provide for the appointment of officers in or for any unit of the Corps either from amongst members of the staff of any university or school or otherwise and may prescribe the duties, powers and functions of such officers.

10. Duties of persons subject to this Act.

No person subject to this Act shall by virtue of being a member of the Corps be liable for active military service, but subject thereto any such person shall be liable to perform such duties and discharge such obligations as may be prescribed.

Note.—A person is not liable to active military service by reason of his being a member of the National Cadet Corps.

11. Punishment for offences under this Act.

Any person enrolled under this Act may be punished for the contravention of any rule made under this Act with fine which may extend to fifty rupees to be recovered in such manner and by such authority as may be prescribed.

12. Power to appoint Advisory Committees.

(1) The Central Government may for the purpose of advising it on all matters of policy connected with the constitution and administration of the Corps appoint a Central Advisory Committee consisting of the following persons, namely:—

- (a) the Minister for Defence, who shall be the Chairman of the Committee ;
- (b) the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of Defence, ex.officio ;
- (c) the Secretary to the Government of India, Ministry of Education, ex.officio ;
- (d) the Financial Adviser, Defence, ex.officio ;
- <sup>a</sup>[(e) the Chief of the Army Staff, ex.officio ;
- (f) the Chief of the Naval Staff, ex.officio ;
- (g) the Chief of the Air Staff, ex.officio ;]
- (h) five non-official members to be nominated by the Central Government ; and

- <sup>b</sup>[(i) two members to be elected by the House of the People and one member to be elected by the Council of States annually.]

(2) The Central Government may also appoint, for the same purpose as is specified in sub-section (1), such <sup>c</sup>[* *] State Advisory Committees as it may consider desirable from time to time and may prescribe their duties and functions.

[a] Substituted for the former clauses (c), (f) and (g), by the Commanders-in-Chief (Change in Designation) Act, 1955 (XIX of 1955), S. 2 and Sch. [7-5-1955]. [b] Substituted for the former clause (i), by the National Cadet Corps (Amendment) Act, 1952 (LVII of 1952), S. 2 [11-8-1952]. [c] The words "Provincial or" were omitted by A.L.O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

13. Power to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may make rules<sup>a</sup> to carry out the objects of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power such rules may—

- (a) prescribe the conditions subject to which universities or schools shall be allowed to raise units under this Act ;
- (b) prescribe the persons or class of persons who may be eligible for enrolment under section 7 ;
- (c) prescribe the manner in which, the period for which and the conditions subject to which any person or class of persons may be enrolled under this Act ;
- (d) provide for the medical examination of persons offering themselves for enrolment under this Act ;
- (e) prescribe preliminary and periodical military training for any person or class of persons subject to this Act ;
- (f) prescribe the military or other obligations to which members of the Corps shall be liable when undergoing military training and provide generally for the maintenance of discipline amongst members of the Corps ;
- (g) prescribe the duties, powers and functions of officers appointed under this Act ;
- (h) prescribe the allowances or other remuneration payable to persons subject to this Act ;
- (i) provide for the removal or discharge of any person subject to this Act ;
- (j) prescribe the offences for which any person subject to this Act may be tried and provide for the trial thereof ;
- (k) prescribe the manner in which fines levied under this Act may be recovered ;
- (l) prescribe the duties, powers and functions of Central <sup>b</sup>[* *] or State Advisory Committees; and
- (m) provide for any other matter which under this Act is to be or may be prescribed.

[a] For National Cadet Corps Rules, 1948, see Notification No. 289, Gazette of India, 1949, Pt. I, sec. 3, p. 239, and for the National Cadet Corps (Girls' Division) Rules, 1949, see Notification No. 451, Gaz. of Ind., 1950, Pt. I-Sec. 3, p. 371. [b] The word "Provincial" was omitted by A.L.O., 1950 [28-1-1950].

THE SCHEDULE.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Under an agreement entered into with the then existing Provinces, the Government of India provisionally accepted entire financial liability, with effect from the 1st April, 1947, for the construction, development and maintenance of certain highways in the Provinces which were considered suitable for inclusion in a system of national highways. Upon the creation of the Part B States and the new Part C States under the Constitution, the national highways scheme was extended to those States also.

2. Under Entry 23 of the Union List, Parliament has exclusive power of legislation with respect to highways which are declared to be national highways by or under law made by Parliament. It is, therefore, proposed that the highways comprised in the Schedule annexed to this Bill should be declared to be national highways. Such a declaration would help the Central Government in exercising its powers with respect to the development and maintenance of these highways more effectively. Power is also sought to be vested in the Central Government to declare by notification other highways to be national highways. Power should also be given to the Central Government to enter into agreements with the State Governments or municipal authorities with respect to the development or maintenance of any portion of any national highway and fees may have to be levied in respect of certain types of services rendered on national highways.

3. The present Bill is designed to achieve the objects set forth above."

[THE] NATIONAL HIGHWAYS ACT, 1956

(ACT XLVIII of 1956)*

[11th September, 1956.]

An Act to provide for the declaration of certain highways to be national highways and for matters connected therewith.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Seventh Year of the Republic of India as follows :

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Extra., Pt. II — Sec. 2, p. 681.

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE NATIONAL HIGHWAYS ACT, 1956.

(2) It extends to the whole of India.

(3) It shall come into force on such date* as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

[a] The Act came into force on 15-4-1957 : see S. R. O. 1180 D/- 4-4-1957, Gaz. of Ind., 1957, Pt. II—Sec. 3, p. 730.

2. Declaration of certain highways to be national highways.

(1) Each of the highways specified in the Schedule except such parts thereof as are situated within any municipal area is hereby declared to be a national highway.

(2) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare any other highway to be a national highway and on the publication of such notification such highway shall be deemed to be specified in the Schedule.

(3) The Central Government may, by like notification, omit any highway from the Schedule and on the publication of such notification, the highway so omitted shall cease to be a national highway.

Note.—Under Entry 23 of the Union List, Parliament has exclusive power of legislation with respect to national highways. The present Act declares the highways mentioned in the schedule to be national highways, which by virtue of S. 4 of the Act, vest in the Union. It is the responsibility of the Central Government to maintain and develop the national highways : see S. 5.

3. Definition.

In this Act, "municipal area" means any municipal area with a population of twenty thousand or more the control or management of which is entrusted to a municipal committee, a town area committee, a town committee or any other authority.

4. National highways to vest in the Union.

All national highways shall vest in the Union, and for the purposes of this Act "highways" include—

- (i) all lands appurtenant thereto, whether demarcated or not ;
- (ii) all bridges, culverts, tunnels causeways, carriageways and other structures constructed on or across such highways ; and
- (iii) all fences, trees, posts and boundary, furlong and mile stones of such highways or any land appurtenant to such highways.

5. Responsibility for development and maintenance of national highways.

It shall be the responsibility of the Central Government to develop and maintain in proper repair all national highways; but the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any function in relation to the development or maintenance of any national highway shall, subject to such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the notification, also be exercisable by the Government of the State within which the national highway is situated or by any officer or authority subordinate to the Central Government or to the State Government.

6. Power to issue directions.

The Central Government may give directions to the Government of any State as to the carrying out in the State of any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule, notification or order made thereunder.

7. Fees for services or benefits rendered on national highways.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, levy fees at such rates as may be laid down by rules made in this behalf for services or benefits rendered in relation to the use of ferries, temporary bridges and tunnels on national highways.

(2) Such fees when so levied shall be collected in accordance with the rules made under this Act.

(3) Any fee leviable immediately before the commencement of this Act for services or benefits rendered in relation to the use of ferries, temporary bridges and tunnels on any highway specified in the Schedule shall continue to be leviable under this Act unless and until it is altered in exercise of the power conferred by sub section (1).

8. Agreements with State Governments or municipalities.

Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the Central government may enter into an agreement with the Government of any State or with any authority entrusted with the control or management of any municipal area in relation to the development or maintenance of the whole or any part of a national highway situated within the State or, as the case may be, in relation to the development or maintenance of any such part of a highway situated within a municipal area as is referred to in sub-section (1) of section 2 and any such agreement may provide for the sharing of expenditure by the respective parties thereto.

9. Power to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for carrying out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the manner in which, and the conditions subject to which, any function in relation to the development or maintenance of a national highway or any part thereof may be exercised by the State Government or any officer or authority subordinate to the Central Government or the State Government ;

- (b) the rates at which fees for services rendered in relation to the use of ferries, temporary bridges and tunnels on any national highway may be levied and the manner in which such fees shall be collected ;
- (c) the periodical inspection of national highways and the submission of inspection reports to the Central Government ;
- (d) the reports on works carried out on national highways ;
- (e) any other matter for which provision should be made under this Act.

10. Laying of notifications, rules, etc., before Parliament.

All notifications or agreements issued or entered into under this Act shall be laid before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after they are issued or entered into and all rules made under section 9 shall be laid for not less than thirty days before both Houses of Parliament as soon as may be after they are made, and shall be subject to such modifications as Parliament may make during the session in which they are so laid or the session immediately following.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"On the 6th February 1922 a Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armaments was signed at Washington on behalf of His Majesty. This treaty contained, inter alia, the provisions set out in the Schedule to this Bill. An Act enabling effect to be given to the Treaty has been passed by the British Parliament, but, as India is not included in that Act, it is necessary for the Indian Legislature to pass separate legislation for British India. The object of this Bill, therefore, is to give effect to the provisions of the Treaty, so far as British India is concerned, by restricting, subject to certain limitations and conditions, the building of vessels of war and the altering, arming or equipping of any ship so as to adapt her for use as a vessel of war."

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

—Amended by Acts VIII of 1931; II of 1937.

—Adapted by A. O. 1937; A. L. O. 1950; 3 A. L. O. 1956.

[THE INDIAN] NAVAL ARMAMENT ACT, 1923

(ACT VII of 1923)*

[5th March, 1923.]

*An Act to give effect b[* * * *] to the Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armament.*

WHEREAS it is expedient to give effect b[* * * *] to the "[Treaty for the Limitation of Naval Armament and for the Exchange of Information concerning Naval Construction signed in London on behalf of His Majesty on the twenty-fifth day of March, 1936]; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1922, Pt. V, p. 348. [b] The words "in the Provinces" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950. [c] Substituted for the original words as amended by the Indian Naval Armament (Amendment) Act, 1931 (VIII of 1931), S. 2, by ibid., 1937 (II of 1937), S. 2.

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN NAVAL ARMAMENT ACT, 1923.

*[(2) It extends to the whole of India except b[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part B States].]

(3) It shall come into force on such date<sup>a</sup> as the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may, by notification in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette], appoint.

[a] Substituted for the former sub-section by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] Substituted for "Part B States" by 3 A. L. O., 1956 [w. r. e. f. 1-11-1956]. Immediately before 1-11-1956, the following were Part B States: Hyderabad, Jammu and Kashmir, Madhya Bharat, Mysore, Pepsu, Rajasthan, Saurashtra and Travancore-Cochin. [c] The Act came into force on 10-11-1923—Vide Notification No. 49, General Statutory Rules and Orders, Vol. V, p. 258.

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "competent Court" means the High Court or such other Court having unlimited original civil jurisdiction as the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may declare to be a competent Court for the purposes of this Act;

(b) "ship" means any boat, vessel, battery or craft, whether wholly or partly constructed, which is intended to float or is capable of floating, on water, and includes all equipment belonging to any ship;

[a] Inserted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] Substituted for the words "for the time being comprised within Part A States and Part C States", by 3 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. [c] Substituted for the original clause by the Indian Naval Armament (Amendment) Act, 1937 (II of 1937), S. 3.

3. Restriction on building or equipping vessels of war.

No person shall, except under and in accordance with the conditions of a licence granted under this Act,—

- (a) build any vessel of war, or alter, arm or equip any ship so as to adapt her for use as a vessel of war; or
- (b) despatch or deliver, or allow to be despatched or delivered, from any place in the <sup>a</sup>[States] any ship which has been, either wholly or partly, built, altered, armed or equipped as a vessel of war in any part of His Majesty's Dominions or <sup>a</sup>[of India] otherwise than under and in accordance with any law for the time being in force in that part <sup>b</sup>[* * * *]

[a] Substituted for "in a State of India", by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] The words "or State" were omitted, ibid.

Note.—The object of the Act is to give effect to the Treaty for Limitation of Naval Armament and for the Exchange of Information concerning Naval construction signed in London on behalf of His Majesty on 25-3-1936. The object of the Treaty is to restrict the building of war vessels. This section prohibits the building of or the dispatching of any vessel of war except under and in accordance with a license granted under the next section, by the Central Government. The contravention of this section is punishable under S. 5, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees or with both. Besides this punishment, the ship is liable to be forfeited. Sections 517, 518 and 520 of the Criminal P. C., have no application to cases under this Act.

4. Licences.

(1) A licence under this Act for any of the purposes specified in section 3 may be granted by the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government], and shall not be refused unless it appears to the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] that such refusal is necessary for the purpose of securing the observance of the obligations imposed by the Treaty; and, where a licence is granted subject to conditions, the conditions shall be such only as the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may think necessary for the purpose aforesaid.

(2) An application for a licence under this section shall be in such form and shall be accompanied by such designs and particulars as the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may, by general or special order, require.

5. Offences against the Act.

(1) If any person contravenes any of the provisions of section 3 <sup>a</sup>[or fails to comply with the provisions of sub-section (3) of section 4], he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, or with both.

(2) Where an offence punishable under sub-section (1) has been committed by a company or corporation, every director and manager of such company or corporation shall be punishable thereunder unless he proves that the act constituting the offence took place without his knowledge and consent.

(3) Nothing contained in section 517 or section 518 or section 520 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall be deemed to authorise the destruction or confiscation under the order of any Criminal Court of any ship which is liable to forfeiture under this Act or of any part of such ship.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Naval Armament (Amendment) Act, 1937 (II of 1937), S. 4.

6. Liability of ships to forfeiture.

Any ship which has been, either wholly or partly, built, altered, armed, or equipped as a vessel of war in the <sup>A</sup>[States] in contravention of section 3, or in any <sup>A</sup>[*] part of His Majesty's Dominions or <sup>b</sup>[of India] in contravention of any like provision of law in force in that part <sup>c</sup>[* *], shall, if found in the <sup>A</sup>[States], be liable to forfeiture under this Act.

[a] The word "other" was omitted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] Substituted for "any State in India", ibid. [c] The words "or State" were omitted, ibid.

7. Seizure, detention and search of ships.

(1) Where a ship is liable to forfeiture under this Act,—

(a) any Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class, or

(b) any commissioned officer on full pay in the <sup>A</sup>[Armed Forces of the Union], <sup>b</sup>[* * * *] or

(c) any officer of customs or police officer not below such rank<sup>c</sup> as may be designated in this behalf by the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government], may seize such ship and detain it, and, if the ship is found at sea within the territorial waters<sup>d</sup> of the <sup>A</sup>[States], may bring it to any convenient port in the <sup>A</sup>[States].

(2) Any officer taking any action under sub-section (1) shall forthwith report the same through his official superiors to the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government].

(3) The <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] shall, within thirty days of the seizure, either cause the ship to be released or make or cause to be made, in the manner hereinafter provided, an application for the forfeiture thereof, and may make such orders for the temporary disposal of the ship as it thinks suitable.

[a] Substituted for "military, naval or air service of His Majesty", by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] The words "or any Gazetted Officer of the Royal Indian Marine Service" were omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [c] For notifications designating the rank of such officers, see General Statutory Rules and Orders, Vol. V, p. 258. [d] For the extent of territorial waters of India (six nautical miles from the appropriate base line), see S. R. O. 669 dated 22-3-1956 published in Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Extra., Pt. II, Sec. 3, page 569.

8. Procedure in forfeiture of ships.

(1) An application for the forfeiture of a ship under this Act may be made by, or under authority from, the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] to any competent Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the ship is for the time being.

(2) On receipt of any such application, the Court shall cause notice thereof and of the date fixed for the hearing of the application to be served upon all persons appearing to it to have an interest in the ship, and may give such directions for the temporary disposal of the ship as it thinks fit.

(3) For the purpose of disposing of an application under this section, the Court shall have the same powers and follow, as nearly as may be, the same procedure as it respectively has and follows for the purpose of the trial of suits under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, and any order made by the Court under this section shall be deemed to be a decree, and the provisions of the said Code in regard to the execution of decrees shall, as far as they are applicable, apply accordingly.

(4) Where the Court is satisfied that the ship is liable to forfeiture under this Act, it shall pass an order forfeiting the ship to Government :

Provided that, where any person having an interest in the ship proves to the satisfaction of the Court that he has not abetted, or connived at, or by his negligence facilitated, in any way, a contravention of section 3 in respect of the ship, and such ship has not been built as a vessel of war, it may pass such other order as it thinks fit in respect of the ship or, if it be sold, of the sale proceeds thereof :

Provided, further, that in no case shall any ship which has been altered, armed or equipped as a vessel of war be released until it has been restored, to the satisfaction of the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government], to such condition as not to render it liable to forfeiture under this Act.

(5) The <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] or any person aggrieved by any order of a Court, other than a High Court, under this section may, within three months of the date of such order, appeal to the High Court.

9. Disposal of forfeit.

Where a ship has been forfeited to <sup>A</sup>[Government] under section 8, it may be disposed of in such manner as the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] <sup>A</sup>[* *] directs :

Provided that, where the ship is sold under this section, due regard shall be had to the obligations imposed by the Treaty.

[a] The words "subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council" were omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

10. Special proof of relevant facts.

If, in any trial, appeal or other proceeding under the foregoing provisions of this Act, any question arises as to whether a ship is a vessel of war or whether any alteration, arming or equipping of a ship is such as to adapt it for use as a vessel of war, the question shall be referred to and determined by the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government], whose decision shall be final and shall not be questioned in any Court.

11. Penalties for proceeding to sea after seizure.

(1) Where a ship which has been seized or detained under section 7 or section 8 and has not been released by competent authority under this Act proceeds to sea, the master of the ship shall be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees, and the owner and any person who sends the ship to sea shall be likewise so punishable unless such owner or person proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge and consent.

(2) Where any ship so proceeding to sea takes to sea, when on board thereof in the execution of his duty, any officer empowered by this Act to seize and detain the ship, the owner and master shall further each be liable, on the order of the Court trying an offence punishable under sub-section (1), to pay all the expenses of and incidental to such officer being taken to sea, and shall further be punishable with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees for every day until such officer returns or until such time as would enable him after leaving the ship to return to the port from which he was taken.

(3) Any expenses ordered to be paid under sub-section (2) may be recovered in the manner provided in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the recovery of a fine.

12. Power to enter dockyards, etc.

(1) Any person empowered by this Act to seize and detain any ship may, at any reasonable time by day or night, enter any dockyard, shipyard or other place and make inquiries respecting any ship which he has reason to believe is liable to forfeiture under this Act, and may search such ship with a view to ascertaining whether the provisions of this Act have been or are being duly observed in respect thereof, and every person in charge of or employed in such place shall on request be bound to give the person so empowered all reasonable facilities for such entry and search and for making such inquiries.

(2) The provisions of sections 101, 102 and 103 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply in the case of all searches made under this section.

13. Courts by which and conditions subject to which offences may be tried.

No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class shall proceed to the trial of any offence punishable under this Act, and no Court shall proceed to the trial of any such offence except on complaint made by, or under authority from, the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government].

14. Indemnity.

No prosecution, suit or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person for anything in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The existing law relating to the Navy is contained in the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934. This Act was passed pursuant to section 66 of the Government of India Act, 1919, (later replaced by section 105 of the Government of India Act, 1935,) which empowered the then Indian Legislature to apply to the Naval Forces raised in India the provisions of the U. K. Naval Discipline Act. Accordingly the U. K. Naval Discipline Act, as modified and set forth in the First Schedule to the Indian Navy (Discipline) Act, 1934, was made applicable to the Indian Naval Forces. When the constitutional changes took place, action was taken to adapt this Act and it now appears as a self-contained Act.

2. This Act dealt largely with disciplinary provisions. There were no statutory provisions concerning the various matters of administration, enrolment, grant of commissions, etc.

3. It was long considered that this lacuna should be filled and when the constitutional changes took place it became evident that it would be necessary to have a consolidating statute on the subject. In the meantime, in 1950, the revised Army Act and Air Force

Act were passed by Parliament. It was not possible at that time to draft a revised Navy Bill as the present Act was modelled mainly on the corresponding British Act. In U. K., a special committee had been appointed to examine the question of the revision of the British Naval Code. It was thought that it would be an advantage to await the report of that Committee. The present draft has been made taking into account the report of that Committee.

4. In drawing up the present Bill, the provisions of the Army and Air Force Acts have been borne in mind, but changes have had to be accepted on account of difference of conditions of service of the Navy and Naval traditions and usages.

5. The main object of the present Bill is to make the law self-sufficient by incorporating the necessary provisions of certain other related enactments and regulations and to adapt the existing provisions to suit the new constitutional set-up and present day requirements.

6. The main changes in the existing law are as follows:—

(a) the maximum punishments have been modified to conform to the agreed deci-

- sion concerning punishments in the three services;
- (b) provisions have been inserted concerning grant of commissions and enrolment in the service and for prescribing conditions of service;
  - (c) provisions have been inserted pursuant to Art. 33 of the Constitution to restrict or abrogate the application of fundamental rights to the members of the Armed Forces in so far as this is necessary for the maintenance of discipline;
  - (d) provisions have been inserted for deductions from pay of officers and ratings for absence without leave, damage to Government property, etc.;
  - (e) the penal sections have been rationalised and a few amendments made which have been necessitated by experience;
  - (f) the jurisdiction to try civil offences has been modified to conform to that existing in the Army and Air Force;
  - (g) the main points of procedure of courts-martial have been incorporated in the Bill;
  - (h) officers of the non-executive branches of the Navy who were formerly not eligible to sit at courts-martial have been made eligible, it being provided, however, that the majority of the officers will consist of officers of the executive branch; it has also been provided that in certain special cases only officers of the executive branch should sit;
  - (i) provision has been made for issue of commissions to examine witnesses;
  - (j) the Indian Evidence Act has been made applicable to the proceedings of courts-martial;
  - (k) the judicial review of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy has been placed on a statutory basis and his qualifications have been prescribed;
  - (l) the existing naval courts-martial procedure permitting the accused to give evidence on oath has been continued with a slight modification to conform to the provisions in the Criminal Procedure Code as amended by the recent Criminal Procedure Code Amendment Act;
  - (m) provision has been made for winding up of estates of deceased persons."

(1) If any person not otherwise subject to naval law enters into an engagement with the Central Government to serve, -

(a) in a particular ship ; or

(b) in such particular ship or in such ships as the Central Government, the Chief of the Naval Staff, or the prescribed officer may, from time to time, determine ; and agrees to become subject to naval law upon entering into the engagement, that person shall, so long as the engagement remains in force and notwithstanding that for the time being he may not be serving in any ship, be subject to naval law.

(2) The Central Government may, by order, direct that, subject to such exceptions as may in particular cases be made by or on behalf of the Chief of the Naval Staff, persons of any such class as may be specified in the order shall, while being subject to naval law by virtue of this section, be deemed to be officers, petty officers or other seaman, as the case may be, for the purposes of this Act or of such provisions of this Act as may be so specified.

7. Relations between the members of the Navy, Army and Air Force acting together.

(1) When members of the regular Army and the Air Force or of either of these forces are serving with members of the Indian Navy or Indian Naval Reserve Forces under prescribed conditions, then those members of the regular Army or the Air Force shall exercise such command, if any, and be subject to such discipline as may be prescribed.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to authorise the exercise of powers of punishment by members of the regular Army or the Air Force over members of the Indian Navy or the Indian Naval Reserve Forces, except as provided in clause (c) of sub-section (3) of section 93.

8. Provision respecting discipline of master of merchant vessel under convoy.

(1) Every master or other person for the time being in command of any merchant or other vessel comprised in a convoy under the command of an officer of the Indian Navy shall obey, in all matters relating to the navigation or security of the convoy, any directions which may be given by such officer, and shall take such precautions for avoiding the enemy as may be required by any such directions.

(2) If any such directions are not obeyed, any such officer or any person acting under his orders may compel obedience by force of arms without being liable for any injury or loss of life or any danger to or loss of property resulting therefrom.

CHAPTER IV

COMMISSIONS, APPOINTMENTS AND ENROLMENTS

9. Eligibility for appointment or enrolment.

(1) No person who is not a citizen of India shall be eligible for appointment or enrolment in the Indian Navy or the Indian Naval Reserve Forces except with the consent of the Central Government :

Provided that nothing in this section shall render a person ineligible for appointment or enrolment in the Indian Navy or the Indian Naval Reserve Forces on the ground that he is a subject of Nepal.

(2) No woman shall be eligible for appointment or enrolment in the Indian Navy or the Indian Naval Reserve Forces except in such department, branch or other body forming part thereof or attached thereto and subject to such conditions as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, specify in this behalf.

10. Commissions and appointments.

(1) Officers other than subordinate officers shall be appointed by commission granted by the President.

(2) The grant of the commission shall be notified in the Official Gazette and such notification shall be conclusive proof of the grant of such commission.

(3) Subordinate officers shall be appointed in such manner and shall hold such rank as may be prescribed.

11. Enrolment.

(1) Save as otherwise provided in this Act, the terms and conditions of service of seamen, the person authorised to enrol for service as seamen and the manner and procedure of such enrolment shall be such as may be prescribed.

(2) No person shall be enrolled as a seaman in the Indian Navy for a period exceeding fifteen years in the first instance :

Provided that in the case of a minor the said period of fifteen years shall be reckoned from the date on which he attains the age of seventeen.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law for the time being in force,—

(a) the enrolment of any person under this Act shall be binding on him both during his minority and after he attains majority ;

(b) neither the parent or guardian of a minor duly enrolled under this Act nor any other person shall be entitled to claim custody of the said minor as against the Central Government or any of its officers or other persons set over him.

12. Validity of enrolment.

Where a person after his enrolment has for a period of three months from the date of such enrolment been in receipt of pay as a seaman, he shall be deemed to have been duly enrolled and shall not thereafter be entitled to claim his discharge on the ground of any irregularity or illegality in his engagement or any other ground whatsoever ; and if within the said three months such person claims his discharge, no such irregularity or illegality or other ground shall, until such person is discharged in pursuance of his claim, affect his position as a seaman in the naval service or invalidate any proceedings, act or thing taken or done prior to his discharge.

13. Oath of allegiance.

Every officer and every seaman shall, as soon as may be, after appointment or enrolment make and subscribe before the commanding officer of the ship to which he belongs, or the prescribed officer an oath or affirmation in the following form, that is to say :—

"I.....do swear in the name of God
solemnly affirm
 that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the Constitution of India as by law established and that I will, as in duty bound, honestly and faithfully serve in the naval service and go wherever ordered by sea, land or air, and that I will observe and obey all commands of the President and the commands of any superior officer set over me, even to the peril of my life."

CHAPTER V

CONDITIONS OF SERVICE

14. Liability for service of officers and seamen.

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (4), officers and seamen shall be liable to serve in the Indian Navy or the Indian Naval Reserve Forces, as the case may be, until they are duly discharged, dismissed, dismissed with disgrace, retired, permitted to resign, or released.

(2) No officer shall be at liberty to resign his office except with the permission of the Central Government and no seaman shall be at liberty to resign his post except with the permission of the prescribed officer.

(3) The acceptance of any resignation shall be a matter within the discretion of the Central Government or the officer concerned, as the case may be.

(4) Officers retired or permitted to resign shall be liable to recall to naval service in an emergency in accordance with regulations made under this Act, and on such recall shall be liable to serve until they have been duly discharged, dismissed, dismissed with disgrace, retired, permitted to resign, or released.

15. Tenure of service of officers and seamen.

(1) Every officer and seaman shall hold office during the pleasure of the President.

(2) Subject to the provisions of this Act and the regulations made thereunder,—

(a) the Central Government may discharge or retire from the naval service any officer or seaman ;

(b) the Chief of the Naval Staff or any prescribed officer may discharge from the naval service any seaman.

16. Discharge on expiry of engagement.

Subject to the provisions of section 18, a seaman shall be entitled to be discharged at the expiration of the term of service for which he is engaged unless —

(a) such expiration occurs during active service in which case he shall be liable to continue to serve for such further period as may be required by the Chief of the Naval Staff ; or

(b) he is re-enrolled in accordance with the regulations made under this Act.

17. Provisions as to discharge.

(1) A seaman entitled to be discharged under section 16 shall be discharged with all convenient speed and in any case within one month of his becoming so entitled :

Provided that where a seaman is serving overseas at the time he becomes entitled to be discharged he shall be returned to India for the purpose of being discharged with all convenient speed, and in any case within three months of his becoming so entitled :

Provided further that where such enrolled person serving overseas does not desire to return to India, he may be discharged at the place where he is at the time.

(2) Every seaman discharged shall be entitled to be conveyed free of cost from any place he may be at the time to any place in India to which he may desire to go.

(3) Notwithstanding anything contained in the preceding sub-sections, an enrolled person shall remain liable to serve until he is duly discharged.

(4) Every seaman who is dismissed, discharged, retired, permitted to resign or released from service shall be furnished by the prescribed officer with a certificate in the language which is the mother tongue of such seaman and also in the English language setting forth—

- (a) the authority terminating his service ;
- (b) the cause for such termination ; and
- (c) the full period of his service in the Indian Navy and the Indian Naval Reserve Forces.

18. Saving of powers of dismissal by naval tribunals.

Nothing in this Chapter shall affect the award by a naval tribunal of the punishment of dismissal with disgrace or dismissal from the naval service under this Act.

19. Restrictions respecting right to form associations, freedom of speech, etc.

(1) No person subject to naval law shall, without the express sanction of the Central Government, —

- (a) be a member of, or be associated in any way with, any trade union, labour union, political association or with any class of trade unions, labour unions or political associations, or
- (b) be a member of, or be associated in any way with, any other society, institution, association or organisation that is not recognised as part of the Armed Forces of the Union or is not of a purely social, recreational or religious nature.

Explanation. — If any question arises as to whether any society, institution, association or organisation is of a purely social, recreational or religious nature, the decision of the Central Government thereon shall be final.

(2) No person subject to naval law shall attend or address any meeting or take any part in any demonstration organised by any body of persons for any political purposes or for such other purposes as may be specified in this behalf by the Central Government.

(3) No person subject to naval law shall communicate with the press or publish or cause to be published any book, letter or other document having bearing on any naval, army or air force subject or containing any fact or opinion calculated to embarrass the relations between the Government and the people or any section thereof or between the Government and any foreign country, except with the previous sanction of the Central Government.

(4) No person subject to naval law shall whilst he is so subject practise any profession or carry on any occupation, trade or business without the previous sanction of the Chief of the Naval Staff.

CHAPTER VI

SERVICE PRIVILEGES

20. Immunity from attachment.

The arms, clothes, equipments, accoutrements or necessities of any person in the naval service, while subject to naval law, shall not be seized, nor shall the pay and allowances or any part thereof of such person be attached under any process or direction issued by, or by the authority, of, any Court or public servant in respect of any claim, decree or order enforceable against him.

21. Immunity from arrest for debt.

(1) No person in the naval service shall, so long as he is subject to naval law, be liable to be arrested for debt under any process or direction issued by, or by the authority of, any Court or public servant.

(2) If any such person is arrested in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1) the Court or public servant by whom or by whose authority such process or direction was issued shall on complaint by the person arrested or by his superior officer enquire into the case and if satisfied that the arrest was made in contravention of sub-section (1), shall make an order for the immediate discharge of the person arrested and may award to the complainant the costs of the complaint to be recoverable in the same manner as if such costs were awarded to him by a decree against the person at whose instance such process or direction was issued.

(3) No court-fee shall be payable on a complaint made under sub-section (2) or for recovery of the costs that may be awarded under that sub-section.

22. Immunity of persons attending court-martial or disciplinary Court from arrest.

(1) No president or other member of a court-martial or disciplinary Court, no judge advocate, no party to any proceeding before a court-martial or disciplinary Court or no advocate or agent of such party, and no witness acting in obedience to a summons to attend a court-martial or disciplinary Court shall, while proceeding to, attending or returning from a court-martial or disciplinary Court, be liable to arrest under any civil or revenue process.

(2) If any such person is arrested under any such process, he may be discharged by order of the court-martial or disciplinary Court, as the case may be.

23. Remedy of aggrieved persons.

(1) If an officer or seaman thinks that he has suffered any personal oppression, injustice or other ill-treatment at the hands of any superior officer, he may make a complaint in accordance with the regulations made under this Act.

(2) The regulations referred to in sub-section (1) shall provide for the complaint to be forwarded to the Central Government for its consideration if the complainant is not satisfied with the decision on his complaint.

24. Priority of hearing of cases concerning persons in the naval service.

(1) On the presentation to any Civil or Revenue Court by or on behalf of any person in the naval service while subject to naval law of a certificate from the proper naval authority of leave of absence having been granted to or applied for by him for the purpose of prosecuting or defending any suit or other proceeding in such court, the Court shall, on the application of such person, arrange, so far as may be possible, for the hearing and final disposal of such suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave so granted or applied for.

(2) The certificate from the proper naval authority shall state the first and last day of the leave granted or applied for and set forth a description of the case with respect to which the leave has been granted or applied for, and shall be duly signed and authenticated by such authority.

(3) No fee shall be payable to the Court in respect of the presentation of any such certificate, or in respect of any application by or on behalf of any such person for priority for the hearing of his case and every such certificate duly signed and authenticated as aforesaid shall be conclusive evidence of the correctness of the contents thereof.

(4) Where the Court is unable to arrange for the hearing and final disposal of the suit or other proceeding within the period of the leave granted or applied for as aforesaid, it shall record its reasons for having been unable to do so, and shall cause a copy thereof to be furnished to such person on his application, without any payment whatever by him in respect either of the application for such copy or of the copy itself.

(5) Every Criminal Court before which a case is pending against a person in the naval service, shall, so far as may be possible, arrange for the early hearing and final disposal of such case.

25. Right of the Chief of the Naval Staff or commanding officers to obtain copies of judgments or orders made by a Criminal Court.

A Criminal Court before which any proceedings have been taken against a person in the naval service while subject to naval law shall, on application by the Chief of the Naval Staff or the commanding officer of that person, grant copies of the judgment and final orders in the case free of cost and without delay.

26. Saving of rights and privileges under other laws.

The rights and privileges specified in the preceding sections of this Chapter shall be in addition to, and not in derogation of, any other rights and privileges conferred on persons in the naval service while subject to naval law or on members of the regular Army, Navy and Air Force generally by any other law for the time being in force.

CHAPTER VII

PROVISIONS AS TO PAY, PENSION, ETC., AND MAINTENANCE OF FAMILIES

27. Deductions from pay, etc., not to be made unless authorised.

No deductions other than those authorised by or under this or any other Act shall be made from the pay, pensions, gratuities, allowances and other benefits due to officers and seamen under any regulations for the time being in force.

28. Deductions from pay and allowances of officers.

The following deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an officer without recourse to trial by a naval tribunal, namely:—

(1) all pay and allowances for everyday of absence without leave, unless an explanation is given to the satisfaction of the commanding officer for such absence and approved by the Chief of the Naval Staff :

Provided that the officer is not dealt with by a naval tribunal for the said absence;

(2) all pay and allowances for everyday while he is in civil or naval custody or under suspension from duty on a charge for an offence of which he is afterwards convicted by a competent naval tribunal or Criminal Court and sentenced to imprisonment;

(3) all pay and allowances for everyday while he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the prescribed medical officer to have been caused by an act amounting to an offence punishable under this Act:

Provided that such certificate is accepted by the Chief of the Naval Staff,

- (4) any sum required to make good the pay and allowances of any person subject to naval law which he has unlawfully retained or refused to pay;
- (5) any sum required to make good any loss, damage or destruction of Government property or property belonging to a naval mess, band or institution which after due investigation appears to the Central Government, the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed officer to have been occasioned by the wrongful act or negligence on the part of the officer;
- (6) any sum required to be paid for the maintenance of his wife or legitimate or illegitimate children under the provisions of section 31;
- (7) any sum which after due investigation appears to the prescribed officer to be due to a service mess or canteen.

29. Deductions from pay and allowances of seamen.

The following deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of a seaman without recourse to trial by a naval tribunal, namely:—

- (1) all pay and allowances for everyday of absence without leave unless an explanation is given to the satisfaction of the commanding officer for such absence:

Provided that the seaman is not dealt with by a naval tribunal for the said absence;

- (2) all pay and allowances for everyday he is in confinement on a charge for an offence of which he is afterwards convicted by a competent naval tribunal or Criminal Court;
- (3) all pay and allowances for everyday he is in hospital on account of sickness certified by the prescribed medical officer to have been caused by an act amounting to an offence punishable under this Act:

Provided that such certificate is accepted by the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed officer;

- (4) any sum required to make good any loss, damage or destruction of any property which after due investigation appears to the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed officer to have been occasioned by the wrongful act or negligence on the part of the seaman;
- (5) any sum required to be paid for the maintenance of his wife or legitimate or illegitimate children under the provisions of section 31.

30. Deductions awarded by naval tribunals.

Deductions may be made from the pay and allowances of an officer or seaman in respect of any sentence of fine, forfeiture or mulcts of pay and allowances awarded in pursuance of this Act<sup>a</sup> by a naval tribunal.

[a] See Sections 81 and 82.

31. Liability for maintenance of wife and children.

(1) A person subject to naval law shall be liable to maintain his wife and his legitimate or illegitimate children to the same extent as if he were not so subject; but the execution or enforcement of any decree or order for maintenance passed or made against such person shall not be directed against his person, pay, arms, ammunition, equipments, instruments or clothing.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1),—

- (a) where it appears to the satisfaction of the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed authority that a person subject to naval law has without reasonable cause deserted or left in destitute circumstances his wife or any legitimate child unable to maintain himself or has by reason of contracting a second marriage become liable to provide separate maintenance to his first wife; or
- (b) where any decree or order is passed under any law against a person who is, or subsequently becomes, subject to naval law for the maintenance of his wife or his legitimate or illegitimate children and a copy of the decree or order is sent to the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed authority ;

the Central Government, or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed authority may direct a portion of the pay of the person so subject to naval law to be deducted from such pay and appropriated in the prescribed manner towards the maintenance of his wife or children, but the amount deducted shall not exceed the amount fixed by the decree or order (if any) and shall not be at a higher rate than the rate fixed by regulations made under this Act in this behalf :

Provided that in the case of a decree or order for maintenance referred to in clause (b) no deduction from pay shall be directed unless the Central Government, or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed authority is satisfied that the person against whom such decree or order has been passed or made, has had a reasonable opportunity of appearing, or has actually appeared either in person or through a duly appointed legal practitioner, to defend the case before the Court by which the decree or order was passed or made.

(3) Where arrears of maintenance under a decree or order referred to in sub-section (2) have accumulated while the person against whom the decree or order has been made is subject to naval law whether or not deductions in respect thereof have been made from his pay under this section, no step for the recovery of those arrears shall be taken in any Court after such person has ceased to be so subject unless the Court is satisfied that he has, since he ceased to be subject to naval law, the ability to pay the arrears or any part thereof and has failed to do so.

(4) Notwithstanding anything contained in any other law, where a proceeding for obtaining a decree or order for maintenance is started against a person subject to naval law,—

(a) the Court may send the process for service on that person to the commanding officer of the ship on which such person is serving or on the books of which he is borne ; or

(b) if, by reason of the ship being at sea or otherwise, it is impracticable for the Court to send the process to the commanding officer, the Court may, after not less than three weeks notice to the Central Government, send it to a Secretary to that Government for transmission to the commanding officer for service on that person :

Provided that such service shall not be valid unless there is sent along with the process such sum of money as may be prescribed to enable that person to attend the hearing of the proceeding and to return to his ship or quarters after such attendance.

(5) If a decree or order is passed or made in the proceeding against the person on whom the process is served, the sum sent along with the process shall be awarded as costs of the proceeding against that person.

(6) No process in any proceeding under this section shall be valid against a person subject to naval law if served on him after he is under orders for service at a foreign station or beyond Indian waters.

(7) The production of a certificate of the receipt of the process purporting to be signed by such commanding officer as aforesaid shall be evidence that the process has been duly served, unless the contrary is proved.

(8) Where by a decree or order a copy whereof has been sent to the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed authority under clause (b) of sub-section (2), the person against whom the decree or order has been passed or made is directed to pay as costs any sum sent along with the process (referred to in the proviso to sub-section (4) ), the Central Government may pay to the person entitled an amount in full satisfaction of that sum and the amount so paid by the Central Government shall be deemed to be a public demand recoverable from the person against whom the decree or order has been passed or made, and without prejudice to any other mode of recovery, may be recovered by deduction from his pay, in addition to the deductions authorised by sub-section (2).

(9) Where any person subject to naval law has made an allotment of any part of his pay and allowances for the benefit of his wife, that allotment shall not be discontinued or reduced until the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed authority is satisfied that the allotment should no longer be made or should be reduced.

(10) In this section, the expression "pay" includes all sums payable to a person subject to naval law in respect of his services other than allowances in lieu of lodgings, rations, provisions, clothing and travelling allowances.

32. Limit of certain deductions.

Except when the deductions are made under sub-sections (1), (2) and (4) of section 28 or sub-sections (1) and (2) of section 29, the total deductions from the pay and allowances of an officer or seaman shall not exceed in any one month one-half of his pay and allowances for that month.

33. Remission of deductions.

(1) Any deduction from the pay and allowances authorised by or under this Act may be remitted by the Chief of the Naval Staff in his discretion.

(2) Such deduction may also be remitted in such manner and to such extent and by such other authority as may be prescribed.

CHAPTER VIII ARTICLES OF WAR

34. Misconduct in action by certain officers.

Every flag officer, captain, commander or commanding officer subject to naval law, who,—

- (a) upon signal of battle or on sight of a ship of an enemy which it may be his duty to engage, does not use his utmost exertion to bring his ship into action; or
  - (b) his ship being in action does not, during such action in his own person and according to his rank, encourage the persons under his command to fight courageously; or
  - (c) surrenders his ship to the enemy when capable of making a successful defence; or
  - (d) in time of action, improperly withdraws from the fight;
- shall,
- if he has acted traitorously, be punished with death;

Every person subject to naval law who endeavours to seduce any other person subject to naval law to desert shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

51. Breaking out of ship and absence without leave.

Every person subject to naval law who without being guilty of desertion improperly leaves his ship or place of duty or is absent without leave shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned and shall also be punished by such mulets of pay and allowances as may be prescribed.

52. Drunkenness.

Every person subject to naval law who is guilty of drunkenness shall, if the offence is committed on active service, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned and in other cases be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

53. Uncleanliness or indecent acts.

Every person subject to naval law who is guilty of,—

(a) uncleanliness; or

(b) any indecent act;

shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

54. Cruelty and conduct unbecoming the character of an officer.

(1) Every officer subject to naval law who is guilty of cruelty shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

(2) Every officer subject to naval law who is guilty of any scandalous or fraudulent conduct or of any conduct unbecoming the character of an officer shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

55. Losing ship or aircraft.

(1) Every person subject to naval law who designedly loses, strands or hazards or suffers to be lost, stranded or hazarded any ship of the Indian Navy or in the service of the Government, or loses or suffers to be lost any aircraft of the Indian Navy or in the service of the Government shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

(2) Every person subject to naval law who negligently or by any default loses, strands or hazards or suffers to be lost, stranded or hazarded any ship of the Indian Navy or in the service of the Government, or loses or suffers to be lost any aircraft of the Indian Navy or in the service of the Government shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

56. Offences by officers in charge of convoy.

(1) All officers appointed for the convoy and protection of any ships or vessels shall diligently perform their duty without delay according to their instructions in that behalf.

(2) Every such officer subject to naval law, who,—

- (a) does not defend the ships and goods under his convoy without deviation to any other objects; or
- (b) refuses to fight in their defence if they are assailed; or
- (c) cowardly abandons and exposes the ships in his convoy to hazard; or
- (d) demands or exacts any money or other reward from any merchant or master for convoying any ships or vessels entrusted to his care; or
- (e) misuses the masters or mariners thereof; shall be punished with death or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned, and shall also make such reparation in damages to the merchants, owners and others as a civil court of competent jurisdiction may adjudge.

57. Taking unauthorised goods on board ship.

Every officer subject to naval law in command of any ship of the Indian Navy who receives on board or permits to be received on board such ship any goods or merchandise whatsoever other than for the sole use of the ship or persons belonging to the ship, except goods and merchandise on board any ship which may be shipwrecked or in imminent danger either on the high seas or in some port, creek, or harbour, for the purpose of preserving them for their proper owners, or except such goods or merchandise as he may at any time be ordered to take or receive on board by order of the Central Government or his superior officer, shall be punished with dismissal from the naval service or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

58. Offences in respect of property.

Every person subject to naval law who wastefully expends or fraudulently buys, sells or receives any property of Government or property belonging to a naval, military or air force mess, band or institution, and every person who knowingly permits any such wasteful expenditure, or any such fraudulent purchase, sale or receipt, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

59. Arson.

Every person subject to naval law who unlawfully sets fire to any dockyard, victualling yard or steam factory yard, arsenal, magazine, building, stores or to any ship, vessel, hoy, barge, boat, aircraft, or other craft or furniture thereunto belonging, not being the property of an enemy, shall be punished with death or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

60. Falsifying official documents and false declarations.

Every person subject to naval law—

- (a) who knowingly makes or signs a false report, return, list, certificate, book, muster or other document to be used for official purposes; or
- (b) who commands, counsels or procures the making or signing thereof; or
- (c) who aids or abets any other person in the making or signing thereof; or
- (d) who knowingly makes, commands, counsels or procures the making of, a false or fraudulent statement or a fraudulent omission in any such document; shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to seven years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

61. Malingering, etc.

Every person subject to naval law —

(a) who wilfully does any act or wilfully disobeys any orders whether in hospital or elsewhere with intent to produce or to aggravate any disease or infirmity or to delay his cure ; or

(b) who feigns any disease, infirmity or inability to perform his duty ; shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

62. Penalty for endeavouring to stir up disturbance on account of unwholesomeness of victuals or other just grounds.

Every person subject to naval law who has any cause of complaint either of the unwholesomeness of the victuals or upon any other just ground shall quietly make the same known to his superior or captain or to the Chief of the Naval Staff, in accordance with the prescribed channels of communication and the said superior, captain or Chief of the Naval Staff shall, as far as he is able, cause the same to be presently remedied ; and every person subject to naval law who upon any pretence whatever attempts to stir up any disturbance shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

63. Offences in respect of papers relating to prize.

(1) All the papers, charter-parties, bills of lading, passports and other writings whatsoever that shall be taken, seized or found aboard any ships which are taken as prize, shall be duly preserved and the commanding officer of the ship which takes such prize shall send the originals entire and without fraud to the Court of competent jurisdiction or such other Court or commissioners as shall be authorised to determine whether such prize be lawful capture, there to be viewed, made use of and proceeded upon according to law.

(2) Every commanding officer who wilfully fails to send the papers, charter-parties, bills of lading, passports or other writings whatsoever that shall be taken, seized, or found aboard any ships which are taken as prize to the proper Court or other authority shall be punished with dismissal from the naval service or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned and in addition shall forfeit and lose any share of the capture.

64. Offences in respect of prize.

Every person subject to naval law who takes out of any prize or ship seized for prize, any money, plate, or goods, unless it is necessary for the better securing thereof, or for the necessary use and service of any ships of war of the Indian Navy, before the same be adjudged lawful prize in a Court of competent jurisdiction, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned, and in addition shall forfeit and lose his share of the capture.

65. Offences in respect of persons on board a prize ship.

Every person subject to naval law who in any sort pillages, beats, or ill-treats officers, mariners or other persons on board a ship or vessel taken as prize or who unlawfully strips them off their clothes, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

66. Unlawful taking or ransoming a prize.

Every commanding officer of a ship of the Indian Navy subject to naval law, who,—

(a) by collusion with the enemy takes as prize any vessel, goods or thing; or

(b) unlawfully agrees with any person for the ransoming of any vessel, goods or thing taken as prize; or

(c) in pursuance of any unlawful agreement for ransoming or otherwise by collusion actually quits or restores any vessel, goods or thing taken as prize ;

shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

67. Breaking bulk on board a prize ship.

Every person subject to naval law who breaks bulk on board any vessel taken as prize or detained in the exercise of any belligerent right or under any law relating to piracy or to the slave trade or to the customs, with intent dishonestly to misappropriate anything therein or belonging thereto, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

68. Violation of the Act, regulations and orders.

Every person subject to naval law who neglects to obey or contravenes any provisions of this Act or any regulation made under this Act or any general or local order, shall, unless other punishment is provided in this Act for such neglect or contravention, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

69. Offences in relation to Court-martial.

Every person subject to naval law, who,—

- (a) being duly summoned or ordered to attend as a witness before a Court-martial wilfully or without reasonable excuse fails to attend ; or
- (b) refuses to take an oath or make an affirmation legally required by a Court-martial to be taken or made; or
- (c) being sworn, refuses to answer any questions which he is in law bound to answer; or
- (d) refuses to produce or deliver up a document in his power which the Court may legally demand; or
- (e) is guilty of contempt of Court-martial; shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

70. Fraudulent entry.

Every person who upon entry into or offering himself to enter the naval service wilfully makes or gives any false statement whether orally or in writing to any officer or person authorised to enter or enrol seamen or others in or for such naval service, shall, if he has become subject to naval law, be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

71. Escape from custody.

Every person subject to naval law who being in lawful custody escapes or attempts to escape from such custody shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

72. Failure to assist in detention of offenders.

Every person subject to naval law, who,—

- (a) does not use his utmost endeavours to detect, apprehend or bring to punishment all offenders against this Act; or
- (b) does not assist the officers appointed for that purpose;

shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

73. Penalty for failure to attend by members of reserve forces when called up.

Every member of the Indian Naval Reserve Forces who, when called up for training or when called up into actual service with the Indian Navy in pursuance of the regulations made under this Act, and required by such call to join any ship or attend at any place, fails, without reasonable excuse to comply with such requirement, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

74. Offences against good order and naval discipline.

Every person subject to naval law who is guilty of an act, disorder, or neglect to the prejudice of good order and naval discipline, not hereinbefore specified, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

75. Attempts.

Every person subject to naval law who attempts to commit any of the offences specified in sections 34 to 74 and 76 and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence shall, where no express provision is made by this Act for the punishment of such attempt, be punished,

- (a) if the offence attempted to be committed is punishable with death, with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned, and
- (b) if the offence attempted to be committed is punishable with imprisonment, with one-half of the maximum punishment provided for the offence or with such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

76. Abetment of offences.

Any person subject to naval law who abets the commission of any of the offences specified in sections 34 to 74 shall, whether the act abetted is committed or not in consequence of the abetment, and where no express provision is made by this Act for the punishment of such abetment, be punished with the punishment provided for that offence.

77. Civil offences.

(1) Every person subject to naval law who commits a civil offence punishable with death or with imprisonment for life shall be punished with the punishment assigned for that offence.

(2) Every person subject to naval law who commits any other civil offence shall be punished either with the punishment assigned for the offence or with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three years or such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned.

78. Jurisdiction as to place and offences.

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2), every person subject to naval law who is charged with a naval offence or a civil offence may be tried and punished under this Act regardless of where the alleged offence was committed.

(2) A person subject to naval law who commits an offence of murder against a person not subject to army, naval or air force law or an offence of culpable homicide not amounting to murder against such person or an offence of rape in relation to such person shall not be tried and punished under this Act unless he commits any of the said offences—

- (a) while on active service; or
- (b) at any place outside India; or
- (c) at any place specified by the Central Government by notification in this behalf.

79. Jurisdiction as to time.

No person unless he is an offender who has avoided apprehension or fled from justice or committed the offence of desertion or fraudulent entry or the offence of mutiny shall be tried or punished in pursuance of this Act for any offence committed by him unless such trial commences within three years from the commission of such offence :

Provided that in the computation of the said period of three years any time during which an offender was outside India or any time during which he was a prisoner of war shall be deducted :

Provided further that no trial for an offence of desertion other than desertion on active service or fraudulent entry shall be commenced if the person in question not being an officer has subsequently to the commission of the offence served continuously in an exemplary manner for not less than three years in the Indian Navy.

80. Trial after a person ceases to be subject to naval law.

When any offence mentioned in this Chapter has been committed by any person while subject to naval law and such person has since the commission of the offence ceased to be subject to naval law, he may be taken into and kept in custody, tried and punished under this Act for such offence in like manner as he may have been taken into and kept in custody, tried and punished if he had continued subject to naval law :

Provided that he shall not be tried for such offence except in the case of an offence of mutiny or desertion, unless the trial against him commences within six months after he has ceased to be so subject.

CHAPTER IX

PROVISIONS AS TO PUNISHMENTS

81. Punishments.

(1) The following punishments may be inflicted under this Act, namely :—

- (a) death;
- (b) imprisonment which may be for the term of life or any other lesser term;
- (c) dismissal with disgrace from the naval service;
- (d) detention;
- (e) dismissal from the naval service;
- (f) forfeiture of seniority in rank in the case of officers;
- (g) forfeiture of time for promotion in the case of subordinate officers;
- (h) dismissal from the ship to which the offender belongs;
- (i) disrating, in the case of subordinate and petty officers and persons holding leading rates;
- (j) fine, in respect of civil offences;
- (k) mulcts of pay and allowances;
- (l) severe reprimand or reprimand;
- (m) forfeiture of pay, head money, bounty, salvage, prize money and allowances earned by, and all annuities, pensions, gratuities, medals and decorations granted to, the offender or of any one or more of the above particulars; also in the case of desertion, of all clothes and effects left by the deserter in the ship to which he belongs;
- (n) such minor punishments as are inflicted according to the custom of the navy or may from time to time be prescribed.

(2) Each of the punishments specified in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be inferior in degree to every punishment preceding it in the above scale.

82. Provisions as to award of punishment.

(1) The punishments that may be inflicted under this Act shall be awarded in accordance with the provisions of the following sub sections.

(2) Except in the case of mutiny in time of war or on active service, the punishment of death shall not be inflicted on any offender until the sentence has been confirmed by the Central Government.

(3) The punishment of imprisonment for a term exceeding two years shall in all cases be accompanied by a sentence of dismissal with disgrace from the naval service.

(4) The punishment of imprisonment for a term not exceeding two years may in all cases be accompanied by a sentence of dismissal with disgrace or dismissal from the naval service :

Provided that in the case of officers, unless the sentence of dismissal with disgrace is also awarded, such sentence of imprisonment shall involve dismissal from the naval service.

(5) The sentence of imprisonment may be rigorous or simple, or partly rigorous and partly simple.

(6) The sentence of dismissal with disgrace shall involve in all cases forfeiture of all pay, head money, bounty, salvage, prize money any allowances that have been earned by and of all annuities, pensions, gratuities, medals and decorations that may have been granted to the offender and an incapacity to serve Government again in a defence service, or a civil service, or to hold any post connected with defence or any civil post under the Government :

Provided that the forfeiture of moneys shall not apply, except in the case of deserters, to moneys which should have been paid on the last pay day preceding conviction.

(7) The punishment of dismissal from the naval service shall in the case of persons who hold any lien on appointments in the regular Army or Air Force, involve dismissal from such army or air force service.

(8) The punishment of detention may be inflicted for any term not exceeding two years, but no sentence of detention shall be awarded unless naval detention quarters or army or air force detention barracks are in existence.

(9) The punishment of imprisonment or detention whether on board ship or on shore shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (11), involve disrating in the case of a petty officer or a person holding a leading rate, and shall in all cases be accompanied by stoppage of pay and allowances during the term of imprisonment or detention :

Provided that where the punishment awarded is detention for a term not exceeding fourteen days, the sentence may direct that the punishment shall not be accompanied by stoppage of pay and allowances during the term of detention.

(10) No officer shall be subject to detention.

(11) The punishment of forfeiture of seniority shall be imposed in the substantive rank held at the date of the sentence, and shall involve a corresponding forfeiture of seniority in every higher acting rank subject always to the condition that forfeiture of seniority in any rank shall in no case exceed the seniority in that rank at the date of the sentence.

Section 82 — Note 1

[1] The word "detention" in S. 82 (10) is used in the sense in which it is used in S. 81 (1), cl. (d) which specifies the punishments which may be inflicted under the Act. In view of the prohibition contained in S. 82 (10), the punishment of detention cannot be awarded to a commissioned officer. A distinction, however, must be drawn between detention as a measure of punishment and detention in custody, say pending trial. Hence an order by the Governor under Art. 161 of the Constitution directing detention of a commissioned naval officer in naval jail custody pending the decision of the Supreme Court in appeal which the officer proposed to file against his conviction cannot be challenged on the ground that it is prohibited by S. 82 (10). 1960 Bom 502 (509) [AIR V 47 C 135] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1558 (FB).

(12) The punishment of forfeiture of seniority shall involve the loss of the benefit of service included in the seniority forfeited for the purposes of pay, pension, gratuity, promotion and such other purposes, as may be prescribed, provided that such pay, pension, gratuity and promotion and other purposes depend upon such service.

(13) The punishment of forfeiture of time for promotion shall delay the promotion by the time specified.

(14) No person shall be disgraced below the limits prescribed, or lower either actually or relatively than the rating in which he entered or was appointed in the naval service.

(15) Mulets of pay and allowances shall not be awarded except as provided in sub-sections (16) and (17).

(16) Mulets of pay and allowances shall be awarded in accordance with the regulations made under this Act on conviction of offences under section 51.

(17) Mulets of pay may also be awarded to make good any proved loss or damage occasioned by the offence on which there is a conviction, and for the offence of drunkenness by seamen.

(18) The punishment of fine may be awarded in respect of civil offences in addition to, or in lieu of, other punishments specified in this Act.

(19) The forfeiture of moneys under clause (m) of sub-section (1) of section 81 shall not, except in case of desertion apply to moneys which should have been paid on the last pay day preceding conviction.

(20) All other punishments authorised by this Act may be inflicted in such manner as is heretofore in use in the naval service or as may be prescribed.

(21) Subject to the provisions of the foregoing sub-sections, where any punishment is specified by this Act as the penalty for an offence and it is further declared that "such other punishment as is hereinafter mentioned" may be awarded in respect of the same offence, the expression "such other punishment" shall be deemed to comprise any one or more of the punishments inferior in degree to the specified punishment according to the scale of punishments laid down in sub-section (1) of section 81.

CHAPTER X

ARREST

83. Power to issue warrants of arrest.

(1) The Chief of the Naval Staff, every officer in command of a fleet or squadron of ships of the Indian Navy or of any ship of the Indian Navy or the senior officer present at a port or an officer having by virtue of sub-sections (2) and (3) of section 93 power to try offences, may, by warrant under his hand, authorise any person to arrest any offender subject to naval law for any offence triable under this Act mentioned in such warrant and any such warrant may include the names of more persons than one in respect of several offences of the same nature.

(2) Any person named in any such warrant as aforesaid may, forthwith on his arrest, if the warrant so directs, be taken to the ship of the Indian Navy to which he belongs or some other ship of the Indian Navy.

(3) A person authorised to arrest an offender may use such force as may be necessary for the purpose of effecting such arrest.

(4) Where a warrant under sub-section (1) is issued to a police officer, the police officer shall take steps to execute the warrant and arrest the offender in like manner as if such warrant had been issued by a Magistrate of competent jurisdiction and shall, as soon as may be, deliver the person when arrested into naval custody.

84. Arrest without warrant.

(1) Any person subject to naval law may be ordered without warrant into naval custody by any superior officer for any offence triable under this Act.

(2) A person subject to naval law may arrest without warrant any other person subject to naval law though he may be of a higher rank who in his view commits an offence punishable with death, or imprisonment for life or for a term which may extend to fourteen years.

(3) A provost-marshal may arrest any person subject to naval law in accordance with the provisions of section 89.

(4) It shall be lawful for the purpose of effecting arrest, or taking a person into custody, without warrant to use such force as may be necessary for the purpose.

85. Procedure and conditions of naval custody.

(1) No person subject to naval law who is arrested under this Act shall be detained in naval custody without being informed, as soon as may be, of the grounds for such arrest.

(2) Every person subject to naval law who is arrested and detained in naval custody shall be produced before his commanding officer or other officer prescribed in this behalf within a period of forty-eight hours of such arrest excluding the time necessary for the journey from the place of arrest to such commanding or other officer and no such person shall be detained in custody beyond the said period without the authority of such commanding or other officer.

86. Investigation after arrest.

The charge made against any person subject to naval law taken into custody shall without any unnecessary delay be investigated by the proper authority and as soon as may be either proceedings shall be taken for the trial or such person shall be discharged from custody.

87. Duty to receive or keep in custody.

(1) The commanding officer shall be responsible for the safe custody of every person who is in naval custody on board his ship or in his establishment.

(2) The officer or seaman in charge of a guard, or a provost-marshal shall receive and keep any person who is duly committed to his custody.

88. Procedure before trial.

Subject to the provisions of this Act, the procedure before trial and the manner of investigation shall be as prescribed.

89. Provost-marshals.

(1) Provost-marshals may be appointed by the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed officer.

(2) The duties of a provost-marshal are to take charge of persons in naval custody, to preserve good order and discipline and to prevent breaches of the same by persons subject to naval law or to the law in force relating to the government of the regular Army or the Air Force.

(3) A provost marshal may at any time arrest and detain for trial any person subject to naval law who commits, or is charged with, an offence and may also

Section 89 — Note 1

[1] The word "trial" is well understood in criminal law and it ends when the proceedings in the trial Court come to an end. The various provisions of the Navy Act, such as ss. 89 (3), 122, 123 and 146, also show that the word "trial" is used in the same sense in the Act.

carry into effect any punishment to be inflicted in pursuance of a sentence passed under this Act, but shall not inflict any punishment on his own authority :

Provided that no officer shall be so arrested or detained otherwise than on the order of another officer.

(4) For the purpose of sub-sections (2) and (3), a provost-marshal shall be deemed to include a provost-marshal and any of his assistants appointed under the law in force relating to the government of the regular Army or the Air Force.

CHAPTER XI

CHARGE

90. Joinder of charges.

For every distinct offence of which any person is accused, there shall be a separate charge but except as otherwise provided by regulations made under this Act all separate charges may be tried together.

91. Acts amounting to different offences.

If a single act or series of acts is of such a nature that it is doubtful which of several offences the acts which can be proved will constitute, the accused may be charged with having committed all or any of such offences, and any number of such charges may be tried at one trial; or he may be charged in the alternative with having committed some one of the said offences.

92. Joinder of accused person.

The following persons may be charged and tried together, namely : —

- (i) persons accused of the same offence committed in the course of the same transaction ;
- (ii) persons accused of an offence and persons accused of abetment of, or an attempt to commit, such offence ; and
- (iii) persons accused of different offences committed in the course of the same transaction :

Provided that in a trial by a court-martial the trial judge advocate may, on the application made in this behalf by any accused, direct that each of the accused be tried separately by the same court-martial.

CHAPTER XII

AUTHORITIES HAVING POWER TO AWARD PUNISHMENTS

93. Power of Court-martial and commanding officers to try offences.

(1) An offence triable under this Act may be tried and punished by Court-martial.

(2) An offence not capital which is triable under this Act and which is committed by a person other than an officer (and in cases by this Act expressly provided for when committed by an officer), may, subject to regulations made under this Act be summarily tried and punished by the commanding officer of the ship to which the offender belongs at the time either of the commission or of the trial of the offence, subject to the restriction that the commanding officer shall not have power to award imprisonment or detention for more than three months, or to award dismissal with disgrace from the naval service :

Provided that no sentence of imprisonment or dismissal shall be carried into effect until approved by the prescribed authorities.

(3) The power by this section vested in a commanding officer of a ship may, subject to regulations made under this Act,—

- (a) as respects seamen on board a tender to the ship, be exercised in the case of a single tender absent from the ship, by the officer in command of such tender and in the case of two or more tenders absent from the ship in company or acting together, by the officer in immediate command of such tenders ;

(b) as respects seamen on board any boat belonging to the ship, be exercised when such boat is absent on detached service by the officer in command of the boat ;

(c) as respects seamen on detached service either on shore or otherwise, be exercised by the officer in immediate command of those persons ;

(d) as respects seamen quartered in naval barracks, be exercised by the officer in command of the barracks ;

(e) as respects <sup>un</sup>seamen attached to or serving with any body of the regular <sup>Armed</sup> <sup>Force</sup> <sup>the</sup> Air Force under prescribed conditions, be exercised by the commanding officer of any such body of the regular Army or the Air Force.

(4) The commanding officer of a ship or barracks may delegate the power of awarding punishments inferior in scale to dismissal, to other officers under his command in accordance with the regulations made under this Act.

94. Power of Central Government, Chief of the Naval Staff and other officers to impose forfeiture of time or seniority.

(1) The Central Government may impose the punishment of forfeiture of time or seniority of not more than twelve months on any subordinate officer.

(2) The Chief of the Naval Staff may impose the punishment of forfeiture of time or seniority of not more than six months on any subordinate officer.

(3) The commanding officer of a ship may subject to regulations made under this Act, impose the punishment of forfeiture of time or seniority of not more than three months on any subordinate officer.

(4) In imposing punishments under sub-sections (1) and (2), it shall not be necessary for the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff, as the case may be, to hear the accused in person or by any friend or counsel.

95. Disciplinary Courts when may be constituted.

When an officer is, in time of war or during active service, alleged to have been guilty of a disciplinary offence, that is to say of a breach of sections 41, 47, 48, 49, 51, 52, 68 and 74 or of any of those sections read with sections 75 or 76, the officer having the power to order a court-martial may, if he considers the offence to be of such a character as not to necessitate trial by court-martial, in lieu of ordering a court-martial, order a disciplinary Court constituted as hereinafter mentioned.

96. Constitution and procedure of disciplinary Courts.

(1) A disciplinary Court shall be composed of not less than three nor more than five officers :

Provided that the majority of the officers including the president shall be officers of the executive branch of the naval service.

(2) At least one of these officers composing the Court shall be superior in rank to the officer under trial and in any case shall be of the rank of substantive or acting commander or of a higher rank.

(3) A disciplinary Court shall have power to impose any punishment inferior to detention in the scale hereinbefore contained, but no greater punishment.

(4) The officers composing the disciplinary Court shall be named by the authority ordering the same or by an officer empowered in this behalf by such authority.

(5) Subject to the provisions of the foregoing sub-sections, the procedure and practice of Courts-martial provided by or under this Act shall apply to the procedure and practice of disciplinary Courts subject to such modifications as may be prescribed.

97. Constitution of Courts-martial.

(1) Courts-martial shall be constituted and convened subject to the provisions of the following sub-sections.

(2) The President, the Chief of the Naval Staff, or any officer empowered in this behalf by commission from the Chief of the Naval Staff shall have the power to order Courts-martial for the trial of offences under this Act.

(3) Unless otherwise prescribed in respect of any specified port or station, an officer holding a commission from the Chief of the Naval Staff to order Courts-martial shall not be empowered to do so if there is present at the place where such Court-martial is to be held an officer superior in rank to himself and in command of one or more of the ships of the Indian Navy : although such last mentioned officer may not hold a commission to order Court-martial and in such a case such last mentioned officer may order a Court-martial although he does not hold a commission for the purpose.

(4) If an officer holding a commission from the Chief of the Naval Staff to order Courts-martial, having the command of a fleet or squadron and being outside Indian waters die, be recalled, leave his station or be removed from his command, the officer upon whom the command of the fleet or squadron devolves and so from time to time the officer who shall have the command of the fleet or squadron, shall without any commission from the Chief of the Naval Staff have the same power to order Courts-martial as the first mentioned officer was invested with

(5) If an officer holding a commission from the Chief of the Naval Staff to order Courts-martial and having the command of any fleet or squadron of the Indian Navy outside Indian waters shall detach any part of such fleet or squadron, or separate himself from any part of such fleet or squadron he may by commission under his hand empower in the first mentioned case, the commanding officer of the squadron or detachment ordered on such separate service and in the case of his death or ceasing so to command, the officer to whom the command of such separate squadron or detachment shall belong, and in the second mentioned case, the senior officer of the ships of the Indian Navy on the division of the station from which he is absent, to order Courts-martial during the time of such separate service or during his absence from that division of the station as the case may be, and every such authority shall continue in force until revoked or until the officer holding it returns to India or until he comes into the presence of a superior officer empowered to order Courts-martial in the same squadron, detachment or division of station but so that such authority shall revive on the officer holding it ceasing to be in the presence of such a superior officer and so from time to time as often as the case so requires.

(6) A Court-martial shall consist of not less than five nor more than nine officers.

(7) No officer shall be qualified to sit as a member of a Court-martial unless—

(a) he is subject to naval law,

(b) he is an officer of the Indian Navy of the rank of lieutenant or higher rank, and

(c) he is of or over twenty-one years of age.

(8) A prosecutor shall not be qualified to sit on the Court-martial for the trial of the person he prosecutes.

(9) The officer ordering the Court-martial, the officer who was the commanding officer of the ship to which the accused belonged at the time of the commission of the alleged offence and the officer investigating the offence shall not be qualified to sit on a Court-martial for the trial of such accused.

(10) Subject to the provisions of sub-sections (7) to (9), officers of the Indian Navy shall be eligible to sit as members of a Court-martial irrespective of the branch of the naval service to which they belong :

Provided that—

- (a) the majority of the members of the Court-martial, including the President, shall be officers of the executive branch of the naval service, and
- (b) at trials for offences against sections 34, 35, 55 and 56, officers other than officers of the executive branch of the naval service shall not be eligible to sit.

(11) A Court-martial shall not be deemed to be duly constituted unless the members thereof are drawn from at least two ships not being tenders, and commanded by officers of the rank of lieutenant or higher rank.

(12) The President of a Court-martial shall be named by the authority ordering the same or by any officer empowered by such authority to name the President.

(13) No Court-martial for the trial of a flag officer shall be duly constituted unless the President is a flag officer and the other officers composing the Court are of the rank of captain or of higher rank.

(14) No Court-martial for the trial of a captain shall be duly constituted unless the President is a captain or of higher rank and the other officers composing the Court are commanders or officers of higher rank.

(15) No Court-martial for the trial of a commander shall be duly constituted unless the President is a commander or of higher rank and two other members are commanders or officers of higher rank.

(16) No Court-martial for the trial of a person below the rank of commander shall be duly constituted unless the President is a substantive or acting commander or of higher rank.

(17) No commander or lieutenant-commander or lieutenant shall be required to sit as a member of a Court-martial when four officers of higher rank and junior to the President can be assembled at the place where the Court-martial is to be held, but the regularity or validity of any Court-martial or of the proceedings thereof shall not be affected by any commander, lieutenant-commander or lieutenant being required to sit or sitting thereon under any circumstances and when any commander, lieutenant-commander or lieutenant sits on any Court-martial, the members of it shall not exceed five.

(18) Members of the Court-martial other than the President shall be appointed, subject to the provisions of the foregoing sub-sections, in the manner provided in sub-section (19).

(19) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (11), the President shall summon all officers except such as are exempted under the provisions of sub-section (20), next in seniority to himself present at the place where the Court-martial shall be held, to sit thereon until the number of nine or such other number not less than five as is attainable is complete.

(20) The officer convening the Court-martial or the senior naval officer present at the place where the Court-martial is to be held, may exempt by writing under his hand conveyed to the President of the Court-martial any officer from attending as member on ground of sickness or urgent public duty.

(21) In this section references to specified ranks of officer shall, unless otherwise stated, be deemed to be references to substantive ranks and to include references to equivalent ranks in all branches of the naval service.

(22) When the naval forces are on active service, officers of the Indian Navy Reserve Forces subject to naval law shall be eligible to sit as members of Courts-martial on the same basis and under the same conditions as officers of the Indian Navy.

CHAPTER XIII PROCEDURE

Procedure of Courts-martial.

98. Where Courts-martial to be held.

A Court-martial may be held ashore or afloat.

99. Trial Judge advocate.

(1) Every court-martial shall be attended by a person (in this Act referred to as the trial judge advocate) who shall be either a judge advocate in the department of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy or any fit person appointed by the convening officer:

Provided that in the case of a court-martial for the trial of a capital offence the trial judge advocate shall be a person nominated by the Judge Advocate General of the Navy unless such trial is held outside Indian waters.

(2) The trial judge advocate shall administer oath to every witness at the trial and shall perform such other duties as are provided in this Act and as may be prescribed.

100. Courts-martial to be public.

The place in which a court-martial is held for the purpose of trying an offence under this Act shall be deemed to be an open Court to which the public generally may have access, so far as the same can conveniently contain them :

Provided that, if the Court is satisfied that it is necessary or expedient in the public interest or for the ends of justice so to do, the Court may at any stage of the trial of any particular case order that the public generally or any portion thereof or any particular person shall not have access to, or be or remain in, the place in which the Court is held.

101. Commencement of proceedings.

(1) As soon as the Court has been assembled the accused shall be brought before it and the prosecutor, the person or persons, if any, defending the accused and the audience admitted.

(2) Except where the accused defends himself, he may be defended by such person or persons as may be prescribed.

(3) The trial judge advocate shall read out the warrant for assembling the Court and the names of officers who are exempted from attending under subsection (20) of section 97 together with the reasons for such exemption.

(4) The trial judge advocate shall read out the names of the officers composing the Court and shall ask the prosecutor whether he objects to any of them.

(5) If the prosecutor shall have made no objection or after any objection made by the prosecutor has been disposed of, the trial Judge advocate shall ask the accused if he objects to any member of the Court.

102. Objections to members.

The following provisions shall apply to the disposal of objections raised by the prosecutor as well as the accused :—

- (a) any member may be objected to on a ground which affects his competency to act as an impartial Judge; and the trial Judge advocate may reject summarily without reference to the members of the Court any objection not made on such ground;
- (b) objections to members shall be decided separately, those to the officer lowest in rank being taken first : provided that if the objection is to the President, such objection shall be decided first and all the other members whether objected to or not shall vote as to the disposal of the objection ;

- (c) on an objection being allowed by one-half or more of the officers entitled to decide the objection, the member objected to shall at once retire and his place shall be filled up before an objection against another member is taken up;
- (d) should the President be objected to and the objection be allowed, the Court shall adjourn until a new President has been appointed by the convening authority or by the officer empowered in this behalf by the convening authority; and
- (e) should a member be objected to on the ground of being summoned as a witness, and should it be found that the objection has been made in good faith and that the officer is to give evidence as to facts and not merely as to character, the objection shall be allowed.

103. Further objections.

(1) The trial Judge advocate shall then ask the accused whether he has any further objections to make respecting the constitution of the Court; and should the accused raise any such objection, it shall then be decided by the Court, which decision shall be final and the constitution of the court-martial shall not be afterwards impeached and it shall be deemed in all respects to have been duly constituted.

(2) If the accused should have no further objection to make to the constitution of the Court or if any objection is disallowed, the members and the trial Judge advocate shall then make an oath or affirmation in the form set out in section 104.

104. Administering oath or affirmation.

(1) Before the Court shall proceed to try the person charged, an oath or affirmation in the following form and manner shall be administered to the president and every member of the Court-martial in the order of their seniority by the trial Judge advocate:—

swear in the name of God

"I.....do —————

solemnly affirm

that I will duly and faithfully and to the best of my ability, knowledge and judgment administer justice according to law, without fear or favour, affection or ill-will, and that I will not on any account at any time whatsoever disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of this Court-martial unless thereunto required in due course of law."

(2) The trial Judge advocate shall then be sworn or affirmed by the president in the following form:—

swear in the name of God

"I.....do —————

that I will duly and faithfully and to the best of my ability, knowledge and judgment perform the duties of my office according to law, without fear or favour, affection or ill-will, and that I will not upon any account at any time whatsoever disclose or discover the vote or opinion of any particular member of this Court-martial unless thereunto required in due course of law."

105. Arraignment.

(1) When the Court is ready to commence the trial, the trial Judge advocate shall read out the charges and shall ask the accused whether he pleads guilty or not guilty.

(2) If the accused pleads guilty, then, before such plea is recorded, the trial Judge advocate shall ensure that the accused understands the charge to which he has pleaded guilty and the difference of procedure which will result from the plea of guilty.

(3) If it appears from the accused's replies or from the summary of evidence prepared in the prescribed manner that he should not plead guilty, the trial Judge advocate may advise the accused to withdraw his plea.

(4) If the Court accepts the plea of guilty, it shall be recorded as the finding of the Court and the Court shall proceed to take steps to pass sentence unless there are other charges to be tried in which event the sentence shall be deferred until after the findings on such charges are given.

106. Opening of prosecution case.

(1) If the accused pleads not guilty or refuses to, or does not, plead or if he claims to be tried or if in the circumstances mentioned in sub-section (3) of section 105 withdraws the plea of guilty or if the Court does not accept the plea of guilty, the Court shall proceed to try the accused.

(2) The prosecutor shall open his case by reading the circumstantial letter prepared in accordance with the regulations made under this Act, reading from this Act or the Indian Penal Code or other law the description of the offence charged and stating shortly by what evidence he expects to prove the guilt of the accused.

(3) The prosecutor shall then examine his witnesses.

107. Calling of prosecution witness not in the original list.

No witness whose name was not included in the original list of witnesses supplied to the trial judge advocate and the accused in accordance with regulations made under this Act shall be called by the prosecutor unless the trial judge advocate has given notice to the accused of the prosecutor's intention to call such witness and has supplied the accused with a summary of the evidence of such witness.

108. Swearing of interpreter and shorthand-writer.

(1) At any time during the trial, should the Court think it necessary, an impartial person may be employed to serve as an interpreter and sworn or affirmed as such in the following manner :—

"I.....do swear in the name of God
solemnly affirm
that I will to the best of my ability truly interpret and translate as I will be required to do touching the matter before this Court-martial."

(2) During the trial, an impartial person shall be employed as a shorthand-writer and duly sworn or affirmed as such in the following manner :—

"I.....do swear in the name of God
solemnly affirm
that I will truly take down to the best of my power the evidence to be given before this Court-martial and such other matters as I will be required, and when required, will deliver to the Court a true transcript of the same."

109. Objection to interpreter or shorthand-writer.

(1) Before any person is sworn or affirmed as an interpreter or a shorthand-writer, the accused shall be asked if he objects to such person as not being impartial and the Court shall decide the objection.

(2) The evidence given by a witness shall be read over to him by the shorthand-writer before the witness leaves the Court, if so required by the Court or the witness.

110. Swearing of witnesses.

(1) No witness shall be examined until he has been duly sworn or affirmed in the following manner :—

“I.....do swear in the name of God
solemnly affirm
that the evidence which I shall give before this Court shall be the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth.”.

(2) Every person giving evidence on oath or affirmation before a Court-martial shall be bound to state the truth.

111. Plea of no case and defence of accused.

(1) When the examination of the witnesses for the prosecution is concluded, the accused shall be called on for his defence.

(2) Before entering on his defence, the accused may raise a plea of no case to answer.

(3) If such a plea is raised, the Court will decide the plea after hearing the accused and the prosecutor and the advice of the trial judge advocate.

(4) If the Court accepts the plea, the accused shall be acquitted on the charge or charges in respect whereof the plea has been accepted.

(5) If the Court overrules the plea, the accused shall be called upon to enter on his defence.

(6) The trial judge advocate shall then inform the accused that he may give evidence as a witness on his own behalf should he desire to do so and should he make a request in writing to do so, but that he will thereby render himself liable to cross-examination.

(7) If the accused does not apply to give evidence, he may make a statement as to the facts of the case, and if he has no defence witnesses to examine as to facts, the prosecutor may sum up his case and the accused shall be entitled to reply.

(8) If the accused or any one of the several accused applies to give evidence and there are no other witnesses in the case for the defence, other than witnesses as to character, then the evidence of such accused shall be recorded and if the accused so desires the witnesses as to character shall be examined and the prosecutor shall then sum up his case and the accused may reply.

(9) If the accused or any one of the accused adduces any oral evidence as to facts other than his own evidence, if any, the accused may then sum up his case on the conclusion of that evidence and the prosecutor shall be entitled to reply.

112. Adjournment to view.

(1) Whenever the Court thinks that it should view the place in which the offence charged is alleged to have been committed or any other place in which any other transaction material to the trial is alleged to have occurred, the Court shall make an order to that effect and may then adjourn to the place to be viewed, along with the prosecutor and the accused and the person, if any, by whom the accused is represented.

(2) The Court on completion of the view shall adjourn and re-assemble in the Court room.

113. Summing up by the trial judge advocate.

When the case for the defence and the prosecutor's reply, if any, are concluded, the trial judge advocate shall proceed to sum up in open Court the evidence for the prosecution and the defence and lay down the law by which the Court is to be guided.

114. Duties of the trial judge advocate.

(1) At all trials by Courts-martial it is the duty of the trial judge advocate to decide all questions of law arising in the course of the trial, and specially all questions as to the relevancy of facts which it is proposed to prove and the admissibility of evidence or the propriety of the questions asked by or on behalf of the parties; and in his discretion to prevent the production of inadmissible evidence whether it is or is not objected to by the parties.

(2) Whenever in the course of a trial it appears desirable to the trial judge advocate that arguments and evidence as to the admissibility of evidence or arguments in support of an application for separate trials or on any other points of law should not be heard in the presence of the Court, he may advise the President of the Court accordingly and the President shall thereupon make an order for the Court to retire or direct the trial judge advocate to hear the arguments in some other convenient place.

115. Duties of the Court.

It is the duty of the Court to decide which view of the facts is true and then arrive at the finding which under such view ought to be arrived at.

116. Retirement to consider finding.

(1) After the trial judge advocate has finished his summing up, the Court will be cleared to consider the finding.

(2) The trial judge advocate shall not sit with the Court when the Court is considering the finding, and no person shall speak to or hold any communication with the Court while the Court is considering the finding.

117. Announcement of the finding.

(1) When the Court has considered the finding, the Court shall be re-assembled and the President shall inform the trial judge advocate in open Court what is the finding of the Court as ascertained in accordance with section 124.

(2) The Court shall give its findings on all the charges on which the accused is tried.

118. Drawing up of the finding.

(1) The trial judge advocate shall then draw up the finding as announced by the Court.

(2) The finding so drawn up shall be signed by all the members of the Court by way of attestation notwithstanding any difference of opinion there may have been among the members and shall be countersigned by the trial judge advocate.

(3) Where the finding on any charge is one of not guilty the Court shall acquit the accused of that charge.

(4) If the accused is acquitted of all the charges, the Court shall, after signing the findings as provided in sub-section (2), be dissolved.

(5) Neither the Court nor the trial judge advocate shall announce in open Court whether the finding was unanimous or not; but the president shall make a record of the division of voting on each finding without disclosing the vote or opinion of any particular member of the Court-martial and such record shall be communicated to the trial judge advocate for transmission to the Judge Advocate General of the Navy.

119. Evidence of character and previous convictions.

(1) If the accused is found guilty on any or all of the charges, the Court before awarding punishment may call evidence as to the previous character and qualifications of the accused and in addition to any oral evidence of general character that may be adduced, shall take into consideration the following documents which shall be read by the trial judge advocate in open Court :—

(a) for any officer—

- (i) any entries against him relating to his previous convictions in the list of officers who have been tried by Court-martial ; and
- (ii) any previous entries against him in the log of the ship to which he may have belonged when the offence or offences for which he is being tried were committed and also any documents, other than such entries in the log, of the nature of a definite censure by superior authority, which log and documents the prosecution is to produce ; and
- (iii) any certificate or other documents of character which the accused may produce ;

(b) for a seaman—

- (i) the entries against him in the conduct and offences record sheets prior to the date of the offence charged, but subsequent to his joining his present ship, with character assessed from the previous 31st day of December to the date of the offence for which he may be under trial but excluding all consideration of the latter ;
- (ii) his certificate of service ; and
- (iii) any entries against him relating to his previous convictions in the list of those who have been tried by Court-martial.

(2) The accused may then make a statement in mitigation of punishment and lead any evidence of character if he has not already done so before the finding.

120. Consideration of the sentence.

(1) The Court shall then retire and consider and determine on the punishment proper to be inflicted in conformity with the finding, and all the members of the Court, whether they have voted for an acquittal or not, shall vote on the question of what punishment is proper to be awarded for the offence of which the accused has been found guilty.

(2) The trial judge advocate shall sit with the Court while they are considering the sentence and assist the Court in the determination of the sentence but shall not vote thereon.

121. Announcement of the sentence.

(1) When the Court has decided on the sentence whether unanimously or by majority, the trial judge advocate shall draw up the sentence in the prescribed form which shall be signed by every member of the Court by way of attestation notwithstanding any difference of opinion there may have been among the members and shall be countersigned by the trial judge advocate.

(2) The Court shall then be re-assembled and the accused brought in and the trial judge advocate shall by direction of the Court pronounce the sentence.

(3) The accused shall then be removed and the Court dissolved.

122. Adjournment.

(1) A Court-martial may, if it appears to the Court that an adjournment is desirable, be adjourned accordingly, but except where such an adjournment is ordered, shall sit from day to day with the exception of Sundays until the trial is concluded, unless prevented from so doing by stress of weather or unavoidable accident.

Section 122 — Note 1

[1] The word "trial" is well understood in criminal law and it ends when the proceedings in the trial Court come to an end — The various provisions of the Navy Act also show that the word "trial" is used in the same sense in that Act. 1900 Bom 502 (510) [A I R V 47 C 155] : 1900 Cri L Jour 1558 (FB).

(2) The proceedings of a Court-martial shall not, after the commencement of a trial, be delayed by the absence of a member :

Provided that not less than four members are present ; and Provided further that if any member is absent from any part of the trial, he shall not thereafter take any part in the proceedings.

123. Provisions relating to dissolution of Courts-martial.

(1) A Court-martial assembled under this Act shall be dissolved—

(a) when the number of members comprising the Court is after the commencement of a trial reduced below four ;

(b) by the prolonged illness of the President, trial judge advocate or the accused ;

(c) by the death of the President or the trial judge advocate ;

(d) on the making of a report under sub-section (2) of section 143.

(2) Whenever a Court-martial is dissolved by virtue of sub-section (1), the accused may be retried.

124. Ascertaining the opinion of the Court.

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3), every question for determination by a Court-martial shall be decided by the vote of the majority :

Provided that where there is an equality of votes, the decision most favourable to the accused shall prevail.

(2) The sentence of death shall not be passed on any offender unless four at least of the members present at the court-martial where the number does not exceed five, and in all other cases a majority of not less than two-thirds of the members present, concur in the sentence.

(3) Where in respect of an offence, the only punishment which may be awarded is death, a finding that a charge for such offence is proved shall not be given unless four at least of the members present at the court-martial where the number does not exceed five, and in all other cases a majority of not less than two-thirds of the members present, concur in the finding.

125. Finding that the offence was committed with intent involving less degree of punishment.

Where the amount of punishment for any offence depends upon the intent with which it has been committed and any person is charged with having committed such an offence with an intent involving a greater degree of punishment, a Court-martial may find that the offence was committed with an intent involving less degree of punishment and award such punishment accordingly.

126. Alternative findings.

If the accused is charged with one offence and it appears in evidence that he committed a different offence for which he might have been charged under section 91, he may be convicted of the offence which he is shown to have committed although he was not charged with it.

127. Finding lesser offence proved on charge of greater offence.

(1) When a person is charged with an offence consisting of several particulars, a combination of some only of which constitutes a complete minor offence and such combination is proved, but the remaining particulars are not proved, he may be convicted of the minor offence although he was not charged with it.

Section 123 — Note 1

[1] The word "trial" is well understood in criminal law and it ends when the proceedings in trial Court come to an end. The various provisions of the Navy Act also show that the word "trial" is used in the same sense in that Act. 1960 Bom 502 (510) [AIR V 47 C 135] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1558 (FB).

(2) When a person is charged with an offence and facts are proved which reduce it to a minor offence, he may be convicted of the minor offence although he was not charged with it.

(3) When a person is charged with an offence, he may be convicted of an attempt to commit such an offence, although the attempt is not separately charged.

128. Transmission of proceedings to the Judge Advocate General of the Navy.

The trial Judge advocate shall transmit in accordance with the prescribed procedure with as much expedition as may be, the original proceedings or a complete and authenticated copy thereof and the original sentence of every Court-martial attended by him, to the Judge Advocate General of the Navy to be dealt with by him in accordance with the provisions of Chapter XV.

129. Right of accused to copy of proceedings and sentence.

Every person tried by a Court-martial and convicted shall be entitled on demand to one copy of the proceedings and sentence of such Court-martial free of cost but no such demand shall be allowed after the lapse of one year from the date of the final decision of such Court.

RULES AS TO EVIDENCE

130. Application of the Evidence Act.

Subject to the provisions of this Act, the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, shall apply to all proceedings before a Court-martial.

131. Accused competent witness for defence.

A person accused of an offence before a Court-martial shall be a competent witness for the defence and may give evidence on oath in disproof of the charges made against him or any person charged together with him at the same trial :

Provided that —

- (a) he shall not be called as a witness except on his own request in writing; or
- (b) his failure to give evidence shall not be made the subject of any comment by any of the parties or the Court or give rise to any presumption against himself or any person charged together with him at the same trial.

132. Judicial notice.

A Court-martial may take judicial notice of any matter within the general naval, army or air force experience and knowledge of the members.

133. Presumptions as to certain documents.

(1) Whenever it is necessary for the purposes of either the prosecution or the defence to prove the contents of any voucher, receipt, account, muster, ship's book, letter, signal, telegram or other document made or kept in pursuance of any Act of the Legislature, any regulations framed under this Act or of the custom of the service, a copy of the same purporting to be signed and certified as a correct copy by the officer for the time being commanding the ship in which the same was made or kept or by a Secretary to the Central Government, may be received as evidence of such document and of the matters, transactions and accounts therein recorded.

(2) A Navy List or Gazette or other official document purporting to be published by authority of the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff shall be evidence of the status and rank of officers therein mentioned and of any appointment held by such officers until the contrary is proved.

(3) Where it is shown that a person is borne on the books of a ship of the Indian Navy, such fact shall be evidence that such person is subject to naval law until the contrary is proved.

Explanation. — In this section, the term “books of a ship” shall include any official book, document or list purporting to contain the name or names of person appointed to the ship.

(4) Where any person subject to naval law is being tried on a charge of desertion, improperly leaving his ship, or absence without leave and such person has surrendered himself into custody of or has been apprehended by any person subject to naval law or by a person subject to the law relating to the government of the regular Army or the Air Force, a certificate purporting to be signed by such person and stating the fact, date and place of such surrender or apprehension shall be evidence of the matters so stated unless the contrary is proved.

(5) Where any person subject to naval law is being tried on a charge of desertion, improperly leaving his ship, or absence without leave and such person has on arrest or surrender been taken to a police station, a certificate purporting to be signed by the officer-in-charge of the station and stating the fact, date and place of such surrender or apprehension shall be evidence of the matters stated unless the contrary is proved.

(6) Any document purporting to be a report under the hand of any chemical examiner or assistant chemical examiner to Government upon any matter or thing duly submitted to him for examination or analysis may be used as evidence in any proceeding under this Act.

(7) The statement of a naval, army or air force medical officer taken and attested by the commanding officer of a ship or establishment may be given in evidence in any proceeding under this Act:

Provided that the Court may, if it thinks fit, and shall if so required by the prosecutor or the accused, summon and examine such medical officer as to the subject-matter of his statement.

(8) If it is proved that an offender under this Act has absconded and that there is no immediate prospect of arresting him, the commanding officer or other prescribed person may, in his absence, examine any persons who might appear to him to be acquainted with the case and record their depositions on oath and any such deposition may on the arrest of such person be used in evidence against him in any proceeding under this Act, if the deponent is dead or incapable of giving evidence or his attendance cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which under the circumstances of the case would be unreasonable.

134. Summoning of witnesses.

(1) Every person who may be required to give evidence or produce a document before a Court-martial shall be summoned in the prescribed manner in writing under the hand of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy or the trial judge advocate.

(2) Every person who may be required to give evidence before a commanding officer or the officer preparing a summary of evidence in accordance with the regulations made under this Act or before a board of inquiry shall be summoned in the prescribed manner by writing under the hand of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy or the senior officer in the station or such other officer prescribed in this behalf.

(3) In the case of a witness subject to naval law or to the law relating to the Government of the regular Army or the Air Force, the summons shall be served in the manner prescribed.

(4) In the case of any other witness, the summons shall be served either in the prescribed manner, or it shall be sent to the Magistrate within whose jurisdiction the witness may be or resides and such Magistrate shall give effect to the summons as if the witness were required in the Court of such Magistrate.

(5) When a witness is required to produce any particular document or thing in his possession or power, the summons shall describe it with reasonable precision.

(6) Every person not subject to naval law who may be summoned as aforesaid shall be allowed and paid such reasonable expenses as may be prescribed.

(7) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the operation of sections 123 and 124 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872,* or to apply to any document in the custody of the postal or telegraph authorities.

"123. Evidence as to affairs of State.—No one shall be permitted to give any evidence derived from unpublished official records relating to any affairs of State, except with the permission of the officer at the head of the department concerned, who shall give or withhold such permission as he thinks fit.

124. Official communications.—No public officer shall be compelled to disclose communications made to him in official confidence when he considers that the public interests would suffer by the disclosure."

135. Commissions for examination of witnesses.

(1) Whenever in the course of a trial by Court-martial, it appears to the trial judge advocate that the examination of a witness is necessary for the ends of justice and that the attendance of such witness cannot be procured without an amount of delay, expense or inconvenience which under the circumstances of the case would be unreasonable, the trial judge advocate may dispense with such attendance and may apply to the Judge Advocate General of the Navy to issue a commission to any District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class within the local limits of whose jurisdiction such witness resides, to take the evidence of such witness.

(2) The trial in such an event may be adjourned for a specified time reasonably sufficient for the execution and return of the commission.

(3) The Judge Advocate General of the Navy on receipt of an application under sub-section (1) may, if he thinks fit, issue a commission to the District Magistrate or Magistrate of the first class or an authority exercising in that place powers equivalent to those of a Magistrate of the first class under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the examination of the witness.

(4) The Magistrate or authority to whom the commission is issued or if he is a District Magistrate he or such Magistrate of the first class as is appointed by him in this behalf shall proceed to such place where the witness is or shall summon the witness before him and shall take down his evidence in the same manner and may for this purpose exercise the same powers as in trials of warrant cases under the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, or of any corresponding law in force at the place where the evidence is recorded.

136. Examination of witnesses on commission.

(1) Where a commission is issued under the provisions of section 135, the prosecutor and the accused may respectively forward any interrogatories in writing which the trial judge advocate may think relevant to the issue and the Magistrate or authority to whom the commission is directed or to whom the duty of executing such commission has been delegated shall examine the witness upon such interrogatories.

(2) The prosecutor and the accused may appear before such Magistrate or authority by counsel or, except in the case of an accused person in custody, in person, and may examine, cross-examine and re-examine, as the case may be, the said witness.

(3) After a commission issued under section 135 has been duly executed, it shall be returned together with the deposition of the witness examined thereunder to the Judge Advocate General of the Navy who issued the commission.

(4) On receipt of the commission and the deposition returned under subsection (3), the Judge Advocate General of the Navy shall forward the same to the trial judge advocate at whose instance the commission was issued.

(5) The commission, the return thereto and the deposition shall be open to inspection by the prosecutor and the accused and may subject to all just exceptions be read in evidence in the case by either the prosecutor or the accused and shall form part of the proceedings of the trial.

(6) Any deposition so taken shall be received in evidence at any subsequent stage of the trial whether before the same Court or, if the said Court is dissolved meanwhile, before another Court convened for the trial of the accused in respect of the same charges.

137. Power to summon and examine material witnesses.

(1) The trial judge advocate may, at any stage of the trial, summon any person as a witness or examine any person in attendance, though not summoned as a witness, or recall and re-examine any person already examined; and the trial judge advocate shall summon and examine or recall and re-examine any such person if his evidence appears to the Court or to the trial judge advocate as essential to the just decision of the case.

(2) Summons to the witnesses shall be issued as provided under this Act.

Compensation to aggrieved persons out of fine

138. Power of Court to pay compensation out of fine.

(1) Whenever a Court-martial imposes a fine as a punishment, the Court may when passing judgment order the whole or any part of the fine recovered to be applied,—

(a) in the payment to any person aggrieved as compensation for any loss or injury caused by the offence;

(b) when any person is convicted of any civil offence which includes theft, criminal misappropriation, criminal breach of trust or cheating or of having dishonestly received or retained, or of having voluntarily assisted in disposing of stolen property knowing or having reason to believe the same to be stolen property,* in compensating any bona fide purchaser of the property for the loss of the same if such property is restored to the possession of the person entitled thereto.

(2) No such payment or compensation shall, however, be made before the expiry of fifteen days from the date of the sentence, and when a petition is presented against the conviction or sentence until the said petition is disposed of.

[a] See section 3 (25) of this Act. The relevant provisions of the Indian Penal Code, 1860, giving the meanings respectively assigned to the offences mentioned in this section are: Sections 378 (theft), 403 (Criminal misappropriation), 405 (Criminal breach of trust), 415 (Cheating), 411 (Dishonestly receiving or retaining stolen property) and 414 (Voluntarily assisting in disposing of stolen property).

Power of Courts-martial respecting contempt, etc.

139. Summary punishment for contempt of Court by person subject to naval law.

When any person subject to naval law commits any offence as is described in section 69 in the presence of or in relation to a proceeding before a Court-martial such Court-martial may punish the offender summarily by imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months or such other less punishment as may be awarded for that offence under section 69.

140. Summary punishment for contempt of Court by person not subject to naval law.

When any person not subject to naval law commits an offence as is described in section 165 in the presence of a Court-martial, such Court-martial may take such person into custody and at any time before the rising of the Court on the same day, if it thinks fit, take cognizance of the offence and sentence the offender to fine not exceeding two hundred rupees or in default of payment to simple imprisonment for a term which may extend to one month, unless such fine shall be sooner paid.

141. Powers of Court-martial when certain offences are committed by persons not subject to naval law.

When any such offence as is described in section 165 of this Act or section 193, section 194, section 195, section 196, section 199, section 200, section 228, section 463 or section 471 of the Indian Penal Code* is committed by any person not subject to naval law in or in relation to a proceeding before a Court-martial, such Court-martial or the officer ordering the same if such Court-martial is dissolved, may exercise the powers under section 476 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, as if it or he were a Criminal Court within the meaning of that section.

[a] The offences described in the sections of the Indian Penal Code mentioned in this section are : S. 193—Punishment for false evidence; S. 194—Giving or fabricating false evidence with intent to procure conviction—capital offence; if innocent person be thereby convicted and executed, S. 195—Giving or fabricating false evidence with intent to procure conviction of offence punishable with imprisonment for life; S. 196—Using evidence known to be false; S. 199—False statement made in declaration which is by law receivable as evidence; S. 200—Using as true such declaration knowing it to be false; S. 228—Intentional insult or interruption to public servant sitting in judicial proceeding; S. 463—Forgery; S. 471—Using as genuine a forged document.

142. Powers of Courts-martial and disciplinary Courts in relation to proceedings under this Act.

Any trial by a Court-martial or disciplinary Court under the provisions of this Act shall be deemed to be a judicial proceeding within the meaning of sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code,* and the Court-martial or disciplinary Court shall be deemed to be a Court within the meaning of sections 450 and 452 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

[1] See Foot-note 'a' under section 141.

Lunacy of accused

143. Accused found insane during trial.

(1) Where it appears in the course of the trial by Court-martial of any person charged with an offence that such person is insane, the Court shall find specially the fact of his insanity and shall order such person to be kept in strict custody in such place and in such manner as the Court may deem fit until the directions of the Central Government thereupon are known.

(2) Every such case shall be reported by the Court to the convening authority for orders of the Central Government and it shall be lawful for the Central Government to give orders for the safe custody of such person in such place and in such manner as the Central Government may deem fit.

(3) Whenever on the receipt of a report from the Central Government or otherwise the convening authority considers that such person is capable of making his defence, the convening authority may take steps to convene a Court-martial for the trial of such person.

144. Lunacy of the accused at the time of offence.

(1) Whenever any person subject to naval law is acquitted upon the ground that, at the time at which he is alleged to have committed an offence, he was, by reason of unsoundness of mind, incapable of knowing the nature of the act alleged as constituting the offence, or that it was wrong or contrary to law, the finding shall specifically state whether he committed the act or not.

(2) Whenever the finding made under sub-section (1) states that the accused person committed the act alleged, the Court-martial shall, if such act would, but for the incapacity found, have constituted an offence, order such person to be detained in safe custody in such place and in such manner as may be prescribed and shall report the action taken to the officer convening the Court.

(3) The officer convening the Court shall then report the case for the orders of the Central Government and shall take necessary steps to detain the said person in safe custody pending receipt of such orders.

(4) The Central Government may on receipt of a report under sub-section (3) order the accused person to be detained in a mental hospital or other suitable place of safe custody.

Disposal of Property

145. Disposal of property pending trial.

When any property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed or which appears to have been used for the commission of an offence is produced before a Court-martial, the Court may make such order as it thinks fit for the proper custody of such property pending the conclusion of the trial and if the property is subject to speedy or natural decay may after recording such evidence as it thinks necessary order it to be sold or otherwise disposed of.

146. Disposal of property regarding which offence is committed.

(1) When the trial before any Court-martial is concluded, the Court may make such order as it thinks fit for the disposal by destruction, confiscation or delivery to any person claiming to be entitled to possession thereof or otherwise of any property or document produced before it or in its custody or regarding which an offence appears to have been committed or which has been used for the commission of any offence :

Provided that except in the case of property which is subject to speedy or natural decay such property or document shall, if so required by regulations, made under this Act, be kept in custody until the orders of the Chief of the Naval Staff are known.

(2) An order under sub-section (1) shall not be carried out for one month, unless the property is subject to speedy or natural decay.

(3) When an order under this section cannot be conveniently carried out by persons in the naval service, a copy of such order certified by the Chief of the Naval Staff or an officer prescribed in this behalf, may be sent to a Magistrate within whose jurisdiction the property is for the time being situate and such Magistrate shall thereupon take steps to cause the order to be carried into effect as if it were an order passed by him.

Explanation. — In this section the term “property” includes, in the case of property regarding which an offence appears to have been committed, not only such property as has been originally in the possession or under the control of any person, but also any property into or for which the same may have been converted or exchanged and anything acquired by such conversion or exchange whether immediately or otherwise.

Section 146 — Note 1

[1] The word “trial” is well understood in criminal law and it ends when the proceedings in the trial Court come to an end. The various provisions of the Navy Act also show that the word “trial” is used in the same sense in that Act. 1960 Bom 502 (510) [AIR V 47 C 135]; 1960 Cri L Jour 1558 (FB).

CHAPTER XIV

EXECUTION OF SENTENCES

147. Form of sentence of death.

In awarding a sentence of death, a Court-martial shall in its discretion direct that the offender shall suffer death by being hanged by the neck until he be dead or shall suffer death by being shot to death.

148. Interim custody until execution of sentence of death.

A person sentenced to death may be detained in naval custody or may be removed to a civil prison to be kept in custody until further orders be received from the Central Government, the Chief of the Naval Staff or the officer ordering the Court-martial by which he was sentenced to death or other prescribed officer and the order in the prescribed form of the Central Government, the Chief of the Naval Staff or the convening authority or such officer shall be sufficient warrant for detaining the person in custody.

149. Execution of sentences of death.

(1) When a sentence of death is to be executed the Chief of the Naval Staff or the convening authority or the prescribed officer shall give directions as to the time, place and manner in which sentence is to be carried out and the order of such officer or authority in the prescribed form shall be sufficient warrant for the execution of such sentence.

(2) There shall be attached to the prescribed form an order of the Central Government certifying the confirmation of the sentence by the Central Government in all cases where such confirmation is necessary; and where such confirmation is not necessary, a certificate of the Chief of the Naval Staff or other prescribed officer stating that such confirmation is not necessary.

150. Place of imprisonment and detention.

(1) Every term of imprisonment whether imprisonment was awarded as an original or commuted punishment may be served in a naval prison, naval detention quarters or in any civil prison, house of correction or military or air force prison or detention barracks.

(2) Every term of detention whether the detention was awarded as an original or commuted punishment may be served in any naval detention quarters or army or air force detention barracks.

(3) Where in pursuance of this Act, a person is sentenced to imprisonment or detention or has his sentence commuted to imprisonment or detention, the order in the prescribed form of the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff or the officer ordering the Court-martial by which such person was sentenced or the senior officer present in port or, if he was sentenced by the commanding officer of a ship, or other officer empowered under this Act to exercise like powers, the order in the prescribed form of such commanding officer or other officer, shall be a sufficient warrant for the sending of such person to the place of imprisonment or detention, as the case may be, there to undergo the sentence according to law, or until he reaches such place of imprisonment or detention for detaining him in naval custody or in the case of a person sentenced to imprisonment, in any civil prison or place of confinement.

151. Commencement of sentence.

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (2) every term of imprisonment or detention awarded in pursuance of this Act shall be reckoned as commencing on the day on which the sentence was awarded.

(2) Where by reason of a ship being at sea or off a place at which there is no proper prison or naval detention quarters, a sentence of imprisonment or detention, as the case may be, cannot be duly executed, then subject as hereinafter mentioned, an offender under the sentence of imprisonment or detention, as the case may be, may be sent with all reasonable speed to some place at which there is a proper prison or naval detention quarters or in the case of an offender under sentence of detention to some place at which there are some naval detention quarters in which the sentence can be duly executed; and on arrival there, the offender shall undergo his sentence in like manner as if the date of such arrival were the day on which the sentence was awarded and notwithstanding that in the meanwhile he has returned to his duty or become entitled to his discharge; and the term of imprisonment or detention, as the case may be, shall be reckoned accordingly, subject however to the deduction of any time during which he has been kept in confinement in respect of the said offence.

152. Imprisonment of offender already under sentence.

Whenever a sentence shall be passed by a Court-martial on an offender already under sentence either of detention or imprisonment passed upon him under this Act for a former offence, the Court may award a sentence of detention or imprisonment for the offence for which he is under trial to commence at the expiration of the sentence of detention or imprisonment to which he has been previously sentenced :

Provided that so much of any term of detention imposed on a person by a sentence in pursuance of this section as will prolong the total term of detention beyond two years shall be deemed to be remitted.

153. Change of place of confinement.

Whenever it is deemed expedient, it shall be lawful for the Central Government, the Chief of the Naval Staff or senior officer present, by an order in writing in the prescribed form, from time to time to change the place of confinement of any offender imprisoned or sentenced to be imprisoned or detained in pursuance of this Act or of any offender undergoing or sentenced to undergo detention; and the gaoler or other person having the custody of such offender shall immediately on the receipt of such order remove such offender to the gaol, prison or house of correction or, in the case of an offender undergoing or sentenced to undergo detention, to the naval detention quarters mentioned in the said order, or shall deliver him over to naval custody for the purpose of the offender being removed to such prison or naval detention quarters, and every gaoler or keeper of such last-mentioned prison, gaol, or house of correction or naval detention quarters shall, upon being furnished with such order of removal, receive into his custody and shall confine pursuant to such sentence or order every such offender.

154. Discharge or removal of prisoners.

Whenever any offender is undergoing imprisonment or detention in pursuance of this Act, it shall be lawful for the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff, or where an offender is undergoing imprisonment or detention by order of his commanding officer, for such commanding officer or the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff, to give an order in writing in the prescribed form directing that the offender be discharged; and it shall also be lawful for the Central Government and the Chief of the Naval Staff, by order in writing in the prescribed form, to direct that any such offender be delivered over to naval custody for the purpose of being brought before a Court-martial, either as a witness or for trial or otherwise, and such offender shall accordingly, on the production of any such order, be discharged, or be delivered over to such custody.

155. Time of detention in naval custody.

The time during which any offender under sentence of imprisonment or detention is detained in naval custody shall be reckoned as imprisonment or detention under his sentence for whatever purpose he is so detained; and the governor, gaoler, keeper or superintendent who shall deliver over any such offender shall again receive him from naval custody, so that he may undergo the remainder of his punishment.

156. Removal of insane prisoners.

If any person imprisoned or undergoing detention by virtue of this Act shall become insane, and a certificate to that effect shall be given by two physicians or surgeons, the Central Government shall, by warrant in the prescribed form, direct the removal of such person to such asylum or other proper receptacle for insane persons in India as it may judge proper for the unexpired term of his imprisonment or detention; and if any such person shall in the same manner be certified to be again of sound mind, the Central Government may issue a warrant in the prescribed form for his being removed to such prison or place of confinement or in the case of a person sentenced to detention, such naval detention quarters as may be deemed expedient, to undergo the remainder of his punishment, and every gaoler or keeper of any prison, gaol, or house of correction shall receive him accordingly.

157. Naval prisons and naval detention quarters.

The Central Government may set apart any buildings or vessels or any parts thereof as naval prisons or naval detention quarters and any buildings, vessels or parts of buildings or vessels so set apart as naval prisons or naval detention quarters, as the case may be, shall be deemed to be naval prisons or naval detention quarters respectively, within the meaning of this Act.

158. Execution of sentence of fine.

When a sentence of fine is imposed under this Act by a Court-martial or disciplinary Court, the officer ordering the Court-martial or disciplinary Court may transmit a copy of the order imposing the fine duly certified under his hand to any Magistrate in India, and such Magistrate shall thereupon cause the fine to be recovered in accordance with the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1895, or any law corresponding thereto in force in the State of Jammu and Kashmir as if it were a sentence of fine imposed by such Magistrate.

159. Power to make regulations in respect of naval prisons and detention quarters.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make regulations providing,—

- (a) for the government, management and regulation of naval prisons and detention quarters;
- (b) for the appointment and removal and powers of inspectors, visitors and officers thereof;
- (c) for the food, bedding and clothing of prisoners or persons undergoing detention therein;
- (d) for the labour of such prisoners or persons therein and for enabling such prisoners or persons to earn by special industry and good conduct remission of a portion of their sentence; and
- (e) for the care of such prisoners or persons, their safe custody and the maintenance of good order and discipline among them and the punishment by personal correction, restraint or otherwise of offences committed by such prisoners or persons.

(2) The regulations to be made under this section may apply to naval prisons or detention quarters any of the provisions of the Prisons Act, 1894, and rules made thereunder, imposing punishments on any persons not being prisoners or relating to the duties of gaolers, medical officers and other officers of the prisons.

(3) The regulations to be made under this section shall not authorise corporal punishment to be inflicted for any offence.

CHAPTER XV

JUDICIAL REVIEW OF COURTS-MARTIAL PROCEEDINGS

160. Judicial review by the Judge Advocate General of the Navy.

(1) All proceedings of trials by Court-martial or by disciplinary Courts shall be reviewed by the Judge Advocate General of the Navy either on his own motion or on application made to him within the prescribed time by any person aggrieved by any sentence or finding, and the Judge Advocate General of the Navy shall transmit the report of such review together with such recommendations as may appear just and proper to the Chief of the Naval Staff for his consideration and for such action as the Chief of the Naval Staff may think fit.

(2) Where any person aggrieved has made an application under sub-section (1), the Judge Advocate General of the Navy may, if the circumstances of the case so require, give him an opportunity of being heard either in person or through a legal practitioner or an officer of the Indian Navy.

161. Consideration by the Chief of the Naval Staff.

(1) On receipt of the report and recommendations if any, under section 160, the Chief of the Naval Staff shall in all cases of capital sentence and in all cases where the Court-martial is ordered by the President, and may in other cases transmit the proceedings and the report to the Central Government together with such recommendations as he may deem fit to make.

(2) Nothing in section 160 or this section shall authorise the Judge Advocate General of the Navy or the Chief of the Naval Staff to make any recommendation for setting aside, or the Central Government to set aside, an order of acquittal passed under this Act.

CHAPTER XVI

MODIFICATIONS OF FINDINGS AND SENTENCES, PARDONS AND COMMUTATION, REMISSION AND SUSPENSION OF SENTENCES

162. Petitions to the Central Government or Chief of the Naval Staff against findings or sentences.

Any person subject to naval law who considers himself aggrieved by a finding or sentence of any Court-martial may present a petition to the Central Government or to the Chief of the Naval Staff, and the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff, as the case may be, may pass such order thereon as may be thought fit.

163. Powers of Central Government and the Chief of the Naval Staff in respect of findings and sentences.

(1) Where any person is tried under the provisions of this Act, the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff, may, in the case of a conviction,—

- (a) set aside the finding and sentence and acquit or discharge the accused or order him to be retried, or
- (b) alter the finding, maintaining the sentence (provided that such sentence may be legally passed on the altered finding), or
- (c) with or without altering the finding, reduce the sentence or commute the punishment awarded for any punishment inferior in scale, or
- (d) either with or without conditions, pardon the person or remit the whole or any part of the punishment awarded, or
- (e) either with or without conditions, release the person on parole :

Provided that a sentence of imprisonment shall not be commuted for a sentence of detention for a term exceeding the term of imprisonment awarded, and a sentence of dismissal with disgrace not accompanied by a sentence of imprisonment shall not be commuted for a sentence of detention :

Provided further that nothing in this section shall authorise the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff to enhance the sentence.

(2) Any sentence modified under the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be carried into execution as if it had been originally passed.

(3) If any condition on which a person has been pardoned or released on parole or a punishment has been remitted is in the opinion of the authority which granted the pardon, release or remission not fulfilled, such authority may cancel the pardon or release or remission and thereupon the sentence awarded shall be carried into effect as if such pardon, release or remission had not been granted :

Provided that in the case of a person sentenced to imprisonment or detention such person shall undergo only the unexpired portion of the sentence.

164. Suspension of sentences.

(1) Where a person has been sentenced to imprisonment or detention, the Central Government or the officer who by virtue of the foregoing section or sub-section (3) of section 150 has power to issue an order of committal (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the committing authority") may, in lieu of issuing such an order, order that the sentence be suspended until an order of committal is issued, and in such case --

- (a) notwithstanding anything in this Act, the term of the sentence shall not be reckoned as commencing until an order of committal is issued ;
- (b) the case may at any time, and shall at intervals of not more than three months, be reconsidered by the Central Government or committing authority or the prescribed officer, and if on any such reconsideration it appears to the Central Government or committing authority or such prescribed officer that the conduct of the offender since his conviction has been such as to justify a remission of the sentence, the Central Government or committing authority or such prescribed officer shall remit the whole or any part of it ;
- (c) subject to regulations made under this Act, the Central Government or the committing authority or such prescribed officer may at any time whilst the sentence is suspended issue an order of committal and thereupon the sentence shall cease to be suspended ;
- (d) where a person subject to naval law, whilst a sentence on him is so suspended, is sentenced to imprisonment or detention for any other offence then, if he is at any time committed either under the suspended sentence or under any such subsequent sentence, and whether or not any such subsequent sentence has also been suspended, the committing authority may direct that the two sentences shall run either concurrently or consecutively, so, however, as not to cause a person to undergo detention for a period exceeding the aggregate of two consecutive years.

(2) When a person has been sentenced to imprisonment or detention and an order of committal has been issued, the Central Government or the committing authority, or prescribed officer may order the sentence to be suspended, and in such cases the person whose sentence is suspended shall be discharged and the currency of the sentence shall be suspended until he is again committed under the same sentence, and the provisions of clauses (b), (c) and (d) of sub-section (1), shall apply in like manner as in the case where a sentence has been suspended before an order of committal has been issued.

(3) Where a sentence is suspended under this section, whether before or after committal, the Central Government or, subject to regulations made under this Act, the committing authority or officer by whom the sentence is suspended may, direct that any penalty which is involved by the punishment of imprisonment or detention either shall be or shall not be remitted or suspended.

CHAPTER XVII

OFFENCES IN RELATION TO COURTS-MARTIAL, DISCIPLINARY COURTS AND PRISONS

165. Offences by persons not subject to naval law in relation to Courts-martial and disciplinary Court.

Every person not subject to naval law, who,—

- (a) being duly summoned or ordered to attend as a witness before a Court-martial or disciplinary Court fails to attend without due cause, or
- (b) refuses to take an oath or make an affirmation legally required by a Court-martial or disciplinary Court to be taken or made, or
- (c) being sworn or affirmed, refuses to answer any questions put by or before a Court-martial or disciplinary Court, which he is in law bound to answer, or
- (d) refuses to produce or deliver up a document in his power which the Court-martial or disciplinary Court may legally demand, or
- (e) is guilty of contempt of Court-martial or disciplinary Court, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

166. Penalties for aiding escape or attempt to escape of prisoners and for breach of prison regulations.

(1) Every person, who,—

- (a) conveys or causes to be conveyed into any naval prison or naval detention quarters any arms, tools, or instruments, or any mask or other disguise to facilitate the escape of any prisoner or person undergoing detention, or
- (b) by any means whatever aids any prisoner or person undergoing detention to escape or in an attempt to escape from such prison or naval detention quarters, whether an escape be actually made or not, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years.

(2) Every person who brings or attempts to bring into a naval prison or naval detention quarters, in contravention of regulations made under this Act, any spirituous or fermented liquor, shall for every such offence be punished with a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees and not less than one hundred rupees.

(3) Every person, who,—

- (a) brings into a naval prison or naval detention quarters or to or for any prisoner or person undergoing detention, without the knowledge of the officer having charge or command thereof, any money, clothing, provisions, tobacco, letters, papers, or other articles not allowed by the rules of the prison or naval detention quarters, to be in the possession of a prisoner or person undergoing detention, or
- (b) throws into the said prison or naval detention quarters, any such articles, or by desire of any prisoner or person undergoing detention, without the sanction of the said officer carries out of the prison or naval detention quarters any of the articles aforesaid, shall for every such offence be punished with a fine not exceeding two hundred rupees.

(4) Every person, who,—

(a) interrupts any officer of a naval prison or naval detention quarters in the execution of his duty, or

(b) aids or abets any person to assault, resist, or interrupt any such officer, shall for every such offence be punished with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or both.

(5) Every fine recovered under, the foregoing sub-sections of this section shall be applied as the Central Government may direct notwithstanding any law, charter, or custom to the contrary.

167. Penalty as regards gaolers, etc.

Every governor, gaoler, and keeper of any prison, goal, or house of correction or of any naval detention quarters, and every person having the charge of command of any place, ship, or vessel for imprisonment, who shall without lawful excuse, refuse or neglect to receive or confine, remove, discharge, or deliver up any offender against the provisions of this Act, or any of them, shall incur for every such refusal or neglect a penalty not exceeding one thousand rupees and every such penalty shall be applied as the Central Government may direct notwithstanding any law, charter, or custom to the contrary.

CHAPTER XVIII

JUDGE ADVOCATE GENERAL OF THE NAVY AND OFFICERS OF HIS DEPARTMENT

168. Appointment of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy and his subordinate officers.

(1) There shall be appointed by the Central Government a Judge Advocate General of the Navy and as many judge advocates in the department of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy as the Central Government may deem necessary.

(2) Out of the judge advocates so appointed, the Central Government may designate any one to be the Deputy Judge Advocate General of the Navy.

(3) A person shall not be qualified for appointment as Judge Advocate General of the Navy unless he—

(a) is a citizen of India, and

(b) has for at least ten years held a judicial office in the territory of India, or

(c) has for at least ten years been an advocate of a High Court or two or more such Courts in succession.

(4) A person shall not be qualified for appointment as Deputy Judge Advocate General of the Navy unless he—

(a) is a citizen of India, and

(b) has for at least seven years held a judicial office in the territory of India, or

(c) has for at least seven years been an advocate of a High Court or two or more such Courts in succession.

Section 167 — Note 1

[1] The accused, subject to navy law, was convicted for murder by an ordinary criminal Court and sentenced to imprisonment for life. After the judgment was pronounced, the accused made an application for leave to appeal to the Supreme Court. Before the warrant issued for the arrest of the accused who was in naval custody, could be executed the Governor issued an order under Art. 161 of the Constitution suspending the sentence subject to the condition that the accused was to remain in naval custody till the disposal of the appeal to the Supreme Court. Held that the pith and substance of the condition was that the accused should remain in custody and not the mode or manner of that custody. Hence the Governor's order was not unconstitutional and invalid because it contemplated the detention of the accused in a naval jail which detention was not expressly authorised by law (Navy Act). 1960 Bom 302 (511, 512) [AIR V 47 C 135] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1558 (FB).

(5) A person shall not be qualified for appointment as a judge advocate unless he—

- (a) is a citizen of India, and
- (b) is qualified for enrolment as an advocate or a pleader of a High Court.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section,

- (a) in computing the period during which a person has been an advocate of a High Court, there shall be included any period during which the person has held judicial office after he became an advocate;
- (b) in computing the period during which a person has held judicial office in the territory of India or been an advocate of a High Court, there shall be included any period before the commencement of the Constitution during which he has held judicial office in any area which was comprised before the 15th day of August, 1947, within India as defined in the Government of India Act, 1935, or has practised as an advocate of any High Court in any such area as the case may be;
- (c) the expression “judicial office” shall be deemed to include the office of the Judge Advocate of the Fleet or any of his deputies or assistants and any other legal or judicial office in the department of the Judge Advocate of the Fleet held before the commencement of this Act, and the office of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy or of a judge advocate held after the commencement of this Act.

169. Functions of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy.

It shall be the duty of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy to perform such duties of a legal and judicial character pertaining to the Indian Navy as may from time to time be referred or assigned to him by the Central Government or the Chief of the Naval Staff, and to discharge the functions conferred on him by or under this Act or any other law for the time being in force.

170. Discharge of functions of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy in his absence.

The functions of the Judge Advocate General of the Navy shall in his absence on leave or otherwise, be performed by such one of the judge advocates in his department as may be designated in this behalf by the Chief of the Naval Staff.

CHAPTER XIX

DISPOSAL OF THE PRIVATE PROPERTY OF PERSONS DECEASED, MISSING, ETC.

171. Disposal of property of deceased seamen.

(1) On the death of a Seaman while subject to naval law, the commanding officer of the ship to which the seaman belonged shall as soon as may be,—

- (a) secure all movable property belonging to the deceased that is in the ship or quarters and cause an inventory thereof to be made;
- (b) draw the pay and allowances due to such persons;
- (c) if he thinks fit, and subject to any regulations made in this behalf, collect all moneys left by the deceased in any banking company, including any post office savings banks, co-operative bank or society, or any other institution receiving deposits in money however named, and for that purpose may require the agent, manager or other proper authority of such banking company, society or other institution to pay the moneys to the commanding officer forthwith, notwithstanding anything in the rules of the banking company, society or institution; and such agent, manager or other authority shall, notwithstanding anything contained in any other law, be bound to comply with the requisition.

(2) Where any money has been paid by the banking company, society or other institution in compliance with the requisition under clause (c) of sub-section (1), no person shall have any claim against the said banking company, society or other institution in respect of such money.

(3) The commanding officer shall, if in his opinion it is necessary for the purpose of securing the payment of the ship and service debts and other debts in the ship or quarters of the deceased and the expenses, if any, incurred by the commanding officer in respect of the estate of the deceased, cause the movable property of the deceased to be sold or converted into money.

(4) If the representative of the deceased is on the spot and either pays or gives security for the payment of the ship and service debts and other debts in ship or quarters due from the deceased, the commanding officer shall not take action under clause (c) of sub-section (1) or under sub-section (3).

(5) The commanding officer shall, out of the moneys so received, collected or realised under sub-sections (1) and (3), pay the ship and service debts and other debts in ship or quarters of the deceased, and the expenses incurred in connection with the realisation of the assets of the deceased.

(6) Any property left over after meeting the expenditure indicated in sub-section (5), or where the representative had paid or given security for the payment of the ship and service debts and other debts in ship or quarters the entire property of the deceased, shall be delivered over by the commanding officer to the representative of the deceased, whereupon his responsibility for the administration of the estate of the deceased shall cease.

(7) If no claim is made in respect of the said surplus by a representative of the deceased within twelve months of the death, the commanding officer shall take steps to hand over the property to the prescribed person who shall continue the administration of the estate of the deceased as provided for in section 176.

172. Disposal of property of deceased officers.

The provisions of section 171 shall also apply to the disposal of the property of an officer who dies while subject to naval law, but with the following modifications, namely,—

- (i) the functions of the commanding officer under section 171 shall be performed by a Committee of Adjustment constituted in this behalf in the prescribed manner; and
- (ii) the surplus, if any, after the payment of debts and expenses specified in sub-section (3) of section 171 shall be paid to the person prescribed in this behalf.

173. Decision of questions as to ship and service debts and other debts in ship or quarters.

If in any case a doubt or difference arises as to what are the ship or service debts and the debts in ship or quarters of a deceased officer or seaman or as to the amount payable in respect thereof, the decision of the prescribed person shall be final and shall be binding on all persons for all purposes.

174. Nature of the powers of commanding officer or Committee of Adjustments.

For the purpose of the exercise of his or its duties under section 171 or 172, as the case may be, the commanding officer or the Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be, shall, to the exclusion of all other persons and authorities have the same rights and powers as if the commanding officer or the Committee had taken out representation to the estate of the deceased, and any receipt given by such commanding officer or the Committee, as the case may be, shall have effect accordingly.

Explanation. — “Representation” includes probate, letters of administration with or without the will annexed and a succession certificate issued by a Court of competent jurisdiction constituting a person executor or administrator of the estate of the deceased person or authorising him to receive or realise the assets of a deceased person.

175. Powers of Central Government to hand over estate of deceased persons to the Administrator-General.

(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Administrator-General's Act 1913, an Administrator-General shall not interpose in any manner in relation to any property of a deceased which has been dealt with under section 171 or section 172 except in so far as he is expressly required or competent to do so by or under the provisions of this Act.

(2) The Central Government may, at any time and in such circumstances as it thinks fit, direct that the estate of a deceased seaman or officer shall be handed over by the commanding officer or the Committee of Adjustment, as the case may be, to the Administrator-General of a State for administration and thereupon such commanding officer or the Committee shall make over the estate to such Administrator-General.

(3) Where under this section any estate is handed over to the Administrator-General, the latter shall administer such estate in accordance with the provisions of the Administrator-General's Act, 1913 :

Provided that where the estate is handed over to the Administrator-General before the ship and service debts and other debts in ship or quarters of the deceased are paid, it shall be the duty of the Administrator-General to pay these debts in priority to any other debts due by the deceased.

(4) The Administrator-General shall pay the surplus, if any, remaining in his hands after discharging all debts and charges, to the heirs of the deceased and if no heir is traceable, shall make over the surplus to the person prescribed in this behalf.

(5) The Administrator-General shall not charge in respect of his duties under this section any fee exceeding three per cent. of the total amount coming to or remaining in his hands after payment of the ship and service debts and the other debts in ship or quarters.

176. Disposal of surplus by prescribed persons.

On receipt of the surplus referred to in sub-section (7) of section 171 or clause (ii) of section 172 or sub-section (4) of section 175, the prescribed person shall,—

- (a) if he knows of a legal representative of the deceased, pay the surplus to that representative ;
- (b) if the surplus does not exceed five thousand rupees in value, the prescribed person may, if he thinks fit, pay or deliver to any person appearing to him to be entitled to receive the same, without requiring such person to produce any probate, letters of administration, succession certificate or other conclusive evidence of title ;
- (c) if the prescribed person does not know of any such representative to whom the surplus could be paid under clause (a), or if the surplus has not been disposed of under clause (b), publish every year a notice in the prescribed form and manner for six consecutive years ; and if no claim to the surplus is made by the legal representative of the deceased within six months even after the publication of the last of such notices, the prescribed person shall deposit the surplus together with any income or accumulation of income accrued therefrom, to the credit of the Central Government :

Provided that such deposit shall not prejudice the claims of any person to such surplus or any part thereof, if he is otherwise entitled to it.

177. Disposal of effects not converted into money.

Where any part of the estate of a deceased officer or seaman consists of effects, securities or other property not converted into money, the provisions of sub-section (7) of section 171 or clause (ii) of section 172 and section 176 with respect to the payment of the surplus shall, save as may be prescribed, extend to the delivery, transmission or transfer of such effects, securities or property, and the prescribed person shall have the same power of converting the same into money as a legal representative of the deceased.

178. Termination of liability of commanding officer, Committee, prescribed person and the Central Government.

Any payment or application of money or delivery, sale or other disposition of any property made, or purported to be made by the commanding officer, the Committee or the prescribed person in good faith in pursuance of sections 171 to 176 shall be valid and shall fully absolve the commanding officer, the Committee or the prescribed person, as the case may be, as well as the Central Government from all liability in respect of the money or property so paid, applied or disposed of ; but nothing herein contained shall be deemed to affect the right of any executor or administrator or other legal representative or of any creditor of the deceased against any person to whom any such payment or delivery as aforesaid has been made.

179. Saving of rights of representative.

Nothing in this Chapter shall affect the rights and duties of the representative of a deceased seaman or officer or any Administrator-General, in respect of the property of such deceased seaman or officer not collected by the commanding officer or the Committee, as the case may be, and not forming part of the surplus handed over to the prescribed person either under sub-section (7) of section 171 or clause (ii) of section 172.

180. Application of Ss. 171 to 179 to persons of unsound mind.

The provisions of sections 171 to 179 shall, so far as they can be made applicable, also apply in the case of an officer or seaman subject to naval law who is ascertained in the prescribed manner to be of unsound mind notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Lunacy Act, 1912, or who, while on active service, is officially reported missing, as if the said officer or seaman had died on the day on which his unsoundness of mind is so ascertained or, as the case may be, on the day on which he is officially reported missing :

Provided that in the case of an officer or seaman so reported missing, no action shall be taken to dispose of the property under sections 171, 172 and 175 until such time as a certificate under the regulations made under this Act is issued by or under the authority of the Chief of the Naval Staff or other prescribed person that he is confirmed or presumed to be dead.

181. Appointment of Standing Committee of Adjustment in certain cases.

When an officer while subject to naval law dies or is ascertained in the prescribed manner to be of unsound mind or while on active service is officially reported missing, the reference in the foregoing provisions of this Chapter to the Committee shall be construed as references to the Standing Committee of Adjustment, if any, constituted in this behalf in the prescribed manner and such Standing Committee, if constituted, shall alone be entitled to perform all the functions of such Committee unless otherwise directed by the Chief of the Naval Staff.

182. Exercise of powers by other persons.

The functions and powers of the commanding officer in this chapter may in any case be performed or exercised by any other person appointed in this behalf by the chief of the Naval staff.

183. Forfeiture of effects for absence without leave.

If any person subject to naval law is absent without leave for a period of one month (whether he is guilty of desertion or of improperly leaving his ship or place of duty or not) but is not apprehended or tried for his offence, he shall be liable for forfeiture of pay and allowances and other benefits as the Central Government from time to time by regulations provide, and the Central Government, the Chief of the Naval Staff or the prescribed officer may by an order containing a statement of the absence without leave direct that the clothes and effects, if any, left by him on board ship or at his place of duty be forfeited, and the same be sold and the proceeds of the same shall be disposed of as provided in the regulations made under this Act ; and every order under this provision for forfeiture or sale shall be conclusive for the purpose of this section as to the fact of the absence without leave as therein stated of the person therein named ; but in any case the Central Government may, if it deems fit on sufficient cause being shown at any time after forfeiture and before sale, remit the forfeiture, or after sale pay or dispose of the proceeds of the sale or any part thereof to or for the use of the person to whom the clothes or effects belonged, or his representatives.

This Act may be called THE NEGOTIABLE INSTRUMENTS ACT, 1881.

Local extent. Saving of usages relating to hundis, etc. Commencement.

It extends to the whole of India [* * *] but nothing herein contained affects the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1871, section 21, or affects any local usage relating to any instrument in an oriental language: Provided that such usages may be excluded by any words in the body of the instrument which indicate an intention that the legal relations of the parties thereto shall be governed by this Act; and it shall come into force on the first day of March, 1882.

[a] The words "except the State of Jammu and Kashmir" were omitted by the Jammu and Kashmir (Extension of Laws) Act, 1956 (LXII of 1956), S. 2 and Sch. [1-11-1956].

[b] Repealed by the Indian Paper Currency Act, 1923 (X of 1923); see now the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (II of 1934), S. 51.

SECTION 1 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and construction of the Act.

2. Instruments in Oriental language.

1. Scope and construction of the Act.—

[1] Negotiable Instruments Act is based on principles of English law and where no special considerations arise with reference to Indian circumstances Courts are justified in construing statute conformably to provisions of English Law which follows the general commercial law of the rest of the world. 1919 Mad 179 (182) [AIR V 6] (DB).

[2] There are certain differences between the English Act and the Indian Act, which preceded the former by a year. But substantially the two Acts correspond. Both have been based on the law developed by the English Courts as a part of the law-merchant, which the common law originally received on the basis of what was proved to Court to be the custom of European business-men in their dealings, but which eventually, under the name of the law-merchant was integrated with and became a part of the common law. Both were based on the English decisions and hence these and later decisions of either country are commonly cited and relied upon. 1944 P C 58 (60) [AIR V 31]: 71 Ind App 124: ILR (1944) Kar (PC) 246.

[3] Where the Act was not in force and as such could not in terms apply the principles underlying the provisions of the Act must be held to be applicable as rules of justice, equity and good conscience. 1956 Raj 129 (132) [AIR V 43 C 40]: ILR (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB). (Bikaner.) *1950 Raj 55 (55) [AIR V 37 C 21]. (Marwar.)

what Law Merchant was before Act was enacted. 1928 Cal 148 (151) [AIR V 15]: 55 Cal 551 (DB).

[5] According to Law Merchant drawing or bill of exchange is necessary incident of carrying out of trade. Law Merchant which Indian legislature has thought fit to adopt is enacted in Negotiable Instruments Act. In the interests of commerce negotiable instrument given by one member of trading firm binds all other members whether adult or minors. (10) 34 Bom 72(83) (DB).

[6] The Law Merchant is not a closed book nor is it fixed or stereotyped. Practices of businessmen change and courts of law in giving effect to the dealings of the parties will assume that they have dealt with one another on the footing of any relevant custom or usage prevailing at the time in the particular trade or class of transaction. 1944 P C 58 (60) [AIR V 31]: 71 Ind App 124: ILR (1944) Kar (PC) 246.

[7] Act legalises system under which claims upon certain mercantile instruments can be treated like ordinary goods passing from one hand to another. 1914 Cal 566 (568) [AIR V 1] (DB).

[8] Negotiability can be attached to documents by mercantile usage. A document is negotiable if by customs of the money market it is transferable as if it were cash and its bona fide transferee obtains a good title even though his transferor had none. 1918 Low Bur 122 (128) [AIR V 5]: 9 Low Bur Rul 143 (DB).

[9] The broadly stated proposition that the Negotiable Instruments Act leaves untouched the rules of the general law which regulate the assignment of choses in action and transfer of chattels requires the qualification that the latter must not be inconsistent with the former. A general and earlier rule must give way to a special and later provision. 1914 Cal 566 (567) [AIR V 1] (DB).

[10] Contract Act is general statute dealing with contracts. Negotiable Instruments Act is statute dealing with particular form of contract, and law laid down for special cases must always overrule provisions of general character. 1933 Rang 131 (132) [AIR V 20].

[11] According to the invariable course of dealing in the Calcutta Jute Trade delivery orders are only issued on cash payment, passed from hand to hand by endorsement and are sold and dealt with in the market as absolutely the goods to which they relate. (11) 38 Cal 127 (138, 139) (DB).

[12] A delivery order is a document of title to the goods to which it relates and may or may not be negotiable according to the conditions attached to it or according to the usage or trade under which it is issued. 1918 Low Bur 122 (126) [AIR V 5] : 9 Low Bur Rul 145 (DB).

[13] The Negotiable Instruments Act was prima facie intended to lay down the whole law regarding cheques, bills of exchange and promissory notes. 1919 Bom 73 (74) [AIR V 6].

[14] Upon their plain language and also upon authority, certain definitions in Act, such as that of "negotiable instrument," "holder," and "holder in due course," are exhaustive. But Act is not necessarily compendium of whole law relating to transfer of interest in negotiable instruments or procedure governing actions on them. Act does not expressly exclude doctrine of representative action. 1940 Bom 164 (166) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) Bom 153 (DB).

[15] Mercantile usage, however extensive, should not be recognised by Court, if contrary to provisions of statute. 1919 Bom 73 (75) [AIR V 6].

[16] Beyond special rules of evidence and presumptions enacted in Negotiable Instruments Act, other principles of substantive law or rules of evidence apply to claims relating to negotiable instruments. 1935 Mad 181 (182) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 693 (FB).

[17] In cases of negotiable instrument, any equities which have to be pleaded should generally arise out of the very transactions itself and must not arise out of the transactions which are either collateral or independent in character. 1938 Ma 1 597 (597) [AIR V 25].

[18] There must be no reasonable possibility of ambiguity in the construction of a negotiable security which is meant to pass from hand to hand; its meaning should be instantly recognisable and not after an elaborate analysis in three Courts. 1936 Nag 252 (253) [AIR V 23].

2. Instruments in Oriental language. —

[1] Negotiable Instruments Act does not affect local usage relating to instrument in Oriental language. (11) 1911 Pun L R No. 42, p. 525 (528) : 1911 Pun Re No. 39 (DB).

[2] Bill of Exchange may include hundi, but it does not follow that hundi includes Bill of Exchange. 1919 Cal 235 (240) [AIR V 6] (DB).

[3] Negotiable instruments, in Oriental language, are sometimes promissory notes in form and substance; but generally they are of type of bills of exchange and are called hundis. Act expressly saves from its operation any local usage relating to such instruments. 1936 All 393 (399) [AIR V 23] : 58 All 858 (DB).

[4] Where hundis are in Oriental language, the rights of the parties concerned with respect to these hundis fall properly to be determined only on the basis of and in consonance with the principles underlying the Negotiable Instruments Act or in accordance with the general custom in vogue in dealing with such instruments among merchants in that part of the country. 1956 Raj 129 (134) [AIR V 43 C 40] : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[5] Hundis are negotiable instruments written in some Oriental language, being sometimes bills of exchange and at others promissory notes and are subject to local usage and these usages are unaffected by the provisions of the Act. In a suit based on a hundi, the first essential is whether the hundi is a promissory note or a bill of exchange; if it is a promissory note the provisions of that Act relating to bills of exchange ought not to be applied; if it is neither one nor the other the Act cannot be applied, the case being governed by the general law of contract. 1919 Nag 39 (39, 40) [AIR V 6].

[6] The Negotiable Instruments Act does not apply to hundis and it is therefore permissible to plaintiff to set up and prove a usage for the payment of interest at a rate exceeding 6 per cent per annum notwithstanding the provisions of S. 80. 1932 Lah 582 (583) [AIR V 19] : 13 Lah 800 (DB).

[7] Hundi silent as to payment of interest—In accordance with prevailing custom interest payable if hundi is not met within certain time—Drawer of hundi is liable for interest. 1920 Low Bur 108 (110) [AIR V 7] : 10 Low Bur Rul 321.

[8] It is well recognised rule in Rawalpindi that if interest was charged on hundi and such hundi was not paid at maturity, same rate of interest continued to be payable. 1915 Lah 248 (249) [AIR V 2] : 1915 Pun Re No. 24 (DB).

[9] The mercantile community at Delhi recognise the custom of accepting hundis by word of mouth and a mercantile usage exists whereby the drawee, who signifies his assent by word of mouth, is made liable on the hundi accepted by him. 1920 Lah 264 (265) [AIR V 7] : 1 Lah 80 (DB).

[10] In the absence of a mercantile usage or custom to the contrary, the acceptance of a hundi or bill of exchange must be in writing and written upon the hundi or bill of exchange itself. The acceptance written upon a copy of the bill is not sufficient nor can there be any oral acceptance. 1927 Nag 389 (390) [AIR V 20].

[11] In considering question of negotiability of instrument it is always important to remember two very essential conditions both under Act and mercantile usage. One is that instrument is transferable like cash by delivery and other is that holder pro tempore has title to claim or receive payment in his own name. Act deals with only three kinds of instruments; bills of exchange, promissory notes and cheques. It makes no provision as regards hundis, yet it has never been held anywhere that hundi is not negotiable instrument. Shahjog hundi which is a document in vernacular is a negotiable instrument although it does not come within the definition of a bill of exchange. 1936 All 396 (399, 401) [AIR V 23] : 58 All 858 (DB).

[12] Shahjog hundis though unquestionably negotiable instruments are not negotiable instruments within the narrow meaning of the Negotiable Instruments Act. They are not ordinary hundis to which the Act applies. Many of the incidents which apply to these hundis are no doubt the same as those which apply to instruments governed by the Act but that is because of mercantile usage and custom and not because of the Act. 1943 Nag 99 (100) [AIR V 30] : I L R (1943) Nag 149 (FB). (Provision for interest made in S. 80 of the Act also cannot apply and cannot be invoked.) +1960 Punj 157 (159) [A I R V 47 C 53]. (A hundi of this type must necessarily be presented to the drawee and a notice of dishonour of the same must be given to the drawer, endorser and all other concerned parties. Technical rules with regard to the time within which a notice of dishonour has to be given or the manner in which the same has to be given as provided for in the Negotiable Instruments Act would not necessarily apply to such notices, but the notice must all the same be within reasonable time and the provisions of law contained in the Negotiable Instruments Act must 'substantially' as contradicting-ished from 'technically' be complied with.)

[13] Right in Shahjog hundi passes by delivery without endorsement. This right may be restricted by special endorsement and then title of holder will be according to terms of endorsement. Once shahjog hundi reaches Shah its negotiability as bearer hundi comes to an end. If after acceptance Shah endorses it to person of straw drawee possesses right to refuse to honour hundi. 1926 Bom 471 (476) [AIR V 13] : 50 Bom 765.

[14] According to custom among shroffs relating to shahjog hundi the Shah who obtains payment of a shahjog hundi is, in the event of the hundi turning out to be false, fraudulent, stolen, or forged one, bound to refund the amount of the hundi with interest unless he produces the actual drawer or the person who committed the fraud. 1914 Bom 239 (240) [AIR V 1].

[15] In the absence of any evidence as to custom, the cause of action against a Shah, who received payment on a forged shahjog hundi to re-imburse the drawee is for money had and received to the use of the plaintiff based either upon money having been paid under a mistake of fact or without consideration and does not arise upon any implied covenant for indemnity. 1934 Bom 402 (404) [AIR V 21] : 59 Bom 252 (DB).

[16] There is no custom relating to a Shahjog hundi which absolves the drawee paying the amount of the hundi to a person having no title although a Shah, from liability in conversion to the true owner. 1934 Bom 400 (401) [AIR V 21] : 59 Bom 97 (FB) + 1947 Sind 140 (141) [A I R V 34 C 49] : I L R (1946) Kar 355 (DB).

[17] Practice among shroffs dealing with hundi — Shah guaranteeing genuineness of hundi and not solvency of drawer — Drawee will not pay on presentation of shahjog hundi unless he is satisfied as to respectability of Shah. 1914 Bom 239 (240) [AIR V 1].

[18] A Shahjog hundi is not a bill of exchange or a promissory note. It is only payable to the respectable holder and is not equivalent to a hundi payable to a bearer. 1916 Cal 888 (890) [AIR V 3] (DB).

[19] Shahjog hundi is only payable to respectable holder unlike hundi payable to bearer or order. Where drawer and drawee are same person, holder of bill of exchange can treat it as bill of exchange or as promissory note. An attested Shahjog hundi can be sued on either as promissory note or as bond. 1916 Cal 838 (839) [AIR V 3].

[20] A shahjog hundi is not equivalent to a hundi payable to bearer and it ought not to be paid by the drawee unless it has endorsed on it, when presented, the name of the Shah by whom it is presented, or rather by whom it is sent for presentation. There is no rule of law which would have the effect of making the word 'shahjog' mean payable to bearer quite independently of the endorsements. 1932 Lah 312 (313) [AIR V 19] (DB).

[21] Where a person pays to another the amount of a hundi, not as to a Shah, but as to an endorsee for collection of a hundi on the security of a railway receipt, he has no equity to recover back the amount from such other if the security turns out to be a forgery. In such a case the latter is liable to refund the money or to trace the hundi to its source provided notice is given within reasonable time of the discovery of the forgery, i.e., provided the payer loses no time in making the communication and claiming the refund. 1914 Bom 260 (262) [AIR V 1] : 39 Bom 513 (DB).

[22] Bearer of Shahjog hundi although minor, is entitled to sue on hundi. 1925 Bom 527 (528) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[23] Name of drawer of hundi need not be separately entered on document at any specific place but it is sufficient if it shows person addressed, that it has been made by third person who purports to be bound thereby. (21) 3 U P L R 46 (47) (DB) (Pat).

[24] The provisions of Negotiable Instruments Act are strictly applicable to natives. If any local usage relating to bills and notes in an Oriental language is relied on under S. 1, it should be alleged and established by the party who relies upon it. (03) 26 Mad 526 (531) (DB).

[25] The Negotiable Instruments Act, S. 1, saves the operation of any local usage relating to instruments written in an Oriental language. But any such usage must be alleged and established by the party relying upon it. In the absence of any such allegation or proof the Act would operate to the same extent as in

OF NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES

4. "Promissory note".

A "promissory note" is an instrument in writing (not being a bank-note or a currency-note) containing an unconditional undertaking, signed by the maker, to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person, or to the bearer of the instrument.<sup>a</sup>

A signs instruments in the following terms :

(a) "I promise to pay B or order Rs. 500."

(b) "I acknowledge myself to be indebted to B in Rs. 1,000, to be paid on demand, for value received."

(c) "Mr. B, I O U Rs. 1,000."

(d) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 and all other sums which shall be due to him."

the case of instruments not written in an Oriental language. ('10) 6 Nag L R 33 (36).

[26] Exception in S. 1, Negotiable Instruments Act, in favour of instruments in Oriental language save them against provisions of that Act overriding local usages but does not prevent application being in contravention of S. 26, Paper Currency Act, of other Acts such as Paper Currency Act to such instruments. Hundi drawn payable to bearer on demand is illegal even though drawn in Oriental language. 1920 Mad 944 (945) [AIR V 7] (DB).

[27] Case under Hyderabad Negotiable Instruments Act, S. 1—Exception—Instruments in Oriental language are not excluded from operation of Act—What is excluded is local usage relating to such instruments—Such usage is saved from operation of Act, even though it is at variance with Act—But it has to be alleged and proved. #### SECTION 4 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. Essentials.

3. Promissory note and Bill of Exchange.

4. "Unconditional undertaking."

5. "Signed by the maker."

6. "Certain sum of money only."

7. "To or to the order of certain person."

8. "To bearer."

9. Post-dating of promissory note.

10. Instruments which are promissory notes.

11. Acknowledgment, receipts and agreement.

12. Original cause of action, suit on.

13. Evidence and proof.

1. Scope. — [1] Where promissory note promises to pay sum mentioned unconditionally to certain person, there is nothing in S. 4, which in any way, curtails general authority conferred by S. 20 on person to whom stamped and signed paper is delivered to convert it into negotiable instrument payable to specified person. 1940 Pat 377 (378) [AIR V 27] : 19 Pat 404 (DB).

[See also 1954 Mad 532 (534, 535) [AIR V 41 C 198].]

[2] Execution of promissory note for interest due on another debt does not amount to payment of interest on debt and fresh advance of sum as principal under note. Debtor in executing pro-note merely gives creditor document or voucher of debt possessing certain legal attributes. 1941 Mad 193 (194) [AIR V 28] (DB).

[3] The definition of 'promissory note' in S. 2 (22), Stamp Act is more comprehensive and in addition to the promissory note as defined in the Negotiable Instruments Act. It

(e) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500, first deducting thereout any money which he may owe me."

(f) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 seven days after my marriage with C."

(g) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 on D's death, provided D leaves me enough to pay that sum."

(h) "I promise to pay B Rs. 500 and to deliver to him my black horse on 1st January next."

The instruments respectively marked (a) and (b) are promissory notes. The instruments respectively marked (c), (d), (e), (f), (g) and (h) are not promissory notes.

[a] As to prohibition against making a promissory note for the payment of money payable to bearer on demand, see sub-section (1) of S. 31 of the Reserve Bank of India Act, 1934 (II of 1934). Sub-section (2) of that section is as follows :—

"Notwithstanding anything contained in the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, no person in India other than the Bank or, as expressly authorized by this Act, the Central Government shall make or issue any promissory note expressed to be payable to the bearer of the instrument." The said sub-section (2) was added by the Reserve Bank of India (Amendment) Act, 1946 (XXIII of 1946), S. 2.

Section 4 — Note 1 (contd.)

includes a note promising the payment of any sum of money out of any particular fund which may or may not be available or upon any condition or contingency which may or may not be performed or happen. 1947 Nag 145 (149, 150) [AIR V 34 C 43] : I L R (1946) Nag 796 (DB).

[4] Before a document can be treated as a promissory note it should be a promissory note both in form and in intent. 1955 Sau 74 (76) [(S) AIR V 42 C 27] (DB).

[5] In the Nattukottai community, documents which are ordinary promissory notes are framed in the manner of letters but stamped as such and nobody mistakes such transactions as anything other than dealings on promissory notes. 1956 Mad 629 (630) [AIR V 43 C 201] (DB).

2. Essentials.—[1] The mere description of an instrument as a promissory note will not make it a promissory note if it fails to satisfy the statutory requirements of Ss. 4 and 13. 1953 Cal 758 (761) [A I R V 40 C 284] : I L R (1955) 1 Cal 441.

[2] In order that a document should be a promissory note it is necessary that there should be—(i) an unconditional undertaking to pay, (ii) the sum should be a sum of money and should be certain, (iii) the payment should be to or to the order of a person who is certain, or to the bearer, of the instrument, (iv) and the maker should sign it. If these four conditions are present a document becomes a promissory note. 1955 Raj 85 (86) [(S) AIR V 42 C 28] : I L R (1955) 5 Raj 367 (DB) * 1959 Raj 156 (157) [A I R V 46 C 62] : I L R (1959) 9 Raj 362 (DB) + 1957 Raj 360 (362) [A I R V 44 C 138] : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 290.

[3] In order to find out whether the document in question is a promissory note or not, the intention of the parties at the time of the execution of the document is to be looked into. The promise to pay must be the substance of the instrument and there must be nothing inconsistent with the character of the instrument as substantially a promise to pay. 1959 Raj 156 (159, 162) [A I R V 46 C 62] : ILR (1959) 9 Raj 362 (DB).

[4] There must be an express undertaking to pay the amount mentioned in the instrument before it can be held to be a promissory note. A mere implied undertaking, by the use of the word "debt" or "pronote" in the instrument is not sufficient. 1949 All 431 (432) [AIR V 36 C 162] : ILR (1949) All 713 (DB).

[5] The fact that a promissory note is written on a page in an account book of the creditor does not make it illegal or any the less a promissory note. There is nothing in the Negotiable Instruments Act to make even a promissory note not negotiable by express terms or by necessary implication. 1953 Cal 758 (761) [AIR V 40 C 284] : ILR (1955) 1 Cal 441.

[See also 1954 Sau 52 (53) [AIR V 41 C 27]. (The test as to negotiability and intention of the parties is principally for determining whether the essential purpose of an instrument was to record only a promise to pay and nothing more.)]

[6] The essentials of a promissory note are that it must contain an unconditional undertaking to pay a certain sum of money and the document must be intended by the parties to be a promissory note. 1955 Sau 74 (76) [(S) AIR V 42 C 27] (DB).

[7] It depends upon the circumstance and wording in each case as to whether a document is a promissory note or an agreement. One of the tests to be applied to find it out is the intention of the parties. The second is whether the document as drawn out can be said to be negotiable, that is to say, could a third person file a suit on the strength of the document? If he could not, then it is a mere agreement. 1951 Ajmer 71 (72) [A I R V 38 C 66].

[8] A mere implied undertaking by the use of the word "debt" or "pronote" in a document is not sufficient to constitute it a promissory note. There must be an express undertaking to pay. 1949 All 431 (432) [AIR V 36 C 162] : I L R (1949) All 713 (DB) + 1957 Orissa 153 (154) [A I R V 44 C 42] : I L R (1957) Cut 101. (A memo stating a particular sum of money deposited to be returned on demand, is not promissory note.)

[9] Where a writing stated, 'Date of maturity Maha Bidi 6, Samvat 2004 — I have received Rs. 6,000 (in words rupees six thousand) taken by me for one month on Pous Bidi 6, Samvat 2004. Miti Pous Bidi 7 Samvat 2004'.—Held, that the document, which did not contain an express promise to pay, was a receipt and not a promissory note.

Mere mention of the date of maturity in it could not make it a promissory note. 1955 Madh B 81 (81) [(S) AIR V 42 C 26] (DB).

[10] Where the language of a document showed that it was written for evidencing the debt obtained by the debtor and an express promise to pay up the debt within a specified time was given therein, and the instrument was attested by a witness and it was not payable to order or bearer — Held that the document was a bond and not a promissory note. 1957 Raj 387 (387) [AIR V 44 C 148].

[11] The mere description of an instrument as a promissory note will not make it a promissory note if it fails to satisfy the statutory requirements of Ss. 4 and 13. 1953 Cal 758 (761) [AIR V 40 C 284]; ILR (1955) 1 Cal 441.

[12] Main question to be considered is not whether the instrument is negotiable or not though ordinarily negotiability of an instrument is a good test but to consider whether in substance and in primary intention of the parties the document was or was not a promissory note and whether it was intended to record a different kind of transaction altogether. A reference in the promissory note to a pre-existing account made with a view to state the consideration for the note, does neither make the liability under the note a contingent one, nor the instrument any the less a promissory note. 1941 All 158 (160, 162) [AIR V 28]; ILR (1941) All 264 (DB).

[13] One of most essential characteristics of promissory note is certainty—certainty both as regards person by whom and to whom payment is to be made. 1931 Cal 357 (388) [AIR V 18]; 58 Cal 752 (DB) + 1929 Nag 274 (275) [AIR V 16]; 25 Nag L R 173. (It is not because document is not payable to order or bearer that it is excluded from definition of promissory note.)

[14] Document executed by one person to another containing unconditional promise to pay certain sum of money to latter, who is sufficiently indicated is promissory note though it is not shown that maker of document intended to make promissory note. (10) 1910 Mad W N 836 (837) + 1935 Mad 23 (23) [AIR V 22]; 58 Mad 261 (DB). (Form is immaterial.)

[15] Promissory note does not lose its character as such merely because it contains promise to pay at certain place. 1944 Bom 235 (235) [AIR V 31].

[16] A promissory note amounts in law to payment and what vitiates a promise does not vitiate a payment. 1954 Trav-Co 231 (252) [AIR V 41 C 82] (DB).

[17] The mere fact that the document bore four one-anna stamps and the impression of the scribe, would not make it a promissory note when it clearly stated that the amount was kept in deposit. 1957 Orissa 153 (155) [AIR V 44 C 42]; ILR (1957) Cut 101.

3. Promissory note and Bill of Exchange. — [1] In promissory note executant promises himself to pay, while in bill of exchange he directs another to pay. In bill of exchange person liable is responsible executant and not scribe. When hundi is either promissory note or bill of exchange, it is governed by Contract Act and not by Negotiable Instruments Act. 1919 Nag 39 (39, 40) [AIR V 6].

[2] Distinction between liability of maker of promissory note and bill of exchange—Maker of promissory note is principal debtor—Drawer of bill of exchange is surety. 1936 Nag 260 (262) [AIR V 23]; ILR (1939) Nag 601.

[3] Mere inscription of words "Hundi" and "accepted" on the upper part of the stamp does not make the document a bill of exchange, when the document is a promissory note. The real character of document has to be determined by looking to the provisions of document itself. 1941 Cal 498 (500) [AIR V 28]; ILR (1941) 2 Cal 107 (FB).

4. "Unconditional undertaking." — [1] The essential feature of a promissory note is an express unconditional promise to pay; and it is not enough that the substantial effect of the instrument should be to make the executant liable to pay a sum of money. 1954 Sau 52 (53) [AIR V 41 C 27].

[2] Instrument containing words "I am liable to pay" without any undertaking is not promissory note. 1934 Mad 220 (221) [AIR V 21].

[3] Where document was in shape of request to plaintiff to pay defendants Rs. 500 which defendants would re-pay with interest—Held that this was conditional contract and not promissory note. 1924 Pat 96 (97) [AIR V 11] (DB).

[4] Instrument only undertaking to pay interest — No unconditional undertaking to pay money — It is not promissory. 1924 Lah 684 (685) [AIR V 11].

[5] Alleged promissory note ran as follows: — I promise to pay on demand at my convenience ..... — Held, that it was not promissory note as promise was not unconditional. 1921 Bom 336 (336) [AIR V 8].

[6] Document which contains promise to pay on contingency will not be treated as promissory note for purposes of Negotiable Instruments Act but it may be regarded as such for the purposes of Stamp Act. 1941 All 158 (162) [AIR V 28]; ILR (1941) All 264 (DB). (Test to decide whether document is promissory note enunciated.)

[7] Promissory note may be by instalments. Where document sets out facts of amount of debt being owing from father of defendants and then states that total of Rs. 400 will be paid in four instalments on dates fixed in four years with interest at 1 per cent per mensem, it is unconditional promise to pay, and therefore, document is promissory note within S. 4. 1935 All 410 (411) [AIR V 22].

[8] In a case where a promissory note is not produced and the receipt of the money is not admitted the plaintiff before he can succeed must prove that he had lent the money to the defendant and the money was, therefore, repayable. The Court cannot either allow proof of the fact that there was an unconditional undertaking to repay or presume to the same effect. 1952 All 877 (878) [AIR V 39].

[9] All documents containing an undertaking to pay the amounts mentioned therein unconditionally are not promissory notes. To make it such a document, it must substantially consist of a promise to pay a defined sum and must not be something else. ('58) 1958-1 Andh W R 224 (226).

[10] The relevant portion of Ex. A-1 a document styled as promissory note executed by the defendant ran as follows: 'I agree to pay you or to your order on demand the sum of Rs. 10,000 (rupees ten thousand) only being the amount my brother K and I have agreed to pay you for bringing about the sale to the I. L. T. D. Co. Ltd., Guntur, of our site in Guntur (which is now leased out to the said company) with interest thereon at 12 per cent (twelve per cent.) per annum from this day till realisation.'—Hea that so far as the defendant was concerned, the undertaking or obligation to pay in Ex. A-1 could not be regarded as not intended to take effect until the fulfilment of some condition. Ex. A-1 was a promissory note as defined in S. 4 of the Act and the defendant was entitled to the benefit of the presumption under S. 118 of the Act. 1959 Andh Pra 370 (373) [AIR V 46 C 107] (DB).

5. "Signed by the maker." — [1] An agent of a firm can sign a promissory note on behalf of the firm. 1957 Mad 8 (10) [AIR V 44 C 3] (DB).

[2] When a joint family carries on business in the particular name and style, any member signing a negotiable instrument on behalf of the joint family business should do so in a manner which may clearly point out that he is signing on its behalf. Whatever may be the legal consequences of not so signing, the document not so signed cannot be termed as a promissory note. ('59) ILR (1959) 9 Raj 187 (189, 190).

6. "Certain sum of money only."—[1] A deed narrated that partnership accounts were settled and certain amount was found due from defendant to plaintiff and defendant promised to pay that sum to plaintiff wakte saruart. Word 'pronote' was also used in document—Hea that deed was a pronote. 1925 Oudh 560 (560) [AIR V 12].

[2] A term "quarterly rests" means that when ultimately interest comes to be calculated it is to be calculated on certain basis or system. Where promissory note expressed promise to pay sum named therein with interest at 10 per cent per annum with "quarterly rests"—Hea that note was for sum certain within Ss. 4 and 5 of Act and, therefore, negotiable instrument. 1929 Pat 136 (138) [AIR V 16] : 7 Pat 41 (DB).

[3] If the rate of interest is specified in the document the certainty of the sum payable is in no way affected as it may be merely a matter of calculation to arrive at the sum payable. A sum of money is certain even though it can be arrived at by making certain calculations. 1960 Raj 20 (22) [AIR V 47 C 8] : ILR (1959) 9 Raj 641.

[4] Where the intention underlying the document was that after certain credit and debit entries had been made and taken into consideration, a certain amount would be due which the applicant undertook to pay, the document is not a promissory note. 1951 Ajmer 71 (72) [AIR V 38 C 66].

7. "To or to the order of certain person."—[1] One of the basic tests of a promissory note is that the payee or bearer must be certain. The words "we as well as our successors are bound herewith to fulfil your dues whenever and wherever you or your successors ask or demand the said sum" do not satisfy the test of certainty of the payee and cannot amount to a promissory note. 1953 Cal 758 (761, 762) [AIR V 40 C 284] : I L R (1955) 1 Cal 441.

[2] The absence of the name of the payee in a promissory note will not make the note invalid where the payee was known with certainty even at execution. Where the description of the payee in the suit promissory note was "son of P. C.", and the plaintiff who had lent the money, was the son of P. C. though not mentioned by name and the lender and borrower knew it—Hea, that the promissory note was not invalid on ground of absence of name of payee although there were other sons of P. C. in existence. To say that the name must always be mentioned to make a promissory note valid is not sustainable in any modern court of justice, equity and good conscience. 1957 Mad 355 (355) [(S) AIR V 44 C 108].

[3] It is clear from Illustration (b) to the section that where a person, to whom the payment is to be made, can be certainly found out from the language of the document, the document would still be a promissory note, though the name of that person is not mentioned after the words "I shall pay" or similar words appearing in such document. 1955 Raj 85 (86, 87) [(S) AIR V 42 C 28] : I L R (1955) 5 Raj 367 (DB).

[4] Words "a certain person" in Ss. 4 and 5 of Act incorporated in S. 2 (22), Stamp Act, mean person who is capable of being ascertained at time when promissory note is made. ('10) 5 Low Bur Rul 102 (107) (DB).

[5] Promissory note payable to manager of Bank is payable to "certain person." 1920 Pat 157 (158) [AIR V 7] : 5 Pat L Jour 536 (DB).

[6] Promissory note made in favour of person described by his office is one made in favour of certain person and valid. 1930 Mad 1004 (1007, 1008) [AIR V 17] : 53 Mad 968 (DB).

[7] Promissory note in favour of institution which has no judicial status is void. 1934 Nag 207 (208) [AIR V 21] : 31 Nag L R 15.

[8] Suit is maintainable on promissory note by real promisee even though wrong name is mentioned on note if he is able to show that wrong name was entered by mistake. ('12) 22 Mad L Jour 121 (121).

[9] To pay money to third party on behalf of payee but on third party's order cannot be treated as same thing as, or equivalent to payment to payee or to his order which is promise necessary in any note in order to bring it within definition in S. 4. 1933 Mad 306 (308).

Section 4 — Note 7 (contd.)

309) [AIR V 20] (DB). (Tests in deciding whether document is promissory note enunciated.)

[10] Act V of 1914 is not retrospective and pronote executed prior to Act, payable in alternative to one of several payees is not promissory note. 1921 Mad 122 (123) [AIR V 8] (DB).

[11] Document in which drawer undertakes to pay sum there specified to plaintiff or order "maarfai another person" is an unconditional one and that words "maarfai another person" do not take document out of S. 4. 1920 Lah 374 (375) [AIR V 7] : 1919 Pun Re No. 141.

[12] Where the name of the payee is not given in the body of the document but he has been described as 'you' it cannot be held that the person who advanced the money is a person certain. Therefore, it cannot be held that the document is a promissory note within the meaning of S. 4. 1959 Orissa 178 (176) [AIR V 48 C 52] : ILR (1958) Cut 178.

[13] The mere omission of the expression "to the order of" would not render a document any the less a promissory note if otherwise it fulfilled the terms of the definition of a promissory note. Actually a promissory note need not contain this expression. It is sufficient if there is an unconditional undertaking to pay a certain sum of money to a certain person. 1955 Mad 652 (652) [AIR V 42 C 205] : ILR (1955) Mad 1027 (FB).

8. "To bearer." — [1] Before document can be taken to be promissory note payable to bearer, it is necessary that person to whom money is to be paid or that it is to be paid to bearer should be expressly stated. 1938 Nag 484 (464) [AIR V 25].

[2] Shahjog hundi is not bill of exchange nor promissory note. It is only payable to a respectable holder and not equivalent to hundi payable to bearer. 1916 Cal 888 (890) [AIR V 3] (DB).

9. Post-dating of promissory note. —

[1] There is no prohibition in the Indian Negotiable Instruments Act against post-dating and a promissory-note which is post-dated is an effective negotiable instrument though it cannot be sued upon till after that date passes. 1952 Nag 308 (310) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1953) Nag 233 (DB).

10. Instruments which are promissory notes. — [1] Promissory note with words "security for over draft" printed on it—Note does not cease to be promissory note. 1943 Mad 216 (217) [AIR V 30] (DB).

[2] A document brought into existence for the purpose of recording an agreement to pay which is not a receipt for money and which has been duly stamped as a promissory note and contains an unconditional promise to pay, and intended and described as a promissory note by the executant, fulfills the conditions of a promissory note within the meaning of S. 4. 1948 Nag 81 (82) [AIR V 33 C 20] (DB).

[3] Debentures in the form of a promise to a particular sum to a certain bank or on a certain date with half-yearly interest in the meantime at certain rate, having on their back a series of spaces for the entry of interest payments and a column of endorsements commencing with an endorsement by original payee, are promissory notes and therefore negotiable instruments under S. 13. 1932 P C 22 (24) [AIR V 19] : 58 Ind App 433 : 58 Bom 1. (AIR 1928 Bom 407 and AIR 1928 Bom 436, Affirmed. 24 Bom 65, Overruled.)

[4] War bond is a promissory note. 1933 Mad 376 (378) [AIR V 20] (DB).

[5] Note given as security for sums already due contained promise to pay "Rukka Indul talab"—Held, that note was new contract and evidenced promissory note. (13) 21 Ind Cas 199 (199, 200) (Oudh).

[6] A 'hand-note' is promissory note within meaning of S. 4. 1941 Pat 99 (100) [AIR V 28] : 19 Pat 974 (DB).

[7] The document in question ran thus: 'Received Rs. . . . . from A and promise to pay the same on demand. Date. . . . . Sd/ B. Held, that the document in question was a promissory note. 1952 Ajmer 31 (1) (31) [AIR V 39].

[8] An unstamped document ran as follows:—"Received with thanks the sum of Rs. 300 as loan from V and will return back in the period of 24 years without interest. G. B. 24-8-48." Held, that the document came within the definition of a promissory note. 1957 Raj 360 (362) [AIR V 44 C 138] : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 290.

[9] Illustration 2 to S. 4 (a) shows that an acknowledgment of indebtedness for a certain sum of money coupled with the words "to be paid on demand" is a promissory note. 1955 Sau 74 (76) [(S) AIR V 42 C 27] (DB).

11. Acknowledgment, receipts and agreement.—[1] Nature of document must be determined by its contents and description of it given in plaint cannot change its character or legal effect. Letter offering to pay another's debt after certain period is only mere proposal which on acceptance by promisee would ripen into completed agreement. 1934 Lah 93 (94) [AIR V 21] (DB).

[2] It is a question of fact in each case whether a particular document is to be regarded as an acknowledgment or promise. 1959 Raj 156 (159) [AIR V 46 C 62] : ILR (1959) 9 Raj 362 (DB).

[3] A memorandum of what a person had orally promised to pay on a certain day and that he would pay that amount on certain day is not a promissory note. 1923 Mad 434 (434) [AIR V 10].

[4] Document running as follows:—"Received from you this day cheque . . . for Rs. . . . Amount would be repaid with interest. Principal amount will be paid with interest after ten months from this date."—Held, that document was not a promissory note, the document not being intended to be a negotiable instrument. 1938 P C 121 (123) [AIR V 25] : 32 Sind L R 462.

[5] Document reciting that it is receipt executed by two persons for certain amount at certain rate of interest for and on behalf of another person—Amount payable after two years. Stamps said to be duly affixed—Document signed by executants—Document held to be receipt and not promissory note even if coupled with promise to pay. 1936 P C 171 (174) [AIR V 23]: 63 Ind App 279: 17 Lah 557. (8 Cal 645, Overruled.)

[6] In order that document shall be promissory note within meaning of S. 4 it must be promissory note in form; it must in addition be intended by parties to be promissory note, it must be intended by parties to be negotiable and pass from hand to hand. Where document executed by person is merely acknowledgment in false name of lady, of state of account between her husband and executant and never intended to leave her custody or that of her husband, it is not promissory note and Art. 73, Limitation Act, does not apply. 1939 Sind 281 (286, 287) [AIR V 26]: ILR (1939) Kar 632 (DB).

[7] Where document purporting to be 'note on demand' recited that certain sum of money was due from defendant to plaintiff and thereafter recorded that as defendant was at that time unable to pay money, he agreed to pay interest specified in document—Held, that document was not promissory note but merely acknowledgment coupled with agreement to pay interest. 1931 All 302 (303) [AIR V 18] (DB).

[8] Debtor executed deed acknowledging that certain items of money mentioned therein had been borrowed and that executant had to repay them on demand—Held, that there was no promise to pay but only admission of liability to pay. Document was not, therefore, promissory note. 1938 All 619 (620) [AIR V 25].

[9] Mere use of words "I promise to pay" does not necessarily make instrument promissory note. Where the parties did not intend document to be negotiable instrument but purported to incorporate only the terms of an oral agreement, it is not a promissory note. 1941 Nag 1 (1) [AIR V 28]: ILR (1942) Nag 126. (It can be validated by levy of penalty if insufficiently stamped.)

[10] A promissory note written on a hundi paper and attested but not made payable to bearer or order is a bond falling within the purview of S. 2 (5) (b), Stamp Act. 1932 Lah 22 (23) [AIR V 19] (DB).

[11] A document executed by the debtor was as follows: "for making your account of the sarkat I will come on date 22-11-1936 to your place and will give (make the payment)". Held, that the document was not a promissory note as there was no promise that the money would be paid out of any particular fund, or upon any condition or contingency. The document operated as an acknowledgment of liability with a promise to pay the amount found due on taking accounts. 1947 Nag 145 (150) [AIR V 34 C 43]: ILR (1946) Nag 796 (DB).

[12] A clause in a promissory note that if the promisor fails to pay, he and his properties shall be liable for the principal, interest and all damages consequent on such default does not amount to an agreement making the liability of the promisor conditional. It merely shows what the consequence of non-payment on demand would be and does not qualify the operation of the note. The intention of the parties is to make a promissory note and not a bond or agreement. 1955 Trav-Co 141 (144) [AIR V 42 C 51]: ILR (1954) Trav-Co 1196 (DB).

[13] An entry in a khata, showing the balance due is only a receipt cannot be held to be a promissory note by the mere fact that there is an agreement as to interest or as to the manner of repayment. 1950 Ajmer 4 (4) [AIR V 37 C 4].

[14] A piece of paper which merely contains a signature, with the words Rs. 150 on a one anna stamp, cannot be taken to create any liability on the part of the signatory and is no evidence of any loan having been contracted and is certainly not a promissory note as defined by the Negotiable Instruments Act. There being no promise to pay and no acknowledgment of any liability, nor any admission of having borrowed, the paper cannot be treated as a document creating any liability in favour of the holder thereof. 1953 Orissa 104 (104) [AIR V 40 C 48].

12. Original cause of action, suit on.—

[1] When person lends money to another, former can always sue latter for money as for money lent, whether there is promissory note executed contemporaneously with loan or at any time thereafter on account of it. As between actual lender and actual borrower, promissory note is collateral security, and lender can therefore always sue on original consideration, disregarding security. Promissory note in such case contains express promise to repay which is implied in loan itself. There can be no question of merger of original consideration in promissory note so as to make promissory note only available cause of action. Where fresh promissory note is executed in lieu of old, novation, is of promissory note and not of loan. Liability under original loan is independent of promissory note and can no more be extinguished by execution of fresh promissory note than original debt can be by substitution of new security. 1945 Cal 268 (275) [AIR V 32] (DB).

[2] Loan independent and completed and before execution of promissory note—Promote found to be inadmissible owing to some defect—Creditor can sue on original consideration. 1937 Cal 241 (242, 243) [AIR V 24].

[3] Defendant denying execution and thumb mark not proved to be his—No proof of loan can be allowed aliunde. 1940 Lah 329 (331, 332) [AIR V 27].

[4] Promissory note executed for amount actually due on previous transactions but found to be manufactured and not genuine—Plaintiff, a paradanashin lady held entitled to fall back on original loan. 1938 All 504 (507) [AIR V 25]: ILR (1938) All 773 (DB).

[5] Promissory note understamped—Promissory note and transaction of loan taking place simultaneously—Promissory note held was mere collateral security—Suit on basis of original loan held was maintainable. 1953 All 535 (538) [AIR V 40 C 260] (DB).

5. "Bill of exchange."

A "bill of exchange" is an instrument in writing containing an unconditional order, signed by the maker, directing a certain person to pay a certain sum of money only to, or to the order of, a certain person or to the bearer of the instrument.

Section 4 — Note 12 (contd.)

[6] The defendant who owed a sum of Rs. 1,117 to the plaintiff on account of certain transactions with him, executed a pronote for Rs. 1,000 and sent it to the plaintiff towards the amount due to him as per the transactions. The plaintiff brought a suit for recovery of the amount due to him on the original transactions. The pronote did not show on the face of it that it was in discharge of the entire transactions between the plaintiff and the defendant on the footing of which the suit had been filed. On the other hand the pronote had been worded as if loan had been taken from the plaintiff by the defendant on that date and thus pronote had been executed on that account. Held that the original claim had not merged in the promissory note which was nothing more than an instrument of conditional payment without barring recourse to the original debt. Hence the suit on the original cause of action was maintainable. 1956 Mad 156 (157) [AIR V 43 C 43].

[7] Defendant executing hundi in favour of P on A — P endorsing hundi in favour of C and also naming P as drawee in case of dishonour by A — Dishonour by A and C receiving payment from P — P making payment to C and receiving back hundi — P transferring hundi to plaintiff — Suit by plaintiff is maintainable. 1959 Raj 84 (85) [AIR V 46 C 27]; ILR (1959) 9 Raj 177.

[8] Where A, who owes money to B on account of price of paddy supplied to him, gives to B a cheque for the amount due, to be presented at a certain bank on a certain date but the cheque is dishonoured by the bank on presentment after due date, then B can sue upon original consideration and get a decree for the recovery of that amount. 1954 Orissa 124 (125) [AIR V 41 C 36]; ILR (1954) Cut 46 (DB).

[9] When a promissory note is given by the borrower to the lender in connection with the loan either at the time when the loan is contracted or afterwards it becomes either a collateral security or a conditional payment according to the intention of the parties. In the former case, the lender is entitled to sue upon the original consideration independently of the security and without regard to any rights he may possess under the negotiable instrument. 1950 Pat 493 (497) [AIR V 37 C 126]; 29 Pat 668 (DB).

[10] For suits on promissory notes not stamped or insufficiently stamped see Stamp Act, S. 35.

13. Evidence and proof.—[1] Promissory note executed by deceased—Suit against legal representative—Execution by deceased denied and note alleged to be forgery—Validity and due execution of note must be proved with strictness. 1956 Rang 399 (400) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[2] Where plaintiff sues on hand-note written on one of leaves of his bahi, and hand-note is proved to be genuine, suit must be decreed. Question whether book is kept in regular course of business is immaterial. 1936 Pat 498 (498) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[3] If a promissory note is to replace the contract, or if the promissory note is only contract between the parties, the fact that the loan and the promissory note were not executed simultaneously will not make any difference and the promissory note will be the exclusive evidence of the contract; and if for any reason the note cannot be proved, the lender must lose his money. 1955 Sau 74 (77) [(S) AIR V 42 C 27] (DB).

[4] While a suit on a pronote is prima facie one on a negotiable instrument and not on the debt as such, the fact of its being a suit on the debt can be allowed to be made out on evidence. 1955 N U C (Orissa) 5690 [AIR V 42].

[5] Where the promissory note did not show in whose favour it was executed, the scribe was not examined, there were several blanks in the promissory note and no names were mentioned against the thumb impressions: Held that the document was not a genuine document and the suit could not be decreed on the basis of it. 1955 N U C (Ajmer) 4785 [AIR V 42].

[6] Promissory note or letter evidencing deposit — Letter by debtor to creditor — Letter held to be evidencing deposit and not pronote. 1955 NUC (Mad) 3942 [AIR V 42].

[7] A promissory note was as follows:— "I have at this time borrowed Rs. 300 . . . I shall pay you this amount . . . with interest at eight annas p.c. per mensem on demand and hence, therefore, within these few sentences by way of a stamped promissory note so that they may be of use in time of need." Held that the above expressions included all the substantial terms of the contract of loan and therefore, no oral evidence to prove the loan transaction was admissible. 1952 All 509 (509) [AIR V 39].

[8] Entry in A's khata showing that amount for which promissory note was written in favour of A by B was due by B to A — Promissory note is satisfactorily proved. (53) ILR (1953) Hyd 138 (140) (DB).

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] The Act deals only with promissory notes and bills of exchange and the distinction between these instruments is that in a promissory note the executant promises himself to pay, in a bill of exchange he directs another to pay. There are two parties to a promissory note and three to a bill of exchange. 1910 Nag 39 (39) [AIR V 6].

[2] The maker of promissory notes unconditionally undertakes to pay whereas the

A promise or order to pay is not "conditional", within the meaning of this section and section 4, by reason of the time for payment of the amount or any instalment thereof being expressed to be on the lapse of a certain period after the occurrence of a specified event which, according to the ordinary expectation of mankind, is certain to happen, although the time of its happening may be uncertain.

The sum payable may be "certain", within the meaning of this section and section 4, although it includes future interest or is payable at an indicated rate of exchange, or is according to the course of exchange, and although the instrument provides that, on default of payment of an instalment, the balance unpaid shall become due.

The person to whom it is clear that the direction is given or that payment is to be made may be a "certain person", within the meaning of this section and section 4, although he is mis-named or designated by description only.

maker of a bill of exchange or hundi gives an unconditional order directing a certain person other than himself to pay. The liability of the maker of a promissory note is absolute whereas the obligation of the drawer of a bill of exchange is conditional since he becomes surety for payment by drawee. The maker of the pronote becomes the principal debtor whereas the drawee of a bill of exchange on acceptance becomes the principal debtor as he accepts the primary liability to pay according to the tenor of the bill of exchange. It is only on drawee's failure to pay that the drawer would be liable as his surety. 1936 Nag 260 (262) [AIR V 23] : ILR (1939) Nag 601.

[3] There is nothing in S. 5 to show that if the drawer and drawee be the same person the instrument cannot be described as a bill of exchange. No doubt where drawer and drawee is the same person that person is not entitled to treat the instrument as a bill of exchange but the holder of the bill may treat it as a bill of exchange. 1930 Pat 239 (240) [AIR V 17] : 9 Pat 717 (DB).

[4] Although there is no provision in the Act specifically allowing post-dated cheques like S. 17 (2) of English Bill of Exchange Act of 1882, there is nothing forbidding them, and para 2 of S. 5 contemplates the making of a bill of exchange payable at a future date. 1942 Cal 562 (563) [AIR V 29] (DB).

[5] An instrument purporting to be a promissory note becomes a bill of exchange on acceptance of a third party, though the instrument is not addressed to him and he is not named as drawee, provided his acceptance is not inconsistent with the address. No party can be made liable as acceptor of bill addressed to another but where no party is named in the address, the acceptor may be deemed, by his endorsement of acceptance, to have admitted himself to be the party addressed. 1930 Cal 697 (699) [AIR V 17] : 57 Cal 695 (DB).

[6] A document written on a paper which was described as a "Hundi" in print was in the following form :—"Forty five days after date without grace we jointly and severally promise to pay to the order of J, the sum of one thousand rupees only for value received in cash and that with interest at 3 per cent per annum after due date." In the corner at the top was the endorsement "Accepted payable on the date 23rd September." Below this endorsement there were two signatures. It was held that the document was a bill of exchange. 1930 Cal 697 (698) [AIR V 17] : 57 Cal 695 (DB).

[7] A 'Shahjog' hundi does not technically fall within the definition of a bill of exchange. 1960 Punj 157 (159) [AIR V 47 C 53] (DB).

[8] A banker's draft is a bill drawn either on demand or otherwise by one bank on another in favour of third party or by one branch of a bank on another branch of the same bank or by the head office on a branch or vice versa. It is a bill of exchange. 1949 East Punj 373 (382) [AIR V 36 C 96].

[9] A banker's draft is a bill of exchange and as such it is a negotiable instrument. The issue of a draft is regarded in banking practice as a matter of purchase and ordinarily the relationship between the holder of a Demand Draft and the bank issuing it is that of debtor and creditor. 1956 Cal 615 (616) [50 AIR V 43 C 175] (DB).

[10] A demand draft is a bill of exchange drawn by a bank on another bank, or by itself on its own branch, and is a negotiable instrument not offending the Reserve Bank of India Act. It is very nearly allied to a cheque. 1951 Mad 910 (913) [AIR V 38 C 326] : ILR (1952) Mad 22 (DB).

[11] A demand draft issued by a bank on its branch or vice versa is not a cheque nor a bill of exchange. Demand draft may be a bill of exchange if it is drawn by one bank on another bank. 1948 Bom 1 (3) [AIR V 35 C 1] : ILR (1947) Bom 643.

[12] According to the definition of the term 'bill of exchange' a draft is a bill of exchange and if it is a bill of exchange it becomes a negotiable instrument as defined in S. 13 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. To remove all doubts on the point the Legislature added S. 85-A to the Act which makes a specific reference to drafts and brings them at par with bills of exchange. 1960 All 238 (240) [AIR V 47 C 53].

[13] An essential character of a bill of exchange is that it shall contain an order to accept or to pay and that acceptor should accept it. And in the absence of such a direction to pay, the document will not be a bill of

6. "Cheque."

A "cheque" is a bill of exchange drawn on a specified banker and not expressed to be payable otherwise than on demand.

7. "Drawer." "Drawee."

The maker of a bill of exchange or cheque is called the "drawer"; the person thereby directed to pay is called the "drawee".

"Drawee in case of need."

When in the bill or in any indorsement thereon the name of any person is given in addition to the drawee to be resorted to in case of need, such person is called a "drawee in case of need".

exchange or a hundi. 1955 Cal 562 (564) [AIR V 42 C 175]; ILR (1956) 2 Cal 318.

[14] A chitthy containing an unqualified promise by the drawer to pay a definite amount on a certain day cannot be called a hundi. 1950 Kutch 83 (84) [AIR V 37 C 65].

[15] Document ran as follows:—I agree to pay you or to your order on demand the sum of Rs. 10,000/- only being the amount my brother and I have agreed to pay you for bringing about the sale to the I. L. T. D. Company Ltd. of Guntur of our site in Guntur with interest thereon at 12 per cent. from this day till realisation—Held that party could not call in aid para 2 of S. 5 because time for payment was not postponed. 1959 Andh Pra 370 (373) [AIR V 46 C 107] (DB).

[16] A hundi payable at sight is a bill of exchange as defined in S. 5. 1953 Ajmer 34 (34) [AIR V 40 C 37].

[1] A cheque is a peculiar sort of instrument in many ways resembling a bill of exchange, but in some entirely different. In the ordinary course, it is never accepted, it is not intended for circulation, it is given for immediate payment, it is not entitled to days of grace. In addition, a cheque is presented for payment, whereas a bill in the first instance is presented for acceptance unless it is a bill on demand. A bill is dishonoured by non-acceptance, this is not so in the case of a cheque, because the holder of a cheque, as between himself and the drawer, has no right to require acceptance. (84) 9 Moo P C 46 (69, 70) + 1944 P C 58 (60) [AIR V 31]: 71 Ind App 124: I L R (1944) Kar (P C) 246.

[2] There is no provision in the Negotiable Instruments Act as to a post-dated instrument such as there is in the English Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, S. 13 (2). 1944 P C 58 (60) [AIR V 31]: 71 Ind App 124: I L R (1944) Kar (P C) 246.

[3] Cheque is Bill of Exchange drawn in special manner and negotiable. Mere fact that date of payment of cheque is postponed to future date does not make cheque payable "otherwise than on demand". It is payable on demand after due date. Consequently holder in due course of cheque without notice of any defect is entitled to payment from drawer. 1934 All 695 (695) [AIR V 21] + 1925 Cal 1007 (1009) [AIR V 12]: 52 Cal 677.

[4] In India post-dated cheque is admissible in evidence although it bears stamp representing duty payable in respect of cheque, and not ad valorem duty payable in respect of bill of exchange. 1925 Cal 1007 (1009) [AIR V 12]: 52 Cal 677.

[5] Post-dated cheques are as much negotiable as cheques for which payment is due immediately on presentation. (56) 1956-1 Mad L J 471 (472).

[6] Section 6 defines a cheque as a bill of exchange drawn on a specified banker and not expressed to be payable otherwise than on demand. The drawer must be certain, i.e., the person who enters into the contract should be pointed out with certainty and his signature should be obtained. Acceptance of an instrument not signed by the maker does not make it a good bill. 1957 Tripura 37 (42) [AIR V 44 C 14].

[7] A cheque is under the law a negotiable instrument. Its negotiability can be destroyed only if it is marked as "not negotiable" on its face; it is not destroyed by its simply being crossed whether generally or specially. 1952 All 590 (591) [AIR V 39]: I L R (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

[8] A demand draft issued by a bank on its branch or vice versa is not a cheque. 1948 Bom 1 (3) [AIR V 35 C 1]: I L R (1947) Bom 643.

[9] A draft is as much a bill of exchange as a cheque and there is hardly any difference between a dishonoured draft and a dishonoured cheque issued by a bank on itself. It is very nearly allied to a cheque and the difference between it and a cheque consists largely in two facts; firstly, that it can be drawn only by a bank on another bank and not by a private individual as in the case of cheques and secondly that it cannot be so easily countermanded as a cheque either by the person purchasing it or by the bank to which it is presented. 1957 Assam 133 (137) [(S) AIR V 44 C 34] (DB).

[10] A payment under a cheque relates back to the date of the cheque. So it is immaterial when a cheque is cashed. What is material is when the cheque was given and the payment is made and not when the cheque was cashed at the instance of the creditor. 1952 Bom 306 (309) [AIR V 39]: I L R (1953) Bom 81 (DB).

Section 7 — Note 1

[1] Throughout the Act, a clear distinction has been made between the words "maker" and "drawer", the former word being used in a more general sense as applying to promissory notes, negotiable instruments and cheques,

"Acceptor."

After the drawee of a bill has signed his assent upon the bill, or, if there are more parts thereof than one, upon one of such parts, and delivered the same, or given notice of such signing to the holder or to some person on his behalf, he is called the "acceptor".

"Acceptor for honour."

*[When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-acceptance or for better security,] and any person accepts it supra protest for honour of the drawer or of any one of the indorsers, such person is called an "acceptor for honour".

"Payee".

The person named in the instrument, to whom or to whose order the money is by the instrument directed to be paid, is called the "payee".

[a] Substituted for the words "When acceptance is refused and the bill is protested for non-acceptance" by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 2.

Section 7 — Note 1 (contd.)

while the word "drawer" is restricted to bills of exchange or cheques only and is nowhere used in connection with promissory notes. 1937 Lah 259 (260) [AIR V 24] : ILR (1937) Lah 580 (DB). (AIR 1935 Lah 153, Dissented from.) * 1937 Lah 892 (893) [AIR V 24] (DB). (AIR 1935 Lah 153, Dissented from.)

[2] Person named as drawee cannot substitute third person as drawee. ('09) 1909 Pun Re No. 71 p. 230 (235, 236) (DB).

[3] In the case of a cheque, acceptance is not necessary to create a liability to pay as between the drawer and drawee bank. But there is no objection to the acceptance of a cheque if the holder likes to take it in lieu of payment. On special and unusual occasions, bankers do accept cheques drawn on themselves, but such acceptance would require strong and unmistakable words. 1944 P C 58 (60, 61) [AIR V 31] : 71 Ind App 124 : ILR (1944) Kar (PC) 246. (Dictum in Robson v. Bennet (1810) 2 Taunt 388 (396), Dissented from.)

[4] Certification or making of a post-dated cheque by the drawer bank with words "marked good for payment" is not an acceptance within the meaning of the English Bills of Exchange Act, 1882, or the Indian Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, or the Common Law. There is no custom in Calcutta to identify certification with acceptance. Even if the certification is construed according to its terms, as a contract to pay, the certification of a post-dated cheque, no custom being established, cannot be regarded as an enforceable contract. For this, there should be a privity of contract. Nor can it be construed as an estoppel entitling the holder in due course to found his claim because the presentation, if any, relates to the future. 1944 P C 58 (63, 64) [AIR V 31] : 71 Ind App 124 : ILR (1944) Kar (PC) 246. (AIR 1942 Cal 562, Reversed.)

[5] There cannot be, apart from any mercantile usage, an oral acceptance of the hundi, much less an acceptance by conduct, where at least no question of estoppel arises. Hence the mere fact of possession of a bill by the drawee is not sufficient to constitute valid acceptance. 1954 S C 554 (557) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503* 1919 Lah 85 (87) [AIR V 6] : 1919 Pun Re No. 29 (DB)* 1924

All 129 (130) [AIR V 11]. (Such local custom must be specifically set up and proved by evidence.)* 1930 Lah 471 (471) [AIR V 17] (DB). (Oral acceptance of bill does not make so called acceptor liable to holder of bill.)* 1933 Nag 389 (390) [AIR V 20]. (There is no usage in Bombay recognising oral acceptance.) [See also 1947 Sind 140 (141) [AIR V 34 C 49] : ILR (1946) Kar 355 (DB). (Shibhog hundi is not a negotiable instrument within S. 13 of Act — No written acceptance necessary — Can be accepted orally under local usage.)]

[6] Mere writing of figures on hundi cannot amount to signing of assent by drawee unless it can be proved that it amounted to acceptance according to mercantile usage of locality. 1930 Lah 471 (472) [AIR V 17] (DB)* 1932 Lah 274 (275) [AIR V 19] : 13 Lah 51 (DB).

[7] What is requisite for fixing the drawee with liability under S. 32 is the acceptance by him of the instrument and not an acknowledgment of liability. As the law prescribes no particular form for acceptance, there should be no difficulty in construing an acknowledgment as an acceptance but then, it must satisfy the requirements of S. 7, and must appear on the bill and be signed by the drawee. 1954 S C 554 (557) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503. (Assuming that a plea of discharge of a hundi implies an acknowledgment of liability thereunder that is not sufficient to fix the liability on the drawee under S. 32 when the acknowledgment is neither in writing nor signed by him.)

[8] Where hundi has been dishonoured and returned but conditional payment is made, there is custom that amount paid should be refunded unless hundi is again presented within 4 days. 1933 Nag 389 (390) [AIR V 20].

[9] Where payee signs his name and makes it payable to some other person, that other person does not become payee within meaning of S. 85. 1928 Bom 262 (264) [AIR V 13] : 50 Bom 118.

[10] A sale deed which created a trust in favour of a certain community was executed in favour of three persons as wahiwardars and karindas of that community. Two of the wahiwardars acting for and on behalf of the community were payees under a promissory

8. "Holder."

The "holder" of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque means any person entitled in his own name to the possession thereof and to receive or recover the amount due thereon from the parties thereto.

Where the note, bill or cheque is lost or destroyed, its holder is the person so entitled at the time of such loss or destruction.

Section 7 — Note 1 (contd.)

note the consideration for which came out of the trust. In a suit upon the promissory note by the sole living wahiwardar: Held that the plaintiff was a trustee of the trust and not an agent of the community, that a trustee can be a payee and since the plaintiff was named in the promissory note he was a payee within the meaning of S. 7 and there was no uncertainty in the matter and that, therefore, the plaintiff had a right of suit. 1948 Nag 60 (62) [AIR V 55 C 21]; I.L.R. (1947) Nag 402 (DB).

[11] Joint payees were recognised even before amendment in 1914 of the Negotiable Instruments Act 1881, but not payees in alternative. 1921 Mad 122 (123) [AIR V 8 (DB)].

[12] A promissory note was executed to K.S. A.V. Rammah Raj and firm which was carrying on business under style of K.S. A.V. — Held, in accordance with usage prevailing in Burma and India among Nattukottai Chettars by which Chettiar firm described generally by initials of firm prefixed to name of partner and agent, that firm was payee under note and appellant who was sole proprietor of it could sue on it. 1935 Rang 81 (82) [AIR V 22; 13 Rang 87 (DB)].

SECTION 5 — SYNOPSIS

1. "Person entitled in his own name."
2. Benamidars and beneficiaries.
3. Joint Hindu family.
4. Transferees and assignees.

1. "Person entitled in his own name."—

[1] Words "in his own name" in S. 5 do not and cannot mean personal name of person and any class of assumed trade name would also fall within these words. 1940 Bom 164 (165) [AIR V 27; I.L.R. (1940) Bom 153 (DB) + 1951 Hyd 79 (2) (Pr 8) [AIR V 38 C 51]; I.L.R. (1951) Hyd 448 (DB). (The Court entitled to look into the evidence alimunde and surrounding circumstances to discover the capacity of the endorser.)

[2] Where a promissory note is executed in favour of joint Hindu family firm, a suit on such promote can be brought by all the individual members who comprised the firm at the time of the execution of the promote. Such members can be said to be the holders of the note or holders in due course under Ss. 8 and 9. 1939 Bom 147 (148, 149) [AIR V 26].

[3] In relation to a promote not payable to bearer, "person entitled in his own name" can only mean the person named in the note, that is the payee or the endorsee. 1928 Nag 54

(55) [AIR V 15 + 1930 Mad 197 (199) [AIR V 17].

[4] Promote endorsed in blank is payable to bearer who is the "holder" of the note. 1928 Mad 1238 (1243) [AIR V 15 (DB)].

[5] Reading Ss. 8 and 78 together it is clear that the person to whom payment should be made in order to discharge the maker or the acceptor from all liability under the instrument is the holder of the instrument or his accredited agent such as a banker acting as an agent for collection. The holder of a promote is the person who is entitled in his own name. The true "holder" does not include a person who though in possession of the instrument has not the right to recover the amount due thereon from the parties thereto. 1947 All 52 (53, 54) [AIR V 34 C 28]; I.L.R. (1947) All 311 (DB) + 1920 Upp Bur 48 (48) [AIR V 7]; 3 Upp Bur Rul 200.

[6] Where the holder has paid consideration for the note he can recover the amount due on it even if it is originally made without consideration. 1935 Oudh 264 (264) [AIR V 22]; 10 Luck 732 (See also S. 45) + 1939 Oudh 107 (108) [AIR V 26; 14 Luck 438 (DB)].

[7] Promote in favour of agent — Principal can sue on it without assignment. 1925 Mad 1130 (1131) [AIR V 12 (DB)].

[8] Surety for payee of promissory note in respect of different transaction without making any payment of money, is not holder in due course of promissory note through endorsement to him by payee. (12) 14 Ind Cas 813 (813) (Low Bur).

[9] In case of promissory note made payable to two or more persons, word "holder" means all payees and not one who may be in possession of it. 1937 Rang 227 (229) [AIR V 24]; 1937 Rang L.R. 1 (DB).

[10] Son lending father's money with his consent and obtaining promote in his name is holder of that promote. 1920 Upp Bur 38 (39) [AIR V 7]; 3 Upp Bur Rul 204.

[11] Son cannot sue on promote in favour of his father who has renounced the world. 1954 Bom 585 (587) [AIR V 21; 58 Bom 538 (DB)].

[12] Suit on negotiable instrument by a single heir of the promisee is not maintainable. (20) 12 Mad L.W. 532 (533).

[13] Insolvent can sue on promote in his favour, if Official Assignee does not object. (12) 6 Low Bur Rul 174 (175) (DB).

[14] A borrowing from D branch of Y Bank — Document executed in favour of managing agents — Endorsement of note by Bank in favour of plaintiff — Plaintiff suing on it — Bank and A made defendants — Held the fact that document was executed in favour of managing agent did not mean that managing agents were holders of promissory note and the plaintiff entitled to sue on note. 1939 Cal 256 (257) [AIR V 26].

Section 8 — Note 1 (contd.)

[15] Common manager appointed for an estate under S. 301, Succession Act by an order of Court, can sue on a promissory note for a debt due to the estate although the note has not been endorsed and delivered to him. 1941 Pat 403 (404) [AIR V 28].

2. Benamidars and beneficiaries. — [1] Benamidar is holder, and is entitled to sue. His allegation in plaint that he was holder for value cannot deprive him of his right to recover on instrument. 1930 Rang 243 (244) [AIR V 17] (DB).

[2] Promissory note executed in favour of the benamidar—Promisor cannot allege that holder of the note is not beneficial owner—Holder of the Note alone whose name appears on it has a right to sue on the hand-note—Beneficial owner cannot sue on a hand-note. 1937 Pat 100 (102) [AIR V 24] : 16 Pat 74 (FB). (The application of the doctrine of benami transactions to negotiable instruments would introduce an element of uncertainty into them and hamper commerce.)

[4] Right to institute suit on negotiable instrument does not vest merely in holder—Beneficiary or true owner has right to sue—Holder is necessary party—Suit by holder on her own behalf and on behalf of minor sons who are owners of debt due under promissory note is competent. 1956 Raj 174 (Pr 10) [AIR V 43 C 55] : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 698 (DB).

[5] Benami transactions are not recognised in connection with negotiable instruments—Parties to negotiable instrument cannot show that they acted benami through others. 1949 Nag 21 (Paras 11, 12) [AIR V 36 C 14] : ILR (1948) Nag 299 (DB).

[6] Hundi—Suit by undisclosed principal of payee of hundi on original transaction—Benamidar holder who has not given valid discharge not impleaded as party—Suit not maintainable. 1949 Nag 21 (Prs 14, 15) [AIR V 36 C 14] : ILR (1948) Nag 299 (DB).

[7] In a suit on a hand-note it is not open to the defendant to plead that the holder of the note, namely the payee, is not the person entitled to recover on it and the defence that payments have been made to some one who is not the payee cannot be taken into consideration. 1940 Pat 377 (379) [AIR V 27] : 19 Pat 404 (DB) * 1927 All 463 (463) [AIR V 14] : 49 All 457 * 1931 Cal 387 (389) [AIR V 18] : 58 Cal

[8] Suit by A against B and C, claiming decree against B as executant of promissory note—Claim against C in the alternative that A handed over promote to C for collection and that if C collected the amount from B the decree should be passed against C for the amount.—B and C setting up plea that A was benamidar and that since payment was made to C who was the beneficial owner thereof, the suit should be dismissed—Held that although it was not open to the promisor to contend that some one other than payee on the face of the pro-note was the real owner, the question as to who was entitled to the money could be gone into, in view of the fact that C had been impleaded as party. 1957 Mad 573 (Pr 6) [AIR V 44 C 168] (DB).

[9] As between the payee and third persons, parol evidence is admissible to show that payee is only a benamidar for another. Hence, a suit for declaration that a promissory note under which B is the payee is liable to be attached in execution of a decree against A on ground that the note is taken benami in the name of B for A, is maintainable. 1935 Mad 181 (182, 183) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 693 (FB).

[10] A plea of benami is only a plea in the nature of a resulting trust and a payee, who is in the position of a trustee cannot insist that the beneficiary should be precluded from proving that the payee is only a trustee. 1935 Mad 181 (183) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 693 (FB).

[11] A suit by the sons of a holder of a promissory note who had suddenly disappeared but who is not proved to be civilly dead, for the recovery of the amount due would not be maintainable. (50) 1950 All L Jour 610 (615).

[12] The maker of a promissory note can obtain the discharge of a debt by payment to the holder alone and to none else though the holder is a benamidar. A person, who is not the holder of the promissory note cannot maintain a suit for the recovery of the amount due thereon even though the holder is admittedly the benamidar and is impleaded in the suit. 1950 Pat 493 (Prs 1, 5, 13) [AIR V 37 C 126] : 29 Pat 668 (DB).

3. Joint Hindu family.—[1] Coparcenary can be described as holder of note if it was made in its collective or business name. 1940

9. "Holder in due course."

"Holder in due course" means any person who for consideration became the possessor of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque if payable to bearer, or the payee or indorsee thereof, if "[payable to order,] before the amount mentioned in it became payable, and without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title.

[a] Substituted for "payable to, or to the order of, a payee," by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 1919 (VIII of 1919), S. 2.

[2] Pronote in favour of joint family firm. Members comprising firm at the time of execution of pronote are holders of note. 1939 Bom 147 (148, 149) [AIR V 26].

[3] No one can have an interest in a pronote by birth or by being a member of coparcenary. A pronote unlike a debt devolves by succession and by survivorship, and the heirs of a deceased holder may recover on the note as his legal representatives after obtaining a succession certificate. 1938 Bom 451 (453) [A I R V 25] (DB).

[3] The right of suit on a promissory note vests in the person who can give a valid discharge to its maker or acceptor. Right of the person entitled to the money to institute the suit is irrespective of any indorsement in the document in his favour and is recognised on the basis of the vesting of the ownership of the money in the plaintiff in the absence of a holder. 1952 All 245 (Pr 3, 14) [A I R V 39] : 1 L R (1952) 2 All 178 (FB). [4] Where on the partition of a joint Hindu family a debt evidenced by a pronote falls to the share of a member, his right to sue is not dependent upon either an endorsement or an assignment under S. 130 of the Transfer of Property Act and the suit is to be regarded

SECTION 9 — SYNOPSIS

1. Holder in due course.
2. Consideration.
3. Before the amount became payable.
4. Defects in title.
5. Fraud.
6. Forged endorsement.

Section 9 (contd.)

1. Holder in due course.—[1] To constitute a person a holder in due course it is necessary that (1) he must be a holder for consideration (2) the instrument must have been transferred to him before it became payable, and (3) he must be a transferee in good faith. 1923 Lah 638 (640) [AIR V 10] (DB).

[2] Under S. 9, in order to be a holder in due course three conditions are necessary, viz.—(1) that the endorsee becomes the holder in due course when it is for consideration; (2) he can be an indorsee before the amount mentioned in the promissory note became payable; and (3) without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title. 1957 Orissa 153 (155) [AIR V 44 C 42] : 1 L R (1957) Cut 101.

[3] Unless a person proves that he is a holder in due course within the meaning of S. 9, he cannot have any higher or superior rights against the drawer than the intermediate holders themselves would have. 1930 Mad 141 (145) [AIR V 17].

[4] Suit on pro-note—Defendant admitting that some amount is due—Plaintiff, whether he sues as holder or as holder in due course is entitled to recover same. 1940 Rang 170 (171) [AIR V 27].

[5] A person cannot sue upon a promissory note which has not been endorsed to him. 1917 Mad 512 (512) [A I R V 4] : 59 Mad 987 (FB).

[6] When negotiable instrument is handed over by debtor to his creditor in discharge of pre-existing debt creditor becomes holder in due course. (13) 15 Bom L R 333 (338).

[7] Where in partition a promissory-note is simply allotted to a person but which note never comes into his possession, and the note is payable to a third person and not to bearer, the former person cannot be a holder in due course; that being so, he cannot make his assignees by a release deed holders in due course. 1950 Mad 197 (199) [AIR V 17].

[8] The question whether the consideration for a negotiable instrument is adequate or not cannot be the subject-matter of controversy in the suit when once it is admitted that the negotiable instrument had been executed by the defendant and there was some consideration for it. 1955 Mad 43 (44) [(S) A I R V 42 C 9] (DB).

[9] A bank which credits the customer with the amount of a cheque as soon as it paid in to his credit is usually in the position of a holder in due course of the cheque and collects the same not for the customer, but for itself. 1927 Lah 577 (578) [A I R V 14] : 8 Lah 702 (DB) * (34) 1934 Mad W N 1306 (1307).

[10] In a suit by a holder in due course it is not permissible to go outside the note. 1942 Mad 468 (469) [AIR V 29].

[11] Where an endorsee of a promissory-note sues on the note and it is found that he is a holder in due course, evidence to prove the defence that the note has been discharged prior to the endorsement is not admissible. But if he is a mere holder he is affected by any prior equities and the promisor defendant must be allowed to adduce proof of satisfaction of the note. 1935 Rang 156 (157) [A I R V 22].

[12] A person in whose favour a post-dated cheque has been endorsed for valuable consideration long before the due date for payment is a holder in due course, when he has no notice of any arrangement between the drawer and the endorser that the cheque should be presented only after all goods ordered for had been delivered to the drawer. (56) 1956-1 Mad L Jour 471 (472) * 1956 Bom 618 (623) [AIR V 43 C 247].

[13] Where however a post-dated cheque is drawn by a partner in his own favour and then is endorsed for consideration in favour of a third party who is aware of the fact that the post-dated cheque has in fact been drawn by such partner in his own favour, this factor should make the third party more diligent in the matter of making some further and independent inquiries about this cheque. If he neglects to do so, he cannot claim to be holder in due course. 1956 Bom 618 (623) [A I R V 43 C 247].

[14] It is only a person who comes into possession of a negotiable instrument having paid consideration for it and being a bona fide transferee that can be a holder in due course within the meaning of S. 9. Section 9 implies and contemplates that there must be a negotiation or a transfer to the holder in due course by someone who had the authority to transfer or negotiate the negotiable instrument. The transfer and the negotiation must be of a negotiable instrument, not the transfer of an inchoate document which is not a negotiable instrument at all under the Act. 1953 Bom 290 (291) [A I R V 40 C 91] : 1 L R 1953 Bom 717 (DB).

[15] A drew a cheque on B in favour of C on 20-3-1945. C presented the cheque to B for payment on 21-3-1945 but it was returned with the endorsement that it would be honoured after collection of drawer's assets. C then negotiated the cheque with the plaintiff bank and received bill payment. The plaintiff then presented the cheque to B on 26-5-1945 but it was dishonoured on ground that the payment had been stopped by the drawer. The plaintiff thereupon sued A and C for recovery of the amount of the dishonoured cheque. Held, that the plaintiff was the holder in due course when the cheque was subsequently dishonoured on 26-5-1945. 1951 Assam 127 (128) [AIR V 38 C 60] (DB).

[16] Loan advanced on hand note by unregistered money-lender—Suit for recovery of loan—Suit is barred under Bihar Money-lenders Act (VII of 1939)—Fact that endorsee of note is holder in due course will not affect position. 1953 Pat 140 (142) [AIR V 40 C 45] : 31 Pat 484 (DB).

[17] A had executed in favour of bank B a hand note which was found to be as a collateral security for overdrawals on his current account. C who had some fixed deposit with B, in partial discharge of it, accepted transfer of that hand note. In a suit brought by him to recover the amount after the bank had gone into liquidation, it was found that the amount due under the handnote was paid by A to B under receipts. The payments were also noted in current accounts: Ibid., that the liability of A had been fully discharged and that there was no necessity to endorse the payments on the handnote itself as the payments were made into the Current Account. The contention that C must be deemed to be a holder in due course because the handnote did not contain any endorsement or because it was left in the custody of B even though the liability under it had been discharged was untenable. 1956 Orissa 85 (86) (AIR V 13 C 25) (DB).

[18] A cheque expressed as payable to a particular person is a cheque payable to order as stated in Explanation 1 to S. 13. If of the Negotiable Instruments Act; and when such payee endorses it in blank it becomes payable to bearer according to Explanation 2 to S. 13. When a Bank purchases such a cheque for cash and makes a credit entry in its accounts of the payee, the Bank becomes "a holder in due course" as defined in S. 9, and it does not become merely a collecting agent. 1951 Pat 621 (622) (AIR V 38 C 177); 56 Pat 703 (DB).

[19] A promissory note payable on demand can be endorsed to a person who will be a holder in due course until demand is made for payment of the sum due under the note. 1951 Cal 55 (61) (AIR V 35 C 19); 111 R 195231 Cal 375 (DB).

2. Consideration. (1) The term "holder in due course" as defined in S. 9 means person who gives consideration. Therefore where the plaintiff institutes a suit on a pro-note as a holder in due course, the presumption under S. 118 (2) is that he has given valuable consideration and the burden of proving the contrary is on the defendant. 1940 Rang 170 (171) (AIR V 27).

(2) Where there is no consideration either for the pro-note or for the transfer the endorsee is not a holder in due course. 109 Mad L. Tim 463 (464).

(3) An on demand promissory note is endorsed by payee to A who stood surety for him with one B. No suit filed by B nor any payment made as surety prior to endorsement. Held A was not a holder in due course as there was no further consideration and mere renewal of undertaking to pay debt for which he was already surety would be no consideration. (12) 14 Ind Cas 815 (813) (Low Bur).

(4) A person holding a bill of exchange sent to him for collection with a lien on the bill is a holder for value or consideration. 1925 Bom 369 (370) (AIR V 121; 49 Bom 270).

(5) Bill of exchange transferred by maker to first holder for consideration which is not lawful—Subsequent holder not aware of taint affecting instrument becomes holder in due course and can sue maker. (13) 15 Bom L R 353 (329).

3. Before the amount became payable.

(1) Section 9 makes a person who has paid consideration a holder in due course if he became the possessor of the note before the amount mentioned on it became payable. The language is not "before the amount was paid." 1917 Mad 886 (887) (AIR V 4).

(2) A promissory note payable on demand does not for the purposes of S. 9 become payable until a demand is actually made, and if there is no evidence to show that the transfer of the note was made after the demand, it is a perfectly valid transfer. 1923 Lah 638 (639, 640) (AIR V 10); (DB) + 1940 Mad 631 (632) (AIR V 27); 111 R 19403 Mad 382 (DB) + 1938 Mad 911 (912) (AIR V 25).

(3) Promissory note payable on demand assigned. Time between its execution and assignment very short. Promissory note cannot be considered to have matured on date on which it is assigned and assignee is holder in due course. 1938 Mad 911 (913) (AIR V 25).

(4) Where a note payable on demand is negotiated, it is not deemed to be overdue for the purpose of affecting the holder with defects of title of which he had no notice, by reason that it appears that a reasonable time for presenting it for payment has elapsed since its issue. 1921 Cal 302 (303) (AIR V 8); 47 Cal 861 (DB).

(5) Where an endorser of a promissory note payable on demand is not aware that the promissory note has been discharged or that any demand was made, he must be deemed to be a holder in due course, even if as a matter of fact the endorsement in his favour was made after the discharge. 1936 Mad 879 (880) (AIR V 23).

(6) Where a maker of a promissory note payable on demand has, before there being any demand made by the payee, paid the amount without asking for the return of the promissory note, and the note is endorsed by the payee to a third person without latter's knowledge of the fact of payment, the endorsee is entitled as holder in due course, to sue the maker of the promissory note. 1940 Mad 631 (632, 633) (AIR V 27); 111 R 19403 Mad 382 (DB) (AIR 1935 Mad 300, Overruled).

4. Defects in title. (1) Endorsee aware of defect in title is not holder in due course. 1923 Mad 517 (519) (AIR V 10); 46 Mad 415 (DB) + 1930 Mad 141 (143) (AIR V 17).

(2) Where the endorsee has no sufficient cause to believe that there was any defect in the title of the person from whom he derived his title, he is a holder in due course and the presumption in S. 118 will be in favour of the endorsee. 1924 Pat 521 (522) (AIR V 11) + 1958 Mys 126 (128) (AIR V 45 C 31); 111 R 19577 Mys 35 + 1978 Bom 018 (622) (AIR V 43 C 247).

(3) The provision in S. 9 that the person must have become possessor of a cheque "without having sufficient cause to believe" is more favourable to the person who claims to have become holder in due course than the words "acting bona fide". His claim would be defeated only if it is found that there was sufficient cause for him to believe that a defect existed. If he fails to prove bona fides or absence of negligence, it would not negative his claim. There must be evidence of positive circumstances on account of which he ought to have believed that some defect existed. Where therefore a banker comes into possession of a bearer crossed cheque on payment, without having any reason to suspect the title of the endorsee thereof, his act does not amount to negligence and even if it amounts it does not matter and the banker becomes the holder in due course under S. 9. 1952 All 590 (593) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

[4] Where the plaintiff took a stale cheque in good faith for consideration without notice of dishonour and without having any reason to believe that there was any defect in the title of his transfer or who, however, was not a holder for value and the endorsement to him was fictitious, held that the plaintiff could not be regarded, as a holder in due course and his claim against the drawer must fail. 1928 All 68 (71) [AIR V 15] : 50 All 309 (DB).

[5] A person who takes an instrument evidencing a transaction which excites the suspicion that there is something wrong in the transaction does not act in good faith if he shuts his eyes to the facts presented to him and puts the suspicions aside without further inquiry and is, therefore, not a holder in due course. 1919 Low Bur 79 (81) [AIR V 6].

[6] Endorsement of a promissory note by the guardian without an indication that the guardian has endorsed it in his capacity as a guardian does not pass title to the endorsee who, therefore, is not a holder, and has no locus standi to sue on the pronote. 1924 Mad 617 (617) [AIR V 11].

[7] Where a payee of a promissory note executed by A and B agrees to hold A alone liable and relinquishes his claim as against B, an assignee of the note taking it with the knowledge of this arrangement, acquires no better title than what the assignor had, and is not entitled to a decree against B also. The assignee is not a holder in due course. 1938 Mad 599 (600, 601) [AIR V 25].

[8] Where in a suit based on a pronote executed in favour of a proprietor of a chit-fund and on his insolvency assigned to the plaintiff the assignee knew at the time he got the assignment that the insolvent was running the 'Fund' and the defendant was having dealings with the insolvent; and he also knew the circumstances under which the said pronote was executed. Held that he was not a holder in due course. 1958 Mys 126 (128) [AIR V 45 C 31] : ILR (1957) Mys 333.

[9] A was the general agent of B and had a power of attorney duly executed by B in his favour and full authority had been given to A to negotiate the sale of the property of B and to receive the consideration. The property was sold to C. Held that A was perfectly entitled to receive the consideration payable by C in respect of the property sold by B to him and the mere fact that A was ultimately accountable for the money to his principal would not amount to a defect in his title to recover the money under the cheque drawn by C. 1955 NUC (All) 1699 [AIR V 42].

5. Fraud. — [1] Negotiable instrument obtained by fraud and endorsed to holder — No presumption of holder being holder in due course—Holder has to prove that he is holder for value and that he obtained instrument before it became payable and without having cause to suspect endorser's title. 1928 Mad 1238 (1241) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[2] Where the plaintiff establishes the fact that a negotiable instrument was obtained from its lawful owner by means of fraud, the onus of proving that a third party was a holder in due course lies on the defendant. (1909) 36 Cal 239 (250).

[3] The endorsee of an overdue bill or promissory note does not take it subject to claims arising out of collateral matters such as a set-off, and the endorsement of an overdue bill in order to defeat a prospective claim on a set-off would not amount to a fraud. The only circumstance in which the transferee of an overdue bill would be fixed with liability to allow a set-off in respect of a claim due from the transferor is the circumstance which would justify an inference of an agreement to set off by both parties of which the transferee has notice. 1942 Mad 30 (30, 31) [AIR V 29].

[4] A plaintiff cannot be said to be a holder in due course if it can be proved that to his knowledge there was a defect in the drafts which came into his possession and this can only be proved by evidence. 1952 Punj 298 (297) [AIR V 39] (DB).

[5] Where an incomplete instrument, such as a promissory note, in which the name of the payee is left blank is signed by A and delivered to B and subsequently A pays the amount due on the note to B and thereafter B in collusion with his brother C and with his full knowledge that the instrument had been discharged inserts the name of the latter in the blank there and completes the instrument. A will not be liable on the instrument to C who cannot be said to be a holder in due course. 1954 Mad 532 (534) [AIR V 41 C 198].

[6] Where one of the partners who had authority to endorse partnership cheques, indorses them but pays it in non-partnership account and is thus guilty of conversion and the bank collects the money in spite of its doubt and superficial inquiry the bank is not a holder in due course and the burden of proving that the value is given is on the bank. (1955) 1955-2 All E R 571 (582).

[7] Where fraud has, in fact been alleged in a case it cannot be said that the defendants have no defence whatsoever and that they should not be given an opportunity of establishing the allegation of fraud. 1952 Punj 298 (297) [AIR V 39] (DB).

6. Forged endorsement. — [1] A forged endorsement is a nullity and consequently there is no question of a subsequent holder being a holder in due course. 1928 Bom 436 (439) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 810 (DB) + (1909) 36 Cal 239 (250) + 1921 Sind 172 (174) [AIR V 8] : 15 Sind L R 93.

10. "Payment in due course."

"Payment in due course" means payment in accordance with the apparent tenor of the instrument in good faith and without negligence to any person in possession thereof under circumstances which do not afford a reasonable ground for believing that he is not entitled to receive payment of the amount therein mentioned.

11. Inland instrument.

A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque drawn or made in *[India], and made payable in, or drawn upon any person resident in, *[India] shall be deemed to be an inland instrument.

[a] Substituted for "a State" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1957 (XXXVI of 1957), S. 3 and Sch. II [17-9-1957].

12. Foreign instrument.

Any such instrument not so drawn, made or made payable shall be deemed to be a foreign instrument.

Section 9 — Note 6 (contd.)

[2] A entrusting B with certain debentures of C company transferable by endorsement for collecting interest—B by forged endorsements in his own favour pledging them with D bank to secure his indebtedness—D bank surrendering debentures to C company in exchange of new debenture issued in their name. Original securities being cancelled and retained by C company—B transferring his loan account to M bank and D bank endorsing new instruments over to M bank—M bank held was holder in due course and, therefore, A had no right of action against it. 1932 P.C. 22 (24) [AIR V 19] : 58 Ind App 433 : 56 Bom 1 (24 Bom 65, Overruled) + 1928 Bom 407 (410) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 792 (DB).

[3] Plaintiff entrusting port trust debentures to defendant 1—Forging of instruments by him to defendant 2 for securing advances—Debentures renewed by defendant 2 for same amounts in his name—New debentures referring to fact of renewal—Subsequent loans by defendant 1 from defendant 5 to pay off defendant 2—Defendant 2 endorsing debentures in favour of defendant 5. Plaintiff cannot recover debentures from defendant 5. 1928 Bom 434 (435) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 807 (DB).

Section 10 — Note 1

[1] Bank issuing draft drawn on its branch for payment of certain sum to H and G and endorsed in blank by them—H appearing alone at branch and presenting draft for payment—Branch manager not knowing H but paying amount on identification of H by L and H guaranteeing G's signature—Branch manager not taking steps to see whether G's signature was genuine—Payment held not in due course. 1928 Lah 520 (522) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[2] Ordinarily a bank cannot stop payment of draft unless there is some doubt as to the identity of the person presenting it as being or properly representing the person in whose favour it is drawn. The purchaser of a draft is not entitled to ask the issuing bank to stop payment on grounds such as matters relating to consideration in respect of which the draft has been issued at his instance for this would often put the bank in an impossible position. Where the bank made careful enquiries about the nature of endorsements and there could in fact be no doubt that the draft was properly presented on behalf of the person in whose favour it had been drawn, the bank cannot be said to have been negligent or to have had reasonable grounds for supposing that the person presenting the draft was not entitled to receive payment of the amount mentioned therein. The bank therefore would be discharged under Ss. 85A and 10. 1945 Lah 213 (214, 215) [AIR V 32] (DB).

[3] A payment made without good faith and in negligence is not a due payment within S. 10. 1954 Mad 1001 (1005) [AIR V 41 C 344].

[4] A had several accounts with bank B. The parties also had an agreement to extend overdraft to A. A requested for an overdraft but the bank expressed its inability to allow more than Rs. 70,000/-. Subsequently A drew a cheque for Rs. 258/- and sent it by post to the payee who did not receive it. It was altered into a cheque for Rs. 2,34,081/- by another person and its payment was collected through a bank. In suit by A against B for declaration that A was wrongly debited with the amount it was held that as the cheque on the face of it did not disclose any traces of alterations at the time it was presented for encashment the payment made by B bank was payment in due course and was according to the apparent tenor of the cheque. 1958 Cal 399 (403) [5] AIR V 47 C 122].

[5] Sections 10, 82 (c) and 85 (2) can only apply to a negotiable instrument, that is, to payment of an instrument which mentions an amount payable and which falls within the definition of a negotiable instrument. They cannot have any application to the case of a telegraphic transfer. (60) 1960-1 Mad L Jour 187 (193) (DB).

13. "Negotiable instrument."

"(1) A "negotiable instrument" means a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable either to order or to bearer.

Explanation (i). — A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is payable to order which is expressed to be so payable or which is expressed to be payable to a particular person, and does not contain words prohibiting transfer or indicating an intention that it shall not be transferable.

Explanation (ii). — A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is payable to bearer which is expressed to be so payable or on which the only or last indorsement is an indorsement in blank.

Explanation (iii). — Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque either originally or by indorsement, is expressed to be payable to the order of a specified person, and not to him or his order, it is nevertheless payable to him or his order at his option.]

"(2) A negotiable instrument may be made payable to two or more payees jointly, or it may be made payable in the alternative to one of two, or one or some of several payees.]

SECTION 13 -- SYNOPSIS

1. Section 13 (1).
2. Section 13 (1) (Explanation (i)).
3. Section 13 (1) (Explanation (ii)).
4. Section 13 (2).

1. Section 13 (1).—[1] For instrument to acquire negotiability it must be in form capable of being sued upon by holder of it pro tempore in his own name and it must be by custom of trade transferable like cash by delivery. 1938 Sind 24 (27) [AIR V 25] : 32 Sind L R 640 & 1919 Cal 546 (548) [AIR V 6] : 46 Cal 331.

[2] Whenever question arises as to whether or not document in oriental language is negotiable instrument, the point will have to be decided not by looking to definition of negotiable instrument, but independently of its provisions. Courts will find out how such instrument has been treated in the past and if it appears that according to usage or custom such instruments have been treated as negotiable instruments then they will be treated as such. 1936 All 396 (399) [AIR V 23] : 58 All 858 (DB).

[3] There must be no reasonable possibility of ambiguity in construction of negotiable instrument and its meaning should be instantly recognisable. 1936 Nag 252 (253) [AIR V 23].

[4] Where chithi or demand note does not mention payee, it is not negotiable instrument. 1929 Sind 164 (164) [AIR V 16].

[5] Hand-note is negotiable document, but if it is found as a fact that it was never negotiated that would alter the situation. Where defendant had delivered, stamped and signed paper to a person, question as to whether at time when payment was made by defendant under a receipt purported to have been executed by such person, hand-note had already been completed in favour of plaintiff who has brought suit on hand-note, is question of fact. 1941 Pat 504 (505) [AIR V 28].

[6] Railways receipts are not negotiable instruments. They stand on same footing as bills of lading. 1935 Mad 936 (942) [AIR V 22] (DB).

See 1914 Bom 178 (178) [AIR V 1] : 38 Bom 659 (DB). (A railway receipt is a mercantile document of title. The endorsee of such receipt has sufficient interest in the goods covered by it to maintain an action against the railway company for damages in respect of goods represented by the receipt.)

[7] A "mate's receipt" is not a negotiable instrument. (14) 41 Cal 670 (675) (PC).

[8] "Palmch" is ordinarily a receipt and is not negotiable—Custom of its negotiability is neither reasonable nor certain and offends against public policy and law with regard to stamp. 1938 Sind 24 (27, 29) [AIR V 25] : 32 Sind L R 640.

[9] A deposit receipt given by a bank is not a negotiable instrument which passes either by delivery or by endorsement; but where the money mentioned in the receipt is immediately payable and the receipt is presented duly endorsed together with an order to pay to a given individual, the individual becomes the owner of the money upon payment by the banker of his promise to hold it at the disposal of the payee. 1914 Bom 286 (287) [AIR V 1] : 38 Bom 618 (DB).

[10] Promissory-note in question held held within purview of definition of negotiable instrument. 1923 Lah 388 (389) [AIR V 10].

[11] The mere description of an instrument as a promissory note will not make it a promissory note if it fails to satisfy the statutory requirements of Ss. 4 and 13. If a document in order to entitle a person to the money specified therein requires proof of succession it cannot be construed as a negotiable instrument. 1953 Cal 758 (761) [AIR V 40 C 284] : 11 LR (1955) 1 Cal 441.

[12] Where the promissory note is payable to a particular person and does not contain any words prohibiting transfers or indicating that it shall not be transferable the note is a negotiable instrument payable to order. Such an instrument is negotiable by the holder by endorsement and delivery and the person negotiating the instrument must have the necessary intention to constitute the person in whose favour the endorsement is made as the holder thereof and the endorsement must have been made for that purpose. 1957 Nag 85 (69) [AIR V 44 C 21]; I.L.R. (1956) Nag 850 (DB).

[13] Cheque from which word "bearer" is struck out without substitution of word "order" is not negotiable under the Act. Custom of trade of Bombay market which regards such cheque as order cheque negotiable cannot be recognised by law. 1919 Bom 73 (73) [AIR V 6].

[14] A cheque is under the law a negotiable instrument. Its negotiability can be destroyed only if it is marked as "not negotiable" on its face; it is not destroyed by its simply being crossed whether generally or specially. The only effect of crossing a cheque is, as stated in section 126 of the Act, that the drawee bank must not pay it otherwise than to any banker if it is crossed generally, or to the particular banker if it is crossed specially. There is no other effect of the crossing. 1952 All 590 (594) [AIR V 39]; I.L.R. (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

[15] Debentures transferable by endorsement are negotiable instruments. 1932 P.C. 22 (24) [AIR V 19]; 58 Ind App 433; 56 Bom L. 1 [AIR 1928 Bom 407, affirmed].

[Compare 1928 Bom 436 (440) [AIR V 15]; 52 Bom 810 (DB). (Debentures issued by Bombay Municipality are not negotiable instruments in absence of evidence of custom of the market.)]

[16] Government promissory notes are negotiable instruments under S. 13. (10) 12 Cal L. Join 470 (472, 473) (DB).

[17] Share certificates with blank transfer deeds enclosed by last registered owner are not negotiable instruments. 1919 Cal 518 (545) [AIR V 6]; 46 Cal 531.

[18] A bill of lading is negotiable, although it is not a negotiable instrument in the strict sense of the term. 1959 Cal 328 (334) [AIR V 46 C 90] (DB).

[19] A bill of lading is not a negotiable instrument. 1956 I.L.R. (1956) 2 Cal 600 (606).

[20] A draft is a bill of exchange and so becomes a negotiable instrument under S. 13. 1960 All 218 (219) [AIR V 47 C 53].

[22] Where the draft is one drawn by one branch of a bank on another branch thereof, the draft is not a negotiable instrument. 1959 Bom 267 (268) [AIR V 46 C 81]; I.L.R. (1958) Bom 1386.

[23] A 'shah jog' hundi does not technically fall within the definition of a bill of exchange or a negotiable instrument. It is all the same a negotiable instrument and has all the incidents of the same. 1960 Punt 157 (159) [AIR V 47 C 53] (DB).

[24] A shah jog hundi is not payable to a particular individual at all. It is payable to any member of a class. A shah jog hundi is not payable to bearer. It is not payable to order. It is payable to a "respectable holder according to the practice in connection with hundis." It is not therefore a 'negotiable instrument' within the meaning of S. 13 (1). 1947 Sind 140 (141) [AIR V 34 C 49]; I.L.R. (1946) Kar 355 (DB).

[25] A commercial letter of credit, not to speak of a confirmed and irrevocable letter of credit, is not negotiable, but the benefit of the credit is negotiable and the credit itself as distinguished from the benefit of it is assignable or transferable with the buyer's consent, although it may not be negotiable. 1959 Cal 328 (334, 335) [AIR V 46 C 90] (DB).

[26] The question as to what the word 'inral' meant held depended on the proof in each particular case of usage of that word by the Nattokottam Chetti firms and that the word 'order' as used in S. 13 could not be given the meaning attributable to the word 'inral'. 1957 S.C. 815 (828) [S. AIR V 44 C 121]; 1958 S.C.R. 214.

14. Negotiation.

When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is transferred to any person, so as to constitute that person the holder thereof, the instrument is said to be negotiated.

15. Indorsement.

When the maker or holder of a negotiable instrument signs the same, otherwise than as such maker, for the purpose of negotiation, on the back or face thereof or on a slip of paper annexed thereto, or so signs for the same purpose a stamped paper intended to be completed as a negotiable instrument, he is said to indorse the same, and is called the "indorser."

pay after 60 days from 12, 1979 Samvat according to rules of Hundi—Held that instrument was payable to order and was therefore negotiable instrument within S. 13. 1930 Pat 239 (240) [AIR V 17] : 9 Pat 717 (DB).

[8] Explanation (i) introduced by Act 8 of 1919 to S. 13 cannot be read into the definition of a bond as contained in S. 2 (5) (b) of Stamp Act. 1927 Cal 472 (473) [AIR V 14] : 54 Cal 445 (DB) * 1937 Nag 61 (62) [AIR V 24] : 1 L R (1937) Nag 510.

[9] Explanation 1 to S. 13 (1) cannot be read along with the definition of a bond as contained in S. 2 (4) of the Stamp Act so as to make the instrument a promissory note which in the face of it is not one payable to order by virtue of the said Explanation and thus to take it out of the said definition. 1959 Andh Pra 653 (655) [AIR V 46 C 189] (DB).

[10] The effect of Explanation (1) of S. 13 (1) introduced into the Act by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 1919 was to bring within the class of negotiable instruments, certain promissory notes not payable to order which previously were not negotiable. 1959 All 583 (584) [AIR V 46 C 162] (SB).

3. Section 13 (1) (Explanation (ii)) —

[1] Under explanation (ii) to S. 13, it is necessary that person to whom money is to be paid or that it is to be paid to bearer should be expressly stated before document can be taken to be promissory note payable to bearer. 1938 Nag 464 (464) [AIR V 25].

[2] "Dhanijog" hundis are negotiable instruments and payable to bearer. 1928 All 549 (550) [AIR V 15] (DB).

4. Section 13 (2). — [1] Act V of 1914 is not retrospective and pro-note executed prior to Act, payable in alternative, to one of several payees is not a promissory-note. 1921 Mad 122 (123) [AIR V 8] (DB).

[2] In case of pro-note made payable to two or more persons jointly, one of them cannot discharge the maker from liability so as to bar claim against maker by others. 1937 Rang 227 (230) [AIR V 24] : 1937 Rang L R 1 (FB).

Section 14 — Note 1

[1] Rights and liabilities under promissory note cannot be transferred by mere book entries. Transfer of rights and liabilities under pro-note must be made by assignment or endorsement according to law. 1943 Sind 67 (72) [AIR V 30] : ILR (1942) Kar 516 (DB).

[2] In the negotiation of a bill of exchange the right created is in personam but it reserves the right of stoppage of payment. The negotiability by assignment as such is different, but it is a kind of negotiability nevertheless. 1957 Nag 31 (41) [AIR V 44 C 13].

[3] Document is negotiable if by custom of money market, it is transferable like cash. Delivery order may or may not be negotiable; question depends upon conditions attached to it and usage of trade under which it is issued. 1918 Low Bur 122 (128) [AIR V 5] : 9 Low Bur Rul 143 (DB).

[4] By the usage of jute trade in Calcutta, delivery orders are issued only on cash payment; they pass from hand to hand by indorsement and are sold and dealt with in the market as absolutely representing the goods to which they relate. (11) 38 Cal 127 (138) (DB).

[5] The holder of a negotiable instrument who has indorsed it to a third party could maintain a suit, on the basis of it without its being re-indorsed to him, if it appears that the bill was dishonoured when presented on maturity by the indorsee and the holder pays back the amount to the indorsee and comes to the possession of the document, as the property in the note has revested in him. The absence of re-indorsement as per S. 15 or S. 16 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, is not fatal to the claim of the holder in a suit. 1958 Andh Pra 33 (34) [AIR V 45 C 9] : ILR (1957) Andh Pra 439. (17 Mad 197; 30 Mad 441 and 28 Mad 544, Followed.)

[6] There is nothing in law which makes it incumbent upon an assignee of a promissory note to issue notice to the promisor forthwith after the date of assignment. Nor can there be any rule of thumb to find out what is a reasonable time within which the assignee should have intimated to the maker the fact of the assignment. Where therefore the assignee issues such notice nearly a year after the assignment in his favour it cannot be said that there was any negligence on the part of the assignee. 1948 Mad 171 (171, 172) [AIR V 55 C 85].

Section 15 — Note 1

[1] Where endorser gets another person to write his name for him, it is validly "signed" within S. 15. 1936 Rang 27 (28) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[2] Signature on back of instrument of a person, neither maker nor holder thereof, is not endorsement. 1925 Sind 9 (10) [AIR V 12].

[3] Mere written acknowledgment of receipt of money does not amount to indorsement within S. 15, nor to transfer of actionable

16. Indorsement "in blank" and "in full."

*[(1)] If the indorser signs his name only, the indorsement is said to be "in blank," and if he adds a direction to pay the amount mentioned in the instrument to, or to the order of, a specified person, the indorsement is said to be "in full"; and the person so specified is called the "indorsee" of the instrument. "Indorsee."

*[(2) The provisions of this Act relating to a payee shall apply with the necessary modifications to an indorsee.]

claim under S. 130 of the T. P. Act, 1921 Mad 122 (122, 123) [AIR V 8] (DB).

[4] Promissory note executed in favour of person as agent of certain firm—Proprietor of that firm can endorse promissory note under S. 15, 1934 Rang 289 (291) [AIR V 21].

[5] A borrowing Rs. 100/- from D branch of N bank—Documents executed in favour of managing agents of Bank—Bank endorsing promissory note in favour of P who was one of its creditors—P suing on promissory note impleading Bank and A as defendants—P is entitled to sue on promissory note—Bank is real holder of promissory note and not the managing agents, 1939 Cal 256 (257) [AIR V 26].

[6] The holder of a negotiable instrument who has endorsed it to a third party can maintain a suit on the basis of it without its being re-indorsed to him if it appears that the bill was dishonoured when presented on maturity by the indorsee and the holder pays back the amount to the indorsee and comes into possession of the instrument, 1958 Andh-Pra 33 (35) [AIR V 45 C 9]; ILR (1957) Andh Pra 439.

[7] It is not necessary that the signature in order to be binding should be at the foot of an endorsement. It may be in the beginning or middle of it. The question always is, whether the party, not having signed it regularly at the foot, yet meant to be bound by it as it stood, or whether it was left so unsigned because he refused to complete it; in other words, whether the insertion of the name in any part of the writing was for the purpose of authenticating the instrument. What matters is the substance and not the outward form of the wording, and so long as the debtor's name has been affixed on the document in question in such a way, as to make it appear that the document is his and that he is the real author of it, it does not matter what the form of signature is nor is it necessary that the signature must appear in any particular part of the document, and it may appear in any part provided that the intention of the party is to acknowledge the instrument to be his, 1956 Raj 129 (132) [AIR V 43 C 40]; ILR (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB). (AIR V 1923 Cal 35 and AIR 1941 Oudh 376, Rel. on.)

[8] Negotiable instrument may be transferred otherwise than by endorsement. It may be otherwise assigned and assignee may sue in his own name, only difference being that assignee will have only interest of assignor, while indorsee will have all rights of holder in due course. Assignment may be oral, 1919

Lah 85 (86) [AIR V 6]; 1919 Pun Re No. 29 (DB).

[See also 1933 Mad 133 (133) [AIR V 20] (DB).]

Section 16 — Note 1

[1] An assignment of instrument can be effected either by the endorsement or by other forms known to law. If it is by way of endorsement it should be in terms of S. 16, 1958 Andh-Pra 33 (34) [AIR V 45 C 9]; ILR (1957) Andh Pra 439.

[2] For an indorsement to bind the payee or the holder of a promissory note, it must be made either by the payee or the holder himself or by a duly authorised agent acting in his name under S. 27, 1952 All 245 (246) [AIR V 59]; ILR (1952) 2 All 178 (FB). (Endorsement by counsel having no authority in that behalf.)

[3] Under S. 16 if the endorser signs his name only, the endorsement is said to be in blank and such endorsement makes the negotiable instrument payable to bearer. The endorsement must however be a genuine and valid endorsement, 1938 Lah 520 (522) [AIR V 25] (DB).

[4] Section 16 does not lay down any specific form or words which are necessary for endorsement. The endorsement need not bear the words "that the endorsee will be entitled to realise the amount by suit, 1935 Oudh 264 (264) [AIR V 22]; 10 Luck 732 + (10) 33 Mad 34 (35, 36) (DB). (Promissory note contained following indorsement by assignor, "I have this day received in cash from you Rs. .... and assigned to you this note with power to recover amount due under it by showing same"—Suit by assignee on note—Held, indorsement was indorsement in full within S. 16, that plaintiff thereby became holder in due course and that suit was maintainable, in absence of evidence that payment was over-due before endorsement. Presumption was that assignment took place before pro-note became payable.)

[5] In order to constitute an endorsement within the meaning of S. 16 there must be a direction to pay the amount of the instrument to a specified person. The form of the assignment is immaterial, provided the intention to transfer is clear. But that intention must be gathered from the words used in the instrument assigned and not from evidence abundante, 1938 Mad 417 (419) [AIR V 23].

[6] Under S. 16 the endorsement need not contain actual words of direction. It is sufficient if it contains what is equivalent to a direction. An endorsement that the note had

17. Ambiguous instruments.

Where an instrument may be construed either as a promissory note or bill of exchange, the holder may at his election treat it as either, and the instrument shall be thenceforward treated accordingly.

18. Where amount is stated differently in figures and words.

If the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid is stated differently in figures and in words, the amount stated in words shall be the amount undertaken or ordered to be paid.

19. Instruments payable on demand.

A promissory note or bill of exchange, in which no time for payment is specified, and a cheque, are payable on demand.

been made over to so and so on a particular date over the signature of the payee with the delivery of the note to the endorsee is an endorsement in full. (113) 19 Ind Cas 410 (410, 411) (Mad).

[7] Where the words "made over" or the word "assign" are used the intention of the parties has to be looked into and that is whether the parties wanted to have an endorsement of the promissory note and not an assignment. If an endorsement contains words equivalent to a direction to pay, though there may not be the actual words connoting the direction, it would amount to a direction to pay and would be 'an endorsement' within the meaning of S. 16 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. 1935 Mad 53 (55, 56) [(S) AIR V 42 C 12] (DB). (Promissory note endorsed in English 'contents received with interest upto date. Please pay to Shri M. Sd. SV' and below it was written in Malayalam "As written above the promissory note has been assigned to Shri M. without recourse—Signed "SV" using the word 'theera'—Held that endorsement was in full and did not require stamp under S. 2 (10), Stamp Act.)

[8] Acknowledgment of payment signed by one of alternative payees is neither endorsement in full, nor, endorsement in blank and it cannot be treated as effecting assignment of actionable claims under S. 130, Transfer of Property Act, because there are absolutely no words of transfer. 1921 Mad 122 (122, 123) [AIR V 8] (DB).

[9] An endorsement of a pro-note, while it transfers the property in the note to the endorsee as the new holder, does not operate as an assignment to the endorsee of the debt due by the maker to the original payee. 1934 Mad 350 (352) [AIR V 21].

[10] Section 16 (2) gives protection to the drawee and to the indorsee also if the signature of the indorsee is not genuine. 1926 Bom 262 (264) [AIR V 13] : 50 Bom 118.

Section 17 — Note 1

[1] Where a Hundi is ambiguous about its being either a pro-note or bill of exchange the holder is entitled to treat it as either. 1930 Cal 697 (698) [AIR V 17] : 57 Cal 695 (DB).

[2] The right of election given to a holder by S. 17, Negotiable Instruments Act, is not taken away by the Stamp Act; under S. 17 where an instrument can be construed as a pronote or Hundi the holder may at his election treat it as either, and if it is treated as a hundi it has to be so treated not only for purposes of the Negotiable Instruments Act but also for purposes of Stamp Act; it would be reasonable to read S. 17, Negotiable Instruments Act as a proviso to S. 6, Stamp Act. 1932 Mad 765 (766) [AIR V 19].

[3] Hundi is sometimes a pro-note and sometimes a bill of exchange. 1919 Nag 42 (40) [AIR V 6] : 17 Nag L R 113 (DB).

[4] Hundi drawn by firm A on its branch B to pay certain sum of money within prescribed number of days—At B hundi indorsed to X who paid full value—Hundi held was promissory note and not ambiguous document within S. 17—Both drawer and indorser held liable jointly and severally. 1919 Nag 42 (41, 42) [AIR V 6] : 17 Nag L R 113 (DB).

Section 18 — Note 1

[1] When a difference arises between the sum expressed in words in the body of the instrument (pronote) and that mentioned in figures on the top in one corner, the amount mentioned in words will be taken to be the sum for which the instrument was made payable. The mandatory nature of S. 18 gives no choice to the Courts to give preference to the sum mentioned in figures over the amount mentioned in words. 1954 J & K 56 (56) [AIR V 41 C 39] (FB).

Section 19 — Note 1

[1] A bill of exchange is payable on demand though the demand cannot be made on the day when the bill is drawn. A note which does not fix any date for payment is payable on demand. 1918 Mad 317 (318) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[2] Promissory-note payable on demand is present debt and is payable without demand and limitation begins to run from date of it. Stipulation for compensation in shape of interest makes no difference. 1940 Cal 401 (402) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) 2 Cal 362.

[But see 1940 Mad 631 (632) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) Mad 382 (DB).]

[3] The absence of the words "on demand" in a promissory note does not affect the application of Art. 105 of the Travancore Limitation Act, as a promissory note in which no time for payment is specified is one payable on demand under S. 18 of the Negotiable

20. Inchoate stamped instruments.

Where one person signs and delivers to another a paper stamped in accordance with the law relating to negotiable instruments then in force in [India], and either wholly blank or having written thereon an incomplete negotiable instrument, he thereby gives prima facie authority to the holder thereof to make or complete, as the case may be, upon it a negotiable instrument, for any amount specified therein and not exceeding the amount covered by the stamp. The person so signing shall be liable upon such instrument, in the capacity in which he signed the same, to any holder in due course for such amount : provided that no person other than a holder in due course shall recover from the person delivering the instrument anything in excess of the amount intended by him to be paid thereunder.

Instruments Act, 1955 Trav.-Co 141 (142) AIR V 42 C 51 : H.R. (1954) Trav.-Co 1196 (DB).

1. Pro-note is valid though amount is not mentioned in body of document. If amount can be ascertained from face of paper, form of expression is immaterial. 1923 Rang 97 (97) AIR V 10 : 11 Low Bur Rul 439.

2. The right given to complete the document is given to the holder and the holder contemplated in S. 20 is not the holder as defined in the Act but holder in the literal sense of the words, namely, the person who actually holds the document. 1955 Bom 290 (291) AIR V 40 C 91 : 11 R. 1955 Bom 717 (DB).

3. Though payee can fill in blank inchoate instrument and sue on it or endorse it to someone else, no decree can be passed on such blank instrument if it does not contain name of payee. Such instrument is not negotiable. 1120 17 Ind Cas 915 915 (Low Bur).

4. Section 20 of the Negotiable Instruments Act gives general authority to a person to whom a stamped and signed paper is delivered to convert it into a negotiable instrument payable to any specified person; it is open to a person who receives a blank inchoate instrument to complete it in favour of any person besides himself. A hand-note is a negotiable instrument, but if it is found as a fact that it was never negotiated, that would alter the position. 1941 Pat 504 504 (AIR V 28).

5. Where promissory-note promises to pay sum unconditionally to certain person there is nothing in S. 4 which curtails general authority conferred by S. 20 on person to whom stamped and signed paper is delivered to convert it into negotiable instrument payable to specified person. 1940 Pat 377 (378) AIR V 27 : 19 Pat 404 (DB).

6. Under S. 20, it is open to payee whose name is not mentioned to fill in blank instrument, but unless he does so, he is not entitled to obtain any decree. 1932 Pat 324 (325) (AIR V 19).

7. A person who gives another possession of his signature on a hundi prima facie authorises the latter as his agent to fill it up and give to the world the bill as accepted by him. He enables his agent to represent himself to the world as acting with a general authority, and cannot say to a bona fide holder for value, who has no notice of secret stipulations, that there were secret stipulations between himself and the agent. 1921 Nag 113 (115) AIR V 8.

8. Where an incomplete instrument such as a promissory-note in which the name of the payee is left blank is signed by A and delivered to B, and subsequently, A pays the amount due on the note to B and thereafter B, in collusion with his brother C, and with his full knowledge that the instrument has been discharged, inserts the name of the latter in the blank space and completes the instrument, A will not be liable on the instrument to C who cannot be said to be a holder in due course. The authority of B as agent of A to complete the instrument comes to an end when the amount of the note is paid to him and the subsequent insertion of C's name as payee is without authority and, therefore, no claim can be founded on the instrument by C. 1954 Mad 532 (534) AIR V 41 C 198.

9. Suit by payee on hand note without endorsement. Opposite party cannot plead that payee is benamidar. 1939 Pat 347 (348) (AIR V 26).

10. Document whose stamp has not been crossed by signature, might still come under S. 20, if stamp had been cancelled in accordance with S. 12 of Stamp Act. 1916 All 197 (199) (AIR V 3 : 38 All 430 : 17 Cr L Jour 205).

11. Section 20, will not entitle holder of promissory-note to write above signatures on reverse of promissory-note statement of payment of interest. Section only refers to person signing and delivering to another paper stamped in accordance with law relating to negotiable instruments then in force in British India, and either wholly blank or having written thereon incomplete negotiable instrument. 1934 Rang 287 (288) (AIR V 21).

12. Estoppel under S. 20 can only be applied to papers which signature covers. Delivery of hundi paper signed but left blank cannot be taken to give prima facie authority to make thereon negotiable instrument outside maximum value covered by stamp by attaching other unsigned stamps. Delivery of several signed stamps separately does not give prima facie authority to stick them together for single instrument. It is only when signature is across two or more stamp papers past-

21. "At sight." "On presentment." "After sight."

In a promissory note or bill of exchange the expressions "at sight" and "on presentment" mean on demand. The expression "after sight" means, in a promissory note, after presentment for sight, and, in a bill of exchange, after acceptance, or noting for non-acceptance, or protest for non-acceptance.

22. "Maturity."

The maturity of a promissory note or bill of exchange is the date at which it falls due.

Days of grace.

Every promissory note or bill of exchange which is not expressed to be payable on demand, at sight or on presentment is at maturity on the third day after the day on which it is expressed to be payable.

ed together showing that several stamps have been united with sanction of person making signature, that S. 20 will govern as one transaction instrument engrossed upon joined papers. 1920 Nag 45 (47) [AIR V 7].

[13] Section 20 relates to documents "stamped in accordance with law." Cheque does not require any stamp under law and so section does not apply to cheques. Where, blank cheque drawn by person is dishonoured by Bank, 'holder in due course' of such cheque cannot hold drawer liable for amount stated in it, as cheque is not inchoate stamped instrument. 1937 Lah 816 (818) [AIR V 24].

[14] Person obtaining from maker a signed but inchoate document for consideration — Document properly stamped — Under prima facie authority conferred upon him under S. 20, such person completing the document by making himself payee—He does not thereby become a holder in due course within meaning of S. 9. 1953 Bom 290 (291) [AIR V 40 C 91] : ILR (1953) Bom 717 (DB).;

[16] Two cheques in dispute were filled in by N, an official of the bank. The cheques were drawn in favour of two clerks of the first defendant and purported to be signed by them on the back of the cheques. But the first defendant denied the genuineness of the signatures and there was no evidence to the contrary. The trial Judge came to the conclusion that N forged these two cheques filling them up himself and passing them for payment himself. He further found that he misappropriated those amounts—Held, that in no sense could N be deemed to be the holder of the two cheques. 1959 Mad 119 (122) [AIR V 46 C 39] (DB).

[17] Section 20 must be strictly construed. It imposes a serious liability upon a person who allows an incomplete document to go out in the world. Liability under the section when person who allows an incomplete document to go out, heavy as it is, should not be increased by importing words in the section which are not there. 1953 Bom 290 (292) [AIR V 40 C 91] : ILR (1953) Bom 717 (DB).

[1] This section makes it clear, that a promissory-note or bill of exchange can be said to be at maturity only when it specified a date on which the amount is payable. Therefore the term 'maturity' can have no application to a promissory-note payable on demand. 1931 Mad 113 (114) [AIR V 18].

[2] In the case of a promissory-note payable on demand the note does not become payable until demand is made. On demand being made it falls due immediately. 1940 Mad 631 (632) [AIR V 27] : I L R (1940) Mad 382 (DB). ((1890) 24 Q B D 13, loc. cit.) + 1928 Mad 1238 (1241, 1242) [AIR V 15] (DB). (Instrument cannot be overdue until there is demand.)

[3] Where a promissory-note payable on demand is negotiated, it is not deemed to be overdue for the purpose of affecting the holder with defects of title, of which he had no notice, by reason that it appears that a reasonable time for presenting it for payment has elapsed since the issue. 1935 Rang 156 (157) [AIR V 22].

[4] Provision in S. 22 (2) giving three days grace affects only instruments which are not written in an oriental language — Instrument written in oriental language is governed by local usage — Hundi falling due on certain date according to local usage — Three days of grace cannot be added. 1940 Lah 14 (14) [AIR V 27].

[5] It is open to parties to enter into contract that the provisions of S. 22, relating to days of grace shall not apply to them and it is not open to the promisee to insist that the maker of the note should be compelled to take advantage of the days of grace. 1914 Mad 430 (432) [AIR V 1] (DB). (Per Seshagiri Iyer J.; Sadasiva Iyer J., Contra.)

[6] Hundi payable on 28th January falls due on 31st of that month under S. 22 (2). 1915 Lah 297 (297) [AIR V 2].

[7] Where hundi is drawn on 7th May and is payable 61 days after that date, presentment of it for payment on July 10th would be correct. Such hundi need not be presented at once to payee or endorsee for acceptance. 1917 All 114 (115) [AIR V 4] : 39 All 86 (DB).

23. Calculating maturity of bill or note payable so many months after date or sight.

In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable a stated number of months after date or after sight, or after a certain event, is at maturity, the period stated shall be held to terminate on the day of the month which corresponds with the day on which the instrument is dated, or presented for acceptance or sight, or noted for non-acceptance, or protested for non-acceptance, or the event happens, or, where the instrument is a bill of exchange made payable a stated number of months after sight and has been accepted for honour, with the day on which it was so accepted. If the month in which the period would terminate has no corresponding day, the period shall be held to terminate on the last day of such month.

Illustrations

(a) A negotiable instrument, dated 29th January 1878, is made payable at one month after date. The instrument is at maturity on the third day after the 28th February 1878.

(b) A negotiable instrument, dated 30th August 1878, is made payable three months after date. The instrument is at maturity on the 3rd December 1878.

(c) A promissory note or bill of exchange, dated 31st August 1878, is made payable three months after date. The instrument is at maturity on the 3rd December 1878.

24. Calculating maturity of bill or note payable so many days after date or sight.

In calculating the date at which a promissory note or bill of exchange made payable a certain number of days after date or after sight or after a certain event is at maturity, the day of the date, or of presentment for acceptance or sight, or of protest for non-acceptance, or on which the event happens, shall be excluded.

25. When day of maturity is a holiday.

When the day on which a promissory note or bill of exchange is at maturity is a public holiday, the instrument shall be deemed to be due on the next preceding business day.

[a] The words “New Year’s day, Christmas day : if either of such days falls on a Sunday, the next following Monday ; Good-Friday :” were omitted by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 1955 (XXXVII of 1955), S. 3 [w. e. f. 1-4-1956]. [b] The Central Government has directed that subject to its control the function vested in it by the Explanation to S. 25, to declare public holidays shall be performed by the Chief Commissioner of the State of Pondicherry in respect of that State—see S. R. O. 66, dated 31-15-1955, Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Pt. II-S. 3, page 22.

Section 25 — Note 1

[1] A notification under S. 25 does not by its own force operate to declare a day as a close holiday under the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act. Normally when a day is declared to be a holiday under S. 25, the High Court also falls in line with such a notification and takes steps to have the day in question declared a holiday also for the civil Courts subordinate to it by issuing a notification under S. 15 (2) of the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts Act. 1959 All 505 (508) [AIR V 46 C 130] (DB).

[2] Where 2-10-1947 was declared to be a holiday under S. 25, but it was not notified as such in the Official Gazette under S. 15 (2) of the Civil Courts Act and the Court passed an order on that date that the case should be disposed of ex parte, recorded evidence and pronounced judgment — Held that the spirit of S. 15 demanded that the day should have been treated as a close holiday by the subordinate Courts and as there was no urgent necessity to proceed, the judgment and decree had to be set aside. 1959 All 505 (508) [AIR V 46 C 130] (DB).

CHAPTER III

PARTIES TO NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES

26. Capacity to make, etc., promissory notes, etc.

Every person capable of contracting, according to the law to which he is subject, may bind himself and be bound by the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, delivery and negotiation of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque.

Minor.

A minor may draw, indorse, deliver and negotiate such instrument so as to bind all parties except himself.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to empower a corporation to make, indorse or accept such instruments except in cases in which, under the law for the time being in force, they are so empowered.

SECTION 26 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Minor.
3. Bankrupts.
4. Corporations.
5. Capacity of persons of unsound mind to contract — See Ss. 11 and 12, Contract Act.

1. Scope.—[1] Section 26 says that every person capable of contracting may bind himself by making a promissory note. Therefore capacity to incur liability as maker of the note depends upon his capacity to contract under the general law. (29) 117 Ind Cas 133 (134) (DB) (Mad).

[2] The specific provision contained in S. 120 of the Act is clearly subject to the general rule enacted in S. 26 of the Act. If the party does not possess legal capacity to enter into a contract, Section 26 makes it clear that such person cannot render himself liable by executing a promissory note. (29) 117 Ind Cas 133 (134) (DB) (Mad).

[3] Where person is to be bound, his name must appear upon it as person to be bound thereby. 1925 Cal 1153 (1155) [AIR V 12].

(See also notes under Ss. 27 and 28.)

[See also 1925 Cal 1062 (1064) [AIR V 12] : 52 Cal 802 (DB).] (A Hundi drawn in favour of a firm M & Sons was endorsed twice by them "M & Sons" and "M & Sons" Managing Agents L. A. & Co. — Held that the words Managing Agents L. A. & Co., were merely descriptive or decorative and that it did not bind L. A. & Co. Followed in A I R 1930 All 778.)

[4] Evidence will not be permitted to be given by a person who had signed a negotiable instrument apparently as the person liable thereon to prove that in fact he signed the note as an agent for an undisclosed principal. 1928 Bom 516 (520) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 640 (DB).

[5] The principle that the name of a person or firm to be charged on a negotiable instrument should be clearly stated on the face or back of the instrument has no application to the case of a joint family which it is sought to make liable, through the signature of the managing member thereof. 1922 All 116 (116) [A I R V 9] : 44 All 393 (DB). (23 Mad 597;

20 Bom 488 and 11 Cal W N 139. Followed. (207) 11 Cal W N 139 (141) (DB). (Sections 26, 27 and 287 of this Act refer to cases of ordinary agency.)

[6] The incapacity of one or other parties to a bill does not in any way affect the liability of other parties. See Ss. 120 to 122 of the Act.

[7] For the liability of the maker or the drawer in the case of foreign notes, bills and cheques see S. 134.

[8] Hindu joint family — Junior member executing hand note for legal necessity under instrument — Suit on against entire family — Sections 26 and 27 held not applicable as no question of agency arose. 1957 Orissa 212 (214) [AIR V 44 C 58] : 1 L R (1957) Cut 561.

[9] The question whether want of execution by one can absolve the other who has executed the document is to be determined by ascertaining the intention of parties. If the understanding was that either both A and B or neither of the two should be liable, and execution of the promote by B was a condition precedent to the obligation for payment by A, it is a matter for proof. If the transaction was not intended to be effective unless A was an executant, the creditor would not fail to protest against A taking away the money or would at least attempt to obtain the signature of B who was present at the time. The fact that this was not done and it was considered sufficient to strike off the recital about B being a party to the instrument shows that B's execution though desired was not deemed vital for the purpose of the transaction. 1954 Mys 185 (186) [AIR V 41 C 80] : 1 L R (1955) Mys 221 (DB).

[10] See also Ss. 27 and 28.

2. Minor.—Minor as acceptor—[1] A promissory note executed by a person attaining majority in settlement of a note executed by him while a minor in consideration of his having received from the obligee a certain sum of money when he was a minor is bad for want of consideration. (206) 16 Mad L. Jour 422 (426) (DB).

[But see (207) 11 Cal W N 135 (138). (S. an infant in the course of his business dealings with A incurred debts—On attaining majority he executed a bond by which he agreed to pay the debts which he incurred during minority—

27. Agency.

Every person capable of binding himself or of being bound, as mentioned in section 26, may so bind himself or be bound by a duly authorized agent acting in his name.

Section 26 — Note 2 (contd.)

Held that S was liable for the whole amount secured by the bond.]

Minor as payee.

[2] Minor can draw bill or issue cheque on banker and can be payee. 1917 Mad 630 (640) [AIR V 4] : 40 Mad 308 (FB).

[3] The question whether the minor is intended to be the real payee has to be decided upon the proper construction of the document. 1929 Mad 284 (284) [AIR V 16] (DB).

[4] A minor plaintiff can sue upon a Shah Jog Hundi of which he is the bearer. 1925 Bom 527 (528) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[5] A promissory-note payable on demand executed in favour of a minor can be sued upon when the minor does not subject himself to any obligation. (13) 24 Mad L Jour 363 (364) (DB).

Minor as endorser.

[6] A minor cannot bind himself or incur liability by an endorsement to the cheque. 1857 All 490 (497) (FB).

Joint and several liability of minors.

[7] In the case of joint promissory-notes, the minority of one of joint promisors and his consequent immunity from liability cannot be pleaded as a bar to the promisee's claim against the other joint promisor. 1916 P C 2 (AIR V 3) : 43 Ind App 99 : 39 Mad 409.

[8] A minor's bond is void, but a surety's liability does not cease by reason of this. 19519 Bom 697 (702) (DB). (Followed in 33 Cal 713).

[9] A and B of whom B was a minor, took loan from C and B the minor executed the promissory note in his name in lieu of the debt. Held that the promissory note having been executed by a minor was void and created no liability either on A or B. (39) 1 Ind C is 406 (407) (All).

[10] Liability of minors on pro notes executed by guardians for necessities supplied — Pro-note by a guardian — Money borrowed by the Guardian for necessities of the minor — Held, minor cannot be made personally responsible on the note nor could the guardian contract with the plaintiff so as to bind the minor's estate. Held, also that the plaintiff may proceed against the minors to recover moneys which they might be liable to pay as the debt incurred by guardian, for necessary purposes in another suit properly framed. 1923 Bom 304 (305) [AIR V 10] (DB).

Suit by a minor.

[11] When a promissory-note is executed in favour of a minor's adoptive mother a minor cannot sue alleging that the note was made and delivered on account of his estate. The principle is that a benamidar or trustee who takes a note in his own name is the person entitled in his own name to the possession thereof and not the cestui que trust or person for whom he holds the note. He is therefore the proper person to sue upon it. (105) 28 Mad 205 (208) (DB). (Followed in 30 Mad 89 (FB) which Overruled 21 Mad 391).

[12] See also S. 11, Contract Act.

3. Bankrupts. — [1] Until the official assignee intervenes, all transactions by a bankrupt after his bankruptcy with any person dealing with him bona fide and for value in respect of his after-acquired property, whether with or without knowledge of the bankruptcy, are valid against the assignee. 1919 Bom 115 (118) [AIR V 6] : 43 Bom 890 (DB).

[2] The right of the undischarged insolvent to sue in respect of property acquired after adjudication and before the intervention of the official receiver appears to be for the protection of third parties dealing with him bona fide and for value. 1918 Mad 294 (295) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[3] A suit by a bankrupt who has not obtained a final discharge with reference to a Bill of exchange which had been endorsed to him is sustainable if the official assignee has not intervened. (107) 50 Mad 145 (150) (DB).

4. Corporations. — [1] It is a rule of common law that, with certain exceptions, a corporation is bound by those contracts only which are made under the corporate seal. The exceptions are (a) where the contract is executed, (b) in small matters of very frequent occurrence and (c) where it is impossible to affix the seal, as in cases of great urgency. 1927 Cal 465 (469) [AIR V 14] : 54 Cal 189 (DB).

[2] The District Board is a corporation and is empowered under the Madras Local Boards Act to make endorse and accept Negotiable Instruments. 1920 Mad 1011 (1012) [AIR V 7] : 43 Mad 816 (DB).

[3] Where among other things the execution of promotes is mentioned in the object clause of the memorandum of Association, and the Articles of Association gave to the Managing Agents power to make contracts and sign receipts and not to execute promissory notes — Held that the managing agent was not the authorised agent for the purpose of making promissory notes on behalf of the company. 1930 All 778 (778) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 883 (DB).

SECTION 27 — SYNOPSIS

1. Agent signing principal's name.
2. Negotiable instruments by agents — Liability of principal.
3. Liability of undisclosed principal.
4. Agent exceeding authority.
5. Negotiable instruments by manager or other members of joint Hindu family.
6. Negotiable instruments by partner of firm.

A general authority to transact business and to receive and discharge debts does not confer upon an agent the power of accepting or indorsing bills of exchange so as to bind his principal.

An authority to draw bills of exchange does not of itself import an authority to indorse.

Section 27 — Synopsis (contd.)

7. Negotiable instrument by guardians: See under section 28.

8. Negotiable instruments by executor.

9. Negotiable instruments by trustees.

10. Negotiable instruments in favour of agent.

11. Negotiable instruments by Director of Company.

12. Negotiable instrument by husband.

1. Agent signing principal's name.—

[1] A promissory note with words "Nishi, mark of C" but containing no separate mark, is valid where it is proved that the words written were with C's authority. 1918 Mad 24 (25) [AIR V 5]; 40 Mad 1171 (DB)* 1931 Rang 131 (135) [AIR V 18]; 9 Rang 92. (A man may sign a promissory note by getting some one to write his name for him.)

2. Negotiable instruments by agents—

Liability of principal. — [1] Where person is to be bound by negotiable instrument made on his behalf by his agent, his name must appear upon it as person to be bound thereby. 1925 Cal 1153 (1155) [AIR V 12].

[See also 1920 Cal 911 (911) [AIR V 7] (DB). (Promissory note)—Where there is nothing to indicate that the instrument was signed by promisor as agent or that he did not intend thereby to incur personal responsibility nobody except the promisor can be sued on the note.)]

[2] The name of a person or firm to be charged upon a negotiable document should be clearly stated on the face or on the back of the document, so that the responsibility is made plain and can be instantly recognised as the document passes from hand to hand. It is not sufficient that the principal's name should be 'in some way' disclosed: It must be disclosed in such a way that on any fair interpretation of the instrument his name is the real name of the person liable upon the instrument. 1932 Rang 97 (98) [AIR V 19]; 10 Rang 257 (DB). (Where a promissory note was signed by a person who alleged himself to be the agent of a firm but he signed it in his own name and there was no promise in it of the firm to re-pay the loan — Held, that the firm was not liable on the promissory note.)

[3] Promissory note, signed "N agent and attorney to M"—Words held only description of N's position and there was no signature in form necessary for an agent signing on principal's behalf—Agent should state that he signs note for and on behalf of person for whom he is acting. 1933 Cal 660 (661) [AIR V 20]. [6] "Agent" in Ss. 27 and 28 means agent of person capable of contracting within meaning of S. 26, and when agent is not liable principal is. 1919 Mad 616 (617) [AIR V 6]; 41 Mad 815 (DB).

3. Liability of undisclosed principal.—

[1] In an action on a bill of exchange or a promissory note against a person whose name properly appears as party to the instrument, it is not open either by way of claim or defence to show that the signatory was in reality acting for an undisclosed principal. 1918 P C 146 (147) [AIR V 5]; 46 Ind App 55; 46 Cal 663+1953 Orissa 179 (Pr 12) [AIR V 40 C 60]; 1 L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB)* 1937 Oudh 65 (67) [AIR V 24]; 12 Luck 472 (DB)* 1934 Mad 327 (329) [AIR V 21]; 57 Mad 892 (DB)* 1930 Bom 424 (428) [AIR V 17]+1929 Nag 274 (275) [AIR V 16]; 25 Nag L R 173+ 1928 Bom 516 (518) [AIR V 15]; 52 Bom 640 (DB). (A hundi was in the following terms: "Fifty-six days after date I promise to pay Seth Chimmudas Fatechand or order the sum of Rs. 600 only for value received in cash. G. V. Athale, Managing Proprietor, Gangadhar & B. Friends—Sandhurst Road, Bombay No. 4"—Held, that the person liable on the hundi was Athale and not any alleged firm passing under the name of Gangadhar & B. Friends.)

[2] When deciding whether the maker of a promissory note has executed it as the agent or the representative of another, the Court cannot look into the surrounding circumstances. It cannot look beyond what is stated in the instrument. In India, where a person executing an instrument in an Indian language after giving his own description, adds that he is the agent of another, it means that he is acting as the other's agent in the matter of the execution of the document, and it is sufficient to exclude his personal responsibility. 1941 Mad 417 (421, 426) [AIR V 28]; 1 L R

(1941) Mad 513 (FB). (AIR 1935 Mad 447 (FB), Overruled.)

[3] When on a fair interpretation of the negotiable instrument the name of the person liable is disclosed, and it is quite clear on the evidence that the agent endorsed it under the implied direction and with the explicit knowledge of his principal, an objection taken by the endorsee that the signature of the endorser does not appear on the face of the instrument as it was signed by the agent without mentioning that he is acting on behalf of his principal, cannot be upheld. It is only when there was some doubt regarding the identity of the drawer that the matter can be agitated before the Court. 1939 Lah 225 (233) [AIR V 26] (DB) + 1959 Bom 90 (Pr 8) [AIR V 46 C 34] : I L R (1959) Bom 458.

[4] It is of the essence of a claim based upon a negotiable instrument that the person executing that document should disclose, on the face of document itself, that he is not personally liable and that he is executing a promissory note for someone else. It is not sufficient that the principal's name should be 'in some way' disclosed; it must be disclosed in such a way that, on any fair interpretation of the instrument his name is the real name of the person liable upon the bill. 1953 Orissa 179 (Pr 11) [AIR V 40 C 60] : I L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB).

Ss. 1946 Lah 387 (391) [AIR V 33 C 71] (DB). (An agent, who is authorised to draw a hundi in the name of his principal and to sign his name, is not required to indicate on the face of the hundi that he is drawing it as an agent or with the authority of the principal. In not doing so, therefore, the agent is not guilty of any ma'a fides.)

[5] Where in a suit based on a promissory note, the authority of borrower to execute the document is questioned, that authority must be established before the instrument executed by him is looked at. 1959 Bom 90 (Pr 3) [AIR V 46 C 34] : I L R (1959) Bom 458.

[6] Promissory note by agent — Principal's name undisclosed in the instrument — Suit against both principal and agent based not on pro-note but on original consideration is maintainable. 1937 Oudh 65 (67) [AIR V 24] : 12 Luck 472 (DB).

4. Agent exceeding authority.—[1] When an agent executes a pro-note for which he is not authorised, a principal is not liable and when the agent does not disclose the name of his principal there can be no claim against the principal. 1932 Nag 27 (28) [AIR V 19] : 27 Nag L R 324.

[2] Where principal is not carrying on any business which may involve executing, accepting or endorsing of bills of exchange, agent has no authority to execute promissory notes on behalf of his principal either expressly or impliedly. 1938 Lah 41 (42, 43) [AIR V 25] (DB).

[3] On a plain reading of Ss. 27 and 28 it is clear that a general authority to transact business and to discharge debts does not confer upon an agent the power of endorsing bills of exchange so as to bind his principal. Nor can an agent escape personal liability unless he indicates that he signs as an agent and does not intend to incur personal liability. 1953 Orissa 179 (Pr 11) [AIR V 40 C 60] : I L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB).

[4] An express power of attorney to discharge and satisfy debts or to incur loans in the best interests of the family would not also include the power to keep the debt alive by making an endorsement. 1953 Orissa 179 (Pr 11) [AIR V 40 C 60] : I L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB).

[5] Where the original holder of a hand-note was a bank and the plaintiff brought a suit based on the hand-note on the basis of an endorsement of assignment by G, the general manager of the bank, in his favour: Held, that it was incumbent upon the plaintiff to have proved the authority and that the mere fact that G was the General Manager was not sufficient for the purpose of proving that the endorsement was a valid one and a competent one. The plaintiff was therefore bound to be non-suited. (57) 23 Cut L Tim 322 (323).

5. Negotiable instruments by manager or other members of joint Hindu family.—

[1] The rule that in order to make a person liable on a promissory note, the liability must appear on the face of the document, does not apply to promissory notes executed by the managing member of a joint Hindu family and it is established that liability was incurred by the managing member of the family for the benefit of the family or for family business, then it is not open to the other members of the family to plead that, because to evidence such liability a promissory note was executed on which neither their names appear nor is it specified that the liability is incurred for the purposes of or on behalf of the joint family, they are not liable. Their liability follows from this authority of the managing member to make other members liable for the contracts made by him for the benefit of the family or for carrying on legitimate business of the family. 1933 Lah 494 (496) [AIR V 20] (DB) + 1922 All 116 (117) [AIR V 9] : 44 All 393 (DB). (As manager is not mere agent, other members are liable on negotiable instrument drawn by him.) (07) 11 Cal WN 139 (140) (DB). (Sections 26, 27 and 28 do not touch agency of this nature.) (1942 Pat 337 (338) [AIR V 29] (DB) + 1935 Pat 51 (51) [AIR V 22] + 1933 Pat 263 (263) [AIR V 20].

[But see 1925 Cal 1153 (1155) [AIR V 12].]

[2] While the members of a joint Hindu family are liable for the debts contracted by the manager for family purposes and their interest in the family property can be attached for the realisation of the debts, they are not personally liable either for the debts or upon a negotiable instrument executed by the manager. 1953 Orissa 179 (Pr 7) [AIR V 40 C 60] : I L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB) + 1954 Trav-Co 495 (Pr 2) [AIR V 41 C 172]. [3] Karta executing a promissory note is bound by it whether he executes on behalf of the family or in his individual capacity. Other members are not personally liable unless they sign but their interest in the family property can be reached. Manager who signs the promissory-note as manager for family purposes, can be sued on the note so as to bind the family just as effectively as if he had executed a mortgage or a bond. 1951 Nag 307 (Prs. 10, 17, 18) [AIR V 38 C 91] : ILR (1950) Nag 806 (DB).

[4] The manager of a joint Hindu family is not an agent. He is not like a partner who can be treated as agent of other partners. 1951 Nag 307 (Pr 12) [AIR V 38 C 91] : ILR (1950) Nag 806 (DB).

[5] Decree obtained against Hindu father alone on basis of pro-note and not on basis of debt — Decree can be executed against son's share under pious obligation rule provided decree debt in its inception was not illegal or immoral. 1947 Mad 213 (214, 215) [AIR V 34 C 109] : ILR (1947) Mad 471 (DB).

[6] Decree obtained on the basis of a negotiable instrument (promissory note) executed by a person who may happen to be a manager of a Hindu family (other than a father) cannot be executed against the members of the family not parties to the instrument. 1955 N U C (Orissa) 5690 [AIR V 42].

[7] A promissory-note executed by a person in his own name and which does not show that he executed it as the manager of a joint Hindu family cannot be enforced against the other members of the family even though the debt is proved to have been incurred by him as manager for the benefit of the family. 1933 Nag 160 (161) [AIR V 20] : 29 Nag L R 312 * 1930 Bom 424 (427) [AIR V 17] * (32) 15 Nag L Jour 5 (7).

[8] Where a junior member of a joint Hindu family incurs debt on a handnote for a legal necessity of the family, the handnote is binding on the family. Sections 28 and 27 have no application to such a case since no question of agency arises. 1957 Orissa 212 (Prs 6, 8) [AIR V 44 C 58] : ILR (1957) Cut 361.

[9] Younger brother in joint Hindu family borrowing money for benefit of family on promissory-note—Elder brother who is karta, accepting liability and executing another promissory-note — Promissory-note by elder brother is binding on younger brother. 1942 Oudh 161 (163) [AIR V 29] : 17 Luck 226.

[10] Promissory-note executed by member in his own name without disclosing that he executed it as manager — Promisee or holder can sue on the debt as opposed to promissory-note. 1933 Nag 160 (161) [AIR V 20] : 29 Nag L R 312 * 1934 Pat 629 (629) [AIR V 21].

[See 1936 Nag 252 (253, 254) [AIR V 23].]

[11] If the suit loans had been proved to have been contracted by the manager of a joint Hindu family for the purposes of the family, there is nothing in the Negotiable Instruments Act which would debar the plaintiff from suing upon the handnotes so as to make the family liable. 1953 Orissa 179 (Pr 7) [AIR V 40 C 60] : I L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB).

[12] There is nothing in the Negotiable Instruments Act which should preclude a Court from applying the principles of Hindu Law to a suit based on negotiable instrument. Indeed, it would always be open to the holder of the instrument to sue the maker and the acceptor of the instrument and he need not sue all the members of the joint family, if he so chooses. He will also be entitled to avail himself fully of the benefit of the specific provision in the Negotiable Instruments Act, which is to the effect that once the execution of the document is proved, consideration will be presumed. He may, however, waive the benefit of this provision and adduce direct evidence to prove the passing of consideration. Similarly, there should be nothing to prevent him if he has evidence in his possession from proving that the maker of the instrument borrowed money to meet a family necessity and if he succeeds in proving it, the Court should not refuse to apply the Hindu Law on the subject, merely because the suit is based on a negotiable instrument. 1939 Pat 97 (104, 106) [AIR V 26] : 17 Pat 549 (DB).

[13] Frame of the suit or question relating to adjectival law or even consideration based on commercial convenience to be found in Act, should not be allowed to prevail against substantive law or to decide point finally whether other members of family would or would not be liable for debts incurred by manager. 1942 Mad 62 (66) [AIR V 29].

[14] Karta of joint Hindu family borrowing money from time to time for necessities of family — Successive accounts taken and new promissory notes executed by karta — Suit on last promissory note so executed against karta and other members — Plaintiff giving series of transactions and mentioning that note was executed as proof thereof — Cause of action alleged on date when hand note was executed — Held that the plaintiff could and ought to be treated as claiming repayment of a debt evidenced and acknowledged by the hand-note — Assa but was maintainable against all other members who were liable only to the extent of their share in the family property. 1939 Pat 400 (492) [AIR V 26] (DB).

[15] Execution of pro-note by member of joint Hindu family — Endorsement assignor only pro-note — Endorsee had remedy only against executant and not against other members of family. 1940 Mad 174 (175) [AIR V 27].

[16] See also S. 28.

6. Negotiable instruments by partner of firm.—[1] Section 27 involves the consequence that, so far as the making, drawing, acceptance, indorsement, delivery and negotiation of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque are concerned, these acts must, in order to bind the firm, be done by a partner in the name of the firm and it is not sufficient that they are done in any other manner expressing or implying an intention to bind the firm which, under S. 22 of the Partnership Act, would otherwise be sufficient to bind the firm, for the latter section must yield to the special provisions of the Negotiable Instruments Act. 1945 Mad 439 (440) [AIR V 32].

[2] It is not necessary that the negotiable

instrument should be signed by the partner in the name of the firm; but the name of the firm as the party liable on the note must be sufficiently disclosed. 1945 Mad 439 (440) [AIR V 52]* 1928 Mad 1196 (1198) [AIR V 15]. (Where some of the partners signed the agreement without mention of their capacity and the instrument disclosed that the agreement was made on behalf of the firm, held that the other partners also were bound by the agreement.)

[3] Neither the recital in the note that the borrowing was for the purposes of the firm's business nor the description of the executant in the preamble as a partner of the firm can be regarded as sufficient to disclose that the firm is the party liable on the note and is perfectly consistent with his executing the note as the party liable on it. 1945 Mad 439 (440) [AIR V 52].

[4] Where a promissory note is executed by one of the partners of a firm not in the name of the firm but in his individual capacity, it is binding only on the executant and not on the other partners of the firm. 1933 Bom 101 (103) [AIR V 20] (DB)* 1938 Nag 252 (253) [AIR V 23]* 1933 Rang 131 (133) [AIR V 20].

[5] Pro-note signed by one partner alone but headed by partnership name—Form of pro-note held showed that that partner alone was liable—Other partner not liable. 1928 Lah 722 (724) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[6] A promissory note written in Tamil contained only one signature which contained the personal name of one of the defendants together with the initials of the defendant firm—Held that the defendant who signed the pro-note was not signing for himself but on behalf of his firm and that this custom was fully recognized among the Chettys trading in Bangoon. 1933 Rang 265 (267) [AIR V 20]. (Under the law merchant, evidence of usage has always been admitted to explain written documents; such evidence is also sanctioned by the Indian Evidence Act; and commercial usage has been expressly recognised in the Negotiable Instruments Act.)

[7] Where it is evident from an instrument that the intention is to make a firm liable it is not necessary that the name of the firm should be written immediately above the signature of the person signing that instrument. 1930 Sind 4 (6) [AIR V 17]. (A hundi purported to come from a firm. On the instrument were words purporting to show the drawer as the firm. After giving compliments of the firm it proceeded "further we have drawn on you one receipt for Rs. 1,000." The signature of the partner of the firm who signed the hundi was preceded by the word "dustkhat"—Held that the prefixing of "dustkhat" to the signature denoted that the person incurred no personal liability on the instrument. It was the firm which was to be liable on the instrument and not the partner.)

[8] In the absence of express or implied agency, partnership cannot be presumed and therefore a debt incurred by the managers of the trade by executing a promissory note is not binding on the other members. 1934 Mad 327 (329) [AIR V 21] (DB).

[9] The mere fact that the executant of a pro-note describes himself as the proprietor of a firm and the document is written on a note-paper with the name and description of the firm printed on it is not sufficient to hold the firm liable on the pro-note. The name of a person or firm to be charged upon a negotiable instrument must be clearly stated on the face or the back of the instrument, so that the responsibility is made plain and can be instantly recognised. 1954 Lah 815 (816) [AIR V 21] : 15 Lah 901 (DB).

[10] See also S. 28 and Ss. 18 to 22 generally of the Partnership Act (IX of 1932).

[11] A promissory note ran as follows: "I, the undersigned B son of A have undertaken the work of supply under military contract at P. That the a (contract) stands in the name of M and Brothers. I am carrying on its management and I have got its full power. Rs. 6,000, in words, Rupees six thousand, in cash have been taken from S on 21st February, 1952, for supply in the month of February in the presence of G. That amount I will return to Suganmal when he shall ask for it. Dated 21st February, 1952." The signature on this read "B for M and brothers." Held, that on a fair reading of the instrument, the promissory note was executed by B representing M and Brothers and it was M and Brothers who were indicated as the principal who would be liable on it. 1959 Bom 90 (Pr 8) [AIR V 46 C 54] : ILR (1959) Bom 458.

[12] Where there is a loan to the firm, and an independent security for that loan is taken from one of the partners, the enforceability or otherwise of the security cannot affect the lender's right to maintain a suit on the cause of action which he has against the firm on the loan. S. 27 does not apply to the case. 1958 Ker 257 (Pr 9) [AIR V 45 C 91] : ILR (1957) Ker 968 (DB).

SECTION 28 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Personal liability of agent.
3. Trustees.
4. Manager of joint Hindu family.
5. Partners of firm.
6. Guardians.

1. Scope.—[1] Section 28 does not apply if promissory note is not negotiable. (10) 11 Cal L Jour 236 (241) (DB).

[2] Section 28 does not apply only to negotiable instruments written in English. (15) 14 Mad L Tim 502 (504) (DB).

[3] Effect of S. 26 of the English Bills of Exchange Act is not same as that of S. 28. Hence English decisions can be of no assistance in construing S. 28. 1941 Mad 417 (425) [AIR V 28] : ILR (1941) Mad 513.

[4] Principle of S. 28 that if promissory note is made payable by person as agent of another, latter is not liable personally on note, applies also to case of payee. 1918 Mad 524 (525) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[5] The language of S. 29 is widely different from that of S. 28. Under S. 28 it is sufficient to indicate that personal liability is excluded. Under S. 29 there must be express words limiting the liability, and under S. 25 the agent's liability may be altogether excluded but under S. 29 the executor's liability can only be limited to the extent of the assets. 1926 Mad 390 (392) [AIR V 13] (DB).

[6] Where a person after signing his name on a negotiable instrument adds "Managing Director or Managing Agent," it is not sufficient to indicate that he is making the Company liable and thereby excluding his personal liability. He must clearly indicate the name of the principal on the instrument itself and state that he is doing it for or on behalf of such principal as agent and not in his personal capacity. 1951 Raj 64 (65) [AIR V 33 C 25] (DB).

2. Personal liability of agent. — [1] It is of the utmost importance that the name of a person or firm to be charged upon a negotiable document should be clearly stated on the face or on the back of the document so that the responsibility is made plain and can be instantly recognised as the document passes from hand to hand. It is not sufficient that the principal's name should be in some way disclosed. It must be disclosed in such a way that on any fair interpretation of the instrument his name is the real name of the person liable upon the instrument. 1918 PC 146 (147) [AIR V 5 : 46 Ind App 33 : 48 Cal 683] + 1934 Lah 358 (359) [AIR V 21 : 15 Lah 652 (DB)].

[2] It is contrary to established rules to contend that in an action on a bill of exchange or a promissory note against a person whose name properly appears as party to the instrument it is open either by way of claim or defence to show that the signatory was in reality acting for an undisclosed principal. 1918 PC 146 (147) [AIR V 5 : 46 Ind App 33 : 48 Cal 683] + 1934 Mad 327 (329) [AIR V 21] (DB) + 1937 Oudh 65 (66, 67) [AIR V 24] : 12 Luck 472 (DB).

[3] The Court cannot look into the surrounding circumstances when deciding whether the maker of a promissory note has executed it as the agent or the representative of another. It is the instrument alone which has to be looked at. If the authority of the agent is questioned his authority must be established before the instrument is looked at. It is the duty of the Court to read the instruments and judge its effect from the words used but a promissory note drawn up in vernacular language cannot always be construed according to the literal translation into English. Nor can the English rules of construction be applied in interpreting documents executed by the people of India in their own vernacular. When in a pro-note written in any Indian language the person after giving his own description adds that he is the agent of another it means that he is acting as the other's agent in the matter of the execution of the document. 1941 Mad 417 (421, 424, 426, 427) [AIR V 28] : ILR (1941) Mad 513 (FB) [AIR 1935 Mad 447 (FB), Overruled].

[4] Where a promissory note is such that on the face of it there is nothing to indicate that the promisor signed his name to the document as an agent or that he did not intend thereby to incur personal responsibility, nobody except the promisor can be sued on the note. 1920 Cal 911 (911) [AIR V 7] (DB) + 1937 Pat 428 (429) [AIR V 24].

[5] Where maker of a note described himself as agent in promote but his promise to pay was unqualified and the note was also signed without any addition to the signature by any reference to his alleged principal, he could not evade personal liability. Agent will be liable unless he clearly expresses in instrument that he does not incur personal liability. 1916 Mad 293 (295) [AIR V 3] : 38 Mad 482 (FB) + (12) 23 Mad L Jour 417 (426) (DB).

[6] Unless the maker has clearly affixed his signature to the negotiable instrument on account of or on behalf of a principal whose name is clearly disclosed or unless though he has signed his name unconditionally, he has unequivocally and clearly disclaimed in some portion of the document his own responsibility and mentions the name of the person really liable, he cannot escape personal responsibility. (15) 14 Mad L Tim 502(504)(DB).

[7] A promissory note was executed by a person signing it for himself and on behalf of another as his agent. In the body of the note the name of the person alone signing it was mentioned—Held that the person on whose behalf the note was executed was also liable because there was nothing to preclude an agent from signing for himself and also on behalf of his principal. 1936 Mad 417 (418) [AIR V 23].

[8] Where a Chairman of Co-operative Society executed promissory note describing himself as Chairman of Co-operative Society in the body of the instrument but neither expressly excluding his personal liability nor stating that he was executing promissory note on behalf of Society—Held that he was personally liable under S. 28. 1932 Bom 607 (608, 609) [AIR V 19] (DB).

[9] Section 28 can have no application to a case where it is found that the defendant signed Hundi as mumm of firm and that money was lent not to him in his personal capacity but to firm. 1923 All 407 (407) [AIR V 10] (DB).

[10] Where the preliminary words of the Hundi clearly indicated that the drawers of the Hundis were the firm of Budhumal and that their name was the real name of the persons liable on the Hundis, held that the mere fact that the defendants signed the Hundis without mentioning that they were doing so as agents or servants of the firm will not make them personally liable under the Hundi. 1923 Lah 197 (203) [AIR V 10] : 4 Lah 142 (DB).

[11] When promisor describes executant as agent in body and agent signs as agent he is not personally liable, inference being he did not intend to make himself personally liable. 1915 Mad 1131 (1132) [AIR V 2].

[12] Agent executed promote to which he put his signature, prefixing his principal's "vilaxam" thereto. Amount was debited to principal, in the body of note. Held that principal alone was liable. 1919 Mad 183 (183) [AIR V 6] (DB).

[13] Where the promissory note executed by a person while he was the common manager of an estate, does not indicate that he executed it as agent of the proprietors and in the body of the note he does not say that he was executing it as common manager and on behalf of the proprietors and the addition of the words "common manager" after his signature, appear to be only words of description of the position of the person, the person is personally liable under the promissory note. [14] Where authorized agent of mahant executed hand-note for obtaining court-fee for appeal from suit filed by mahant and it was found that the use of the money by the agent for the purpose of litigation was for the personal purposes of the mahant, the mahant was personally liable to repay loan and he would be liable to personal decree against him, and that he was bound by act of his agent—Held case was not one of signature by agent for undisclosed principal as signatory was mahant though actual signature was given by authorised agent. 1934 Pat 435 (437, 438) [AIR V 21] (DB).

[15] Where agent borrows and executes promissory note in his personal capacity, under S. 28, agent alone can be held liable, but in suit on original consideration principal may be held liable in proper case. 1932 Nag 27 (27) [AIR V 19] : 27 Nag L R 324.

[16] It is contrary to all established principles that in an action on a bill of exchange or promissory note against person whose name properly appears as a party to the instrument, it is open either by way of claim or defence to show that the signatory was in reality acting for an undisclosed principal. None but the executants must be made liable. But it is open to the plaintiffs to frame their case in an alternative form and to sue both on the hundis and alternatively upon the consideration. 1937 Mad 1 (3) [AIR V 24].

[17] The essence of a tripartite arrangement between a third person, promisor not agent of the third person and promisee was to conceal third person's indebtedness from the promisee and to make him believe that the promisor was the debtor. The promisor lent himself to the scheme fully understanding that its object was the deception of the promisee—Held that the promisor was not induced by the promisee to believe that he would not be held liable upon his promissory notes within the meaning of S. 28. 1929 P C 297 (298, 299) [AIR V 16] : 57 Ind App 1 : 5 Luck 1. (AIR 1926 Oudh 248, Reversed.)

[18] Where bill of exchange is accepted by agent of drawee, acceptance is good. The hand that holds pen is immaterial, if in fact there is authority to sign. 1930 Cal 697 (700) [AIR V 17] : 57 Cal 695 (DB).

[19] On a plain reading of Ss. 27 and 28, a general authority to transact business and to discharge debts does not confer upon an agent the power of endorsing bills of exchange so as to bind his principal. Nor can an agent escape personal liability unless he indicates that he signs as an agent and does not intend to incur personal liability. 1953 Orissa 179 (183) [AIR V 40 C 60] : 1 L R (1953) Cut 221 (DB).

3. Trustees. — [1] In a suit on a promissory note executed by trustee or executor who does not however sign as trustee or executor, there can only be a personal decree against executant, or, if the executant is dead, against his or her legal heirs, and there cannot be decree against the trust estate or testator's heirs. 1918 Mad 300 (303) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[2] Promissory note executed by trustee—Liability restricted to personal promise—Suit on promissory note—Decree against trust properties cannot be passed. 1942 Mad 198 (198, 199) [AIR V 29].

[3] Trustees or managers of temple borrowing money on promissory notes incur personal liability and S. 28, or its principle does not apply to such pronotes. 1943 Mad 247 (248) [AIR V 30].

[4] Trustees who executed a promissory note on behalf of a Devaswom are liable for the debt and no decree can be passed against the assets of the Devaswom even though the money was borrowed and utilised for necessary purposes of the Devaswom, when beyond the description of the executants as uralars and the statement that the debt had been borrowed for purposes of the Devaswom there is no indication in the promissory note that the uralars wanted to exclude their personal liability. 1951 Mad 423 (424, 425) [AIR V 38 C 128].

4. Manager of joint Hindu family.

[1] Although endorsee of a promissory note executed by manager of joint Hindu family cannot sue other members on the debt and recover the debt from their share in the family property yet if endorsee retransfers the promissory note in favour of the original creditor a suit can be filed by the original creditor against the maker and other members of the family to recover the debt from shares of all the members in the family property. 1947 Mad 129 (129, 130) [AIR V 32].

[2] A suit on a promissory note executed by Karta of a joint Hindu family for goods and cash advance taken from time to time for the family for which he executed several 'hatchathis' and hand-notes is a suit based on the debts with the pro-note as proof of it and can be maintained against minors against whom the effect of the hand-notes is to keep alive their liability as debtors and not to impose any new liability. 1939 Pat 490 (492) [AIR V 26] (DB).

[3] The endorsee of a promissory note executed by the managing member of a Hindu family is limited to his remedy on the note. Unless the endorsement is so worded as to transfer the debt as well and the stamp law is complied with, and therefore in the case of an ordinary endorsement, the indorsee cannot sue the non-executant co-parceners on the ground of their liability under the Hindu law. 1938 Mad 377 (379) [AIR V 25] : 1 L R 1938 Mad 568 (FB). (AIR 1917 Mad 61, Overruled.)

[4] Although the liability of co-parceners can be enforced in suit upon note executed by manager, such liability is external to the note and does not arise until the manager's liability has been established. 1934 Mad 350 (352) [AIR V 21].

[5] Person is not liable upon a pro-note on bill of exchange unless his name appears in such manner as to make him the person really liable on it—Only one exception has been made to this rule and that is case of Karta of joint Hindu family. 1942 Pat 337 (338, 339) [AIR V 29] (DB).

[6] The fact that a decree is obtained on a pro-note is not conclusive with reference to the contention that a decree obtained on the basis of a negotiable instrument executed by a person who may happen to be a manager of a Hindu family (other than a father) cannot be executed as against the members of the family not parties to the instrument. 1955 N U C (Orissa) 5690 [AIR V 42] (DB).

5. Partners of firm.—[1] Where a person executing a promissory note alleges that he

29. Liability of legal representative signing.

A legal representative of a deceased person who signs his name to a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is liable personally thereon unless he expressly limits his liability to the extent of the assets received by him as such.

executed it on behalf of a firm of which he is a partner, unless the responsibility of the firm is made plain and can instantly be recognised or the instrument passes from hand to hand ordinarily the person signing alone will be liable. Where a promissory-note is signed by one person alone and there is nothing to show that he has signed the document on behalf of a joint family firm the signature standing by itself must be construed as a personal signature and the family is not bound on the face of the document. 1936 Nag 252 (253) [AIR V 23].

[2] Where a partner executed a promissory-note in which he described himself in the body of the note as a partner but it was signed by the executant without any further designation — Held that as the executant had signed the note without indicating that he did not intend to make himself personally liable he was personally liable and the other partners were not liable on it. 1938 Mad 984 (985) [AIR V 23].

[3] Where a promissory note has been signed personally by all partners of a firm individually, adjudication of one of the partners in the firm's name as insolvent and his composition with the creditors will not absolve the other partners who were no parties to the insolvency proceedings and the composition from their personal liability under the promissory note. 1927 Rang 99 (100) [AIR V 14] : 4 Rang 551 (DB).

[4] Pro-note signed by person as managing partner — Words held not merely descriptive but indicated liability of firm. 1944 Oudh 273 (274) [AIR V 31] : 20 Luck 1.

6. Guardians. — [1] Principle in S. 28 applies to cases of guardian and ward. 1926 Mad 390 (392) [AIR V 13] (DB).

[2] Mere description of executant as guardian of minor is not sufficient to indicate that executant did not intend to bind his own estate but of the minor. 1927 Mad 1018 (1019) [AIR V 14]. (Cases on contracts have no application.)

[3] The Negotiable Instruments Act contains no provision as to promissory-notes, signed by guardian and Ss. 28 and 30 of the Act do not cover all cases of representation and cannot therefore be applied to them. The case of one person signing for another who is sui juris is not pari passu with that of a person executing a document on behalf of another who is incapable of contracting. 1916 Mad 677 (678) [AIR V 3] : 39 Mad 915 (DB).

[4] Promissory note executed by mother — Minor sons described in body as makers — But note signed by mother not as guardian — Original note executed in renewal of promissory-note executed by father — Minor sons are liable for debt on note. 1935 Mad 447 (448, 449) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 735 (FB). (Overruled in AIR 1941 Mad 417 (FB), on another point.)

[5] A promissory note contained the sentence "To this effect is the promissory note executed with our consent and in the handwriting of T. V. S., the guardian T. V. S.", signed his name alone across the stamp and again below the stamp as guardian for minor S. — Held that the guardian also made himself personally liable. 1935 Mad 160 (161) [AIR V 22].

[6] Even if a promissory note does not disclose that the borrowing was on behalf of the minor, still the minor's estate would be liable for the debt evidenced by the promissory-note if it is proved to have been incurred for his benefit or in respect of which he was otherwise liable. (39) 50 Mad L W 374 (374).

[7] It is only in a case where the guardian has been made a party to the suit and the equities between the guardian and the minor could be worked out by applying the principle of subrogation that a decree can be passed against the minor on a promissory note. 1958 Andh Pra 713 (715) [AIR V 45 C 208] : 1 LR (1957) Andh Pra 429 (DB).

Section 29 — Note 1

[1] Term "legal representative" in S. 29 includes executors or administrators. 1928 Mad 390 (394) [AIR V 13] (DB).

[2] It is not necessary for the applicability of S. 29 that the alleged executor should be executor in fact. 1928 Mad 390 (393) [AIR V 13] (DB).

[3] Executant of pro-note not signing it in representative capacity is personally liable. 1916 Sind 66 (69) [AIR V 3] : 9 Sind L R 150 (DB).

[4] Executor or guardian is personally liable on pronote executed by him, though it is for benefit of estates concerned, unless such liability is excluded in manner provided in S. 29. 1925 Mad 371 (372) [AIR V 12].

[5] Section 29 applies where person signs promissory note without adding anything to show that he is acting as executor or administrator, but not where the payee deals with the promisor as an executor. 1928 Bom 539 (545) [AIR V 15].

[6] Under S. 29 the liability should be expressly limited and not merely impliedly. Where a pronote executed by certain executors was headed "Estate of the Late A" and in body of note as well as in signature the executants described themselves as executors of A it was held that the executors were personally liable as they had not expressly limited their liability to assets received by them. 1933 Bom 444 (445) [AIR V 20] (DB) + (35) ILR (1955) Mys 187 (189).

30. Liability of drawer.

The drawer of a bill of exchange or cheque is bound, in case of dishonour by the drawee or acceptor thereof, to compensate the holder, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, the drawer as hereinafter provided.

Section 30 — Note 1

[1] Drawer of hundi, not surety for its acceptance—Hundi not accepted—Liability of drawer—The drawer of a hundi is not a surety for acceptance because the drawee does not become liable until he accepts. Therefore, unless and until he does that, there is no debt for which he can be held responsible. It follows that there is no principal for whom the drawer can stand surety. Therefore when there is no acceptance, the liability of the drawer is as principal debtor under implied contract of indemnity. His undertaking is conditional only and his liability does not arise unless instrument is dishonoured either by non-acceptance or by non-payment. 1938 Nag 262 (263) [AIR V 25] : ILR (1940) Nag 502.

[2] Hundi—Namjogi Hundi—A obtaining Namjogi Hundi drawn by B and made payable to C—A sending it to C by ordinary post—Hundi intercepted by thief and payee's name removed and another name substituted for it. Amount of Hundi paid by drawee to person substituted by thief as endorsee—Drawer held not liable—Drawee held liable in damages for wrongful conversion of hundi, measure of damages being amount of hundi. 1940 Bom 82 (84) [AIR V 2] (DB).

[3] Drawer of bill of exchange or cheque cannot set up collateral agreement as defence to claim under S. 30. When, as security for acceptance, drawer of hundi handed over to Bank, Railway receipts for goods consigned to him as collateral security and Bank through mistake handed over receipts to drawee before acceptance, loss of collateral security in no way affects their right to recover amount of hundi from drawer. 1915 Sind 24 (25) [AIR V 2] : 9 Sind L R 92 (DB).

[4] D/A drafts discounted with bank—Confirmed credit therefor provided in another bank—Drafts dishonoured after acceptance—Documents of title delivered to consignee on acceptance of drafts—Claim against drawers—Delivery of documents not unreasonable—Drawers are liable in the absence of express contract or other duty having that effect—Discounting is not an out and out sale. 1927 P C 195 (203) [AIR V 14] : 54 Ind App 317 : 55 Cal 1.

[5] A cheque ordinarily operates as a conditional payment which is rendered ineffective if it is not honoured. The same position arises in the matter of hundis. 1957 Punj 257 (258) [AIR V 44 C 93] (DB).

[6] A drew a cheque on B bank in favour of C or bearer and after crossing it generally handed it to C who endorsed it in blank and gave it to his servant D with direction to pay it into local treasury. D went to E, a banker by profession, cashed it and disappeared with the money. On instructions from A, the Bank B refused the payment of the cheque to E who demanding the payment from A and C; the drawer and endorser respectively of the cheque, and on their refusal to pay sued them for the money; Held, that as E had no cause to believe the defect in title of D, he was a holder in due course and as such was entitled under S. 35 to claim payment from A and C on the drawee Bank B's refusal to pay. 1952 All 590 (594) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

[7] Cheque drawn on branch X of Bank A handed over to Bank B for collection—Cheque sent by Bank B to branch Y of Bank A for realisation—Amount realised from branch X but amount not realised by Bank B by reason of Bank A going into liquidation—Branch not juridical person—Cheque is dishonoured by Bank A—Only party liable is drawer and not bank B. 1952 Cal 385 (386) [AIR V 39].

Notice of dishonour.

[8] Drawer of hundi is not liable if due notice of dishonour is not given to him and fact of payee demanding payment two months after maturity is not sufficient compliance with Ss. 93 and 106 of Act. 1929 Lah 577 (578) [AIR V 16] : 11 Lah 34 (DB).

[9] Sections 30, 93 should be read along with S. 98. When no formal notice of dishonour is given and it is alleged that party charged did not suffer damage for want of such notice, burden of proof lies on person who did not give notice to prove absence of damage. (11) 1911 Pun L R No. 173, p. 637 (638).

[10] A drew a cheque on B in favour of C on 23-3-1945. C presented the cheque B for payment on 21-3-1945 but it was returned with endorsement that it would be honoured after collection of assets of the drawer. C then negotiated the cheque with plaintiff Bank and received full payment. The plaintiff then presented the cheque to B on 26-5-1945, but it was dishonoured on ground that the payment had been stopped by the drawer. The plaintiff thereupon sued A and C for recovery of the amount of the dishonoured cheque. Held, that (1) the endorsement, dated 23-3-1945 did not amount to a dishonour of the cheque within S. 92, Negotiable Instruments Act and therefore the plaintiff was the holder in due course when the cheque was subsequently dishonoured on 26-5-1945. (2) The drawer A was liable to compensate the plaintiff under S. 30 and as the cheque was dishonoured after the payment was stopped by A, no question of notice to A under S. 30 could arise. 1951 Assam 127 (129) [AIR V 38 C 60] (DB).

[11] Under S. 30 the drawer of a cheque is liable to pay only when (1) the cheque is dishonoured and (2) notice of such dishonour has been given or circumstances exist which render it unnecessary to give such notice. The notice of dishonour is, therefore, a part of the cause of action on a dishonoured cheque. 1951

31. Liability of drawee of cheque.

The drawee of a cheque having sufficient funds of the drawer in his hands properly applicable to the payment of such cheque must pay the cheque when duly required so to do, and, in default of such payment, must compensate the drawer for any loss or damage caused by such default.

32. Liability of maker of note and acceptor of bill.

In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the maker of a promissory note and the acceptor before maturity of a bill of exchange are bound to pay the

Section 30 — Note 1 (contd.)

Cal 262 (263) [AIR V 38 C 55] : ILR (1950) 1 Cal 606.

[12] Where the holder of a hundi payable at sight without presenting it for acceptance presents the same to the drawee for payment and the hundi is dishonoured, notice of dishonour to the drawer is necessary and where the same is not given within a reasonable time the drawer is absolved of his liability on the hundi. 1958 Pung 222 (227) [AIR V 45 C 60] : ILR (1958) Pung 1178 (DB).

[13] It is no doubt true that a holder of a cheque who brings a suit against the drawer of the cheque on basis of his liability on account of the dishonour of the cheque is bound to give previous notice to the drawer and further if he takes up the plea that notice was not necessary under the circumstances as provided in S. 98 of the Act it is for him to prove any of the conditions mentioned in S. 98. But where the suit by the holder is not for compensation on account of dishonour of the cheque but on the contrary for recovery of the balance of money due on the original transaction of having supplied paddy and in discharge of which the dishonoured cheque was given, no question of notice of dishonour can arise. 1954 Orissa 124 (126) [AIR V 41 C 56] : ILR (1954) Cut 46 (DB).

[14] Strictly no notice of dishonour would be necessary to the drawer who has not provided sufficient funds to meet the cheque. Even if such a notice of dishonour is necessary where it has been sufficiently established that the drawer did not suffer any damage by reason of the failure to give notice because he had no cause of action against the holder under the negotiable instrument, namely the cheque, S. 98(c) would apply to the case. (57) 1957-27 Com Cas 494 (496, 497) (Mad).

Section 31 — Note 1

[1] Drawee is not liable as such on hundi till he has accepted same. Burden of proof is therefore on holder, to show that drawee had accepted liability to pay. 1930 All 106 (107) [AIR V 17] (DB).

[2] Bank making payment through mistake in respect of cheque countermanded by drawer is not entitled to refund of amount from payee. 1930 Lah 852 (854) [AIR V 17] : 11 Lah 667 (DB).

[3] Money cashed on forged cheque—Owner of cheque book is not to bear loss unless gross negligence intimately connected with transaction is proved — In absence of this drawee is liable. 1924 Rang 264 (266) [AIR V 11] (DB).

[4] The default of payment no doubt gives a right to the drawer to claim compensation but none-the-less there is an obligation on the drawee to make payment of the cheque on presentation if the funds are available. 1960 Assam 191 (203) [AIR V 47 C 47] (DB).

[5] The drawee of a negotiable instrument is not liable on it to the payee, unless he has accepted it. Under S. 32 the liability of the drawee arises only when he accepts the bill. There is no provision in the Act that the drawee is as such liable on the instrument, the only exception being under S. 31 in the case of a drawee of a cheque having sufficient funds of the customer in his hands; and even then the liability is only towards the drawer and not the payee. 1954 S C 554 (556) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503.

[6] Damages can be awarded even without proof of any special loss where a cheque issued by a non-trader-customer is wrongly dishonoured by the bank, even though the person might have suffered no special loss as a result of such dishonouring. In such cases the damages will only be nominal. But in cases where a cheque issued by a trader-customer is wrongfully dishonoured even special damages could be awarded without proof of special loss or damage. 1959 Mad 153 (154) [AIR V 46 C 47] : ILR (1959) Mad 198 (DB).

[7] Cheque drawn on branch A of Bank A handed over to Branch B for collection — Cheque sent by Bank B to branch Y of Bank A for realisation — Amount realised from branch X but amount not realised by Bank B by reason of Bank A going into liquidation — Branch not juridical person — Cheque is dishonoured by Bank A — Only party liable is drawer and not Bank B. 1952 Cal 385 (386) [AIR V 39].

[8] The proceeds of the cheque collected by a bank as agent of the holder are held by it as a trustee for him. Where one branch of a bank which is liable to honour a negotiable instrument validly debits the accounts of its own customer and transfers the money to another branch or to its head office the transaction does involve a receipt of money by the transferee bank. It is not merely a transfer of bank's money from one branch to another. The obligation to honour a cheque of a customer rests on the branch on which the cheque is drawn and no other and for this purpose the branch and the head office must be treated as different banks. 1950 Bom 375 (376, 377, 378) [AIR V 37 C 109].

Section 32 — Note 1

[1] If, on failure of principal debtor, the money is claimed from surety and the surety executes a promissory note he becomes a principal debtor. 1945 All 233 (234, 235) [AIR V 32] : ILR (1945) All 117 (DB).

amount thereof at maturity according to the apparent tenor of the note or acceptance respectively, and the acceptor of a bill of exchange at or after maturity is bound to pay the amount thereof to the holder on demand.

In default of such payment as aforesaid, such maker or acceptor is bound to compensate any party to the note or bill for any loss or damage sustained by him and caused by such default.

Section 32 — Note 1 (contd.)

[2] Where a promote is executed in absence and without knowledge of payee to help friend of maker to raise money on it and money is subsequently advanced on such instrument to third party the promote must be deemed to have been executed for consideration. 1916 All 310 (311) [AIR V 3] (DB).

[3] Payee of a promissory note if he has made contract to contrary with maker cannot sue on note unless he has performed the contract, as maker can set up against payee such subsequent written agreement. (11) 7 Nag L R 39 (40, 41).

[4] General rule is that acceptor of bill of exchange is principal debtor and drawer is surety. It is open to acceptor to prove that by virtue of contract between himself and holder of bill of exchange, his liability is that of surety, and not of principal debtor. Mere notice of defendant's position as accommodation acceptor is insufficient to preclude holder from taking him as principal debtor. (10) 13 Oudh Cas 206 (213, 214, 217) (DB).

[5] The endorers of a hundi can, if they choose, avail themselves of the provisions of S. 78 read with S. 82 (c) and sue the drawer on the hundi which has not been honoured. But this does not prevent them from suing for compensation under S. 32 and S. 117 (c). 1928 Sind 86 (87) [AIR V 15] : 22 Sind L R 305.

[6] The fact that the maker of pro-note is partner of payee is no defence to suit on note unless instrument is treated as escrow or nullity. 1919 Mad 373 (373) [AIR V 6] (DB).

[7] Where by the promissory note the defendant undertakes an absolute engagement to pay on demand a sum of money together with interest thereon he is bound to pay the amount according to the tenor of the promissory note. The fact that the promissory note was with reference to some partnership transaction is insufficient to restrain a suit on the basis of the promissory note which is in such a form as to bind not the partnership firm but the defendant himself. The executant partner can, therefore, be sued upon by a copartner on the promissory note without taking final accounts of the partnership business and whatever the state of accounts between the two may be. 1960 Madh-Pra 113 (114) [AIR V 47 C 50].

[8] As a rule a creditor may always sue on the original consideration if the pro-note is not paid provided there are no circumstances which keep intact the liability of the maker under the pro-note. Payment of the amount due on a pro-note in order to discharge the maker must be made to the holder of the instrument though he may be a benamidar. So long as that is not done the liability of the maker continues. The fact that the holder of the pro-note though made a party to the suit on original consideration by the creditor does not appear in the suit cannot bring about discharge of the maker's liability under the note by raising estoppel against him as the only method of discharge is indicated in S. 78 and there can be no estoppel against statute. 1957 Cal 753 (754) [AIR V 24] : 1 L R (1958) 1 Cal 450 (DB).

[9] There is essential antithesis between legal position of surety and that of executant of promissory note and so person executing promissory note cannot in law have position of surety. 1929 All 664 (665) [AIR V 16] (DB). (AIR 1924 Rang 360, Dist.)

[12] Promissory note executed by guardian mentioning minor as maker—Mere fact that promisee has to prove that transaction was for benefit of minor does not make liability under note conditional liability. 1955 Mad 447 (449) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 735 (FB).

33. Only drawee can be acceptor except in need or for honour.

No person except the drawee of a bill of exchange, or all or some of several drawees, or a person named therein as a drawee in case of need, or an acceptor for honour, can bind himself by an acceptance.

34. Acceptance by several drawees not partners.

Where there are several drawees of a bill of exchange who are not partners, each of them can accept it for himself, but none of them can accept it for another without his authority.

35. Liability of indorser.

In the absence of a contract to the contrary, whoever indorses and delivers a negotiable instrument before maturity without, in such indorsement, expressly excluding or making conditional his own liability, is bound thereby to every subsequent holder, in case of dishonour by the drawee, acceptor or maker, to compensate such holder for any loss or damage caused to him by such dishonour, provided due notice of dishonour has been given to, or received by, such indorser as hereinafter provided.

Every indorser after dishonour is liable as upon an instrument payable on demand.

[4] Where a cheque is payable to the bearer, the person to whom the payment is made is a holder and thus a surety under Ss. 37 and 38. He can, therefore, be made a party with the principal person. 1934 Pesh 10 (10) [AIR V 21].

39. Suretyship.

When the holder of an accepted bill of exchange enters into any contract with the acceptor which, under section 134 or 135 of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, would discharge the other parties, the holder may expressly reserve his right to charge the other parties, and in such case they are not discharged.

40. Discharge of indorser's liability.

Where the holder of a negotiable instrument, without the consent of the indorser, destroys or impairs the indorser's remedy against a prior party, the indorser is discharged from liability to the holder to the same extent as if the instrument had been paid at maturity.

Illustration

First indorsement, "B".

Second indorsement, "Peter Williams."

Third indorsement, "Wright & Co."

Fourth indorsement, "John Rozario."

This bill A puts in suit against John Rozario and strikes out, without John Rozario's consent, the indorsements by Peter Williams and Wright & Co. A is not entitled to recover anything from John Rozario.

41. Acceptor bound, although, indorsement forged.

An acceptor of a bill of exchange already indorsed is not relieved from liability by reason that such indorsement is forged, if he knew or had reason to believe the indorsement to be forged when he accepted the bill.

42. Acceptance of bill drawn in fictitious name.

An acceptor of a bill of exchange drawn in a fictitious name and payable to the drawer's order is not, by reason that such name is fictitious, relieved from liability to any holder in due course claiming under an indorsement by the same hand as the drawer's signature, and purporting to be made by the drawer.

43. Negotiable instrument made, etc., without consideration.

A negotiable instrument made, drawn, accepted, indorsed or transferred without consideration, or for a consideration which fails, creates no obligation of payment between the parties to the transaction. But if any such party has transferred the instrument with or without indorsement to a holder for consideration, such holder, and every subsequent holder deriving title from him, may recover the amount due on such instrument from the transferor for consideration or any prior party thereto.

Section 39 — Note 1

[1] Section 39 does not by necessary implication abrogate instruments other than bills of exchange dealt with by it. The main principle recognised as part of the law of contracts applies to the other negotiable instruments. Section 39 is a provision inserted ex abundanti cautela. 1934 Mad 75 (79) [AIR V 21] : 57 Mad 482 (DB).

[2] Where the holder of an accommodation note having no notice of its true character at the time of his taking the note but after notice thereof gives time to or releases the payee, he does not thereby discharge the maker even assuming that in the case of an accommodation note the maker is liable as the surety and the payee as the principal debtor; if the holder while releasing the payee reserves his rights against the maker, the maker is not discharged. 1934 Mad 75 (78, 81) [AIR V 21] : 57 Mad 482 (DB).

[1] Section 40, comes into operation only when the holder of a negotiable instrument destroys the endorser's remedy without the consent of the endorser. 1939 Lah 225 (231) [AIR V 26] (DB).

SECTION 43 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. "Holder for consideration".
3. "Consideration".

1. Scope. — [1] Section 43 must be read subject to S. 59 in all cases in which the latter applies. 1937 Nag 267 (267) [AIR V 24] : ILR (1937) Nag 159.

[2] On a construction of Ss. 43, 50 and 117, the endorsee of the promissory note executed by A in favour of B should be entitled to the amount under the promissory note and not the amount which he might have been proved to have actually paid for the endorsement or assignment of the promissory note in his

Exception I.—No party for whose accommodation a negotiable instrument has been made, drawn, accepted or indorsed can, if he have paid the amount thereof, recover thereon such amount from any person who became a party to such instrument for his accommodation.

Exception II.—No party to the instrument who has induced any other party to make, draw, accept, indorse or transfer the same to him for a consideration which he has failed to pay or perform in full shall recover thereon an amount exceeding the value of the consideration (if any) which he has actually paid or performed.

favour by B. 1954 Mad 960 (Pr 2) [AIR V 41 C 335].

[3] Test for liability under the latter part of S. 43 is not the receipt of consideration by the party sought to be bound or made liable, but the payment of consideration by the persons claiming the benefit of that provision—The maker of the instrument, whether with or without consideration is liable to the "holder in due course" or "the holder for consideration", he being a party to the instrument and thus coming within the description "any prior party thereto". (54) I.L.R. (1954) 1 Cal 134 (136). (AIR 1914 Bom 136, 161)

[4] When promisor has not received any consideration for promissory note, negotiable instrument does not create any obligation between the promisee and the promisor. 1938 Cal 315 (315) AIR V 23 (DB)* 1923 Rang 127 (128) [AIR V 10].

[5] There is no obligation to pay on negotiable instrument if it is accepted or endorsed without consideration. Where the defendant alleges that the plaintiff gave no consideration for the draft, this is a matter which can be proved or disproved by evidence. Proviso to S. 118 (g) must be kept in view when reading S. 120, which creates estoppel against denying the original validity of the instrument. But if fraud can be established no such estoppel arises. 1952 Punj 296 (Prs 4, 5) [AIR V 39] (DB).

44. Partial absence or failure of money-consideration.

When the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque consisted of money, and was originally absent in part or has subsequently failed in part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

Explanation.—The drawer of a bill of exchange stands in immediate relation with the acceptor. The maker of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque stands in immediate relation with the payee, and the indorser with his indorsee. Other signers may by agreement stand in immediate relation with a holder.

[1] Where a person has signed a promise to pay a large amount by reason of getting two benefits one a small cash payment and the other the cancellation of an old note, S. 44 does not apply to such case. 1940 Rang 152 (152) [AIR V 27] (DB).

[2] Hand-note reserving simple interest renewed—Compound interest charged—Renewal for second time and again compound interest charged—There is no failure of consideration to the extent of difference between simple interest and compound interest — S. 44 has no application to such case as the consideration for each renewal being forbearance to sue though not so expressed. 1938 Pat 324 (325) [AIR V 25] (DB).

Held that even assuming that the plea of contemporaneous agreement was inadmissible in evidence under S. 92 of the Evidence Act, the plea could be considered as one of partial failure of consideration which could be heard under S. 44 of the Negotiable Instruments Act. 1935 Mad 253 (254) [AIR V 22].

[4] Where a lesser amount than shown in the promissory-note is advanced by the payee, the liability of the maker is under S. 44 proportionately reduced. 1916 All 310 (312) [AIR V 3] (DB).

[5] Promotes executed by junior member of rich family who was not in possession of management of family properties and who was borrowing recklessly under the influence of bad companions—Suit on pro-notes — Held that no presumption as to quantum of consideration could be raised and lender was bound to prove by affirmative evidence that full amounts were advanced — If evidence establishes payments of smaller amounts, S. 44 will apply and plaintiff will be entitled to recover only the amounts proved to have been actually advanced. 1935 Mad 769 (774, 775) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 841 (DB).

[6] Where a promissory note has been endorsed to a third person, S. 44 cannot be applied so as to prejudice his rights. Where the maker of the promissory note stands in immediate relation to the payee S. 44 would entitle the debtor to relief. (1955) 1955 Andh W R 870 (871).

[7] Where a promissory note is executed for an amount in excess of what was due on the basis of Madras Agriculturists Relief Act, there is failure of consideration in so far as the excess amount is concerned and the plaintiff would not be entitled to more than what would be due to him after applying the provisions of that Act to the original debt and its renewals. 1953 Mad 975 (Pr 4) [AIR V 40 C 385].

[8] Renewal of pronote after commencement of Madras Act 4 of 1938 — Contention that the second promissory note is not supported by consideration to the extent of the excess of the sum that would have been payable under the earlier note if scaled down—Held that the debtor could not question the validity of the consideration and could not

45. Partial failure of consideration not consisting of money.

Where a part of the consideration for which a person signed a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, though not consisting of money, is ascertainable in money without collateral enquiry, and there has been a failure of that part, the sum which a holder standing in immediate relation with such signer is entitled to receive from him is proportionally reduced.

If the drawer on request as aforesaid refuses to give such duplicate bill, he may be compelled to do so.]

CHAPTER IV OF NEGOTIATION

46. Delivery.

The making, acceptance or indorsement of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is completed by delivery, actual or constructive.

As between parties standing in immediate relation, delivery to be effectual must be made by the party making, accepting or indorsing the instrument, or by a person authorized by him in that behalf.

plead failure of consideration and recover the amount so paid since the section applicable is 13 of Madras Act 4 of 1935 and not 8 and 9. (155) 1955-2 Mad L Jour 569 (572).

[1] Promissory note signed to get one small cash payment and cancellation of old promissory-note, Section 45 does not apply, because the consideration is not "ascertainable in money without collateral enquiry." 1940 Rang 152 (152) [AIR V 27] (DB).

[2] Where a hundi has been drawn for the price of a number of bales and only a part of the bales have been delivered, the consideration for the hundi has failed with reference to all the undelivered bales as against the payee. In a suit on the hundi, the case should be dealt with as if it were for damages for breach of contract and the question as to who broke the contract should be gone into. 1925 Mad 1168 (1169, 1170) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[3] Suit under O. 37, Civil P. C., for recovery of amount due under hundi executed in consideration of plaintiff agreeing to lease his garden upon certain terms — Defendant pleading that due to plaintiff's failure to perform terms of contract he had suffered loss in excess of the amount of hundi — Held that the plea amounted to a partial failure of consideration which could not be ascertained in money without collateral inquiry and as such was not a valid defence under S. 45 to a suit on the negotiable instrument. (10) 4 Sind L R 147 (148, 149).

[4] Suit on pro-note executed by defendant for price of trees purchased — Defendant pleading a set-off in respect of some trees cut and removed by third parties claiming adversely to plaintiff — Held that S. 45 did not bar the plea though it involved adjudication as to price of trees removed. Section 45A — Note 1

[1] Where a hundi payable at sight, is lost, the holder is not as of right entitled to demand a duplicate under S. 45-A. But a duplicate may be demanded where a bill is lost before or after maturity, as the right to demand duplicate is a part of the mercantile laws of the countries. 1924 Lah 198 (199) [AIR V 11].

SECTIONS 46-48 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Interpretation.
3. Delivery.
4. "Delivered conditionally or for special purpose."
5. Endorsement.
6. Assignment.
7. Oral assignment.

1. Scope. — [1] Though the liability in relation to a promissory note or negotiable instrument, attaches by or from delivery and S. 46 provides that as between the parties to an instrument (that means to say, the immediate parties) it may be shown that the instrument was delivered conditionally or for a special

As between such parties and any holder of the instrument other than a holder in due course, it may be shown that the instrument was delivered conditionally or for a special purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring absolutely the property therein.

A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable<sup>a</sup> to bearer is negotiable by the delivery thereof.

A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to order is negotiable by the holder by indorsement and delivery thereof.

[a] As to promissory note payable to bearer see Foot-note (a) under S. 4.

47. Negotiation by delivery.

Subject to the provisions of section 58, a promissory note,<sup>a</sup> bill of exchange or cheque payable to bearer is negotiable by delivery thereof.

Exception. — A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque delivered on condition that it is not to take effect except in a certain event is not negotiable (except in the hands of a holder for value without notice of the condition) unless such event happens.

Illustrations

(a) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer, delivers it to B's agent to keep for B. The instrument has been negotiated.

(b) A, the holder of a negotiable instrument payable to bearer, which is in the hands of A's banker, who is at the time the banker of B, directs the banker to transfer the instrument to B's credit in the banker's account with B. The banker does so, and accordingly now possesses the instrument as B's agent. The instrument has been negotiated, and B has become the holder of it.

[a] As to promissory note payable to bearer see Foot-note (a) under S. 4.

48. Negotiation by indorsement.

Subject to the provisions of section 58, a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque <sup>a</sup>[payable to order] is negotiable by the holder by indorsement and delivery thereof.

[a] Substituted for the words "payable to the order of a specified person, or to a specified person or order," by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 1919 (VIII of 1919), S. 4.

purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring absolutely the property therein. It may be shown that the instrument was delivered as collateral undertaking given to the creditor, to be enforced only in the event of the debtor failing to discharge some contemporaneous undertaking. There is no difference in substance but only in illustration and application between the provision in S. 46 and proviso 3 to S. 92 of the Evidence Act. 1927 All 292 (293, 294) [A I R V 14] : 49 All 464 (DB).

[2] Property in bill passes to endorsee on delivery actual or constructive under S. 46. It does not pass on mere endorsement. 1924 Bom 205 (206) [A I R V 11].

2. Interpretation.—[1] Words "as between such parties and any holder of instrument, other than holder in due course" in S. 46 mean "as between maker and payee or endorser and endorsee or endorsee and any holder, other than holder in due course or as between any one of such parties and any other." 1928 All 289 (292) [A I R V 15] : 50 All 754 (DB).

3. Delivery.—[1] A person may sign promissory note or negotiable instrument in his own house and keep it there without incurring any obligation to any one at all. When such document is tendered to payee and accepted by him, there arises contract between parties. Signature on negotiable instrument becomes necessary because of provisions of S. 4. It is only preparation. It does not amount to offer, and therefore does not become part of the contract. 1939 Bom 461 (463) [A I R V 26] : 1 L R (1939) Bom 651.

[2] Plaintiff sent cheque by ordinary post endorsed in favour of one T, held plaintiff had interest left in him in cheque, until delivery under S. 46. 1926 Bom 262 (263) [A I R V 13] : 50 Bom 118.

[3] Under S. 46 delivery by maker or his authorised agent to beneficiary under note is sufficient to complete transaction evidenced by note — Delivery need not necessarily be to payee. 1939 Mad 858 (859) [A I R V 26].

[4] Endorsement and delivery by only one of payees of promissory note — Endorsement and delivery is ineffectual to operate as negotiation — Other payees can make fresh and valid endorsement, thereafter. 1953 Mad 840 (Pr 3) [A I R V 40 C 323].

[5] Under S. 46 the making of a cheque is complete as soon as it is delivered by the drawer to the payee. The delivery may be actual or constructive. The delivery need not be to the person whose name is written on the cheque or even to any agent authorised by the person named as payee. So long as the delivery is made by the person drawing the cheque with the intention of making payment, the property of the drawer in the cheque passes to the payee. 1952 Nag 255 (Pr 9) [AIR V 39] : 1 L R (1949) Nag 620.

4. "Delivered conditionally or for special purpose."—[1] Where the plaintiff in whose favour the promote was endorsed knew that consideration for the note had failed and that therefore the defendant had no title to negotiate it in favour of the plaintiff, the plaintiff would have no cause of action against the maker. Section 43 would not apply to such case. (11) 10 Mad L Tim 79 (81) (DB).

[2] Delivery of instrument for specific purpose only—Property does not pass to endorsee. 1936 Pesh 181 (182) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[3] Section 46 of the Negotiable Instruments Act and S. 92 of the Evidence Act should be read together. Section 46 would make an oral contemporaneous agreement rendering liability to pay under a promissory note payable on demand conditional on the happening of an event, binding between the parties to the note and any holder of the instrument other than a holder in due course but not on a holder in due course unless it was proved that he had knowledge of it when the note was endorsed to him. 1951 Cal 55 (Pr 24) [AIR V 38 C 19] : 1 L R (1952) 1 Cal 395 (DB).

[4] If a contemporaneous oral agreement amounts to postponing liability under a promissory note which is payable on demand until the performance of a certain condition, then evidence of such agreement would be admissible under proviso 3 to S. 92, Evidence Act. If on the other hand the agreement only amounts to an arrangement for postponement of the payment, evidence of such an agreement cannot be given as it is in direct conflict with the terms of the note. 1951 Cal 55 (Prs 24, 30) [AIR V 38 C 19] : 1 L R (1952) 1 Cal 395 (DB).

[5] Agreement postponing liability must be proved—It cannot be inferred—S. 92, Evidence Act is not affected—Oral agreement that amount is payable only after accounts have been taken and if something over that amount is found due is inadmissible. 1943 Sind 67 (70, 71, 72) [AIR V 30] : 1 L R (1942) Kar 516 (DB) + 1938 P C 198 (202) [AIR V 25] : 1938 Rang L R 417 : 32 Sind L R 810 + 1930 All 529 (530) [AIR V 17] (DB).

[See 1928 All 289 (290) [AIR V 15] : 50 All 754 (DB) + 1927 All 292 (293, 294) [AIR V 14] : 49 All 464 (DB).]

[But see 1939 Pat 495 (495) [AIR V 26]. (Oral evidence can be adduced to prove agreement suspending the coming into force of contract contained in promissory note.)]

[6] The defendant in a suit on promissory note may show that the promissory note was delivered to the plaintiff conditionally or for a special purpose only. He may prove an oral collateral agreement, not in defeasance of the contract and altering the legal effect of the promissory note, but suspending the effectiveness of the promote until some condition is fulfilled. 1957 Madh R 90 (Prs 6, 7) [AIR V 44 C 37] (DB). (Suit on promissory note—Oral agreement that promissory note was not to be presented for payment and that amount secured by it was to be adjusted towards payment of outstanding bills, being in defeasance of unconditional undertaking cannot be pleaded in defence—It may afford ground for cross-action.)

[7] Promote could be shown to be given as security. 1928 Mad 1238 (1239) [AIR V 15] (DB).

5. Endorsement.—[1] Promissory note payable to order—Delivery without endorsement—Transferee gets no title. 1914 Cal 568 (567) [AIR V 1] (DB).

[2] A promissory note executed in favour of named payee is payable to his order and where it has not been endorsed by payee in favour of holder, such holder cannot recover. 1934 Bom 356 (358) [AIR V 21] (DB).

[3] Promissory note payable to particular person—Nothing to show that transfer of same is prohibited—It is a negotiable instrument payable to order—It is negotiable by endorsement—But the endorsement must be with intention of constituting the endorsee as the holder thereof, accompanied by delivery of the negotiable instrument. 1957 Nag 65 (Prs 30, 32) [AIR V 44 C 21] : 1 L R (1956) Nag 850 (DB).

[4] Mere statement that endorser has received payment from third person followed by his signature is not assignment or endorsement of promissory note. 1936 Mad 417 (419) [AIR V 23].

[5] Where the original debt in respect of which the promissory note was passed is not assigned to the endorsee of the promissory note, endorsee can only sue on the promissory note itself and not the debt. Effect of endorsement is that property in the promissory note is transferred to the endorsee with the right to further negotiation. But the endorser has no title to the debt. 1951 Bom 345 (Pr 2) [AIR V 38 C 74] : 1 L R (1951) Bom 108 (DB).

[6] Where endorsement on promissory note is of ordinary kind and not transferring debt itself endorsee cannot sue non-executant co-payers on ground of their liability under Hindu Law. 1939 Mad 846 (847) [AIR V 26] (DB).

[7] Sale of pro-note in execution of decree—Negotiable Instruments Act not in force where sale took place—Endorsement under O. 21, R. 80 or execution of sale-deed not necessary—Sale becomes absolute under O. 21, R. 77 (2) on payment of purchase money. 1953 Him-Pra 11 (Pr 7) [AIR V 40 C 6].

[8] Where a promissory note is endorsed and delivered by only one of the payees there is no valid endorsement and delivery of the note is ineffectual to operate as negotiation of the note. It is therefore open to the other payee at any time thereafter to make a fresh and valid endorsement and negotiation. 1953 Mad 840 (Pr 3) [AIR V 40 C 323].

6. Assignment.—[1] S. 46 provides for only one mode of transfer, that is, by negotiating the instrument by means of endorsement

49. Conversion of indorsement in blank into indorsement in full.

The holder of a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank may, without signing his own name, by writing above the indorser's signature a direction to pay to any other person as indorsee, convert the indorsement in blank into an indorsement in full; and the holder does not thereby incur the responsibility of an indorser.

50. Effect of indorsement.

The indorsement of a negotiable instrument followed by delivery transfers to the indorsee the property therein with the right of further negotiation; but the indorsement may, by express words, restrict or exclude such right, or may merely constitute the indorsee an agent to indorse the instrument, or to receive its contents for the indorser, or for some other specified person.

Illustrations

B. signs the following indorsements on different negotiable instruments payable to bearer :—

- (d) "The within must be credited to C." and delivery. This does not mean that there is no other method of assignment of a promissory note. There are two other modes of transferring it; and these two other methods are by operation of law, and transfer as a chose in action as contemplated by S. 130 of the Transfer of Property Act. A comparison of S. 130 with S. 137, T. P. Act clearly shows that the transfer of a promissory note by means of writing is not barred. Section 137 saves negotiable instruments from the operation of S. 130. This does not mean that S. 130 cannot be availed of for a transfer of a negotiable instrument, nor does S. 46 of the Negotiable Instruments Act debar a party from resorting to the provisions of S. 130, T. P. Act. While the transfer by negotiation of a document clothes the transferee with certain rights the assignment of it as a chose-in-action under S. 130 is limited to such rights as the transferor had in the document, i.e., the assignee takes only subject to the equities in favour of the maker of the document. Therefore an assignee of a promissory note otherwise than by indorsement such as a transfer by means of writing under S. 130 of the Transfer of Property Act, can file a suit on the promissory note. 1956 Andh 9 (Prs 29, 30, 31) [AIR V 43 C 2] + 1935 Bom 343 (346) [AIR V 22] : 59 Bom 573 + 1933 Mad 133 (133) [AIR V 20] + 1937 Oudh 405 (405, 406) [AIR V 24] : 13 Luck 373 (DB).

[8] Pro-note by D in favour of B—On same date by agreement D to pay amount of pro-note by instalments—B indorsing pro-note to P—P held could take advantage of agreement for purposes of limitation. 1944 Mad 57 (58) [AIR V 31].

[9] Endorsee not proved to be holder in due course is entitled only to such rights as endorser under note has. 1957 Mad 438 (439) [AIR V 24] (DB).

[10] Where A issues a cheque in favour of B who endorses it in favour of C who again, in his turn endorses the said cheque in favour of D by an unrestricted endorsement, a suit brought by C against A to recover the amount on the cheque being dishonoured is liable to be dismissed. 1930 Lah 248 (248, 249) [AIR V 17].

[11] Written assignment of promissory note—Assignee gets right to sue upon it—Endorsement on pro-note is not necessary to make assignment valid. 1937 Oudh 405 (405, 406) [AIR V 24] : 13 Luck 573 (DB).

[12] Where under the terms of an agreement all the assets and liabilities of a concern were transferred the transferee became entitled to the amount due under a promissory note which was in favour of the transferor concern. The title passes by reason of the transfer deed even though the promissory note is not duly endorsed to the transferee by the transferor. 1954 Mad 820 (821, 822) [AIR V 41 C 274].

[13] Promissory note by A to B—Sale of property by A to C—Recital in sale-deed that C agreed to pay note debt—Note endorsed by B to plaintiff—Held plaintiff could not make C liable for note debt as endorsement did not amount to assignment of right under agreement in sale-deed. 1935 Mad 240 (243) [AIR V 22].

[14] Section 50 requires that the restriction or exclusion of the right of further endorsement must be by express words. 1922 Mad 210 (210) [AIR V 9] (DB).

[15] Section 50 which deals with what are known as restrictive endorsements which in express words restrict or exclude the right of the endorsee, cannot be made applicable to cases where the endorsee wishes to satisfy the Court by oral evidence, that he was endorsee for a particular purpose only. 1953 Bom 209 (213) [AIR V 40 C 66].

[16] Where the endorsement is in blank it only operates to transfer the property in the instrument and not as an assignment of debt. An endorsement may operate to assign the debt as well when it is so worded and the requirements of the law with regard to stamping are complied with, but unless there is an endorsement of this nature the endorsee has right merely on the instrument. 1938 Mad 377 (379) [AIR V 25] : 1 L R (1938) Mad 568 (FB).

[17] The endorsee of a promissory note executed by the managing member of a Hindu family is limited to his remedy on the note, unless the endorsement is so worded as to transfer the debt as well and the stamp law is complied with, and, therefore, in the case of an ordinary endorsement, the endorsee cannot sue the non-executant coparceners on the ground of their liability under the Hindu Law. 1938 Mad 377 (379) [AIR V 25] : 1 L R (1938) Mad 568 (FB). [18] If an endorsee of a promote executed by the manager of a joint Hindu family retransfers the promote in favour of the original creditor, the suit can be filed by the original creditor against both the maker and other members of the family to recover the debt from the shares of all the members in the family properties. This principle applies even to a case where, after a decree has been passed in favour of the endorsee, the decree itself is transferred to the original creditor. 1945 Mad 129 (129, 130) [AIR V 32].

[19] The indorsee for collection is in no higher position than an agent and the indorsee can himself sue on the promissory note without getting it re-indorsed in his favour. ('58) 1958-2 Andh W R 279 (280).

[20] An endorsee for collection of a promissory note cannot be given relief against the joint family properties of the sons of the maker. If, however, they are brought on the record as legal representatives of their father on his death pendente lite, a decree can be passed against them payable out of the assets of the father in their hands. 1944 Mad 500 (500, 501) [AIR V 31] ★ 1939 Mad 846 (847) [AIR V 26] (DB).

[But see 1942 Mad 742 (742) [AIR V 29].]

[21] Promissory note endorsed to another person for collection of principal and interest — Endorsee is agent for collecting money and cannot negotiate it to another person unless so authorised by principal. 1940 Mad 27 (27) [AIR V 27].

[22] Even an endorsee of a promissory note for collection only can maintain a suit by himself on the promissory note though he may not be beneficially entitled to the amount due thereunder. 1956 Mad 364 (365) [AIR V 43 C 110] : ILR (1956) Mad 837 (DB).

[23] An indorsement for collection does not, as between the indorser and indorsee, pass the property in the bill to the indorsee though it puts him in a position to make title for a subsequent holder in due course. ('07) 30 Mad 441 (443) (DB).

[24] Although the endorsement of a negotiable instrument and delivery transfers to the endorsee the property therein, yet if the instrument is delivered conditionally or for a specific purpose only, and not for the purpose of transferring property therein, the property does not pass to the endorsee. The endorser may limit the right of the endorsee by express words. Where the endorsement contains no explicit words limiting the rights of the endorsee or is a blank endorsement, it is open to the endorser to lead evidence to show that it was really a conditional endorsement for a specific purpose only, namely, that of collection. 1936 Pesh 181 (182, 183) [AIR V 23] (DB) ★ 1924 Lah 640 (641) [AIR V 11].

[25] Defendant drew a hundi in favour of the plaintiff who endorsed it in favour of third party for collection. The amount not having been collected, the plaintiff sued on the hundi which, however, was not re-endorsed by the endorsee — Held that the plaintiff had a right to maintain the suit as the endorsement was conditional and for a specific purpose. ('10) 7 Mad L Tim 271 (272) (DB).

[26] Promissory note drawn by R in favour of M or to his order — M endorsing it and handing it over to V for collection — M dying — V suing on note — Held, that endorsement followed by delivery passed property in it to V who, therefore, had right to bring suit. ('10) 5 Low Bur Rul 198 (199).

[27] Where the promisee is party to the suit and the pro-note is in Court there is no merit in the plea that there is no formal proof even of the endorsement of the suit pro-note in favour of the plaintiff. 1950 Trav-Co 11 (11) [AIR V 37 C 7] (DB).

[28] The indorsee of the promissory note executed by A in favour of B should be entitled to the amount under the promissory note and not the amount which he might have been proved to have actually paid for the indorsement or the assignment of the promissory note in his favour by B. 1954 Mad 960 (960) [AIR V 41 C 335].

[29] Promissory note by guardian of Hindu minor for debt binding upon minor's estate — Suit by indorsee lies when indorsement is transfer of debt itself — Fact that it is not stamped does not mean that indorsement does not transfer debt. 1950 Mad 206 (208) [AIR V 37 C 89].

[30] Assessee carrying on business at Bhatinda not then part of British India — Supply of goods to Government of India — Payment made by cheque drawn on Delhi Bank — Cheque received at Bhatinda — Assessee selling cheque to branch of Patiala Bank at Bhatinda and receiving money — Cheque transferred to Patiala under S. 50, Negotiable Instruments Act — Assessee held received payment at Bhatinda — Subsequent receipts at Delhi by the Delhi Branch of Patiala Bank were receipts by the Bank and not by the assessee. 1953 Punj 215 (215) [AIR V 40 C 84] : I L R (1953) Punj 354 (DB).

[31] When an indorser comes again in possession of the negotiable instrument in his own right he is entitled to say so far as the parties antecedent to him are concerned that he never made the indorsement. So far as parties subsequent to him are concerned his liabilities to them are discharged. This may be shown by striking out the subsequent indorsement but the suit is maintainable even if he does not strike out the subsequent endorsements. Striking out of the subsequent endorsements may be necessary in case it is intended that the document is to be negotiated further, but when case is to be brought in a Court of law it is a mere formality. 1959 Raj 84 (85) [AIR V 46 C 27] : I L R (1959) 9 Raj 177.

[32] Subscriber to chit fund executing promissory note for money payable to chit fund by way of future instalments — Promissory note to be deemed as discharged on payment of monthly instalments — Suit by endorsee of pro-note — Held promissory note was not by way of security for payment of remaining instalments — Indorsee had the right to enforce promissory note and recover whatever money was payable by the executant. 1960 Mad 314 (315, 316) [AIR V 47 C 103].

51. Who may negotiate.

Every sole maker, drawer, payee or indorsee, or all of several joint makers, drawers, payees or indorsees, of a negotiable instrument may, if the negotiability of such instrument has not been restricted or excluded as mentioned in section 50, indorse and negotiate the same.

Explanation. — Nothing in this section enables a maker or drawer to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is in lawful possession or is holder thereof; or enables a payee or indorsee to indorse or negotiate an instrument, unless he is holder thereof.

Illustration

A bill is drawn payable to A or order. A indorses it to B, the indorsement not containing the words "or order" or any equivalent words. B may negotiate the instrument.

52. Indorser who excludes his own liability or makes it conditional.

The indorser of a negotiable instrument may, by express words in the indorsement, exclude his own liability thereon, or make such liability or the right of the indorsee to receive the amount due thereon depend upon the happening of a specified event, although such event may never happen.

Where an indorser so excludes his liability and afterwards becomes the holder of the instrument, all intermediate indorsers are liable to him.

Illustrations

(a) The indorser of a negotiable instrument signs his name, adding the words—"Without recourse."

Upon this indorsement he incurs no liability.

(b) A is the payee and holder of a negotiable instrument. Excluding personal liability by an indorsement "without recourse", he transfers the instrument to B, and B indorses it to C, who indorses it to A. A is not only reinstated in his former rights, but has the rights of an indorsee against B and C.

53. Holder deriving title from holder in due course.

A holder of a negotiable instrument who derives title from a holder in due course has the rights thereon of that holder in due course.

Section 51 — Note 1

[1] Promote endorsed to A, B and C — A endorsing it in blank and handing over note to B, and C, for collection from plaintiff — They endorsing in blank, received sum due thereon and handed it to plaintiff — Held that S. 51 has not been contravened. Section prohibits only one of two or more indorsees negotiating note; if endorsement is made by payees or indorsees, requirements of section are satisfied. 1922 Mad 210 (210, 211) [AIR V 9] (DB).

[2] The section does not require that all the payees should endorse at the same time; endorsement on different dates is valid. 1953 Mad 840 (840) [AIR V 40 C 323].

[3] The prima facie presumption is that if a person who indorses a bill of exchange to another, whether for value or for purposes of collection shall come to the possession thereof again, he shall be regarded, unless the contrary appear in evidence, as the bona fide holder and proprietor of such bill and shall be entitled to recover. 1957 Mad 691 (692) [AIR V 44 C 218]; ILR (1958) Mad 1 (DB).

[4] Where under the terms of an agreement in writing, all the assets and liabilities of a concern were transferred, the transferee became entitled to the amount due under a promissory note which was in favour of the transferor concern. The title passes to the transferee by reason of the transfer deed executed by the transferor concern even though the promissory note was not duly endorsed to the transferee by the transferor. 1954 Mad 820 (821, 822) [AIR V 41 C 274].

[5] Although an endorsement made by one of the two payees in favour of the other payee of a promissory note is invalid, the creditor has a right to get a decree on the ground that the endorsement amounted to an assignment of a chose in action. 1960 Andh Pra 174 (175) [AIR V 47 C 59].

Section 52 — Note 1

[1] When an indorsee comes again in possession of the negotiable instrument in his own right he is entitled to say so far as the parties antecedent to him are concerned that he never made the indorsement. So far as the parties subsequent to him are concerned his liabilities to them are discharged. This may be shown by striking out the subsequent indorsement but the suit is maintainable even if he does not strike out the subsequent indorsements. 1959 Raj 84 (85) [AIR V 46 C 27]; ILR (1959) 9 Raj 177.

Section 53 — Note 1

[1] A promote executed in favour of the payee or his order is presumed to be for consideration and a transferee from the payee who is the holder in due course acquires the rights of the payee under S. 53 and can maintain an action on the promote against the maker. (1909) 5 Mad L Tim 300 (300).

54. Instrument indorsed in blank.

Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained as to crossed cheques, a negotiable instrument indorsed in blank is payable to the bearer thereof even although originally payable to order.

55. Conversion of indorsement in blank into indorsement in full.

If a negotiable instrument, after having been indorsed in blank, is indorsed in full, the amount of it cannot be claimed from the indorser in full, except by the person to whom it has been indorsed in full, or by one who derives title through such person.

56. Indorsement for part of sum due.

No writing on a negotiable instrument is valid for the purpose of negotiation if such writing purports to transfer only a part of the amount appearing to be due on the instrument; but where such amount has been partly paid, a note to that effect may be indorsed on the instrument, which may then be negotiated for the balance.

57. Legal representative cannot by delivery only negotiate instrument indorsed by deceased.

The legal representative of a deceased person cannot negotiate by delivery only a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque payable to order and indorsed by the deceased but not delivered.

58. Instrument obtained by unlawful means or for unlawful consideration.

When a negotiable instrument has been lost, or has been obtained from any maker, acceptor or holder thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for an unlawful consideration, no possessor or indorsee who claims through the person who found or so obtained the instrument is entitled to receive the amount due thereon from such maker, acceptor or holder, or from any party prior to such holder, unless such possessor or indorsee is, or some person through whom he claims was, a holder thereof in due course.

[1] Section 56 does not prohibit transfer of balance due under promissory note. It only prohibits transfer of portion only of sum due upon it. 1918 Lah 383 (383) [AIR V 5].

[2] Endorsements of payment may be made on a negotiable instrument and the note then becomes negotiable for the balance due, but if no endorsement is made, the note becomes negotiable for full amount due. If the payee commits fraud by transferring the note for its full value without informing the endorsee that some payments have been made, the person to suffer by the fraud is the person who by his omission to insist on his payment being endorsed on the note enabled the fraud to be committed. 1915 Low Bur 129 (129, 130) [AIR V 2] : 8 Low Bur Rul 202.

[3] Endorsement by one of two payees in favour of the other payee of a promissory note — Endorsement invalid — Section 56 has no application. 1960 Andh Pra 174 (175) [AIR V 47 C 59].

Section 57 — Note 1

[1] Section 57 by implication contemplates that the legal representatives of a deceased person can negotiate a promissory note executed in favour of the latter. The practice of allowing legal representatives to sue on notes executed in favour of their predecessors is apparently founded on the principle that the Act does not abrogate rules of devolution of rights in the properties of the deceased. 1918 Mad 482 (483) [AIR V 5] : 41 Mad 353 (DB).

[2] Succeeding trustee can sue on pronote executed in favour of his predecessor without assignment of indorsement. 1918 Mad 482 (483) [AIR V 5] : 41 Mad 353 (DB).

[3] A pronote was executed in favour of the executor who was subsequently discharged by a decree of Court and the estate vested in the legatee. The pronote was not endorsed by the executor to the legatee who passed it to plaintiff — Held, the legatee had not obtained any interest in the pronote which he could transfer to plaintiff, in the absence of an endorsement by the executor. 1923 Mad 593 (594) [AIR V 10] (DB).

Section 58 — Note 1

[1] Section 58 does not deal exhaustively with all possible offences that may arise in connexion with obtaining of instrument. Forgery is one of them. 1928 Bom 436 (444) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 810 (DB).

[2] No holder of a negotiable instrument, though he may be a holder in due course can acquire a title to the instrument through a forged endorsement. Section 58, Negotiable Instruments Act, which protected a holder in due course where a negotiable instrument has been obtained by means of an offence, does not apply to a case of forgery. 1924 Bom 205

59. Instrument acquired after dishonour or when overdue.

The holder of a negotiable instrument, who has acquired it after dishonour, whether by non-acceptance or non-payment, with notice thereof, or after maturity, has only, as against the other parties, the rights thereon of his transferor :

Accommodation note or bill.

Provided that any person who, in good faith and for consideration, becomes the holder, after maturity, of a promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted without consideration, for the purpose of enabling some party thereto to raise money thereon, may recover the amount of the note or bill from any prior party.

(208) [AIR V 11] + 1928 Bom 436 (439) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 810 (DB) + (199) 56 Cal 239 (250) (22 Cal 799 and 24 Bom 65, Overrule) + 1923 Sind 54 (56) [AIR V 10] (DB). (Except as regards cases covered by S. 85, title cannot be claimed through forged endorsement.)

[3] Under S. 58 when a negotiable instrument has been obtained from any maker by fraud or for an unlawful consideration, the ordinary presumption that the holder is a holder in due course is rebutted and the case comes under the proviso to S. 118 (g) and the burden of proving that the holder is a holder in due course lies upon the holder. As required by S. 9 the holder, in order to prove that he is a holder in due course has not only to show that he is a holder for value but further he has to show that he became the holder of the instrument before it became payable and without having sufficient cause to believe that any defect existed in the title of the person from whom he derived his title. 1928 Mad 1238 (1239) [AIR V 15] (DB) + (199) 56 Cal 239 (250).

[4] Where a draft drawn by a bank payable to A is received by B who indorses it in favour of a firm, signing himself as A, then, as B's act amounts to a forgery no legal title passes to the firm in the draft. And the said firm, in its turn, passes no legal title if it endorses the draft in favour of its bank. For it is well settled that the endorsement on a negotiable instrument through which a holder in due course claims must be genuine and therefore, a forged endorsement creates no title in favour of the holder in due course. 1957 All 104 (105) [AIR V 44 C 24].

[5] A promissory note cannot be said to have been obtained from the holder by means of an offence or fraud within S. 58, by reason of its endorsement being antedated. 1926 Mad 1154 (1155) [AIR V 13].

[6] Defendant executed a promote in favour of P who endorsed it to plaintiff — Endorsement bearing not the true date of endorsement and written merely to avoid application of Madras Act 4 of 1938 — Endorsement held forgery — Though S. 58 does not apply to such a case the endorsement has no legal effect whatsoever — Only person entitled to sue on it is the true owner P and not the plaintiff. 1944 Mad 471 (471, 472) [AIR V 31].

[7] Where the signature of one of the executants of a promissory note is forgery, the addition of forged signature prejudices the person whose signature has been forged and no action is maintainable on the promote even against the real executant of the note. 1934 Rang 545 (545) [AIR V 21].

[8] Payment to wrong person holding under forged endorsement — Liability to true owner is not discharged — Only exception is where payee's endorsement on cheque payable to order is forged. 1924 Bom 205 (206) [AIR V 11].

[9] A plaintiff who comes to Court with tampered handnotes is not entitled to any decree. 1932 Pat 352 (353) [AIR V 19] : 11 Pat 782 (DB). (AIR 1924 Cal 452 and 53 Cal 812, Followed.)

[10] A entrusting B with certain debentures of C company transferable by endorsement for collecting interest — B by forged endorsements in his own favour pledged them with D Bank for securing his indebtedness — D Bank surrendering debentures to C company and obtaining new securities in its place — B transferring his loan account to M Bank and D Bank endorsing new securities to M Bank — Suit by A for delivery and transfer of these new securities against M Bank — Held that the issue of new debentures constituted a new contract and M Bank being a holder in due course, A had no right against M Bank. 1932 P C 22 (24) [AIR V 19] : 55 Ind App 433 : 56 Bom 1. (AIR 1928 Bom 407 and AIR 1928 Bom 436, Affirmed ; 24 Bom 65, Overruled.) + 1953 Bom 209 (211) [AIR V 40 C 66]. (AIR 1932 P C 22, Followed.)

[See 1928 Bom 434 (435) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 807 (DB).]

[11] Renewal of Government promissory note negotiated by forged endorsement — Real owner suing all subsequent endorsees not pleading conversion — Only the ultimate endorsee obtaining renewal of security from Reserve Bank is liable — Claim does not lie against other endorsees. 1953 Bom 209 (213) [AIR V 40 C 66].

The bill not having been paid at maturity, the drawer sold the goods and retained the proceeds, but indorsed the bill to A. A's title is subject to the same objection as the drawer's title.

60. Instrument negotiable till payment or satisfaction.

A negotiable instrument may be negotiated (except by the maker, drawee or acceptor after maturity) until payment or satisfaction thereof by the maker, drawee or acceptor at or after maturity, but not after such payment or satisfaction.

CHAPTER V

OF PRESENTMENT

61. Presentment for acceptance.

A bill of exchange payable after sight must, if no time or place is specified therein for presentment, be presented to the drawee thereof for acceptance, if he can, after reasonable search, be found, by a person entitled to demand ac-

promisors — Held that after endorsement of promissory notes to plaintiff, plaintiff did not hold notes merely as security but that whole right of action passed to indorsee, and, therefore under proviso to S. 59, plaintiff became entitled to recover amount of note from defendant. 1936 Rang 149 (151) [AIR V 23] : 13 Rang 649 (DB).

[3] Person acquiring hundi after maturity—Suit on hundi—Section 59 applies and drawer can plead that hundi was without consideration and was obtained by misrepresentation—Proviso to S. 59 cannot apply to such case as it applies only to cases of accommodation bills. 1937 Nag 267 (267) [AIR V 24] : ILR (1937) Nag 159.

[4] Where a promissory note payable on demand is negotiated it is not deemed to be overdue for purpose of affecting holder with defects of title of which he had no notice, by reason that reasonable time for presenting it for payment has elapsed since its issue. 1935 Rang 156 (157) [AIR V 22]. (AIR 1921 Cal 302, Foll.)

[5] It is only when surety presents hundi for payment within reasonable time and gives notice of dishonor to drawer, he gets into shoes of holder in due course under S. 59. If surety pays amount of dishonoured hundi, he can recover amount from drawer. 1917 Mad 83 (86) [AIR V 4] : 39 Mad 965 (DB).

[6] Where an endorsee of a promissory note is not proved to be a holder in due course, he is entitled only to such rights as the endorser of the note had. 1937 Mad 438 (439) [AIR V 24] (DB).

[7] Where the plaintiff took a stale cheque in good faith for consideration without notice of dishonour and without having any reason to believe that there was any defect in the title of his transferor, who, however, was not a holder for value and the endorsement to him was fictitious—Held that the plaintiff could not be regarded as a 'holder' in due course and his claim against the drawer must fail.

Section 59 applies to such a case and the plaintiff only acquires the rights of his transferor. 1928 All 68 (71) [AIR V 15] : 50 All 309 (DB).

[8] Bona fide holder for value of pronote payable on demand cannot be affected by any previous demand for payment of which he had no notice. 1928 Mad 1238 (1242) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[9] Pronote payable on demand executed on 29-8-1935 in favour of G—G sending a notice demanding payment by 15-9-1935—On 14-9-1935 G endorsing note to A who brought a suit on the note—A not aware of notice of demand—On 16-9-1935 G received a reply to his notice of demand—Pronote held had matured on date of its transfer to A—Reply sent on 16-9-1935 even if it be assumed to be a notice of dishonour could not affect validity of transfer to A who must be held to be a holder in due course and A's rights were not affected by S. 59. 1938 Mad 911 (913) [AIR V 25].

Section 60 — Note 1

[1] Words 'such payment' in S. 60 mean payment at or after maturity. Where a maker of a promissory note payable on demand has, before there being any demand made by the payee, paid the amount without asking for return of the promissory note and the note is endorsed by the payee to a third person without latter's knowledge as to fact of payment, the endorsee is entitled as a holder in due course to sue the maker on the promissory note. 1940 Mad 631 (632, 633) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) Mad 382 (DB). (AIR 1933 Mad 300, Overruled.) * 1936 Mad 879 (880) [AIR V 23].

Section 61 — Note 1

[1] Foreign bill of exchange — Presentment for acceptance within reasonable time necessary — What constitutes reasonable time is mixed question of law and fact—Drawer conceptance within a reasonable time after it is drawn, and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment, no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

If the drawee cannot, after reasonable search, be found, the bill is dishonoured.

If the bill is directed to the drawee at a particular place it must be presented at that place; and if at the due date for presentment he cannot, after reasonable search, be found there, the bill is dishonoured.

*[Where authorized by agreement or usage, a presentment through the post office by means of a registered letter is sufficient.]

[a] Added by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 4.

62. Presentment of promissory note for sight.

A promissory note payable at a certain period after sight, must be presented to the maker thereof for sight (if he can after reasonable search be found) by a person entitled to demand payment, within a reasonable time after it is made and in business hours on a business day. In default of such presentment, no party thereto is liable thereon to the person making such default.

63. Drawee's time for deliberation.

The holder must, if so required by the drawee of a bill of exchange presented to him for acceptance, allow the drawee "[forty-eight] hours (exclusive of public holidays) to consider whether he will accept it.

[a] Substituted for "twenty-four", by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 1921 (XII of 1921), S. 2.

64. Presentment for payment.

Promissory notes, bills of exchange and cheques must be presented for payment to the maker, acceptor or drawee thereof respectively, by or on behalf of the holder as hereinafter provided. In default of such presentment, the other parties thereto are not liable thereon to such holder.

Section 61 — Note 1 (contd.)

tinuing solvent from date of bill to presentment or delay causing no actual damage will not excuse presentment. (1854) 9 Moo P C 46 (65, 66) (PC).

[2] In a bill payable after sight, there are two distinct stages, firstly when it is presented for acceptance and later when it is presented for payment. S. 61 deals with the former and S. 64, with the latter. Presentment for acceptance must always and in every case precede presentment for payment. But when the bill is payable on demand both the stages synchronise and there is only one presentment which is both for acceptance and for payment. 1954 S C 554 (556) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503.

[3] If a person having no authority to receive payment on behalf of the payee it presents the bill and receives payment there is no valid presentment by him for acceptance. 1954 S C 554 (556) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503.

[4] Hundi—Non-presentment to drawee for payment—Drawer and the drawee are absolved from all liability. 1950 Raj 55 (55) [AIR V 37 C 21].

[5] The stringent or technical rules of the Negotiable Instruments Act with respect to presentment or notice of dishonour cannot be called into operation in determining the liability in the case of hundis which came to be executed in a territory where there was no such Act in force at the relevant time. 1956 Raj 129 (133) [AIR V 43 C 40] : ILR (1956) 8 Raj 612 (DB).

Section 63 — Note 1

[1] Section 63 read with S. 83 does not apply to a Hundi payable on demand. Under S. 61 it is only a bill payable after sight which requires to be presented to the drawee for acceptance and it is only to such a bill that S. 83 applies. 1923 All 345 (346) [AIR V 10].

SECTION 64 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Effect of non-presentment.
3. Exception—Specified place.

1. Scope. — Section 64 is mandatory and no dishonour can possibly occur unless the instrument is presented for payment by the holder to the drawee as required by the first part of the section. Second part of the section provides the penalty for non-presentment by stating in unequivocal terms that in default of such presentment the other parties thereto are not liable thereon to such holder. 1932 Nag 55 (60) [AIR V 19] : 28 Nag L R 134 (DB).

*[Where authorized by agreement or usage, a presentment through the post office by means of a registered letter is sufficient.]

Exception. — Where a promissory note is payable on demand and is not payable at a specified place, no presentment is necessary in order to charge the maker thereof.

[a] Added by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 4.

Section 64 — Note 1 (contd.)

[2] Section 64 is undoubtedly ambiguous and in order to get over the apparent contradiction between the section and the exception it is necessary that the section should be given its plain meaning and the exception to it must be read more or less as an independent rule of law and not as controlling the plain language of the section. Hence the non-presentation of the hundis for payment on the due dates does not affect the liability of the maker, acceptor or drawee. 1933 Lah 176 (177) [AIR V 20] (DB) * 1930 All 648 (650, 651) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 696 (DB).

[But see 1922 All 422 (422, 423) [AIR V 9] (DB). (Suit based on Hundi—Presentment and notice of dishonour must be proved in order to charge the drawer.) * 1920 Oudh 191 (193) [AIR V 7] : 23 Oudh Cas 364. (Presentment for payment is necessary to charge acceptors of Hundi).]

[3] The rule of presentment for payment by the holder for fixing liability for non-payment on the drawer is subject to well recognised exceptions enumerated in S. 76. 1956 Raj 129 (134) [AIR V 43 C 40] : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[4] In a bill payable after sight, there are two distinct stages : firstly when it is presented for acceptance and later when it is presented for payment. Section 61 deals with former and S. 64 with the latter. But when the bill is payable on demand both the stages synchronise and there is only one presentment which is both for acceptance and for payment. 1954 S C 554 (556) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503.

[5] The section does not deal with the rights between the payee of a cheque and the drawee and does not impliedly recognise the right of the holder of a cheque to enforce his claim against the drawee. 1953 All 637 (640) [AIR V 40 C 318] : ILR (1954) 1 All 268.

[6] Where a promissory note is in the body of it made payable at a particular place it must be presented at that place in order to render the maker liable. In any other case presentment is not necessary to render the maker liable. 1951 Punj 33 (39) [AIR V 38 C 10] (DB) * (54) ILR (1954) Hyd 776 (781).

[7] By reason of the word "respectively" used in S. 64, the word "maker" has reference to promissory notes, the word "acceptor" to bills of exchange and the word "drawee" to cheques. Hence, where a bill of exchange is drawn by a person on himself no presentment is necessary because there is no acceptor of the bill. 1934 Oudh 254 (254) [AIR V 21].

[8] The rule that where the drawer of a hundi is also the drawee, presentment for payment is unnecessary, does not apply in the case of the endorser of the hundi. 1932 Nag 55 (60) [AIR V 19] : 28 Nag L R 134 (DB).

[9] Promissory note must be presented unless it is not payable at specified place. Presentment is cause of action in suit based upon such instrument. 1938 Lah 799 (800) [AIR V 23].

[See also 1931 Mad 113 (115) [AIR V 18].]

[10] Mere demand for money does not amount to presentment of note; holder must exhibit note and offer to hand it over on receiving payment. 1935 Pesh 132 (133) (DB) * 1920 Lah 80 (83) [AIR V 7] : 1 Lah 262 (DB) * 1951 Mad 632 (633) [AIR V 38 C 182]. (Prima facie, the presentment must be made personally and the note has to be produced or the person making the demand must be in possession of the note and in a position to hand it over on payment, especially in the case of on demand promissory note.)

[11] Loss of bill or note does not excuse non-presentment. 1924 Lah 198 (199) [AIR V 11].

[12] Endorsee of bill of exchange cannot recover judgment against drawee without proof of presentment. (13) 19 Ind Cas 251 (252) (DB) (Cal).

[13] Where the endorsee of a promissory note seeks to make the endorser liable the fact of presentment to the maker and issue of notice of dishonour to the endorser should be made clear in the plaint itself as notice of dishonour is a material part of the cause of action. 1951 Mad 632 (634) [AIR V 38 C 182].

[14] Hundis in oriental language executed in territory where Act did not apply—Stringent or technical provisions of Act relating to presentment for payment cannot be called into operation. 1956 Raj 129 (133) [AIR V 43 C 40] : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[15] Demand draft through Bank as agent—Delay in presentation by Bank—S. 64 does not apply. 1958 J & K 25 (26) [AIR V 45 C 11].

2. Effect of non-presentment.—[1] Under S. 64 the result of non-presentment of hundis for payment is not exemption of the acceptor from liability but the exemption of other parties to the hundis only. The word "other" has been used to show that there is a difference between S. 64 and Ss. 61 and 62 where the words used are "no party." The section therefore means that the parties who are mentioned in the section may be liable but other parties to the documents are not to be liable. 1930 All 648 (649) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 696 (DB).

[See also 1929 Lah 240 (242) [AIR V 16] : 10 Lah 755 (DB). (Promissory note payable at specified place—Maker is liable in spite of non-presentment.)]

[2] Section 64 absolves from liability all parties except the maker of the promissory note, acceptor of bill of exchange and drawee of a cheque. One of the parties so absolved is the drawer of the bill of exchange. The principle on which this distinction is based is merely that the maker, acceptor or drawee are the principal debtors, whereas the others are only sureties. On non-presentation of the hundi to the drawee for payment, the drawer is absolved from liability to the holder of the hundi. If the original is lost, it is the holder's duty to present the duplicate of the hundi for payment. The loss of a bill or note does not absolve the party who lost it from making an application for payment when it becomes due and to give notice of dishonour to all parties. On default in presentment, the holder of a hundi is bound to lose his remedy against the drawer as well as the endorser. The holder, therefore, cannot urge the loss as an excuse for non-presentment of the duplicate of the hundi and still claim his remedy against the drawer. 1936 Nag 260 (262) [AIR V 23] : ILR (1939) Nag 601.

[3] The words "other parties" in S. 64 mean parties other than those to whom the instrument is required to be presented for payment under the earlier portion of S. 64. (54) ILR (1954) Madh B 233 (235)* 1955 Cal 338 (340) [(S) AIR V 42 C 95] (DB). (The other parties in the case of a promissory note will be parties other than the maker, in the case of a bill of exchange, it will be all parties other than the acceptor while in the case of a cheque other parties must be parties other than the drawee.)

[See also (54) ILR (1954) Hyd 776 (781)]
[But see 1935 Pesh 132 (133) [AIR V 22] (DB). (Words "other parties" do not mean parties other than the maker of the promissory note)* 1920 Oudh 191 (193) [AIR V 7] : 23 Oudh Cas 364. (The words "other parties" in S. 64 mean parties other than the holder.)]

[4] If a hundi is not presented to the acceptor for payment on due date the drawer is absolved from the liability. (54) ILR (1954) Madh B 233 (235). (AIR 1936 Nag 260; AIR 1930 All 648 and AIR 1929 Lah 290, loc. cit.)* 1950 Raj 55 (56) [AIR V 37 C 21].

[5] Promissory note in favour of B, endorsed in favour of C — Endorsement stating that if amount due is not realised B will himself be liable for the same — Promissory note dishonoured — B is liable notwithstanding absence of presentment and notice of dishonour as the endorsement amounted to a guarantee within S. 76 (b). (54) 1954-2 Mad L Jour 603 (604). ((1821) 106 E R 1153, loc. cit.)

[6] Under S. 64 effect of non-presentment of Hundi is that it cannot be made basis of claim against drawer or person signing as surety — But where it has been given as collateral security of book debt and creditor does not make use of it, there is no novation and creditor is not debarred from suing on original cause of action. (13) 1913 Pun L R No. 60, p. 230 (235) : 1913 Pun Re No. 48 (DB).

[7] Where a hundi is not presented for payment and the drawer withdraws the money after many days, the burden of proof lies heavily on the payee to prove that the drawer did not suffer any loss, and the circumstances will be very exceptional in which he could prove that the drawer could not possibly have suffered any damage and burden is certainly not discharged by the oral admission of the defendant drawer that sometime or other subsequently he got back his money. 1925 All 811 (811) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[8] The payee of a bill of exchange endorsed it to plaintiff and became an insolvent. Plaintiff sued the drawer and the drawee without presenting the bill to the drawee. The drawer had drawn the bill for articles sold to the drawee — Held that no presentment having been made, the drawee was not liable and the onus of proof that the drawer did not suffer damage lay on plaintiff. 1918 All 20 (21) [AIR V 5] : 41 All 40 (DB).

[9] Where the purchaser of a hundi by payment of cash fails to discharge his obligations under the contract represented by the hundi and loses his rights to enforce the hundi he cannot fall back upon his original consideration. 1936 Nag 260 (263) [AIR V 23] : ILR (1939) Nag 601.

[10] Where consequences are provided for as following from the non-presentment, it is not open to the Court to hold that besides the consequences provided for by the law, other consequences, not mentioned by the law, are also to follow. 1930 All 645 (649) [AIR V 17] : 52 All 696 (DB).

3. Exception—Specified place.—[1] The exception to S. 64 is really an independent rule of law, and lays down a substantive principle, namely, that in the case of promissory notes payable on demand at a specified place, the note should be presented at that place in order to charge the maker thereof unless the presentment is otherwise executed; but if the note is not payable at a specified place, the presentment of the note is not necessary. 1942 Bom 251 (253) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 620 (DB).

[See also (55) Madh B L J 1955 H C R 197 (200)* 1951 Hyd 76 (77) [AIR V 38 C 27]. [2] Where a promissory note is payable at a specified place, the maker cannot be charged thereon until and unless the note is duly presented. 1935 Lah 893 (894) [AIR V 22] : 17 Lah 275 (DB)* 1937 Lah 259 (262) [AIR V 24] : ILR (1937) Lah 580 (DB)* 1933 Lah 133 (134) [AIR V 20]* 1931 Lah 758 (759) [AIR V 16] (DB).

[3] Where the promisor makes a part payment on account of the amount due, presentment of the promissory note payable at a specified place is not necessary. 1933 Lah 133 (134) [AIR V 20].

[4] It is for the parties contesting liability to show that note is payable at specified place in order to render presentment necessary. 1935 Lah 623 (624) [AIR V 22].

[5] Where in a suit on a promissory note payable at a specified place, the plaintiff contains no allegation of presentment, the plaintiff cannot be given an opportunity of proving

65. Hours for presentment.

Presentment for payment must be made during the usual hours of business, and, if at a banker's, within banking hours.

66. Presentment for payment of instrument payable after date or sight.

A promissory note or bill of exchange, made payable at a specified period after date or sight thereof, must be presented for payment at maturity.

67. Presentment for payment of promissory note payable by instalments.

A promissory note payable by instalments must be presented for payment on the third day after the date fixed for payment of each instalment; and non-payment on such presentment has the same effect as non-payment of a note at maturity.

presentment. 1935 Pesh 132 (133) [AIR V 22] (DB).

[6] For presentment, some quite definite place where holder can attend with reasonable chance of finding maker is necessary — Whether place named is specified place depends on circumstances of each case. 1935 Lah 623 (624) [AIR V 22].

[7] City, town or village at large, may be taken to be specified place within Ss. 64 and 69 but its presentment there would only be necessary, or indeed reasonably possible, if maker has his residence or place of business there. In the absence of such residence or place of business, mere possession of promissory note by maker in city, town or village mentioned, would be sufficient. 1937 Lah 259 (263) [AIR V 24] : I L R (1937) Lah 580 (DB).

[8] A small town which is sufficient to indicate the address of the maker of a pronote is a specified place within the meaning of S. 64. 1936 Pesh 202 (203) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[9] Where the place where a pro-note is made payable is the residential site of a revenue estate where the lender lives, the naming of it is sufficient to make the note only payable at a specified place. It is a matter of common knowledge that negotiable instruments in the Northern part of India are generally made payable at a particular town. 1936 Lah 799 (800) [AIR V 23].

[10] Promissory note payable in Sialkot on demand — Held no presentment was necessary as large town like Sialkot was not specified place for purposes of payment. 1935 Lah 623 (624) [AIR V 22].

[But see 1935 Pesh 132 (132) [AIR V 22] (DB). (Peshwar held to be specified place).]

[11] Where a promissory note is expressed to be payable on a certain date, it must be deemed to have attained maturity on the third day after that date and must be presented at the specified place on that day and that day is the correct starting point of limitation under Art. 80, Limitation Act. 1933 Mad 376 (377, 378) [AIR V 20] (DB).

[12] Where promissory note in favour of firm is payable at specified place and presentment is made after coming into force of S. 69, Partnership Act, S. 64 does not apply. 1935 Lah 893 (894) [AIR V 22] : 17 Lah 275 (DB).

[13] Act has nothing to do with question of jurisdiction in suit on pro-note. Place of presentment for payment does not affect issue of jurisdiction. 1942 Bom 251 (252) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1942) Bom 620 (DB).

[14] A promissory note payable on demand which does not specify the place of payment does not require presentment under the exception to S. 64 in order to make the maker of the note liable thereon; but if the holder desires payment he must make the presentment under S. 70 or S. 71 of the Act. To put it in another form such note is payable at the place of business or at the usual residence of the maker. Hence the common law rule that the debtor must find the creditor would not apply to such notes. 1954 Madh B 184 (188, 189) [A I R V 41 C 83] : ILR (1954) Madh B 343 (FB).

Section 66 — Note 1

[1] Bill of exchange payable at a specified period after date must be presented for payment at maturity and want of presentment exempts endorser. 1930 All 106 (108) [A I R V 17] (DB).

[2] Hundi payable on date on which it is drawn — Section 66 does not apply — Hundi must be presented within reasonable time. 1938 Lah 183 (184) [A I R V 25] (DB).

[3] No presentation is valid unless it is made after the bill has reached maturity. Presentation before maturity is not valid. 1925 All 442 (442) [A I R V 12] : 47 All 572 (DB).

[4] The presentation on the exact date of the maturity of the Hundi is not necessary when the drawer and the drawee are one and the same person. 1919 Nag 140 (141) [A I R V 6] : 15 Nag L R 128 * 1927 Lah 72 (73) [AIR V 14] (DB). (It is unnecessary according to S. 76 (d).) * 1926 Lah 328 (328) [AIR V 13] : 7 Lah 113 (DB). (Do.) * 1932 Nag 55 (60) [AIR V 19] : 28 Nag L R 134 (DB). (But this does not apply in case of indorser of hundi.)

[5] The rule of presentation for payment is subject to certain exceptions which are enumerated in S. 76. 1956 Raj 129 (134) [AIR V 43 C 40] : I L R (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[6] A hundi where the maker is the acceptor must be presented for payment in order to render the maker liable. Where the plaintiff sues on the ground that it has been dishonoured, presentation for payment must be pleaded and proved. 1951 Cal 466 (469) [AIR V 38 C 129].

68. Presentment for payment of instrument payable at specified place and not elsewhere.

A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place and not elsewhere must, in order to charge any party thereto, be presented for payment at that place.

69. Instrument payable at specified place.

A promissory note or bill of exchange made, drawn or accepted payable at a specified place must, in order to charge the maker or drawer thereof, be presented for payment at that place.

Sections 68 and 69 — Note 1

[1] 'Specified place' includes city, town or village — Presentation of promissory note is necessary if maker has residence or place of business in specified city, town or village. Otherwise mere possession of note is sufficient. 1937 Lah 259 (263) [AIR V 24] : 1 L.R. (1937) Lah 580 (DB).

[But see 1951 Cal 55 (81) [AIR V 38 C 19]; 1 L.R. (1952) 1 Cal 395 (DB). (Specified place does not cover town or city.)]

[2] 'Place' includes "places" — When two places are specified, presentation must be at one or other of those places. 1928 Mad 792 (796) [AIR V 13] (DB).

[3] Words "specified place" in S. 69, mean place that promisee can know where he must present promissory note for payment. Where promissory note is payable at Bombay or Poona or elsewhere it does not make it incumbent upon promisee to present it at any specified place. 1936 Bom 218 (219) [AIR V 23] : 60 Bom 796 (DB).

[4] Note specified to be payable at residential site of revenue estate where lender lived — That is sufficient to make note payable at specified place. 1938 Lah 799 (800) [AIR V 23].

[5] Small town is a specified place. 1936 Pesh 202 (203) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[6] Note payable at Peshawar is payable at specified place. 1935 Pesh 132 (133) [AIR V 22] (DB).

[7] Under S. 69 promissory note made payable at specified place must, in order to charge maker thereof be presented for payment at that place. "Other parties thereto" in S. 64 do not mean parties other than maker. 1935 Pesh 132 (133) [AIR V 22] (DB) + 1937 Lah 259 (262) [AIR V 24] : 1 L.R. (1937) Lah 580 (DB).

[8] Pronote payable at S — Maker residing at K having no place of business at S — Promisee resident all along at S — Possession of pronote by promisee at S is sufficient compliance with S. 69 — Presentation of pronote to maker at S is not necessary. 1937 Lah 892 (893, 894) [AIR V 24] (DB).

[9] Maker of note not residing at place specified in note for presentment — Note in possession of person in whose favour it has been executed — No presentment is necessary under S. 69. 1943 Lah 121 (122) [AIR V 30].

[10] Proper presentation not made to maker of pronote at specified place — Maker is discharged unless no damage is shown to result from non-presentation — It is open to maker to prove that damage was caused to him and that therefore S. 76 (d), cannot be availed of.

1936 Pesh 202 (203, 204) [AIR V 23] (DB) + 1941 Pesh 45 (48) [AIR V 28] (DB).

[11] Note payable at specified place — Plaintiff not alleging presentment — He cannot be allowed to prove it. 1935 Pesh 132 (133) [AIR V 22] (DB).

[12] The words "within the Bank of India", in a promissory note are sufficiently clear and specific and must, therefore, be held to indicate a specified place within the meaning of S. 69. 1955 Bom 419 (424) [S] AIR V 42 C 112.

[13] Section 69 in terms lays down that the instrument must be presented for payment at the specified place. Indubitably this assumes that the party to whom the presentment is to be made will be present at the place specified in the instrument. The specified place in case of the maker of the note would sometimes be where he resides or carries on his business. Where, however, the specified place is other than this, before he can resist liability under the provisions of S. 69 of the Act, it must be shown that the presentment could have been made to him at that place because that is what is obviously contemplated by the section. Otherwise the omission to present will have no effect in the matter. 1955 Bom 419 (424) [S] AIR V 42 C 112.

[14] In view of the provisions of Ss. 64 and 69 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, presentment is necessary to charge the maker of a promissory note payable on demand, only if the note is payable at a specified place. (54) 1 L.R. (1954) Hyd 776 (779).

[15] Where the maker of a promissory note resided at P and the promissory note was not payable at a specified place — Held that presentment for payment was not necessary and the question of the jurisdiction of Court at P did not arise. (54) 1 L.R. (1954) Hyd 776 (781).

[16] When the holder of a promissory note is able to produce and show it to the maker of such instrument and deliver the same to him after receiving payment, he is deemed to have complied with the provisions of S. 69 of the Negotiable Instruments Act for the purposes of presentment. It is not necessary that he should exhibit the instrument and then demand payment. (48) 50 Cal W N 773 (775).

[17] A hundi, where the maker is the acceptor must be presented for payment in order to render the maker liable. Where the plaintiff sues on the ground that it has been dishonoured presentment for payment must be pleaded and proved. 1951 Cal 466 (469) [AIR V 38 C 129].

70. Presentment where no exclusive place specified.

A promissory note or bill of exchange, not made payable as mentioned in sections 68 and 69, must be presented for payment at the place of business (if any), or at the usual residence, of the maker, drawee or acceptor thereof, as the case may be.

71. Presentment when maker, etc., has no known place of business or residence.

If the maker, drawee or acceptor of a negotiable instrument has no known place of business or fixed residence, and no place is specified in the instrument for presentment for acceptance or payment, such presentment may be made to him in person wherever he can be found.

72. Presentment of cheque to charge drawer.

*[Subject to the provisions of section 84,] a cheque must, in order to charge the drawer, be presented at the bank upon which it is drawn before the relation between the drawer and his banker has been altered to the prejudice of the drawer.

[18] Where an address appears at the top of a promissory note payable at a certain place the address does not form part of the contract and the promissory note is not payable at the address mentioned. 1951 Cal 55 (63) [AIR V 38 C 19] : I L R (1952) 1 Cal 395 (DB).

[19] Where a promissory note or bill of exchange is not made payable at a specified place, it should be presented for payment at the usual place of business or at the usual residence of the maker, drawee or acceptor thereof, as the case may be. 1960 Andh Pra 155 (159) [AIR V 47 C 53].

[20] Sections 68, 69 and 70, Negotiable Instruments Act, have nothing to do with the question of jurisdiction in the sense that they do not directly deal with place where the cause of action arises. But when they indicate the proper place at which presentment for payment must be made it is difficult to conceive of any other place for determining the jurisdiction of the Court. 1954 Madh B 184 (188) [AIR V 41 C 83] : I L R (1954) Madh B 343 (FB).

[6] Section 70 deals with the subject of presentment of a promissory note which should be at the place of business of the maker in case it is not covered by S. 68 or 69. In case of a promissory note payable on demand, the note is covered by exception to S. 64 and no presentment would be necessary in order to charge the maker thereof. 1954 Madh-B L J 1955 H C R 197 (200).

[8] Section 70 deals in a general way with the presentment of promissory notes or bills of exchange which are not covered by Ss. 68 and 69 and its applicability is not confined only to those cases where the presentment of the instrument is necessary as a part of the cause of action. 1954 Madh-B 184 (187) [AIR V 41 C 83] : I L R (1954) Madh-B 343 (FB).

73. Presentment of cheque to charge any other person.

A cheque must, in order to charge any person except the drawer, be presented within a reasonable time after delivery thereof by such person.

74. Presentment of instrument payable on demand.

Subject to the provisions of section 31, a negotiable instrument payable on demand must be presented for payment within a reasonable time after it is received by the holder.

75. Presentment by or to agent, representative of deceased, or assignee of insolvent.

Presentment for acceptance or payment may be made to the duly authorized agent of the drawee, maker or acceptor, as the case may be, or, where the drawee, maker or acceptor has died, to his legal representative, or, where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee.

held by the bank as a trustee for the holder of the cheque. 1950 Bom 375 (378) [AIR V 37 C 109].

(2) The obligation to honour a cheque of a customer rests on the branch on which the cheque is drawn and on no other and for this purpose the branch and the head office must be treated as different banks. If the cheque is honoured by the branch and the amount debited to the customer and credited to the head office, the head office must be deemed to have collected the cheque in the sense that they have received the equivalent of money. 1950 Bom 375 (377, 378) [AIR V 37 C 109].

(3) Where cheques issued at Meerut, on a bank at Bombay, were collected by a bank at Bhopal, the receipt field was in British India. 1950 East Punj 347 (352) [AIR V 37 C 80] (DB).

Section 74 — Note 1

(1) This section does not appear to cover "cheques" since their presentment is separately dealt with in Ss. 72 and 73.

(2) Loss caused by delay in presenting a draft should be suffered by the person to whom draft is given and not the drawer. 1924 Bom 520 (520) [AIR V 11] (DB).

(3) The question whether a bill is presented within a reasonable time is not purely one of fact but is a mixed question of fact and law. 1929 Lah 577 (577) [AIR V 16] : 11 Lah 34 (DB) + 1920 Lah 413 (413) [AIR V 7] (DB).

(4) Delay in presentment is excusable if it is caused by events beyond control of person making presentment and not imputable to his default, misconduct or negligence. But where delay is unexplained, previous indorsers who are damaged thereby will be absolved from liability to party guilty of delay. (10) 6 Nag L R 33 (36, 38).

(5) Rule as to reasonable time for presentation should not be stringently enforced in case of continuing security. 1917 Cal 154 (155) [AIR V 4] (SB). (Case of letter of guarantee.)

(6) Where a promissory note payable on demand is negotiated, it is not deemed to be overdue for the purpose of affecting the holder with defects of title of which he had no notice by reason that it appears that a reasonable time for presenting it for payment has elapsed since its issue. 1921 Cal 302 (303) [AIR V 8] : 47 Cal 861 (DB) + 1935 Rang 156 (157) [AIR V 22].

(7) Where note payable on demand has been indorsed, it not presented for payment within reasonable time of endorsement, endorser is discharged. 1925 Mad 132 (133) [AIR V 12].

(8) Where earnest money was sent to the Diwan of the Travancore Government in the form of a draft though it was not in the approved form of deposit and where the engineer had no authority to accept the draft as earnest money, acceptance of the draft by the engineer did not amount to an acceptance by the State. There was no occasion for the Diwan to accept the draft. So long as the Diwan had not accepted the draft there was no obligation on his part to cash it. Therefore, S. 74 would not apply to this case. 1953 Trav-Co 45 (47) [AIR V 40 C 18] : 11 R (1952) Trav-Co 729 (DB).

(9) Prima facie, reading the language of Ss. 64 and 74, the presentment must be made personally and the note has to be produced. If it is shown that demand was made and the person making the demand was in a position to hand it over on payment, it should be sufficient for a presentment for payment especially in the case of on demand promissory note. 1951 Mad 632 (633, 634) [AIR V 38 C 182].

(10) Held, in the circumstances of the case that the parties being non-commercial persons and mutually accommodating, a delay of ten months in presenting the promote and a delay of 6 or 7 days in issuing notice of dishonour could not be said to be unreasonable time within the meaning of S. 74 read with S. 105. 1934 Mad 855 (855, 856) [AIR V 41 C 285].

76. When presentment unnecessary.

No presentment for payment is necessary, and the instrument is dishonoured at the due date for presentment, in any of the following cases :—

- (a) if the maker, drawee or acceptor intentionally prevents the presentment of the instrument, or,
  - if the instrument being payable at his place of business, he closes such place on a business day during the usual business hours, or,
  - if the instrument being payable at some other specified place, neither he nor any person authorized to pay it attends at such place during the usual business hours, or,
  - if the instrument not being payable at any specified place, he cannot after due search be found ;
- (b) as against any party sought to be charged therewith, if he has engaged to pay notwithstanding non-presentment ;
- (c) as against any party if, after maturity, with knowledge that the instrument has not been presented—
  - he makes a part payment on account of the amount due on the instrument,
  - or promises to pay the amount due thereon in whole or in part,
  - or otherwise waives his right to take advantage of any default in presentment for payment ;
- (d) as against the drawer, if the drawer could not suffer damage from the want of such presentment.

SECTION 76 — SYNOPSIS

1. Clause (a).
2. Clause (b).
3. Clause (c).
4. Clause (d).

1. Clause (a). — [1] It is for the party contesting liability to show that the note is payable at a specified place, in order to render presentment necessary. 1935 Lah 623 (624) [AIR V 22].

[2] No presentment is necessary where Hundi is lost and a duplicate is not supplied. 1924 Lah 198 (200) [AIR V 11].

[3] Whether place named in pronote for payment constitutes specified place depends on circumstances of each case—Promissory notes payable in Sialkot on demand — Held no presentment was necessary as large town like Sialkot was not a specified place for payment. 1935 Lah 623 (624) [AIR V 22].

[4] Where the place where a pronote is made payable is the residential site of a revenue estate where the lender lives, the naming of it is sufficient to make the note only payable at a specified place. Negotiable instruments in the northern part of India are generally made payable at a particular town. 1936 Lah 799 (800) [AIR V 23].

[5] No presentment is necessary where drawee of hundi has no residence or place of business or known address at place where hundi is due and on due date drawee is not present at such place. 1939 Lah 225 (229, 230) [AIR V 26] (DB).

2. Clause (b). — [1] An endorsement on negotiable instrument by notary public to the effect that "endorsers state, if drawer does not pay, we will pay at the request of the manager" imports promise to pay by the endorser within meaning of S. 76 (b). 1939 Lah 225 (230) [AIR V 26] (DB)* (54) 1954-2 Mad L Jour 603 (604).

[2] Even parol promise by endorser to pay note is sufficient to constitute an engagement to pay notwithstanding non-presentment. 1925 All 442 (443) [AIR V 12] ; 47 All 572 (DB).

[3] Engagement to pay must have been entered into prior to maturity. 1919 Oudh 16 (18) [AIR V 6] ; 23 Oudh Cas 91.

3. Clause (c). — [1] Promise can be expressed or implied—Creditor informing debtor that limitation is about to expire — Reply by debtor confirming loan amounts to promise to pay within S. 76 (c)—No presentation is necessary. (36) 17 Lah 287 (289, 290) (DB).

[2] A defendant in a suit on a promissory note, who pleads part payment, cannot urge non-presentment of the note as a bar to the suit. 1943 Lah 121 (123) [AIR V 30].

[3] A defendant in a suit on a promissory note who does not contest the suit on the ground that no presentment has been made, waives his right to take advantage of the default in presentment, and the suit cannot therefore be dismissed on that ground. 1943 Lah 121 (123) [AIR V 30].

[4] Pronote payable on demand and at

77. Liability of banker for negligently dealing with bill presented for payment.

When a bill of exchange, accepted payable at a specified bank, has been duly presented there for payment and dishonoured, if the banker so negligently or improperly keeps, deals with or delivers back such bill as to cause loss to the holder, he must compensate the holder for such loss.

specified place—Part payment made—Presentment is not necessary. 1933 Lah 133 (134) [AIR V 20].

[5] Promise to pay need not be expressed so long as it is clearly deducible from the language employed by the parties or their conduct. Where, therefore, the endorser of a hundi unconditionally acknowledge the debt notwithstanding non-presentment but even waive their right to take advantage of non-presentment, no presentment of the hundi is necessary. 1939 Lah 225 (230) [AIR V 26] (DB).

6 Before presentment becomes unnecessary under S. 76 (c), it has to be further established that the drawer at the date of payment had knowledge that there had been no presentment of the Bill. 1955 Cal 338 (341) (S) [AIR V 42 C 95] (DB).

4. Clause (d).—1 Provisions of S. 76 (d) are an exception to general rule that presentment is necessary and burden is on person who claims that his case falls within that exception to prove that drawer could not suffer damage on account of non-presentment. 1919 Oudh 16 (18) [AIR V 6] : 23 Oudh Cas 91 + 1917 All 17 (17) [AIR V 4] : 59 All 364 (DB) + 1936 Lah 799 (800) [AIR V 23]. (A promote must be presented unless it is not payable at a specified place. Presentment is the cause of action in a suit upon such instrument. It is for the plaintiff to prove that the other party suffered no damage from non-presentment of the promote.)

2. Section 76 (d) applies only to bills of exchange and cheques and not to promissory notes. 1937 Lah 259 (260, 261) [AIR V 24] : ILR (1937) Lah 589 (DB) (AIR 1935 Lah 153, Overrule!) + 1937 Lah 892 (893) [AIR V 24] (DB).

[But see 1936 Cal 489 (489) [AIR V 23]. (Clause (d) assumed to apply to promote.) + 1936 Lah 799 (800) [AIR V 23] + 1936 Pesh 202 (204) [AIR V 23] (DB).]

[3] Section 76 (d) applies where drawer has no funds with drawee at time bill is being drawn or has no reasonable expectation that drawee will accept for his accommodation. 1922 All 422 (423) [AIR V 9] (DB) + 1935 Lah 413 (413) [AIR V 22].

[4] When drawer and drawee of hundi are the same person no presentation on due date is necessary as drawer cannot suffer damage from want of such presentation. 1922 All 279 (279) [AIR V 9] : 44 All 554 (DB) + 1939 Lah 225 (229) [AIR V 28] (DB) + 1927 Lah 72 (73) [AIR V 14] (DB) + 1934 Oudh 254 (254) [AIR V 21] + 1941 Pesh 45 (48) [AIR V 28] (DB).

[5] Where drawer dishonestly denies payment of consideration and pleads that endorsements were forgeries or made in collusion with payee, he cannot plead that due to want of presentation of the bill to the drawee he (the drawer) has suffered any damage. In such case holder in due course need not prove that drawer did not suffer any damage due to non-presentment. 1925 Sind 241 (241) [AIR V 12] : 19 Sind L R 12 (DB).

[6] Where the drawer of a hundi payable at sight after a certain period, has settled his accounts with the drawee long before the suit by the payee and has taken back all the money that was due by them to him the drawer does not suffer any damage from the payee's failure to present the hundi for payment on maturity and the case comes within S. 76 (d). The payee is entitled to sue the drawer for the recovery of the amount due on the hundi. 1930 Lah 97 (98) [AIR V 17].

[7] Where in a suit on a promissory note, the executant pleads that payment has been made, the drawer cannot suffer damage from want of presentation of the note as required by S. 74 and therefore no presentation for payment is necessary under S. 76 (d). 1937 Lah 58 (58) [AIR V 24].

[8] Where no hardship is shown in the case of a promote which has not passed into other hands but is still in the hands of the drawer it is not open to the drawer to contend that he would suffer damage for want of presentation especially when drawer admits execution of the note and acknowledges that the money has passed. 1936 Cal 489 (489) [AIR V 23].

[9] Proper presentment not made to maker of hundi at place specified — S. 69 discharges maker unless no damage is shown to result — Maker can prove that damage was caused to him and that S. 76 (d) cannot be availed of. 1941 Pesh 45 (48) [AIR V 28] (DB).

[10] Non-presentment of hundi can be excused if drawer has no fund with drawee at time of drawing the hundi or when it should have been presented or when it is proved that drawer had no reasonable expectation that the drawee would accept the hundi for his accommodation. (54) ILR (1954) Madh B 233 (236).

[11] The burden of proving that the drawer could not possibly suffer any damage lies on the person suing on the Hundi. But such a burden is extremely slight and is easily discharged in a case where the drawer and the drawee are one and the same person. The want of presentment in such a case obviously cannot put the drawer to any loss because he must be deemed to know that the Hundi was executed and a certain date was the due date of payment thereunder and that no payment had been made at maturity. 1936 Raj 129 (134) [AIR V 43 C 40] : ILR (1936) Raj 612 (DB).

CHAPTER VI

OF PAYMENT AND INTEREST

78. To whom payment should be made.

Subject to the provisions of section 82, clause (c), payment of the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque must, in order to discharge the maker or acceptor, be made to the holder of the instrument.

Section 77 — Note 1 (contd.)

sent by Bank B to branch Y of Bank A for realization — Amount realized from branch X but amount not realized by Bank B by reason of Bank A going into liquidation—Branch not juridical person — Cheque is dishonoured by Bank A — Only party liable is drawer defendant and not Bank B. 1952 Cal 385 (386) [AIR V 39].

Section 78 — Note 1

[1] Hundi payable at sight—Both stages for presentment for acceptance and for payment are rolled up into one — Person entitled to receive payment, therefore, is the person who is entitled to present it for acceptance — Payment must be to holder of instrument—Person having no authority to receive amount on behalf of payee presenting hundi and receiving payment — There is no valid presentment of hundi for acceptance. 1954 S C 554 (Pr 8) [AIR V 41 C 127] : 1955-1 S C R 503.

[2] The section deals with the payee's claim against the drawer and not his right to receive payment from the Bank. No right has been conferred by the section on the payee against the drawee, i. e., the bank. 1953 All 637 (Pr 23) [AIR V 40 C 318] : 1 L R (1954) 1 All 268.

[3] To say that the object of S. 78 is only to secure an effective discharge and not to deal with the right of suit and that the beneficiary can file a suit if he can secure a valid discharge for the debtor is to hold in favour of a proposition sacrificing both the spirit and form of the law on negotiable instruments. 1957 Pat 380 (Prs 2 to 5) [(S) AIR V 44 C 114] : 36 Pat 724 (FB). (AIR 1930 Pat 313; A I R 1932 Pat 346 and A I R 1934 Pat 85, Overruled; A I R 1928 Cal 148; A I R 1957 Nag 65 and A I R 1952 All 245 (FB), Dissented from.)

[See 1956 Raj 174 (Pr 10) [AIR V 43 C 55] : ILR (1956) 6 Raj 698 (DB). (Section deals with payment in order to act as full discharge. The section does not deal with the right to bring a suit.)]

[4] Reading Ss. 8 and 78 together it is clear that person to whom the payment should be made in order to discharge the maker or acceptor from all liability under the instrument is the holder of the instrument or his accredited agent, such as a banker acting as an agent for collection. The term 'holder' does not include a person who though in possession of the instrument has not the right to recover the amount due thereon from the parties thereto — Thus in order to discharge the maker or acceptor from liability, payment must be made to the payee or the holder of the instrument. 1947 All 52 (53, 54) [AIR V 34 C 28] : ILR (1947) All 311 (DB)*1957 Nag 65 (Pr 24) [AIR V 44 C 21] : ILR (1956) Nag 850 (DB) * (10) 8 Mad L Tim 247 (247) (DB).

(Indorsee of negotiable instrument is holder of instrument and payment should be made to him.)

[5] Suit for recovery of amount upon a promissory note, by a person who is not a holder thereof on the ground that the holder is benamidar for him, and he is the beneficial owner, is not maintainable. To say that payment to any one except the holder will not discharge the debt is tantamount to saying that no one can recover the debt from the maker, except the person in whose favour it is made or who is a holder thereof. 1950 Pat 493 (Prs. 1, 5, 13) [A I R V 37 C 126] : 29 Pat 668 (DB)*1957 Pat 380 (Prs 2 to 5) [(S) AIR V 44 C 114] : 36 Pat 724 (FB). A decree in these terms and payment made in pursuance thereof will satisfy the requirements of S. 78.) + 1941 Cal 187 (389) [AIR V 18]: 58 Cal 752 (DB) + 1935 Mad 312 (313) [AIR V 22 (DB) + 1941 Nag 207 (208) [AIR V 25]: 11 L R (1942) Nag 588. (Section 78 does not deal with a right of suit. The real owner is entitled to sue provided he is in a position to obtain a good discharge for the defendant. The fact that a person not the holder cannot claim the privileges of a holder does not disentitle him from suing.) + 1943 Pat 79 (79) [AIR V 30]. (When a suit on a hand-note is brought not by its ostensible holder but by the real beneficiary who is a minor and the ostensible holder is not only the next friend of the minor plaintiff, but comes on behalf of the plaintiff and deposes that the money due on the hand-note belongs to the plaintiff, the suit is maintainable under S. 78.)

[7] Right to institute suit on negotiable instrument does not vest merely in the holder of the instrument. Although a beneficiary or a true owner may bring such a suit, it is the holder who can give discharge to the maker. Therefore in a suit by beneficiary, the holder must be impleaded, in order to enable the defendant to insist and obtain discharge. The suit without impleading the holder will not be entertained. The decision given in his absence will not be binding on him. But a suit by owner, in which holder is a co-plaintiff stands on different footing. In such a case a suitable decree so as to give a lawful and effective discharge to the maker can be passed. 1956 Raj 174 (Prs 11, 14, 15, 17) [AIR V 43 C 55]: 1 L R (1956) 6 Raj 698 (DB) + 1959 Andh Pra 126 (Pr 8) [AIR V 46 C 59]: 1 L R (1957) Andh Pra 443 (DB). (A advancing sum

(If the person in whose name the document stands is a party to the litigation (even as a defendant) and does not dispute the plaintiff's right to recover the loan and give a valid discharge, there seems no reason why the suit should not be maintainable and why the decree should not be made in favour of the real owner.)

[8] In the absence of the holder a suit cannot be brought by an undisclosed principal based either on a negotiable instrument or on the original transaction when the same is evidenced and secured by a negotiable instrument. The true position is that a stranger to a negotiable instrument be he the undisclosed principal of the drawer or the payee has, in himself, no position in the eye of law even though the person named in the instrument be his benamidar. 1949 Nag 21 (Prs 14, 15) [AIR V 38 C 14]: 11 L R (1948) Nag 299 (DB). (In certain cases a suit by an undisclosed principal may be maintainable if the holder of the instrument is made a party and gives a valid discharge, provided the suit at the instance of the benamidar be otherwise competent. For example, if the benamidar is a co-plaintiff, the matter is simple. The claim in such a suit is really decreed at his instance though the decree is passed in favour of the other plaintiff. But the same would not be the legal position where the holder is not made a party and is merely called as a witness of the suit. Such a suit would be manifestly incompetent.)

[9] Right of suit on a promissory note vests in the person who can give a valid discharge to its maker or acceptor. It is not essential that the plaintiff, on the face of the instrument, be the payee or the holder or the holder in due course. This right is irrespective of any indorsement in his favour and is recognised on the basis of the vesting of the ownership of the money in the plaintiff in the absence of the holder. Where A, who was the payee and as such the holder of the promissory note when it was executed, lost his status as holder after the partition decree by which these promissory notes were allotted to the shares of his brother B, the right to recover the money due under the promissory note vested in B and the suit by him was maintainable. 1952 All 245 (Prs 3, 14) [AIR V 39]: 1 L R (1952) 2 All 178 (FB). (AIR 1922 All 70, Overruled.)

[10] It has been held that where the holder of the note is a party to the suit but he has not appeared in the suit his conduct in the suit cannot bring about discharge of his maker's liability under the note by raising estoppel against him as the only method of discharge is indicated in S. 78, and there can be no estoppel against the provisions of a statute.

[11] Under S. 78, payments must be made to the holder but if the holder of the promissory-note elects to treat the payment to his firm as the payment to himself, the payment is a payment to the holder within the meaning of S. 78, and the debtor is discharged from the liability under the promissory-note. 1936 Cal 315 (316) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[12] A payment to any person other than the person mentioned in S. 78 would not give a valid discharge to the promisor unless the payee or the holder (as the case may be) accepts the payment as valid and to himself. Where the payee serves a notice on the promisor before the payment to the third person and shortly afterwards files a suit on the promissory note it cannot be said that the payee has accepted the payment and consequently there is no valid discharge in respect of that payment. 1948 Nag 60 (Pr 13) [AIR V 35 C 21] : I L R (1947) Nag 402 (DB).

[13] When indorsement on promissory-note bears out no accountability between indorser and indorsee it is not indorsement for collection merely and holder alone can sue on note. 1914 Mad 359 (359) [AIR V 1].

[14] Holder of Hundi endorsing the same to another — Hundi dishonoured upon presentation after maturity — Holder paying the endorsee and payment acknowledged by endorsee—Holder getting back the instrument—Property in Hundi reverts to endorser—There is no necessity of re-endorsement — Suit by endorser, who is the holder, on the basis of the instrument is maintainable. 1958 Andh Pra 33 (Prs 6, 8) [AIR V 45 C 9] : ILR (1957) Andh Pra 439 (DB).

[15] Where a holder of a promissory note sells his right, title and interest in the note to another but without indorsing it, the assignee is within the definition of holder in S. 8. He can sue in his own name and he is entitled in his own name to possession and to receive or recover the amount due on the hand-note from the parties thereto. 1934 Cal 549 (549, 550) [AIR V 21] : 61 Cal 425 (DB).

[16] Where under S. 301, Succession Act, a person is appointed the common manager of the estate by an order of the High Court, he for all intents and purposes represents the estate and can file a suit on a promissory note on behalf of the estate, though he is neither the holder thereof nor a holder in due course. An endorsement and delivery is not the only method by which a negotiable instrument can be transferred on the basis of which a suit can be filed. 1941 Pat 403 (404) [AIR V 28].

[17] The coparcenary can be described as the holder of a note if it was made in its collective or business name and therefore in its own name within the meaning of S. 8. Hence the action brought by all the adult coparceners, who are capable in law of giving a satisfactory discharge, to recover the debt on the promissory note executed in their trade name is maintainable. 1940 Bom 164 (167) [AIR V 27] : ILR (1940) Bom 153 (DB).

[18] A coparcener who becomes entitled by survivorship to the joint family property of the family to which he belonged cannot sue on a negotiable instrument payable to the deceased or order ; for he cannot give a valid and proper discharge to the maker, by reason merely of the operation of law. The coparcener does not represent the estate of the deceased member of the joint family. He gets the property by survivorship in his own right and not as a representative of the deceased. 1935 Bom 343 (347) [AIR V 22] : 59 Bom 573 (1939) Sind 144 (145) [AIR V 26] : ILR (1939) Kar 405 (DB).

[19] In the case of a promissory note made payable to two or more persons, the word 'holder' must be taken to apply to all the payees and must not be confined to one who may happen to be in physical possession of it. A joint payee of a promissory note cannot effectively discharge the maker from liability thereunder so as to bar a claim against the maker by the other joint payees. 1937 Rang 227 (229) [AIR V 24] : 1937 Rang L R 1 (FB). [But see (13) 36 Mad 544 (548) (FB). (One of several payees of a negotiable instrument can give a valid discharge of the entire debt without the concurrence of other payees.)]

[20] Where a pronote is executed in favour of two persons and not in favour of the firm of which they were partners, a suit is maintainable on the pronote by two persons. The fact that they have a right to sue on the promissory note in their personal capacity does not prevent them of course from contending that promissory note was executed in discharge of some amount due to firm of which they were partners. 1943 Mad 279 (279, 280) [AIR V 30].

[21] There is no custom relating to Shah Jog hundi which absolves the drawee paying the amount of the hundi to a person having no title, although a Shah, from liability in conversion to the true owner. 1934 Bom 400 (401) [AIR V 21] : 59 Bom 97 (FB).

[22] Promissory note allotted to person by award—Further provision in award that note is to be endorsed and handed over to such person—Award operates as transfer inter alia and such person can sue on note without endorsement. 1935 Mad 473 (474) [AIR V 22].

[23] Transferee of pronote having notice of infirmity of original document is not entitled to decree. 1935 Mad 310 (311) [AIR V 22].

[24] Promissory note signed by A delivered to B—Name of payee left blank—Amount due on note paid by A to B—Thereafter, B in collusion with C, with full knowledge that the promissory note has been discharged inserting C's name in the blank space and completing other instrument—A held not liable upon instrument to C who could not be said to be holder in due course — B's authority as agent to complete the note came to an end, when B paid the amount to A—Insertion of C's name was without authority. 1954 Mad 532 (Prs 2, 3, 4) [AIR V 41 C 198].

Section 79 — Note 1

[1] In the case of a suit based on a negotiable instrument, the Court has to allow the contractual rate of interest (unless it finds that the rate is penal or exorbitant), from the date of the instrument to a date to be fixed by it after the suit. But after that date, the grant of interest is regulated by S. 34, Civil P. C., and not by S. 79. If no date is fixed by the Court then, in view of S. 107 and O. 41, R. 33, Civil P. C., and the fact that the appeal is a rehearing of the suit, it is open to appellate Court to fix any date after the suit up to which the interest at the contractual rate is to be allowed in a suit on the basis of a negotiable instrument. 1960 Punj 257 (Pr 4) [AIR V 47 C 98] (DB).

[2] If there is agreement for payment of interest at fixed rate, or it is payable by usage of trade having force of law or if plaintiff is entitled under provisions of any substantive law such as S. 80, interest may be awarded. 1942 Sind 165 (166) [AIR V 29] : 1 L R (1942) Kar 346 (DB).

Any person liable to pay, and called upon by the holder thereof to pay, the amount due on a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is before payment entitled to have it shown, and is on payment entitled to have it delivered up, to him, or, if the instrument is lost or cannot be produced, to be indemnified against any further claim thereon against him.

CHAPTER VII*OF DISCHARGE FROM LIABILITY ON NOTES, BILLS AND CHEQUES*82. Discharge from liability — (a) by cancellation; (b) by release; (c) by payment.

The maker, acceptor or indorser respectively of a negotiable instrument is discharged from liability thereon—

- (a) to a holder thereof who cancels such acceptor's or indorser's name with intent to discharge him, and to all parties claiming under such holder;
- (b) to a holder thereof who otherwise discharges such maker, acceptor or indorser, and to all parties deriving title under such holder after notice of such discharge;
- (c) to all parties thereto, if the instrument is payable to bearer, or has been indorsed in blank, and such maker, acceptor or indorser makes payment in due course of the amount due thereon.

Section 81 — Note 1

[1] The normal rule is that the document on which the suit is based should be produced along with the plaint. The possibility of risk is greater in the case of negotiable instruments which may change hands frequently by successive endorsements. Possession of the instrument by the holder in due course will be prima facie evidence of the liability not having been discharged. 1958 Ker 124 (124) (AIR V 45 C 48) : ILR (1957) Ker 853.

Section 82 — Note 3 (contd.)

[3] Where a negotiable instrument has been negotiated with a third party and while it is outstanding in the hands of that third party, it cannot be said that the original debt is still outstanding and unpaid. 1942 Cal 45 (46) [AIR V 29] : ILR (1941) 2 Cal 103.

[4] Where admittedly a case does not fall under S. 82 (c) a discharge can be given under S. 78 to the maker of the promissory note only when a payment is made to the holder thereof. 1957 Pat 380 (381) [(S) AIR V 44 C 114] : 38 Pat 724 (FB).

[5] When a draft is issued by a bank payable on its branch at some other place or on some other bank, a debit entry made in the accounts of the issuing bank in advance in anticipation of the fact that the bank draft would be cashed and payment made to the holder at the bank on which it is issued does not necessarily amount to payment unless the facts show that the payment has been actually made or other liabilities incurred by the bank in respect of the draft so as to preclude the holder of the draft from recovering the amount. 1957 Assam 133 (137) [(S) AIR V 44 C 34] (DB).

[6] Section 82 (c) can apply only to a negotiable instrument and cannot apply to a payment and discharge in the case of a telegraphic transfer. (60) 1960-1 Mad L Jour 187 (193) (DB).

4. Conditional discharge. — [1] A promissory note may be discharged by a fresh note. 1919 Low Bur 69 (71) [AIR V 6] : 10 Low Bur Rul 4. (A, B, C and D executed a pronote in favour of K—K later on accepting a fresh note from A, B and C in renewal of the original — Decree on basis of fresh note obtained against A, B and C—Subsequent suit against D on original note is not maintainable.)

[2] The established rule is that a bill of exchange or hundi given for a debt operates only as a conditional discharge of debt although it might be proved that in any particular case it was taken unconditionally in satisfaction of a debt. The execution of a formal receipt for the amount carried by a bill of exchange is not sufficient to rebut the general presumption of the discharge being only conditional. (11) 21 Mad L Jour 432 (433) (DB) * 1923 Lah 396 (397) [AIR V 10] : 4 Lah 151 (DB) * 1930 Mad 874 (878) [AIR V 17] : 53 Mad 828 (DB).

[3] An endorsement of receipt on a pronote operates only as a conditional discharge of the debt. (11) 21 Mad L Jour 432 (433) (DB) * 1917 Mad 886 (887) [AIR V 4].

[4] Samble.—The issue of the cheque is a conditional payment and if the cheque remains unpaid, the original debt revives. 1957 Cal 585 (587) [(S) AIR V 44 C 153].

[5] Where it is said that a payment by negotiable instrument is a conditional payment what is meant is that such payment is subject to a condition subsequent that if the negotiable instrument is dishonoured on presentation the creditor may consider it as waste paper and resort to his original demand. A cheque, unless dishonoured, is payment. The payment takes effect from the delivery of the cheque but is defeated by the happening of the condition, i. e., non-payment at maturity. 1954 S C 429 (433) [AIR V 41 C 104] : 1955-1 SCR 185.

[6] A demand draft is as much a conditional payment as a cheque or any other bill of exchange and it all depends upon the circumstances whether actually the issue of the demand draft satisfied the liability. Thus where a demand draft was issued by the Bank on its own branch as a conditional payment to cover the cheques issued by the defendant on the said Bank and when in fact the demand draft could not be cashed, the defendant cannot contend that nevertheless the plaintiff obtained satisfaction of the amount covered by the cheques issued by the defendant. 1959 Assam 162 (165) [AIR V 46 C 34] (DB).

[7] Where a bill of exchange or a promissory note is given by a debtor to a creditor in satisfaction of his dues, it is presumed to be a conditional payment and in case the creditor is unable to obtain satisfaction, he may fall back on the original debt. 1957 Assam 133 (135) [(S) AIR V 44 C 34] (DB).

[8] Bank purchasing order cheque from customer and crediting its amount to customer's account — Customer allowed to withdraw amount before clearance — Subsequent dishonour of cheque — Bank debiting customer with amount of cheque — Suit by bank for recovery of amount of disputed cheque — Held, mere fact that Bank made debit entry did not extinguish right of suit on dishonoured cheque by discharge of liability under S. 82. 1951 Pat 621 (624) [AIR V 38 C 177] : 30 Pat 705 (DB).

*[84. When cheque not duly presented and drawer damaged thereby.

(1) Where a cheque is not presented for payment within a reasonable time of its issue, and the drawer or person on whose account it is drawn had the right, at the time when presentment ought to have been made, as between himself and the banker, to have the cheque paid and suffers actual damage through the delay, he is discharged to the extent of such damage, that is to say, to the extent to which such drawer or person is a creditor of the banker to a larger amount than he would have been if such cheque had been paid.

(2) In determining what is a reasonable time, regard shall be had to the nature of the instrument, the usage of trade and of bankers, and the facts of the particular case.

(3) The holder of the cheque as to which such drawer or person is so discharged shall be a creditor, in lieu of such drawer or person, of such banker to the extent of such discharge and entitled to recover the amount from him.

[2] The provisions of S. 84 cannot be extended to negotiable instruments other than cheques. Even if the principles underlying S. 84 could be applied to negotiable instruments generally, they certainly cannot be applied to a demand draft by one branch of the bank on its another branch. A draft drawn by one branch of a bank on another branch thereof is not a negotiable instrument at all. 1959 Bom 267 (268) [AIR V 48 C 81 : ILR (1958) Bom 1386].

[3] A drawer of a cheque who wants to take advantage of S. 84 must prove two factors : (i) that he had sufficient money in deposit in the Bank in his account to honour the cheques, and (ii) that he had suffered actual damage on account of non-presentment of the cheque within a reasonable time. 1954 Orissa 124 (126) [AIR V 41 C 36] : ILR (1954) Cut 46 (DB).

[4] A demand draft, which is very nearly allied to a cheque, should be presented for payment as early as possible, because delay in presentation in commercial practice might lead to complications and cause some loss or damage to the parties concerned. However, in this respect, cl. (2) of S. 84, N. 1 Act, makes it clear that in determining what is a reasonable time, regard should be had to the nature of the instrument, the usage of trade and of bankers and the facts of the particular case. 1957 Assam 133 (138) [(S) AIR V 44 C 34] (DB).

[5] The payee's right to receive payment from the bank conferred by S. 84 can be exercised only in the circumstances mentioned therein. The section does not recognise the payee's right in general to receive payment from the bank. 1953 All 637 (640) [AIR V 40 C 318] : ILR (1954) 1 All 268.

[6] A cheque is a negotiable instrument and the payee is the holder in due course. If the payee presents the cheque to the bank beyond reasonable time the liability of the drawer stands discharged. The payee becomes then a creditor of the bank in respect of the amount of the cheque under S. 84 (3) and can claim set off in respect of the amount. 1960 Assam 191 (203) [AIR V 47 C 47] (DB).

[5] Forgery of drawer's signature — Negligence of drawer — Money cashed on cheque stolen and forged—Owner of cheque book is not liable for loss in absence of gross negligence—In order to make him liable for negligence, neglect must be intimately connected with transaction itself and be proximate cause of loss. 1924 Rang 264 (265) [AIR V 11] (DB).

[6] A had several accounts with bank B. The parties had an agreement to extend overdraft to A on basis of securities. A drew a cheque and sent it to payee by post, but the latter did not receive it. It was altered into a cheque for a larger amount by another person and its payment was collected through a bank. A sued B for declaration that A was wrongly debited with the amount. It was held that as the cheque on the face of it did not disclose any traces of alterations, the payment made by bank B was a payment in due course and hence B was entitled to debit the amount to the account of A. 1956 Cal 399 (406) [(S) AIR V 43 C 122].

[7] Whether a Bank is guilty of negligence depends on the particular facts of each case. The onus of proving 'good faith' and 'absence of negligence' as contemplated by S. 131 of the Negotiable Instruments Act is on the banker claiming protection under the Act. 1958 Ker 316 (317) [AIR V 45 C 112] : ILR (1957) Ker 913 (DB).

[9] Section 85 (2) which applies to a paying bank has no bearing on the rights of a collecting bank which must be determined in accordance with the provisions of S. 131. 1955 Mad 402 (406) [(S) AIR V 42 C 107] : ILR (1955) Mad 411 (DB).

87. Effect of material alteration.

Any material alteration of a negotiable instrument renders the same void as against any one who is a party thereto at the time of making such alteration and does not consent thereto, unless it was made in order to carry out the common intention of the original parties :

Alteration by indorsee.

and any such alteration, if made by an indorsee, discharges his indorser from all liability to him in respect of the consideration thereof.

The provisions of this section are subject to those of sections 20, 49, 86 and 125.

SECTION 57 — SYNOPSIS

1. Material alteration.
2. Immaterial alteration.
3. Effect of alteration.
4. Onus probandi.
5. Revision.

1. Material alteration.—(a) General.—[1] A material alteration is one which varies the rights, liabilities, or legal position of the parties ascertained by the deed in its original state or otherwise varies the legal effect of the instrument as originally expressed, or reduces to certainty some provision which was originally unascertained and as such void, or may otherwise prejudice the party bound by the deed as originally executed. 1940 PC 160 (163) [AIR V 27] : 67 Ind App 318 : ILR (1940) All 625 : 1 L R (1940) Kar (PC) 287 + 1954 Mys 185 (186) [AIR V 41 C 80] : ILR (1955) Mys 221.

[See also 1947 Nag 145 (151) [AIR V 34 C 43] : ILR (1946) Nag 796 (DB).]

[2] The fact that an alteration does not ultimately involve any change in the rights and liabilities of the parties is not very germane to the consideration of the question whether it amounts to a material alteration within the meaning of S 87. Whether the change be prejudicial or beneficial to the maker does not in the least matter. Any alteration of any instrument is material which would alter the business effect of the instrument if used for any ordinary business purpose—If the legal identity or character of the instrument has been affected or if the liability has been attempted to have been extended by the alteration, it must be held to be material and this would be so irrespective of the fact whether the alteration is to the prejudice of the promisor or executant of the instrument or not. 1942 Mad 709 (710) [AIR V 29] : 1 L R (1943) Mad 143 + 1947 Nag 145 (151) [AIR V 34 C 43] : ILR (1946) Nag 796 (DB) + 1920 Lah 80 (83) [AIR V 7] : 1 Lah 262 (DB) + 1943 Mad 511 (512) [AIR V 30].

[3] Where negotiable instrument has been altered, answer to question whether alteration is material one depends on whether it changes rights and liabilities of parties thereto. It is immaterial whether change is prejudicial or beneficial. 1936 Rang 136 (138) [AIR V 23].

[4] Alteration which gives man right of action which he would otherwise not have is material alteration—Alteration affecting validity of contract in place of origin—Suit cannot lie on basis of it elsewhere. 1916 Mad 284 (286) [AIR V 3] : 38 Mad 746 (DB).

Section 87 — Note 1 (contd.)

[5] Sarkat executed by debtor in favour of several brothers—Name of eldest brother subsequently scored out to extend period of limitation for suit on sarkat — Alteration is material and remaining brothers cannot sue on it. 1947 Nag 145 (152) [A I R V 34 C 43] : I L R (1946) Nag 796 (DB).

[6] Alteration in S. 87, refers to deliberate alteration by party to instrument or by one on whom his interest had devolved and not by stranger when no conduct can be imputed to party in whose interest alteration has been effected or from which either his complicity, laches or negligence may be inferred. 1940 Mad 62 (66) [A I R V 27]. (Overruled on a different point in AIR 1957 Mad 715.)

(b) Date of execution.

[7] Alteration in date of execution of promissory note and of endorsement of payment is material alteration irrespective of fact whether alteration is to prejudice of promisor or not. 1940 Mad 62 (63) [A I R V 27]. (Overruled on a different point in AIR 1957 Mad 715.) * 1951 Mys 102 (103) [A I R V 38 C 35] : I L R (1951) Mys 224 (DB) * 1922 Low Bur 40 (1) (40) [A I R V 9] : 11 Low Bur Rul 382.

[See 1915 Mad 425 (425, 426) [A I R V 2]. (Where one of two joint promisors admits execution of promissory note and receipt of consideration, it is not open to him to plead alteration of date of the note.)

[8] The alterations of the date of execution of the deed and certain other words by making holes in the document without the consent of the obligee by the party in whose favour it was executed held in the particular case did not amount to material alterations within the meaning of the rule. 1940 P C 160 (165) [A I R V 27] : 67 Ind App 318 : I L R (1940) All 625 : I L R (1940) Kar (PC) 287.

(c) Time of payment

[9] Alteration in time of payment is material alteration. 1920 Lah 80 (83) [A I R V 7] : 1 Lah 262 (DB) * 1936 Rang 136 (139) [A I R V 23].

[10] Where addition of one more name as executant is made in pronote without consent of other executants and is not made to carry out intention of original parties pronote is void as against original executants. 1935 Oudh 434 (435) [A I R V 22] : 11 Luch 360 (DB).

[11] Section 87 — Addition by payee of another executant to promissory note by forgery of signature—Suit by endorsee—Note is rendered void even as against admitted executants. 1943 Mad 511 (512) [A I R V 30].

[12] Where in a promissory note subsequent to its execution the words "the proprietor of the Karthika Stores" were inserted above the signature of the maker and below the date—Held that the alteration was a material alteration rendering the instrument unenforceable though the plaintiff might ultimately make up his mind to sue the maker in his individual capacity only. 1942 Mad 709 (711) [A I R V 29] : I L R (1943) Mad 143.

[13] One of executants had forged signature of other on note and creditor was aware of this fact—Held there was material alteration. 1928 Mad 1092 (1093) [A I R V 15].

[14] Section applies even where although there has been no alteration after the note came into existence the note was created in the first instance itself with a forged signature of material character. 1914 Mad 369 (369) [A I R V 1].

[But see 1925 Mad 929 (932) [A I R V 12]. (Section 87 refers only to alteration after execution. Pronote was executed by two persons but signature of one of executants was forged.)

[15] Change of name of payee is material alteration. 1923 All 123 (124) [A I R V 10] (DB).

[16] Thief intercepting Namjogi hundi and substituting another name in place of original payee — Drawee paying amount to person so substituted as endorsee — Drawer held not liable because he is not a party to the alteration of the hundi — Drawee held liable in damages for wrongful conversion, measure of damages being amount of hundi. 1940 Bom 82 (84) [A I R V 27] (DB).

(e) Interest or rate of interest.

[17] Endorsement postponing payment and altering the rate of interest constitutes material alteration. In such case the actual position of the words within is immaterial 1936 Rang 136 (139) [A I R V 23].

[18] Insertion of rate of interest not agreed upon by parties when note was first made is material alteration of document. 1919 Low Bur 45 (45, 46) [A I R V 6] * 1925 All 282 (1) (282) [A I R V 12].

(f) Alteration of words "or order."

[19] Where document is described as promissory note but is torn to pieces and is pieced together in such manner that name of payee and words "or order" were missing so that in effect it became bond, it was held there was material alteration whereby legal character of instrument itself was changed. (12) 12 Mad L Tim 333 (334).

(g) Affixation of stamps and attestation.

[20] Addition of attesting witnesses to unstamped promissory note after its execution has effect of converting it into bond and amounts to material alteration which invalidates instrument and destroys right of action on it. 1930 Lah 959 (960) [A I R V 17].

[21] Affixture of two out of four one-anna stamps subsequent to the execution of the promissory note without the knowledge of the executant, in order to make it an enforceable instrument in a Court of law, is a material alteration falling within the mischief of S. 87. (58) 71 Mad L W 398 (401). Definitions of two words "material" and "alteration" as given in standard lexicons quoted.

[22] Promissory note—Affixation of stamps and cancelling them and attestation of witness without consent of executor — Alteration held material alteration. 1959 Raj 96 (97) [A I R V 48 C 34] : I L R (1958) 8 Raj 1178.

[2] Correction of clerical error is not material alteration. 1955 N U C (Assam) 552S [AIR V 42].

(b) Alteration outside body.

[3] Principle that document in which alterations have been introduced is void and no decree can be based on void document is not applicable where alteration which was found to have been made by plaintiff is not in entry on basis of which suit has been instituted but in entry relating to repayment. 1940 Lah 228 (230) [AIR V 27].

[4] Alteration was found to be forgery and made outside body of note and signature—Held that it did not form part of note and did not constitute material alteration to vitiate note. 1936 Mad 616 (617, 618) [AIR V 25].

[6] Agreement between parties to pay interest — Sarkhat as originally drawn up not containing reference to payment of interest through accidental omission — Creditor altering sarkhat by incorporating rate of interest without reference to debtor — Alteration though made without reference to other party does not make sarkhat void against debtor as alteration was made to carry out common intention of parties. Section 87 postulates possibility of such agreement being proved by oral evidence. 1939 All 248 (249) [AIR V 26] (DB).

[7] Acceptor asking for extension of time for payment — Time extended and extended date was substituted in bill—Held, there is no material alteration. 1928 P C 231 (233) [AIR V 15] : 55 Ind App 553 : 52 Bom 589.

[9] Son representing that father and son would execute pronote affixing his thumb-mark to note—Father not coming to execute—Nishani of father affixed with consent of son though in absence of father — No material alteration since Nishani was put simultaneously with the execution. 1936 Mad 154 (154, 155) [AIR V 23].

[11] A pronote was written as if both A and B would be executants. But after the consideration was paid to A and he signed the pronote B refused to sign it as no money was paid to him. The recital about B being a party to the instrument was deleted immediately after the execution of the pronote by A : Held that the deletion was not a material alteration under S. 87. 1954 Mys 185 (157) [AIR V 41 C 80] : ILR (1955) Mys 221.

3. Effect of alteration. — (1) The principle upon which suits based on instruments which are materially altered are dismissed is not the interest of the party who is found to have executed the document but the interests of justice in general and this principle is equally applicable in India. 1935 Mad 40 (40) [AIR V 22].

[2] The effect of making a material alteration without the consent of the party bound is exactly the same as that of cancelling the deed. The avoidance of the deed is not retrospective and does not revest or re-convey any estate or interest in property which passed under it. And the deed may be put in evidence to prove that such estate or interest so passed or for any other purpose than to maintain an action to enforce some agreement therein contained. 1940 P C 160 (163) [AIR V 27] : 67 Ind App 318 : ILR (1940) All 625 : ILR (1940) Kar (PC) 287.

[3] If an alteration (by erasure, interlineation or otherwise) is made in a material part of a deed after its execution, by or with the consent of any party thereto or person entitled thereunder, but without the consent of the party or parties liable thereunder, the deed is thereby made void. The avoidance however is not ab initio or so as to nullify any conveyancing effect which the deed has already had, but only operates as from the time of such alteration and so as to prevent the person who has made or authorised the alteration and those claiming under him, from putting the deed in suit to enforce, against any party bound thereby who did not consent to the alteration, any obligation, covenant or promise thereby undertaken or made. 1940 P C 160 (163) [AIR V 27] : 67 Ind App 318 : ILR (1940) All 625 : ILR (1940) Kar (PC) 287.

[4] Section 87 has nothing to do with the liability of the executant of the instrument. It only says that the indorsee has to suffer the loss occasioned by his own fraud. Therefore, the contention that as the section only mentions about the liability of the indorser, the liability of other parties to the note would not be affected by the material alteration, is untenable. 1957 Mad 715 (719) [AIR V 44 C 227] : ILR (1957) Mad 987 (DB).

[5] Where the plaintiffs alone are responsible for the alteration, they cannot claim any amount as due under the pro-note. 1951 Mys 102 (103) [AIR V 38 C 35] : ILR (1951) Mys 224 (DB). (12 Mad 230, rel. on.)

[6] Where it has been established that a promissory note had been altered by the promisor himself but in his written statement he had admitted that he had executed the note for Rs. 1,000 (and not for Rs. 1,471 which was alleged to be altered figure) out of which he had paid Rs. 600 but he was not able to establish the repayment : Held that the promisee was entitled to a decree for Rs. 1,000 with [11] Under S. 87, a promissory note which has been altered by the payee cannot be enforced by him. If the sum was lent earlier and the promissory note subsequently executed was only an acknowledgment of the loan and security for it, the plaintiff may obtain a decree on that loan, in spite of the subsequent promissory note becoming unenforceable by reason of material alteration made by him. But where it is found that the passing of consideration and the execution of the promissory note were simultaneous, S. 91, Evidence Act, would be an obvious bar to the admission of any evidence aliunde to prove the passing of consideration under the promissory note.

CHAPTER VIII OF NOTICE OF DISHONOUR

91. Dishonour by non-acceptance.

A bill of exchange is said to be dishonoured by non-acceptance when the drawee, or one of several drawees not being partners, makes default in acceptance upon being duly required to accept the bill, or where presentment is excused and the bill is not accepted.

Where the drawee is incompetent to contract, or the acceptance is qualified, the bill may be treated as dishonoured.

with the amount : Held (1) that as the cheque on the face of it did not disclose any traces of alterations of obligations at the time it was presented for encashment, the payment made by the Bank B was a 'payment in due course' and was according to the 'apparent tenor of the cheque' and hence Bank B was entitled to debit the amount to the account of the plaintiff. (2) That as the Bank B had occasions to pay A's cheques, bodies of which had been in other person's handwriting, and as the signature of A on the questioned cheque was genuine, the mere fact that the body of the cheque appeared to be in the handwriting of a person different from the drawer of the cheque was not a matter which could have roused suspicion in the mind of the officials of the Bank. 1956 Cal 399 (405, 406) [(S) AIR V 43 C 122].

[2] The negligence in order to estop the owner drawing a cheque must be negligence in the transaction itself. The transmission by post, if it is at all any act of negligence is negligence collateral to the transaction and it cannot be regarded as the proximate cause of the forgery. It will not disentitle the owner of it to recover the draft or its proceeds from person or persons who has or have wrongfully obtained possession thereof. 1956 Cal 399 (408) [(S) AIR V 43 C 122].

[3] The bank has to see whether there are any alterations in the cheque and whether they have been properly authenticated. Where an alteration in a cheque is initiated not by all the drawers but only by some of them, the bank will be paying the amount on the said cheque at its own risk. The protection under S. 89 is afforded to the bank paying a cheque where the alteration is not apparent. 1959 Mad 119 (122) [AIR V 46 C 39].

Section 91 — Note 1

[1] A bill of exchange payable at sight or on demand may in the option of the holder be presented for acceptance and if it is not accepted by the drawee it will be said to have been dishonoured and the case would then be covered by Ss. 91 and 93. 1919 Mad 179 (182) [AIR V 6 C 100].

[See 1958 Punj 222 (227) [AIR V 45 C 60] : ILR (1958) Punj 1178 (DB). (Per Chopra J.)]

[2] A bill of exchange payable at sight is not required by law to be presented for acceptance only but when presented for payment it must be deemed to have been presented both for acceptance and payment. On its being dishonoured the provisions of Ss. 91 to 93 would become applicable. 1958 Punj 222 (226) [AIR V 45 C 60] : ILR (1958) Punj 1178 (DB). (Per K. L. Gosain J.)

[3] A bill of exchange payable after sight is required by law to be presented for acceptance and if it is dishonoured on being presented, the provisions of Ss. 91 and 93, are attracted. 1958 Punj 222 (226) [AIR V 45 C 60] : ILR (1958) Punj 1178 (DB). (Per K. L. Gosain J.)

[4] A bill of exchange payable on a fixed date is not required by law to be presented for acceptance but may at the option of the holder be presented for acceptance at any time earlier than the date fixed. If it is presented for acceptance and it is dishonoured, a notice of dishonour becomes essential. 1958 Punj 222 (226) [AIR V 45 C 60] : ILR (1958) Punj 1178 (DB). (Per Gosain J.)

92. Dishonour by non-payment.

A promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is said to be dishonoured by non-payment when the maker of the note, acceptor of the bill or drawee of the cheque makes default in payment upon being duly required to pay the same.

93. By and to whom notice should be given.

When a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder thereof, or some party thereto who remains liable thereon, must give notice that the instrument has been so dishonoured to all other parties whom the holder seeks to make severally liable thereon, and to some one of several parties whom he seeks to make jointly liable thereon.

Nothing in this section renders it necessary to give notice to the maker of the dishonoured promissory note or the drawee or acceptor of the dishonoured bill of exchange or cheque.

[3] Where the holder of a hundi payable at sight, without presenting it for acceptance, presents it to the drawee for payment and the hundi is dishonoured, notice of dishonour to the drawee is necessary and where the same is not given within a reasonable time the drawer is absolved of his liability on the hundi. 1958 Punj 222 (227) [A I R V 45 C 60] : I L R (1958) Punj 1178 (DB).

[4] A drew a cheque on B in favour of C on 20-3-1945. C presented the cheque to B for payment on 21-3-1945 but it was returned with endorsement that it would be honoured after collection of assets of the drawer. C then negotiated the cheque with the plaintiff bank, and received full payment. The plaintiff then presented the cheque to B on 26-5-1945, but it was dishonoured on the ground that the payment had been stopped by the drawer. The plaintiff thereupon sued A and C for recovery of the amount of the dishonoured cheque. Held, that the endorsement dated 21-3-1945 did not amount to a dishonour of the cheque within S. 92, and the plaintiff was therefore, the holder in due course when the cheque was subsequently dishonoured on 26-5-1945. 1951 Assam 127 (128) [A I R V 38 C 60] (DB).

Section 93 — Note 1

[1] Section 93 enumerates the persons by and to whom notice is to be given. The section is not meant to be an exhaustive code of cases in which notice is necessary. 1958 Punj 222 (228) [A I R V 45 C 60] : I L R (1958) Punj 1178 (DB).

[2] The object of a notice of dishonour to endorser is not to demand payment but clearly to indicate to the party notified that the contract arising on the negotiable instrument has been broken by the principal debtor and that the former being a surety will now be liable for the payment. This is the principle embodied in S. 93. 1956 Raj 129 (136) [A I R V 43 C 40] : I L R (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[See 1953 All 637 (640) [A I R V 40 C 318] : I L R (1954) 1 All 268.]

[3] The stringent and technical provisions of the Negotiable Instruments Act with respect to presentment or notice of dishonour cannot be called into operation in determining the liability in the case of hundis which came to be executed in a territory where there was no such Act in force at the relevant time. 1956 Raj 129 (133) [A I R V 43 C 40] : I L R (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[4] Holder must give notice of dishonour to persons other than drawee or acceptor whom he seeks to make liable on bill, except in cases enumerated in S. 98. 1920 Lah 80 (83) [A I R V 7] : 1 Lah 262 (DB) * 1954 Orissa 124 (126) [A I R V 41 C 36] : I L R (1954) Cut 46 (DB).

[5] The loss of a bill or note does not absolve the party who lost it from making an application for payment when it becomes due and to give notice of dishonour to all parties. 1936 Nag 260 (262) [A I R V 23] : I L R (1939) Nag 661.

[6] Obligation of endorsee to give notice of dishonour by non-acceptance or non-payment to endorser exists, whether promissory note was dishonoured or not before indorsement. 1931 Mad 113 (114) [A I R V 15].

[7] Neglect to give notice of dishonour within reasonable time exonerates indorsers

94. Mode in which notice may be given.

Notice of dishonour may be given to a duly authorized agent of the person to whom it is required to be given, or, where he has died, to his legal representative, or, where he has been declared an insolvent, to his assignee; may be oral or written; may, if written, be sent by post; and may be in any form; but it must inform the party to whom it is given, either in express terms or by reasonable intendment, that the instrument has been dishonoured, and in what way, and that he will be held liable thereon; and it must be given within a reasonable time after dishonour, at the place of business or (in case such party has no place of business) at the residence of the party for whom it is intended.

If the notice is duly directed and sent by post and miscarries, such miscarriage does not render the notice invalid.

[8] In absence of notice of dishonour endorser of promissory note is not liable unless special contract to contrary is proved. 1935 Mad 22 (2) (23) (AIR V 23).

[9] When cheque is dishonoured, it is incumbent upon endorsee to give endorser with notice of dishonour under S. 93 and in absence of such notice he cannot sue on original consideration. 1935 Lah 799 (799) (AIR V 23).

[10] Notice of dishonour is not compulsory where bill is payable at sight has been dishonoured. 1937 Pesh 103 (109) (AIR V 24) (DB).

[11] A bill of exchange payable after sight is required by law to be presented for acceptance, and if it is dishonoured on being presented, the provisions of Ss. 91 and 93 are attracted, and a notice of dishonour becomes essential. 1958 Puj 222 (226) (AIR V 45 C 60); ILR (1958) Puj 1178 (DB).

[12] Where the suit by the holder is not for compensation on account of dishonour of the cheque, but, on the contrary, for recovery of the balance of money due on the original transaction of having supplied paddy and in discharge of which the dishonoured cheque was given no question of notice of dishonour can arise. 1954 Oissa 124 (126) (AIR V 41 C 36); ILR (1954) Cut 46 (DB).

[13] Where a promissory note concluded with the endorsement, "If the amount on the aforesaid promissory note is not realised as aforesaid, I will myself be liable for the same"—Held that the endorsement should be construed as a guarantee to pay, which should be sufficient to take away the necessity of complying with the formalities required by the Act of presentment under S. 64 and notice of dishonour under S. 93. (54) 1954-2 Mad L Jour 603 (604).

[14] Where in a notice calling upon both the maker and the endorser to make the payment, there is also a reference that whenever the demand was made the amounts, principal and interest were not paid and that defendants were saying that it will be given and that they were evading, it cannot be assumed from these words that there must have been oral demands, presentment of the promissory note should have been made and the fact of dishonour should also have been intimated to the endorser. There should be something to indicate in the notice itself that there has been failure of payment on presentment and therefore dishonour of the promissory note. 1951 Mad 652 (654) (AIR V 38 C 182).

[15] A notice must clearly intimate that payment was demanded from the drawer but refused and that the holder holds the person notified liable on the instrument. 1950 Raj 129 (136) (AIR V 43 C 40); ILR (1950) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[16] The plaintiff in a suit based on a negotiable instrument where he is the endorsee must state clearly in his plaint that a notice of dishonour was sent to the endorser and must give the particulars thereof, or where he considers that he is exempt from giving this notice, he should allege the facts which exempt him from giving such notice. 1950 Raj 129 (136) (AIR V 43 C 40); ILR (1950) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[17] Where the holder of a bill of exchange payable at sight does not elect to present the instrument for acceptance, but merely presents the same for payment to the drawee, if the drawee in such a case makes default in payment S. 93 would not come into play. 1958 Puj 222 (227) (AIR V 45 C 60); ILR (1958) Puj 1178 (DB).

[18] A cheque had been drawn in favour of A and it was subsequently endorsed by A in favour of the plaintiffs but was not honoured by the bank. No notice of dishonour was sent to A. The plaintiff, however, relied on a deed of agreement executed when the endorsement of the cheque had been made by A in favour of the plaintiffs. By means of this agreement A undertook to pay the amount of the cheque to the plaintiff along with damages if the amount under the cheque was not received by the plaintiffs. Held, that the plaintiffs were entitled to rely on this document for holding A liable. 1955 N U C (All) 1699 (AIR V 42).

95. Party receiving must transmit notice of dishonour.

Any party receiving notice of dishonour must, in order to render any prior party liable to himself, give notice of dishonour to such party within a reasonable time, unless such party otherwise receives due notice as provided by section 93.

96. Agent for presentment.

When the instrument is deposited with an agent for presentment, the agent is entitled to the same time to give notice to his principal as if he were the holder giving notice of dishonour, and the principal is entitled to a further like period to give notice of dishonour.

97. When party to whom notice given is dead.

No notice of dishonour is necessary—

[3] The giving of a notice of dishonour is a part of the plaintiff's cause of action and is a condition precedent for making the endorser liable and in the absence of such notice his liability to the endorsee must stand extinguished. 1956 Raj 129 (136) [AIR V 43 C 40] ; ILR (1956) 6 Raj 612 (DB).

[4] It is not necessary that the actual words "countermanding payment" should be used; it is sufficient if the words used clearly show that the drawer does not want payment to be made in accordance with the tenor of the hundi. The question of countermanding payment is a question of fact. 1936 Mad 506 (507) [AIR V 23].

[5] Where the question of averment about countermanding of payment by drawer of hundi is raised in the trial Court, though it is not pleaded in the plaint, the plaint need not be amended when it does not affect or prejudice the interest of the parties. 1936 Mad 506 (507) [AIR V 23].

[6] Where it is alleged that notice of dishonour was not necessary as party charged could not suffer damage for want of notice, it is upon party who wants to excuse himself for non-presentation, that onus lies to prove that other party could not suffer damage. 1932 Nag 55 (60) [AIR V 19] ; 28 Nag L R 134 (DB) * ('11) 33 All 4 (6) (DB) * ('11) 1911 Ind L R No. 110, p. 637 (500).

CHAPTER IX OF NOTING AND PROTEST

99. Noting.

When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may cause such dishonour to be noted<sup>a</sup> by a notary public<sup>b</sup> upon the instrument, or upon a paper attached thereto, or partly upon each.

Such note must be made within a reasonable time after dishonour, and must specify the date of dishonour, the reason, if any, assigned for such dishonour, or, if the instrument has not been expressly dishonoured, the reason why the holder treats it as dishonoured, and the notary's charges.

[a] See the Notaries Act, 1952 (LIII of 1952), S. 8 (1) (c). [b] See ibid., S. 11.

100. Protest.

When a promissory note or bill of exchange has been dishonoured by non-acceptance or non-payment, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause such dishonour to be noted<sup>a</sup> and certified by a notary public.<sup>b</sup> Such certificate is called a protest.

Protest for better security.

When the acceptor of a bill of exchange has become insolvent, or his credit has been publicly impeached, before the maturity of the bill, the holder may, within a reasonable time, cause a notary public to demand better security of the acceptor, and on its being refused may, within a reasonable time, cause such facts to be noted and certified as aforesaid. Such certificate is called a protest for better security.

[a] See the Notaries Act, 1952 (LIII of 1952), S. 8 (1) (c). [b] See ibid., S. 11.

101. Contents of protest.

A protest under section 100 must contain—

(a) either the instrument itself, or a literal transcript of the instrument and of everything written or printed thereupon ; need not be express. If a person unequivocally acknowledges that a debt is due from him, he should be taken, impliedly, to promise to pay it. He may couple his acknowledgment with some expression which shows that he was not promising to pay; but if there is no such qualification, the acknowledgment of the debt involves an implied promise to pay. 1945 Bom 359 (360, 361) [AIR V 32] (DB).

Section 98 — Note 1 (contd.)

[9] The defendant issued a cheque in favour of one S drawn on M bank. S discounted the cheque with the plaintiff bank which presented the cheque to the M bank but it was dishonoured for the reason that it was not arranged for. Two months thereafter the plaintiff sent a lawyer's notice to the defendant asking for payment of the amount and the defendant denied liability contending that he had not been given notice of dishonour in time. Held that strictly no notice of dishonour was necessary in this case; but even if such a notice was necessary S. 98 (c) was applicable and it was sufficiently established that the defendant did not suffer any damage by reason of the failure to give notice. (57) 1957-27 Com Cas 494 (497) (Mad).

[10] The plaintiff bank received at its branch certain hundis from its customer firm and credited the amount. The branch was thereafter closed on account of communal riots. Later on, the bank, on reconstruction of accounts came to know that they were dis-honoured, and that all the adult male members of the firm had lost their lives in the riots and only the widow or minors survived. The bank then debited the firm and brought a suit to recover those amounts. Held that the bank did all it could in the peculiar circumstances of the case. There was no proper proof that the bank was negligent in presenting the hundis. The notice of dishonour was not necessary as the defendants were minors. The bank, therefore, was entitled to debit the firm and receive the amounts. 1957 Punj 257 (259) [AIR V 44 C 93] (DB).

[11] Where the suit by the holder is not for compensation on amount of dishonour of the cheque but, on the contrary, for the recovery of the balance of money due on the original transaction of having supplied paddy and in discharge of which the dishonoured cheque was given, no question of notice of dishonour can arise. 1954 Orissa 124 (126) [AIR V 41 C 30] ; ILR (1954) Cut 49 (DB).

[12] Where the reason for dishonour of the cheque was that the drawer's account had been closed, no question of any damage to the drawer or his representatives by reason of absence of notice of dishonour would arise. 1953 Assam 94 (95) [AIR V 40 C 40] ; ILR (1951) 3 Assam 515. (In such a case, a suit on the basis of the dishonoured cheque cannot fail for want of notice of dishonour.)

- (b) the name of the person for whom and against whom the instrument has been protested ;
  - (c) a statement that payment or acceptance, or better security, as the case may be, has been demanded of such person by the notary public ; the terms of his answer, if any, or a statement that he gave no answer or that he could not be found ;
  - (d) when the note or bill has been dishonoured, the place and time of dishonour, and, when better security has been refused, the place and time of refusal ;
  - (e) the subscription of the notary public making the protest ;
  - (f) in the event of an acceptance for honour or of a payment for honour, the name of the person by whom, of the person for whom, and the manner in which, such acceptance or payment was offered and effected.
- <sup>a</sup>[A notary public<sup>b</sup> may make the demand mentioned in clause (c) of this section either in person or by his clerk or, where authorized by agreement or usage, by registered letter.]

[a] Added by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 5. [b] For the construction of "a notary public", now see the Notaries Act, 1952 (LIII of 1952), S. 11.

102. Notice of protest.

When a promissory note or bill of exchange is required by law to be protested, notice of such protest must be given instead of notice of dishonour, in the same manner and subject to the same conditions ; but the notice may be given by the notary public who makes the protest.

103. Protest for non-payment after dishonour by non-acceptance.

All bills of exchange drawn payable at some other place than the place mentioned as the residence of the drawee, and which are dishonoured by non-acceptance, may, without further presentment to the drawee, be protested for non-payment in the place specified for payment, unless paid before or at maturity.

104. Protest of foreign bills.

Foreign bills of exchange must be protested for dishonour when such protest is required by the law of the place where they are drawn.

<sup>a</sup>[104A. When noting equivalent to protest.

For the purposes of this Act, where a bill or note is required to be protested within a specified time or before some further proceeding is taken, it is sufficient that the bill has been noted for protest before the expiration of the specified time or the taking of the proceeding ; and the formal protest may be extended at any time thereafter as of the date of the noting.]

[a] Inserted by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 6.

CHAPTER X OF REASONABLE TIME

105. Reasonable time.

In determining what is a reasonable time for presentment for acceptance or payment, for giving notice of dishonour and for noting, regard shall be had to the nature of the instrument and the usual course of dealing with respect to similar instruments; and, in calculating such time, public holidays shall be excluded.

Section 104 — Note 1

[1] A bill drawn upon a resident in British India is an inland bill for which no protest is necessary. The fact that the bill was drawn out of British India does not make it a foreign bill. 1930 Cal 692 (692) [A I R V 17] : 57 Cal 730.

Section 105 — Note 1

[1] Reasonableness of time for presenting bill of exchange for payment is mixed question of law and fact. 1920 Lah 413 (413) [A I R V 7] (DB) + 1929 Lah 577 (577) [A I R V 16] : 11 Lah 34 (DB).

106. Reasonable time of giving notice of dishonour.

If the holder and the party to whom notice of dishonour is given carry on business or live (as the case may be) in different places, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched by the next post or on the day next after the day of dishonour.

If the said parties carry on business or live in the same place, such notice is given within a reasonable time if it is despatched in time to reach its destination on the day next after the day of dishonour.

107. Reasonable time for transmitting such notice.

A party receiving notice of dishonour, who seeks to enforce his right against a prior party, transmits the notice within a reasonable time if he transmits it within the same time after its receipt as he would have had to give notice if he had been the holder.

CHAPTER XI

OF ACCEPTANCE AND PAYMENT FOR HONOUR AND REFERENCE
IN CASE OF NEED108. Acceptance for honour.

When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-acceptance or for better security, any person not being a party already liable thereon may, with the consent of the holder, by writing on the bill, accept the same for the honour of any party thereto. * * *

[The second sentence was omitted by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 7.]

time facts such as the distance at which persons live from each other, the course of dealing, the speed of mail, the nature of the instrument, and all such other circumstances applicable to the case ought to be considered. But when these facts have been ascertained, the reasonableness of the time becomes a mixed question of law and fact. 1929 Lah 577, 577. AIR V 16; 11 Lah 34 (DB).

[2] Though S. 105 does not make distinction between bills of exchange payable on demand and promissory notes payable on demand, the section gives a wide discretion to Courts to distinguish between commercial negotiable instruments and pro-notes, particularly those as between parties who are not merchants. 1954 Mad 855 (Prs 2, 3, 4) [AIR V 41 C 285]. (Parties being non-commercial persons and mutually accommodating, delay of 6 or 7 days in issuing notice of dishonour—Held not unreasonable time within meaning of S. 74 read with S. 105.)

[1] A perusal of S. 106 of the Act leaves no doubt that the notice of dishonour should be given as the bill is dishonoured. It is the duty of the holder to prove that due notice was given and if not given he was excused from doing so for any of the reasons specified in S. 98. The omission to give notice of dishonour has the effect of discharging the persons who are entitled to such notice. 1929 Lah 577 (578) [AIR V 16]; 11 Lah 34 (DB). (Case of delay of 27 days in giving notice of dishonour.)

[2] Notice of dishonour must be given so far as the endorser is concerned. It is a matter of principle and not technicality. Failure to give notice within reasonable time will absolve endorser from all liability to the holder. This requirement must be enforced in case of hundis even though the Act may not, in terms, apply. This rule is in accord with justice, equity and good conscience. Such a notice must be given within a reasonable time. This requirement may be dispensed with only in the case of negotiable instruments in an oriental language where a local usage or custom is established to the contrary. 1950 Bq 129 (Prs 10, 20) [AIR V 45 C 40]; 1 LR (1950) B Bq 612, (DB).

[3] Shajid hundis are recognised as negotiable instruments by local usage. A hundi of this type must necessarily be presented to the drawee and a notice of dishonour of the same must be given to the drawer, endorser and all other concerned parties. Technical rules, as regards time and manner provided for in the Act would not necessarily apply to such notices. But all the same the notice must be within reasonable time and the provisions of the Act in this respect must "substantially" as contradistinguished from "technically" be complied with. 1960 Punj 157 (Prs 8, 11) [AIR V 47 C 53] (DB). (Delay of ten days in giving notice not explained. Note held not given within reasonable time.)

[4] Where the parties carry on the business at the same place and the hundi is dishonoured on 2nd September 1943, a notice of dishonour, given on 1st October 1943, is much beyond reasonable time within the meaning of S. 106. 1958 Punj 222 (Pr 8) [AIR V 45 C 60]; 1 LR (1958) Punj 1178 (DB).

109. How acceptance for honour must be made.

A person desiring to accept for honour must, <sup>a</sup>[by writing on the bill under his hand,] declare that he accepts under protest the protested bill for the honour of the drawer or of a particular indorser whom he names, or generally for honour <sup>b</sup>[* * *].

[a] Substituted for the words "in the presence of a notary public, subscribe the bill with his own hand, and", by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 8. [b] The words "and such declaration must be recorded by the notary in his register" were omitted, ibid.

110. Acceptance not specifying for whose honour it is made.

Where the acceptance does not express for whose honour it is made, it shall be deemed to be made for the honour of the drawer.

111. Liability of acceptor for honour.

An acceptor for honour binds himself to all parties subsequent to the party for whose honour he accepts to pay the amount of the bill if the drawee do not; and such party and all prior parties are liable in their respective capacities to compensate the acceptor for honour for all loss or damage sustained by him in consequence of such acceptance.

But an acceptor for honour is not liable to the holder of the bill unless it is presented, or (in case the address given by such acceptor on the bill is a place other than the place where the bill is made payable) forwarded for presentment, not later than the day next after the day of its maturity.

112. When acceptor for honour may be charged.

An acceptor for honour cannot be charged unless the bill has at its maturity been presented to the drawee for payment and has been dishonoured by him, and noted or protested for such dishonour.

113. Payment for honour.

When a bill of exchange has been noted or protested for non-payment, any person may pay the same for the honour of any party liable to pay the same, provided that the person so paying <sup>a</sup>[or his agent in that behalf] has previously declared before a notary public the party for whose honour he pays, and that such declaration has been recorded by such notary public.

[a] Inserted by the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1885 (II of 1885), S. 9.

114. Right of payer for honour.

Any person so paying is entitled to all the rights, in respect of the bill, of the holder at the time of such payment, and may recover from the party for whose honour he pays all sums so paid, with interest thereon and with all expenses properly incurred in making such payment.

115. Drawee in case of need.

Where a drawee in case of need is named in a bill of exchange, or in any indorsement thereon, the bill is not dishonoured until it has been dishonoured by such drawee.

Section 113 — Note 1

[1] Section 113 has no application to "drawee in case of need," in bill of exchange. Where vendor takes bill to his own order, property in goods cannot pass to purchaser until he accepts bill and meets it on presentation. When purchaser accepts bill and dishonours it on presentation, contract between him and vendor comes to end and when bill is accepted and met on presentation by "drawee in case of need" property in goods passes to "drawee in case of need" unless purchaser can show some new contract between him and vendor. 1941 Rang 270 (271) [AIR V 25] (DB).

[1] Non-presentment to drawee in case of need absolves drawer from liability. 1929 Lah 577 (578) [AIR V 16] : 11 Lah 34 (DB).

[2] A bill of exchange was accepted by the drawee but subsequently dishonoured by non-payment—But was not presented to drawee in case of need for acceptance — Held that the bill should have been presented to the drawee in case of need in all cases and accepted by 116. Acceptance and payment without protest.

A drawee in case of need may accept and pay the bill of exchange without previous protest.

CHAPTER XII OF COMPENSATION

117. Rules as to compensation.

The compensation payable in case of dishonour of a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque, by any party liable to the holder or any indorsee, shall [* * *] be determined by the following rules:—

- (a) the holder is entitled to the amount due upon the instrument, together with the expenses properly incurred in presenting, noting and protesting it;
- (b) when the person charged resides at a place different from that at which the instrument was payable, the holder is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places;
- (c) an indorser who, being liable, has paid the amount due on the same is entitled to the amount so paid with interest at six per centum per annum from the date of payment until tender or realization thereof, together with all expenses caused by the dishonour and payment;
- (d) when the person charged and such indorser reside at different places, the indorser is entitled to receive such sum at the current rate of exchange between the two places;
- (e) the party entitled to compensation may draw a bill upon the party liable to compensate him, payable at sight or on demand, for the amount due to him, together with all expenses properly incurred by him. Such bill must be accompanied by the instrument dishonoured and the protest thereof (if any). If such bill is dishonoured, the party dishonouring the him even where the drawee accepts it and subsequently dishonours; failing which the drawee in case of need cannot be made liable. 1938 Bom 364 (366) [A I R V 25].

[3] Where a vendor takes a bill of exchange to his own order the property in the goods cannot pass to the purchaser until he accepts the bill and meets it on presentation. But when the purchaser accepts the bill and dishonours it on presentation, the contract between him and the vendor comes to an end and thereafter when the bill is accepted and met on presentation by the drawee in case of need, the property in the goods passes to the drawee in case of need unless the purchaser can show some new contract between him and the vendor. 1941 Rang 270 (271) [A I R V 28] (DB).

Section 116 — Note 1

[1] As it is necessary that a drawee in case of need must accept before he is bound, it follows that the bill must be presented to him for acceptance in all cases, even if the drawee in the first instance accepts and then dishonours the bill by non-payment. Hence where such bill is not presented for acceptance nor accepted by the drawee in case of need, he is not liable. 1938 Bom 364 (366, 367) [A I R V 25].

Section 117 — Note 1

[1] Where the manager of a joint Hindu family incurs debt for the benefit of the family and executes a promote for the same which is indorsed by payee to third party without assigning the debt as well the indorsee can sue on the promote alone and not debt and decree obtained by him on the promote against the maker being one for compensation and not for debt cannot be executed against the other members of the family. 1942 Mad 161 (165, 166) [A I R V 29]; I L R (1942) Mad 204 (DB).

[2] Where according to the terms of the bills, they were to be paid at the current rate for Bank demand drafts at the date of payment—Held that the rate of exchange should be calculated at the due date. 1923 Bom 241 (241) [A I R V 10]; 47 Bom 493 (DB).

[3] On a construction of Ss. 43, 50 and 117, the endorsee of the promissory note executed by A in favour of B should be entitled to the amount under the promissory note and not the amount which he might have been proved to have actually paid for the endorsement or assignment of the promissory note in favour of B. 1954 Mad 960 (961) [A I R V 41 C 335].

[4] If any party is "liable to the holder" S. 117 will apply. The section does not enforce a right on the holder to enforce payment against the drawee in general. 1953 All 637 (641) [A I R V 40 C 318]; I L R (1954) 1 All 268.

same is liable to make compensation thereof in the same manner as in the case of the original bill.

CHAPTER XIII

SPECIAL RULES OF EVIDENCE

118. Presumptions as to negotiable instruments— (a) of consideration; (b) as to date; (c) as to time of acceptance; (d) as to time of transfer; (e) as to order of indorsements; (f) as to stamp; (g) that holder is a holder in due course.

Until the contrary is proved, the following presumptions shall be made:—

- (a) that every negotiable instrument was made or drawn for consideration, and that every such instrument, when it has been accepted, indorsed, negotiated or transferred, was accepted, indorsed, negotiated or transferred for consideration;
- (b) that every negotiable instrument bearing a date was made or drawn on such date;
- (c) that every accepted bill of exchange was accepted within a reasonable time after its date and before its maturity;
- (d) that every transfer of a negotiable instrument was made before its maturity;
- (e) that the indorsements appearing upon a negotiable instrument were made in the order in which they appear thereon;
- (f) that a lost promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque was duly stamped;
- (g) that the holder of a negotiable instrument is a holder in due course: provided that, where the instrument has been obtained from its lawful owner, or from any person in lawful custody thereof, by means of an offence or fraud, or has been obtained from the maker or acceptor thereof by means of an offence or fraud, or for unlawful consideration, the burthen of proving that the holder is a holder in due course lies upon him.

SECTION 118 — SYNOPSIS

- 1. Scope.
- 2. Clause (a).
- 3. Clause (b).
- 4. Clause (c).
- 5. Clause (f).
- 6. Clause (g).

1. Scope. — [1] The Negotiable Instruments Act lays down certain special rules of evidence and certain special presumptions and precludes certain pleas being raised in particular circumstances; but beyond the scope of such rules or what may follow as necessary implication thereupon, the applicability of the general principles of law or the ordinary rules of evidence cannot be excluded in claims relating to negotiable instruments. 1935 Mad 181 (182) [AIR V 22]: 58 Mad 693 (FB).

[2] The 'special rules of evidence' laid down in S. 118 apply only as between parties to instrument or those claiming under them. In other cases, presumption will only be in terms of S. 114 of the Evidence Act. 1937 Mad 182 (184) [AIR V 24]: ILR (1937) Mad 299 (DB).

[3] The provisions of S. 118 do not affect question with regard to admissibility of evidence of document which depends entirely upon the document as it stands. 1925 Bom 527 (528) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[4] Presumption under S. 118 is always rebuttable. 1923 Lah 638 (640) [AIR V 10] (DB): 1956 Mys 30 (30) [AIR V 43 C 10]: ILR (1955) Mys 641.

[5] The presumption arising under S. 118 can be rebutted even by circumstantial evidence. 1930 All 568 (569) [AIR V 17] (DB): 1933 Lah 1029 (1031) [AIR V 20] (DB): 1957 Mad 182 (187) [AIR V 24]: ILR (1957) Mad 299 (DB).

2. Clause (a).—(a) Principle—[1] There is a principle behind S. 118 (a) and it is not a mere technical provision which cannot be looked into where the Act is not in force. The presumption is a matter of principle to facilitate negotiability as well as trade. There was such a presumption of consideration at Common law also in England till it was given statutory recognition. The presumption as to consideration is the very ingredient of negotiability and in the case of a negotiable instrument, presumption as to consideration has to be made. 1959 Raj 1 (4) [AIR V 46 C 1] : ILR (1958) S Raj 717 (FB).

(b) Nature and extent of presumption

[2] The presumption arising under S. 118(a) is a rebuttable presumption. 1956 Mys 30 (30) [AIR V 43 C 10] : ILR (1955) Mys 641.

[3] Section 118 (a), Negotiable Instruments Act provides a special rule of evidence in the case of negotiable instrument contrary to the case of an ordinary contract. Party denying consideration has to prove want of consideration or, in other words, to rebut the presumption that the negotiable instrument was made or drawn for consideration. The statutory presumption in favour of there being consideration for every negotiable instrument continues unless it is rebutted. 1960 Punj 500 (503) [AIR V 47 C 182] (DB).

[4] Where the execution of a promissory note is admitted or proved, consideration for the promote is to be presumed under S. 118 (a) and the onus of proving want of consideration shifts on to the defendant who executed the note. [5] Section 118 raises a statutory presumption in favour of there being consideration for every negotiable instrument. The presumption continues until it is rebutted and the only way it can be rebutted is by proving the contrary, viz., that the negotiable instrument was without consideration. The presumption that is raised is not in respect of the consideration mentioned in the negotiable instrument but is in favour of there being a consideration for the negotiable instrument, any consideration which is a valid consideration in law. The mere fact that the consideration mentioned in the negotiable instrument turns out to be wrongly described does not rebut the presumption under S. 118. Where the plaintiff attempts to prove a particular consideration, the mere fact that he failed to prove such a consideration does not in any way relieve the defendant from his obligation in law to establish the contrary of the presumption. 1949 Bom 257 (257, 258, 259) [AIR V 38 C 69] : ILR (1950) Bom 335 (DB) + (58) 1958-2 Andh W R 570 (571) + 1954 Sau 42 (43) [AIR V 41 C 22] + 1943 Cal 22 (24) [AIR V 30] (DB). (Section 118 (a) does not limit the presumption only to cases of consideration as stated in the negotiable instrument. The words 'for consideration' are quite general and should be applied in their full literal sense.)

[6] Where the instrument itself mentions cash payment as the consideration for it and that is also the case of the plaintiff at the hearing, it must not be taken to be without consideration within the meaning of S. 43 of the Act simply because the defendant has succeeded in demolishing the plaintiff's case, when it appears from the evidence on record that there was consideration in a different form. 1943 Cal 22 (24) [AIR V 30] (DB) + 1955 Pat 451 (453) [AIR V 42 C 119] (DB). [7] A defendant may discharge the burden of proof placed upon him under S. 118 (a), either by producing definite evidence, showing that consideration had not passed, or, by relying upon facts and circumstances of the case, and also by referring to the flaws in the evidence of the plaintiff and may then contend that the presumption has been rebutted. 1960 Punj 509 (504) [AIR V 47 C 182] (DB) + 1959 Andh Pra 570 (573) [AIR V 46 C 107] (DB). [8] Where the plaintiff himself sets up a case destroying the presumption by pleading facts contrary to the plain tenor of the promissory note, then it is impossible for the plaintiff to take recourse to the presumption and he must prove the consideration. 1957 Madh B 82 (83) [AIR V 44 C 35] (AIR 1920 Nag 187 and AIR 1938 Nag 130, Dissenting from) + 1957 Raj 139 (160) [AIR V 44 C 62] : ILR (1957) 7 Raj 531 (DB). [10] Where in a suit on the basis of a promissory note the defendant admits execution of the suit pronote but denies a part of the consideration, the presumption under S. 118 (a) would come into play and the burden of proof of showing that the pronote was not supported for a part of the consideration would lie on the defendant. But if the plaintiff in his reply avers that no cash consideration passed under the suit pronote and that the same was executed in satisfaction of a debt due on a previous pronote which fact is denied by the defendant in his rejoinder, these circumstances are sufficient enough to rebut the presumption under S. 118 (a) and would have the effect of shifting the onus of proof with respect to the passing of consideration on the plaintiff and the plaintiff should prove the passing of consideration to the extent disputed by the defendant. 1956 Mys 30 (31) [AIR V 43 C 10] : ILR (1955) Mys 641.

[11] Suit on pronote — Plaintiff's allegation in plaint inconsistent with plaintiff's agent's statement with regard to consideration—Onus shifts to plaintiff. 1921 Lah 148 (149) [A I R V 8].

[12] Applying the definition of 'disproved' in Evidence Act to the principle behind the presumption in S. 118 (a) the principle comes to this. The Court shall presume a negotiable instrument to be for consideration unless and until after considering the matters before it, it either believes that consideration does not exist or considers the non-existence of the consideration so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that the consideration does not exist. 1959 Raj 1 (4, 5) [AIR V 46 C 1] : I L R (1958) 8 Raj 717 (FB).

[13] Presumption under S. 118 (a) cannot be invoked against persons not parties to instrument — In such cases ordinary common law rule applies and parties seeking to enforce claims under it should establish that it was for good consideration. 1960 Punj 500 (504) [AIR V 47 C 182].

[14] In a suit on a negotiable instrument, except where there is an inconsistency between pleading and proof, it is not correct to ignore the statutory presumption under S. 118 on the ground that such presumption loses its value when evidence is led by both the parties. (54) ILR (1954) 1 Cal 134 (137). (9 Ind Cas 79 (Mad), Dissented from.)

[15] Where the Court has come to the conclusion that the evidence of the maker of the negotiable instrument as to failure of consideration is untrustworthy and also to the conclusion that the evidence of the plaintiff fails to establish the consideration that is alleged or relied upon by him, the Court must take the third step also namely whether on a consideration of all the matters before it, it is of opinion that consideration has been disproved and there is no question of the Court not taking this third step and decreeing the suit after taking only these two steps on the basis of the presumption of consideration. It must, as the Evidence Act stands, and as the words 'shall presume' and 'disproved' are defined in it, take this final step. The correct position in a case of this kind is that where both parties have led their entire evidence, the matter certainly rests on such evidence. It would, however, not be correct to say that it does not rest upon presumption at all, for the Court cannot forget the presumption. In order to arrive at that conclusion, it will have to consider all the matters before it and then decide whether it believes that consideration does not exist or considers its non-existence so probable that a prudent man ought, under the circumstances of the particular case, to act upon the supposition that it does not exist. 1959 Raj 1 (4, 5) [AIR V 46 C 1] : I L R (1958) 8 Raj 717 (FB). [17] Under S. 114, Evidence Act, the Court has unfettered discretion to presume a fact, as proved until it is disproved or ignore such a presumption and call for proof of it. But when the statute requires, as in the case of S. 118 of the Negotiable Instruments Act that the Court shall presume a fact the Court has no option left, and it has to treat the fact as proved, until the party interested in disproving it has led evidence in support of its non-existence. 1960 Punj 500 (503) [AIR V 47 C 182] (DB) * 1958 All 403 (404) [(S) A I R V 43 C 142] : ILR (1956) 2 All 347 (FB).

[7] Where endorsee has no sufficient cause to believe that there was any defect in title of person from whom he derived title S. 118 will raise a presumption in his favour that he is a holder in due course and that the endorsement was for consideration. 1924 Pat 521 (522) [AIR V 11].

[8] Promote obtained for unlawful consideration—Onus is on holder to prove that he is holder in due course and for consideration. 1927 Lab 137 (138) [AIR V 14].

[9] Promote in favour of Company—Endorsement by Branch Manager—Presumption is that the endorsee is a holder in due course—It is for the executant defendant to prove that the Branch Manager had no authority to endorse and that the plaintiff was not a holder in due course. 1959 Mys 36 (37, 38) [AIR V 46 C 13]; 1 L R (1958) Mys 275.

[10] Promissory note payable on demand—Endorsement after discharge—Endorsee not aware of discharge or demand—Held, that endorsee must be deemed to be holder in due course. 1936 Mad 879 (880) [AIR V 23].

Section 119 -- Note 1

[1] Under S. 119, Negotiable Instruments Act, a Court is entitled to presume dishonour if there is a proper protest. A mere entry by a notary public of the words "noted for non-payment" without giving the date of dishonour and in the absence of a certificate of protest would not raise presumption. 1919 Mad 179 (180) [AIR V 6] (DB).

Section 120 -- Note 1

[1] Sections 120 and 121 enact a rule of estoppel against denying the original validity of the instrument in the one case and the capacity of the payee to endorse in the other and do not relate to the question who is entitled to sue on the instrument and can thus be regarded as the creditor under it. 1941 Mad 321 (323) [AIR V 28]; 1 L R (1941) Mad 248 (DB).

[2] The words "suit thereon" in Ss. 120 and 121 clearly show that the proceeding intended to be denoted by these words is a pro-

121. Estoppel against denying capacity of payee to indorse.

No maker of a promissory note and no acceptor of a bill of exchange **[payable to order]* shall, in a suit thereon by a holder in due course, be permitted to deny the payee's capacity, at the date of the note or bill, to indorse the same.

[a] Substituted for the words "payable to, or to the order of, a specified person", by the Negotiable Instruments (Amendment) Act, 1919 (VIII of 1919), S. 5.

122. Estoppel against denying signature or capacity of prior party.

No indorser of a negotiable instrument shall, in a suit thereon by a subsequent holder, be permitted to deny the signature or capacity to contract of any prior party to the instrument.

ceeding initiated by some one who was entitled to sue or take legal steps to recover the money due on a negotiable instrument, that is to say by the promisee or payee, and they cannot apply to proceedings initiated by the maker or promisor for relief under S. 19, Madras Agriculturists' Relief Act. 1940 Mad 52 (53) [AIR V 27].

[3] The section only prevents the maker of the note from denying the validity of the instruments as originally made or drawn. It does not bar any defence which is independent of a plea that the instrument as originally made or drawn was invalid. 1942 Mad 169 (169) [AIR V 29] (DB). (Suit by endorsee of promissory note — Maker is not barred by S. 120 from pleading or setting up defence open to promisor under Madras Act 4 of 1938.)

[4] The endorser of a negotiable instrument is estopped as against the endorsee from disputing the validity of the instrument. 1919 Mad 262 (263) [AIR V 6] : 42 Mad 470 (DB).

[5] A negotiable instrument executed by a minor is void and the minor is not precluded by S. 120 from denying the validity of the note on the ground of want of capacity to contract. The specific provision contained in S. 120 as to estoppel is clearly subject to the general rule enacted in the earlier S. 26 as to capacity to contract. (1929) 117 Ind Cas 133 (134) (DB) (Mad).

[6] Though S. 120 precludes the maker of a promissory note from denying the validity of the note, where money is not advanced as a simple loan unconditionally upon the promissory note, but is advanced after the note had been executed and on certain conditions previously agreed upon, the promisor is entitled to prove circumstances in repudiation of his liability. 1933 Lah 456 (457) [AIR V 20] (DB).

[7] The condition precedent to the application of S. 120 is that there must be a properly stamped bill of exchange before the Court at which the Court is entitled to look. 1926 All 359 (360) [AIR V 13] : 48 All 332.

[8] Drawer drawing post-dated cheque in favour of payee—No consideration from payee to drawer—Payee selling cheque to third person for consideration — No fraud or want of bona fides proved on part of purchaser—Purchaser suing to recover money on cheque — Fact that no consideration passed between drawer and payee held did not affect right of purchaser to sue in view of S. 120. 1937 Oudh 155 (156) [AIR V 24] : 12 Luck 139.

[9] Section 120 is confined to suits by a holder in due course and a holder in due course does not include the payee of negotiable instrument payable to bearer. 1914 Upp Bur 3 (4) [AIR V 1] : 2 Upp Bur Rul 13.

[10] Where one of two joint promisors admits execution it is not open to him to plead material alteration of note. 1915 Mad 425 (425, 426) [AIR V 2].

[11] Proviso to S. 118 (g) must be kept in view when reading S. 120 which creates an estoppel against denying the original validity of the instrument. If fraud can be established no such estoppel arises. Where fraud has, in fact, been alleged in a case it cannot be said that the defendants have no defence whatever and that they should not be given an opportunity of establishing the allegation of fraud. 1952 Punj 296 (297) [AIR V 39] (DB).

Section 121 — Note 1

[1] The words "suit thereon" in S. 121 denote a proceeding initiated by someone who was entitled to sue or take legal steps to recover the money due on a negotiable instrument, that is to say, by the promisee or payee and cannot apply to proceedings initiated by the maker or promisor for relief under S. 19, Madras Agriculturists Relief Act (4 of 1938). 1940 Mad 42 (53) [AIR V 27].

[2] Beyond special rules of evidence and presumptions e.g. those enacted in Ss. 120 to 122, 43, 44 and Ss. 118 and 119 ordinary principles of substantive law or rules of evidence will apply to claims relating to negotiable instrument especially when they arise not between promisor and promisee or drawer and drawee but between promisee or drawee on one hand and third person on the other. In a suit on pronote the promisor cannot plead that somebody other than payee is entitled to sue but as between payee and third persons parol evidence is admissible to show that payee is only benamidar for another. Hence a suit for declaration that a pronote under which B is payee is liable to be attached in execution of a decree against A on the ground that note is taken benami in name of B for A is maintainable. 1935 Mad 181 (183) [AIR V 22] : 58 Mad 693 (FB).

CHAPTER XIV OF CROSSED CHEQUES

123. Cheque crossed generally.

Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the words "and company" or any abbreviation thereof, between two parallel transverse lines, or of two parallel transverse lines simply, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed generally.

124. Cheque crossed specially.

Where a cheque bears across its face an addition of the name of a banker, either with or without the words "not negotiable," that addition shall be deemed a crossing, and the cheque shall be deemed to be crossed specially, and to be crossed to that banker.

125. Crossing after issue.

Where a cheque is uncrossed, the holder may cross it generally or specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally, the holder may cross it specially.

Where a cheque is crossed generally or specially, the holder may add the words "not negotiable".

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker to whom it is crossed may again cross it specially to another banker, his agent, for collection.

126. Payment of cheque crossed generally.

Where a cheque is crossed generally, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to a banker.

Payment of cheque crossed specially.

Where a cheque is crossed specially, the banker on whom it is drawn shall not pay it otherwise than to the banker to whom it is crossed, or his agent for collection.

127. Payment of cheque crossed specially more than once.

Where a cheque is crossed specially to more than one banker, except when crossed to an agent for the purpose of collection, the banker on whom it is drawn shall refuse payment thereof.

128. Payment in due course of crossed cheque.

Where the banker on whom a crossed cheque is drawn has paid the same in due course, the banker paying the cheque, and (in case such cheque has come to the hands of the payee) the drawer thereof, shall respectively be entitled to the same rights, and be placed in the same position in all respects, as they

Section 123 — Note 1

[1] The negotiability of a cheque can be destroyed only if it is marked as "not negotiable" on its face; it is not destroyed by its simply being crossed whether generally or specially. The only effect of crossing is that the drawee bank must not pay it otherwise than to any banker if it is crossed generally or to the particular banker if it is crossed specially. 1952 All 590 (591) [AIR V 39]; 1 L R (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

Section 128 — Note 1

[1] The negotiability of a cheque can be destroyed only if it is marked as "not negotiable" on its face; it is not destroyed by its simply being crossed whether generally or specially. The only effect of crossing a cheque is, that the drawee bank must not pay it otherwise than to any banker if it is crossed generally, or to the particular banker if it is crossed specially. 1952 All 590 (591) [AIR V 39]; 1 L R (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

[2] Any banker other than the drawee bank can pay a crossed cheque which is not made not negotiable. 1952 All 590 (591) [AIR V 39]; 1 L R (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

would respectively be entitled to and placed in if the amount of the cheque had been paid to and received by the true owner thereof.

129. Payment of crossed cheque out of due course.

Any banker paying a cheque crossed generally otherwise than to a banker, or a cheque crossed specially otherwise than to the banker to whom the same is crossed, or his agent for collection, being a banker, shall be liable to the true owner of the cheque for any loss he may sustain owing to the cheque having been so paid.

130. Cheque bearing "not negotiable".

A person taking a cheque crossed generally or specially, bearing in either case the words "not negotiable," shall not have, and shall not be capable of giving, a better title to the cheque than that which the person from whom he took it had.

131. Non-liability of banker receiving payment of cheque.

A banker who has in good faith and without negligence received payment for a customer of a cheque crossed generally or specially to himself shall not, in case the title to the cheque proves defective, incur any liability to the true owner of the cheque by reason only of having received such payment.

Section 129 — Note 1

[1] The phrase "the true owner of the cheque" undoubtedly includes the payee. To this extent a right has been conferred by section 129 on the payee to maintain an action against the bank. But this right has been specially created by the statute in the particular circumstances mentioned in the section. The section does not confer a right on the payee in general to enforce payment of a cheque against a bank. 1953 All 637 (640) [AIR V 40 C 318] : 1 L R (1954) 1 All 268 (DB).

Section 131 — Note 1

[1] A banker, to escape the liability for converting the goods belonging to the true owner, must discharge the burden of establishing that he received payment on behalf of a customer of his of a cheque not belonging to the customer but to someone else in good faith and without negligence. Negligence is a question of fact. 1946 Bom 482 (483, 484) [AIR V 33 C 100] : 1 L R (1947) Bom 236. (References about new customer given and no suspicious circumstances attendant upon opening account — Bank held not guilty of negligence for failing to make any further enquiries and hence entitled to protection under S. 131.) * 1932 Rang 6 (8) [AIR V 19] : 9 Rang 585 (DB).

[2] Whether a bank is guilty of negligence depends upon facts of each case. The onus of proving good faith and absence of negligence as contemplated by S. 131 is on the banker claiming protection under the Act. 1958 Ker 316 (317) [AIR V 45 C 112] : 1 L R (1957) Ker 913 (DB) * 1956 Cal 399 (409) [(S) AIR V 43 C 122].

[3] The test of negligence is whether the transaction of paying in any given cheque was so out of the ordinary course that it ought to have aroused doubt in the banker's mind and caused him to make enquiry. 1932 Rang 6 (8) [AIR V 19] : 9 Rang 585 (DB) * 1948 Bom 1 (5) [AIR V 35 C 1] : 1 L R (1947) Bom 643.

[4] The question of negligence depends upon the facts and circumstances of each case. 1948 Bom 1 (4) [AIR V 35 C 1] : 1 L R (1947) Bom 643.

[5] A draft drawn by a branch of a Bank on its head office or vice versa is not a cheque or bill of exchange and hence will not entitle a bank making payment to protection under S. 131. 1948 Bom 1 (3) [AIR V 35 C 1] : 1 L R (1947) Bom 645.

[6] In the case of a demand draft drawn by a bank upon its branch there is no statutory protection as such demand draft is not a "cheque." In the absence of statutory protection the common law must apply and any party converting to its own use or on behalf of its clients the proceeds of such a draft would be liable to the true owner. 1948 Bom 1 (4) [AIR V 35 C 1] : 1 L R (1947) Bom 645.

[7] The plea of negligence of true owner is not available to the collecting bank. 1948 Bom 1 (6) [AIR V 35 C 1] : 1 L R (1947) Bom 643.

[8] Section 131 protects a banker who in good faith and without negligence receives payment for a customer of a crossed cheque when the title to the cheque proves defective. 1952 All 590 (593) [AIR V 39] : 1 L R (1951) 2 All 674 (DB).

CHAPTER XV OF BILLS IN SETS

132. Set of bills.

Bills of exchange may be drawn in parts, each part being numbered and containing a provision that it shall continue payable only so long as the others remain unpaid. All the parts together make a set; but the whole set constitutes only one bill, and is extinguished when one of the parts, if a separate bill, would be extinguished.

Exception. — When a person accepts or indorses different parts of the bill in favour of different persons, he and the subsequent indorsers of each part are liable on such part as if it were a separate bill.

133. Holder of first acquired part entitled to all.

As between holders in due course of different parts of the same set, he who first acquired title to his part is entitled to the other parts and the money represented by the bill.

CHAPTER XVI OF INTERNATIONAL LAW

134. Law governing liability of maker, acceptor or indorser of foreign instrument.

In the absence of a contract to the contrary, the liability of the maker or drawer of a foreign promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is regulated in

Section 131 — Note 1 (contd.)

S. 131 the endorsement becomes material as an element in determining whether the bank had acted without negligence. 1955 Mad 402 (406) [(S) AIR V 42 C 107] : I L R (1955) Mad 411 (DB).

[10] When in an action in conversion a defence is raised under S. 131 the primary question for determination is whether in the matter of realisation of the cheque the collecting Bank had acted without negligence—Negligence not merely at the stage of encashment but at the prior stages from the receipt of the cheque in question. The question whether the bank had acted with negligence in the opening of the account will be relevant under S. 131 to this extent that if the opening of the account and the deposit of the cheque are really part of one scheme as where the account itself is opened with the cheque in question or where it is put into the account so shortly after the opening of the account as to lead to the inference that it is part of it, then negligence in the matter of opening the account must be treated as negligence in the matter of realisation of the cheque. The question as to how far the two stages can be regarded as so intimately associated as to be considered as one transaction is a question of fact. 1955 Mad 402 (405) [(S) A I R V 42 C 107] : ILR (1955) Mad 411 (DB).

[11] Proof of the bank that its rules had been observed by its officers would not be an answer to a claim in conversion though that would be a material element in establishing that the Bank had acted without negligence as required by S. 131. 1955 Mad 402 (404) [(S) AIR V 42 C 107] : I L R (1955) Mad 411 (DB).

[12] Section 131 makes it clear that when a banker receives from its customer a cheque crossed in its customer's behalf, the fact that the customer's title to the cheque is defective does not render the banker liable to the true owner. But the protection under the section is afforded only if the banker has received payment in good faith and without negligence, otherwise the bank which receives payment on a forged cheque or a cheque to which the customer has no title or only defective title, is liable in action for conversion to the true owner. 1956 Cal 399 (408) [(S) A I R V 43 C 122].

[13] Where the account of the customer was opened without obtaining a reference and without any inquiry, and where the manner in which the account was operated upon was peculiar and where the name as endorsed on the demand draft collected by the bank did not tally with the name of the customer as given in the application form and specimen signature : Held, that taking all these circumstances into account it must be held that the bank failed to prove that it was not guilty of negligence in collecting the amount of draft. 1948 Bom 1 (6) [AIR V 35 C 1] : I L R (1947) Bom 643.

A bill of exchange was drawn by A in California, where the rate of interest is 25 per cent., and accepted by B, payable in Washington, where the rate of interest is 6 per cent. The bill is endorsed in <sup>a</sup>[India], and is dishonoured. An action on the bill is brought against B in <sup>a</sup>[India]. He is liable to pay interest at the rate of 6 per cent. only; but if A is charged as drawer, A is liable to pay interest at the rate of 25 per cent.

135. Law of place of payment governs dishonour.

Where a promissory note, bill of exchange or cheque is made payable in a different place from that in which it is made or indorsed, the law of the place where it is made payable determines, what constitutes dishonour and what notice of dishonour is sufficient.

Illustration

A bill of exchange drawn and indorsed in <sup>a</sup>[India], but accepted payable in France, is dishonoured. The notice is sufficient.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The regulation of the prices of newspapers in relation to their sizes appeared to be a necessity to the Press Commission mainly in order to provide the circumstances in which freedom of opinion could be very much more real than it is to-day by eliminating unfair competition and equalising opportunities for newspapers especially with smaller resources. Accordingly, one of the major recommendations of the Press Commission was that legislation be enacted empowering Government to issue from time to time a price page schedule fixing a minimum price at which papers of a particular size can be sold. The Commission also recommended that in order to ensure that the reader gets an adequate proportion of news and views and that the advertisements are not reduced in effectiveness because there are too many of them, the total space allotted to advertisements in newspapers should be restricted to a specified proportion. The consensus of opinion in the Press industry is in favour of these recommendations and there has been a general demand for their implementation. In the course of the debate on the Press Commission's Report general approval was expressed by Parliament to the principles underlying these recommendations. The Bill seeks to implement the recommendations by conferring powers suitably for the purpose.

The scope of the Bill is restricted to newspapers which appear at intervals of not more than a week. Clause 3 of the Bill empowers Government to issue a price page schedule from time to time by making an order providing for the regulation of the prices charged for newspapers in relation to their maximum or minimum number of pages, sizes or areas and for the space to be allotted for advertising matter in relation to other matters. It is enjoined that such order shall be made with due regard to the need for reasonable flexibility with reference to the fall of news, the flow of advertisements and other matters connected with the normal working of newspapers. Similarly, provision has been made for the schedule to be drawn up in consultation with the interests concerned. The other provisions of the Bill mainly relate to procedure."

[THE] NEWSPAPER (PRICE AND PAGE) ACT, 1956

(ACT XLV OF 1956)<sup>a</sup>

[7th September, 1956]

An Act to provide for the regulation of the prices charged for newspapers in relation to their pages and of matters connected therewith for the purpose of preventing unfair competition among newspapers so that newspapers may have fuller opportunities of freedom of expression.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Seventh Year of the Republic of India as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Extra., Part II-Sec. 2, page 648.

1. Short title, extent and duration.

- (1) This Act may be called THE NEWSPAPER (PRICE AND PAGE) ACT, 1956.
- (2) It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.
- (3) It shall cease to have effect on the expiration of a period of five years from its commencement except as respects things done or omitted to be done before the expiration thereof, and section 6 of the General Clauses Act, 1897, shall apply on the expiry of this Act as if it had then been repealed by a Central Act.

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,

- (a) "daily newspaper" means a newspaper which is published on not less than six days in a week, and includes any supplement or special edition of such newspaper ;
- (b) "newspaper" means any printed periodical work containing public news or comments on public news appearing at intervals of not more than a week.

3. Power to regulate prices and pages of newspapers, etc.

(1) If the Central Government is of opinion that for the purpose of preventing unfair competition among newspapers so that newspapers generally and in particular, newspapers with smaller resources and those published in Indian languages may have fuller opportunities of freedom of expression, it is necessary or expedient so to do, the Central Government may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, make an order<sup>a</sup> providing for the regulation of the prices charged for newspapers in relation to their maximum or minimum number of pages, sizes or areas and for the space to be allotted for advertising matter in relation to other matters therein.

(2) An order under this section—

- (a) may be made in relation to newspapers generally or in relation to any class of newspapers;
- (b) may contain different provisions for daily newspapers and newspapers appearing at other periodical intervals and for different classes of newspapers, and may, in particular, make separate provisions for weekly editions of daily newspapers whether appearing under the same title or not, and also for supplements or special editions of newspapers issued on special occasions;
- (c) shall be made relatable to such period of time as the Central Government may deem reasonable;
- (d) may provide for incidental or supplementary matters.

(3) An order under this section shall be made with due regard to the need for reasonable flexibility with reference to the fall of news, the flow of advertisements and other matters connected with the normal working of newspapers.

(4) Before making any order under this section, the Central Government shall consult associations of publishers, and such publishers likely to be affected by the order as it may think fit with respect to the action proposed to be taken.

[a] For the Daily Newspaper (Price and Page) Order, 1960, see G. S. R. 1250, D/- 24-10-1960 published in Gaz. of Ind., 1960, Extra., Pt. II-Sec. 3 (i), p. 675. This Order is to come into force on such date as may be notified. [Notification not issued up to 7-1-1961.]

Note.—The object of the Act is to eliminate unfair competition between newspapers having larger resources and those having smaller resources, by fixing the number of pages, the minimum prices and the space given to advertisements in newspapers, thus equalising opportunities. The contravention of the provisions of S. 3 is punishable under S. 6, on first conviction, with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees and on subsequent conviction with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees.

4. Prohibition of publication and sale of newspapers in contravention of order under section 3.

No newspaper shall be published or sold in the territories to which this Act extends in contravention of any of the provisions of an order made under section 3.

5. Returns to be furnished by newspapers.

For the purpose of verifying whether an order made under section 3 is being complied with or not, the Press Registrar appointed under the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, may, from time to time, direct the publisher of any newspaper to which such an order applies to furnish to him such weekly returns and statistics with respect to any of the particulars referred to in section 3 as the Press Registrar may, from time to time, require and the publisher of every newspaper shall comply with such direction.

6. Penalties.

(1) If any newspaper is published or sold in contravention of section 4, the publisher of the newspaper shall, on first conviction, be punishable with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees and on any second or subsequent conviction, with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees.

(2) If the publisher of any newspaper—

(a) refuses or neglects to comply with any direction of the Press Registrar given under section 5; or

(b) furnishes or causes to be furnished to the Press Registrar any weekly returns or statistics which he has reason to believe to be false, he shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

7. Cognizance of offences.

No Court shall take cognizance of any offence punishable under this Act except upon a complaint in writing by the Press Registrar appointed under the Press and Registration of Books Act, 1867, or by any officer authorised by him in writing in this behalf.

Note.—For prosecution under this Act, there must be a written complaint by the Press Registrar.

SCHEDULE.—[Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Secretary of State having disapproved the sections (forty-four to forty-nine) of the Punjab Canal and Drainage Act (No. XXX of 1871), which provide for the imposition of a water-rate upon lands irrigable, but not irrigated, it is proposed not only to repeal those sections, but to re-enact the whole measure, making it applicable not merely to the Punjab, but also the North-Western Provinces, Oudh, and the Central Provinces. With these exceptions, the provisions of the Bill are almost exactly similar to those of the Punjab Canal and Drainage Act. A few changes of no great importance have been made."

[THE] NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAINAGE ACT, 1873

(ACT VIII OF 1873)<sup>a</sup>

[11th February, 1873.]

An Act to regulate Irrigation, Navigation and Drainage in Northern India.

Preamble.

WHEREAS throughout the territories to which this Act extends, the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] is entitled to use and control for public purposes the water of all rivers and streams flowing in natural channels, and of all lakes and other natural collections of still water; and whereas it is expedient to amend the law relating to irrigation, navigation and drainage in the said territories; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1872, Pt. V, p. 651; for Reports of Select Committee, see ibid., p. 747 and ibid., Supplement, 1873, p. 233.

This Act has been applied with certain modifications in respect of State tube-wells—

- (a) in Punjab, by the Punjab State Tube-wells Act, 1954 (XXI of 1954), S. 4.
  - (b) in Uttar Pradesh by the United Provinces State Tube-wells Act, 1936 (XII of 1936), S. 6.
- It has been extended (a) to States merged in the State of Punjab by Punj. Act V of 1950, S. 3 and Sch. I [15-4-1950] and (b) to the transferred territories in the State of Punjab, by Punjab Act V of 1957, S. 4 and Sch. II [30-3-1957].

The Act has been repealed in certain parts of Orissa by the Orissa Irrigation Act, 1959 (XIV of 1959), S. 3 and Sch.

Preamble — Note 1

[1] It cannot be urged that the Canal Act of 1873 is bad and inoperative since it was not reserved and did not receive the assent of the President as required by Art. 289 of the Constitution. 1956 Pepsu 40 (47) [AIR V 43 C 15] (DB).

PART I

PRELIMINARY

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE NORTHERN INDIA CANAL AND DRAINAGE ACT, 1873.

Local extent.

It extends to <sup>a</sup>[Uttar Pradesh<sup>aa</sup> and the <sup>b</sup>territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in the States of Punjab and Delhi]] and applies to all lands, whether permanently settled, temporarily settled, or free from revenue.

<sup>c</sup>[•

[a] Substituted for the original words as amended by A. O. 1937, by A. C. A. O., 1948. [aa] In respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh the provisions of this Act, except the provisions of S. 1, cls. (4) and (7) of S. 3, S. 4, S. 5 and Parts VI and VII, are to be deemed to apply in like manner as if such State tube-well were a canal within the meaning of this Act.—see U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6. [b] Substituted for "States of Punjab and Delhi," by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. [c] The commencement clause was omitted by the Repealing Act, 1874 (XVI of 1874).

2. Repeal of Acts. [Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1873 (XII of 1873), Section 1 and Schedule, Pt. II.]

3. Interpretation clause.

In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context —
"Canal."

(1) "canal" includes—

- (a) all canals, channels and reservoirs constructed, maintained or controlled by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] for the supply or storage of water;
- (b) all works, embankments, structures, supply and escape channels connected with such canals, channels or reservoirs;
- (c) all water-courses as defined in the second clause of this section;
- (d) any part of a river, stream, lake or natural collection of water or natural drainage-channel, to which the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] has applied the provisions of Part II of this Act :

"Water-course."

(2) "water-course" means any channel which is supplied with water from a canal, but which is not maintained at the cost of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] and all subsidiary works belonging to any such channel :

"Drainage-work."

(3) "drainage-work" includes escape-channels from a canal, dams, weirs, embankments, sluices, groins and other works for the protection of lands from

Section 1 — Note 1

[1] Act applies to private channel constructed in accordance with provisions of S. 21 of Act. (150) ILR (1950) All 780 (782).

SECTION 3 — SYNOPSIS

1. Water-course.

2. Canal officer.

1. Water-course. — [1] A right over a water passage through other's property can only be acquired either from the canal authorities or by private agreement between the parties concerned. 1921 Lah 327 (328) [AIR V 8] : 22 Cri L Jour 429.

[2] If there is a previous order by a canal officer either under S. 20 or S. 21 of the Act that would make it clear that the channel in question is a water-course as defined in the Act. But in the absence of any order under the said sections whether a particular channel is or is not a water-course is a question of fact and the decision of that question would depend upon whether the water channel is recognised as such by the people of the locality. (150) ILR (1950) All 780 (782).

2. Canal officer. — [1] The State is divided into several divisions and each division is placed in the charge of an Executive Engineer. Executive Engineer, Sangrur exercises control over the Sangrur Division. He should, therefore, be regarded as the Divisional Canal Officer of the territory within his jurisdiction for purposes of the Canal Act. 1956 Pepsu 40(47) [AIR V 43 C 15] (DB).

flood or from erosion, formed or maintained by the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] under the provisions of Part VII of this Act, but does not include works for the removal of sewage from towns :

“Vessel.”

<sup>a</sup>(4) “vessel” includes boats, rafts, timber and other floating bodies :

“Commissioner.”

(5) “Commissioner” means a Commissioner of a division, and includes any officer appointed under this Act to exercise all or any of the powers of a Commissioner :

“Collector.”

<sup>b</sup>(6) “Collector” means the head revenue-officer of a district and includes a Deputy Commissioner or other officer appointed under this Act to exercise all or any of the powers of a Collector :

“Canal-officer.”

(7) “Canal-officer” means an officer appointed under this Act to exercise control or jurisdiction over a canal or any part thereof :

“Superintending Canal-officer.”

“Superintending Canal-officer” means an officer exercising general control over a canal or portion of a canal :

“Divisional Canal-officer.”

“Divisional Canal-officer” means an officer exercising control over a division of a canal :

“Sub-divisional Canal-officer.”

“Sub-Divisional Canal-officer” means an officer exercising control over a sub-division of a canal :

“District.”

(8) “district” means a district as fixed for revenue purposes.

[a] Cf. definition in the General Clauses Act, 1897 (X of 1897), S. 3 (63). [b] Cf., ibid. S. 3 (11).

STATE AMENDMENTS

PUNJAB

(i) In clause (1) of S. 3, after sub-clause (d), add the following, namely :—

“(e) a field drain for purposes of section 70 of this Act.”

(ii) after clause (8) of S. 3, add the following clauses, namely :—

“(9) ‘Shareholder’ means a person who is interested in the land which is irrigated or likely to be irrigated by a canal and also includes a person who is interested in a field drain.

(10) ‘Field drain’ includes drains, escape channels and other similar works formed or maintained by landowners themselves.

(11) ‘Culturable commanded area’ means that portion of the culturable irrigable area which is commanded by flow irrigation from an irrigation channel or outlet.”

— Punjab Act, XXI of 1958, S. 2 [10-7-1958].

UTTAR PRADESH

(i) The provisions of clauses (4) and (7) of section 3 are not applicable in respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh—U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

(ii) In cl. (8) of S. 3, for the words “a Deputy Commissioner or other” substitute “an”.
— U. P. Act XXX of 1956, S. 3 & Sch. II [1-10-1956].

4. Power to appoint officers.

The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may from time to time declare, by notification<sup>a</sup> in the Official Gazette, the officers by whom, and the local limits within which, all or any of the powers or duties hereinafter conferred or imposed shall be exercised or performed.

All officers mentioned in section 3, clause (7), shall be respectively subject to the orders of such officers as the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] from time to time directs.

[a] See the Punjab Rules and Orders.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

The provisions of section 4 are not applicable in respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh.
—U. P. Act XII of 1938, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

PART II

OF THE APPLICATION OF WATER FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES

5. Notification to issue when water-supply is to be applied for public purposes.

Whenever it appears expedient to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] that the water of any river or stream flowing in a natural channel, or of any lake or other natural collection of still water, should be applied or used by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] for the purpose of any existing or projected canal or drainage-work, the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, by notification<sup>a</sup> in the Official Gazette, declare that the said water will be so applied or used after a day to be named in the said notification, not being earlier than three months from the date thereof.

[a] See the Punjab and the Uttar Pradesh Rules and Orders.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

The provisions of section 5 are not applicable in respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh.
—U. P. Act XII of 1938, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

6. Powers of Canal-officer.

At any time after the day so named, any Canal-Officer, acting under the orders of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] in this behalf, may enter on any land and remove any obstructions, and may close any channels, and do any other thing necessary for such application or use of the said water.

STATE AMENDMENTS

PUNJAB

For the words "so named" the words "named in a notification under section 3 of the Punjab State tube-well Act, 1954" and for the words "such application or use of the said water" the words "the application or use of underground water for the purpose of a State tube-well" shall be deemed to be substituted.
—Punjab Act XXI of 1954, S. 4.

UTTAR PRADESH

(i) For the words "day so named" the words "commencement of the Uttar Pradesh State tube-wells Act, 1936" and for the words "such application or use of the said water" the words "the application or use of underground water for the purpose of a State tube-well" shall be deemed to be substituted.

(ii) In respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh reference to a 'canal-officer' in this section shall be deemed to be a reference to a 'tube-well officer'.

—U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 and Sch., item I [w. e. f. 13-3-1937] as amended by U. P. Act IV of 1954.

7. Notice as to claims for compensation.

As soon as is practicable after the issue of such notification, the Collector shall cause public notice to be given at convenient places, stating that the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] intends to apply or use the said water as aforesaid, and that claims for compensation in respect of the matters mentioned in section 8 may be made before him.

8. Damage for which compensation shall not be awarded.

No compensation shall be awarded for any damage caused by—

(a) stoppage or diminution of percolation or floods;

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] Where the construction of the Raya Branch Tail Distributory of the Upper Chenab canal caused the flood water to go to the plaintiff's property in the high floods of 1917, and thereby caused them serious damage. Held that action of the Canal Officers in constructing this channel came under S. 6 of Act 8 of 1873, and whether that action was wise or unwise, any suit for damages consequent thereon must be brought within 90 days of the date of damage. 1924 Lah 192 (1) (192) [AIR V 11] : 4 Lah 432 (DB).

- (b) deterioration of climate or soil;
- (c) stoppage of navigation, or of the means of drifting timber or watering cattle;
- (d) displacement of labour.

Matters in respect of which compensation may be awarded.

But compensation may be awarded in respect of any of the following matters :—

- (e) stoppage or diminution of supply of water through any natural channel to any defined artificial channel, whether above or under ground, in use at the date of the said notification;
- (f) stoppage or diminution of supply of water to any work erected for purposes of profit on any channel, whether natural or artificial, in use at the date of the said notification;
- (g) stoppage or diminution of supply of water through any natural channel which has been used for purposes of irrigation within the five years next before the date of the said notification;
- (h) damage done in respect of any right to a water-course or the use of any water to which any person is entitled under the <sup>a</sup>Indian Limitation Act, 1877, Part IV;
- (i) any other substantial damage, not falling under any of the above clauses (a), (b), (c) or (d), and caused by the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act, which is capable of being ascertained and estimated at the time of awarding such compensation.

In determining the amount of such compensation, regard shall be had to the diminution in the market-value, at the time of awarding compensation of the property in respect of which compensation is claimed; and, where such market-value is not ascertainable, the amount shall be reckoned at twelve times the amount of the diminution of the annual nett profits of such property caused by the exercise of the powers conferred by this Act.

No right to any such supply of water as is referred to in clauses (e), (f) or (g) of this section, in respect of a work or channel not in use at the date of the notification, shall be acquired as against the <sup>a</sup>[State Government], except by grant or under the <sup>a</sup>Indian Limitation Act, 1877, Part IV; and no right to any of the advantages referred to in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this section shall be acquired, as against the <sup>a</sup>[State Government], under the same Part.

[a] See now the Indian Limitation Act, 1908 (IX of 1908).

STATE AMENDMENTS

PUNJAB

- (i) Clauses (a) and (c) and the reference thereto in clause (i), shall be deemed to be omitted;
- (ii) in clause (g) for the words "through any natural channel which has been used for purposes of irrigation" the words, "in any well which has been used" shall be deemed to be substituted;
- (iii) in the last paragraph for the words brackets and letters "clauses (a), (b) and (c)" the word, brackets and letters "clause (b)" shall be deemed to be substituted.

—Punj. Act XXI of 1954, S. 4.

UTTAR PRADESH

Same as those of Punjab.

—U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 and Sch., item 2 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

9. Limitation of claims.

No claim for compensation for any such stoppage, diminution or damage shall be made after the expiration of one year from such stoppage, diminution or damage, unless the Collector is satisfied that the claimant had sufficient cause for not making the claim within such period.

10. Enquiry into claims and amount of compensation.

The Collector shall proceed to enquire into any such claim, and to determine the amount of compensation, if any, which should be given to the claimant; and sections 9 to 12 (inclusive), 14 and 15, 18 to 23 (inclusive), 26 to 40 (inclusive), 51, 57, 58 and 59 of the "Land Acquisition Act, 1870, shall apply to such inquiries :

Provided that, instead of the last clause of the said section 26, the following shall be read :—"The provisions of this section and of section 8 of the Northern India Canal and Drainage Act, 1873, shall be read to every assessor in a language which he understands, before he gives his opinion as to the amount of compensation to be awarded."

[a] See now the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (1 of 1894).

11. Abatement of rent on interruption of water supply.

Every tenant holding under an unexpired lease, or having a right of occupancy, who is in occupation of any land at the time when any stoppage or diminution of water-supply, in respect of which compensation is allowed under section 8, takes place, may claim an abatement of the rent previously payable by him for the said land, on the ground that the interruption reduces the value of the holding.

12. Enhancement of rent on restoration of water-supply.

If a water-supply increasing the value of such holding is afterwards restored to the said land, the rent of the tenant may be enhanced in respect of the increased value of such land due to the restored water-supply, to an amount not exceeding that at which it stood immediately before the abatement.

Such enhancement shall be on account only of the restored water-supply, and shall not affect the liability of the tenant to enhancement of rent on any other grounds.

13. Compensation when due.

All sums of money payable for compensation under this Part shall become due three months after the claim for such compensation is made in respect of the stoppage, diminution or damage complained of,

Interest.

and simple interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum shall be allowed on any such sum remaining unpaid after the said three months, except where the non-payment of such sum is caused by the wilful neglect or refusal of the claimant to receive the same.

PART III*OF THE CONSTRUCTION AND MAINTENANCE OF WORKS*14. Power to enter and survey, etc.

Any Canal-officer, or other person acting under the general or special order of a Canal-officer, may enter upon any lands adjacent to any canal, or through which any canal is proposed to be made, and undertake surveys or levels thereon ; and dig and bore into the sub-soil ; and make and set up suitable land-marks, level-marks and water-gauges ;

and do all other acts necessary for the proper prosecution of any enquiry relating to any existing or projected canal under the charge of the said Canal-officer ;

Power to clear land.

and, where otherwise such enquiry cannot be completed, such officer or other person may cut down and clear away any part of any standing crop, fence or jungle ;

Power to inspect and regulate water-supply.

and may also enter upon any land, building or water-course on account of which any water-rate is chargeable, for the purpose of inspecting or regulating the use of the water supplied, or of measuring the lands irrigated thereby or chargeable with a water-rate, and of doing all things necessary for the proper regulation and management of such canal :

Notice of intended entry into houses.

Provided that, if such Canal-officer or person proposes to enter into any building or enclosed Court or garden attached to a dwelling-house not supplied with water flowing from any canal, he shall previously give the occupier of such building, Court or garden at least seven days' notice in writing of his intention to do so.

Compensation for damage caused by entry.

In every case of entry under this section, the Canal-officer shall, at the time of such entry, tender compensation for any damage which may be occasioned by any proceeding under this section ; and, in case of dispute as to the sufficiency of the amount so tendered, he shall forthwith refer the same for decision by the Collector, and such decision shall be final.

15. Power to enter for repairs and to prevent accidents.

In case of any accident happening or being apprehended to a canal any Divisional Canal-officer or any person acting under his general or special orders in this behalf may enter upon any lands adjacent to such canal, and may execute all works which may be necessary for the purpose of repairing or preventing such accident.

Compensation for damage to land.

In every such case such Canal-officer or person shall tender compensation to the proprietors or occupiers of the said lands for all damage done to the same. If such tender is not accepted, the Canal-officer shall refer the matter to the Collector, who shall proceed to award compensation for the damage as though the [State Government] had directed the occupation of the lands under section 43 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1870.<sup>a</sup>

[3] Section 15 is a special case which has its own procedure to govern it prescribed in the Act. Under S. 15 it is the officer who is to tender compensation to the proprietor and if the proprietor does not accept it, it is the officer who has to refer the matter to the Collector. If therefore a Revenue Officer removes earth from the land of a person but does not offer any compensation to the latter for the earth and consequently there has been no reference to the Collector, a suit by the person against 'Government claiming compensation is not barred by any provisions of the Act. 1939 Lah 583 (585) [AIR V 26].

16. Application by persons desiring to use canal-water.

Any persons desiring to use the water of any canal may apply in writing to the Divisional or Sub-divisional Canal-officer of the division or sub-division of the canal from which the water-course is to be supplied, requesting such officer to construct or improve a water-course at the cost of the applicants.

Contents of application.

The application shall state the works to be undertaken, their approximate estimated cost, or the amount which the applicants are willing to pay for the same, or whether they engage to pay the actual cost as settled by the Divisional Canal-officer, and how the payment is to be made.

Liability of applicants for cost of works.

When the assent of the Superintending Canal-officer is given to such application, all the applicants shall, after the application has been duly attested before the Collector, be jointly and severally liable for the cost of such works to the extent mentioned therein.

Recovery of amount due.

Any amount becoming due under the terms of such application, and not paid to the Divisional Canal-officer, or the person authorised by him to receive the same, on or before the date on which it becomes due, shall, on the demand of such officer, be recoverable by the Collector as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

17. Government to provide means of crossing canals.

There shall be provided, at the cost of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] suitable means of crossing canals constructed or maintained at the cost of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], at such places as the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] thinks necessary for the reasonable convenience of the inhabitants of the adjacent lands.

On receiving a statement in writing, signed by not less than five of the owners of such lands, to the effect that suitable crossings have not been provided on any canal, the Collector shall cause enquiry to be made into the circumstances of the case, and if he thinks that the statement is established, he shall report his opinion thereon for the consideration of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], and the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] shall cause such measures in reference thereto to be taken as it thinks proper.

18. Persons using water-course to construct works for passing water across roads, etc.

The Divisional Canal-officer may issue an order to the persons using any water-course to construct suitable bridges, culverts or other works for the passage of the water of such water-course across any public road, canal or drainage-channel in use before the said water-course was made, or to repair any such works.

Such order shall specify a reasonable period within which such construction or repairs shall be completed;

If they fail, Canal-officer may construct, and if, after the receipt of such order, the persons to whom it is addressed do not, within the said period, construct or repair such works to the satisfaction of the said Canal-officer, he may, with the previous approval of the Superintending Canal-officer, himself construct or repair the same;

and recover cost.

and if the said persons do not, when so required, pay the cost of such construction or repairs as declared by the Divisional Canal-officer, the amount shall, on the demand of the Divisional Canal-officer, be recoverable from them by the Collector as if it were an arrear of land revenue.

29. Conditions binding on applicant placed in occupation.

When any such applicant is placed in occupation of land or of a water-course as aforesaid, the following rules and conditions shall be binding on him and his representative in interest :—

First.—All works necessary for the passage across such water-course, or water-courses, existing previous to its construction and of the drainage intercepted by it, and for affording proper communications across it for the convenience of the neighbouring lands, shall be constructed by the applicant, and be maintained by him or his representative in interest to the satisfaction of the Divisional Canal-officer.

Second.—Land occupied for a water-course under the provisions of section 22 shall be used only for the purpose of such water-course.

Third.—The proposed water-course shall be completed to the satisfaction of the Divisional Canal-officer within one year after the applicant is placed in occupation of the land.

In cases in which land is occupied or a water-course is transferred on the terms of a rent-charge.

Fourth.—The applicant or his representative in interest shall, so long as he occupies such land or water-course, pay rent for the same at such rate and on such days as are determined by the Collector when the applicant is placed in occupation.

Fifth. — If the right to occupy the land cease owing to a breach of any of these rules, the liability to pay the said rent shall continue until the applicant or his representative in interest has restored the land to its original condition, or until he has paid, by way of compensation for any injury done to the said land, such amount and to such persons as the Collector determines.

Sixth.—The Collector may, on the application of the person entitled to receive such rent or compensation, determine the amount of rent due or assess the amount of such compensation; and, if any such rent or compensation be not paid by the applicant or his representative in interest, the Collector may recover the amount, with interest thereon at the rate of six per cent. per annum from the date on which it became due, as if it were an arrear of land-revenue, and shall pay the same, when recovered, to the person to whom it is due.

If any of the rules and conditions prescribed by this section are not complied with, or if any water-course constructed or transferred under this Act is disused for three years continuously, the right of the applicant, or of his representative in interest, to occupy such land or water-course shall cease absolutely.

STATE AMENDMENT*UTTAR PRADESH

In its application to Uttar Pradesh in respect of any State tube-well, reference to a 'Divisional Canal-officer' in this section shall be deemed to be a reference to a 'Divisional Officer'.

30. Procedure applicable to occupation for extensions and alterations.

The procedure hereinbefore provided for the occupation of land for the construction of a water-course shall be applicable to the occupation of land for any extension or alteration of a water-course, and for the deposit of soil from water-course clearances.

STATE AMIENDMENT*SECTIONS 30-A to 30-G*PUNJAB

After S. 30, insert the following sections, namely :—

“30-A. (1) Notwithstanding anything contained to the contrary in this Act and subject to the rules prescribed by the State Government in this behalf, the Divisional Canal Officer may, on his own motion or on the application of a shareholder, prepare a draft scheme to provide for all or any of the matters, namely :—

- (a) the construction, alteration, extension and alignment of any water-course or realignment of any existing watercourse;
- (b) reallocation of areas served by one watercourse to another;
- (c) the lining of any watercourse;
- (d) any other matter which is necessary for the proper maintenance and distribution of supply of water from a watercourse.

(2) Every scheme prepared under sub-section (1) shall, amongst other matters, set out the estimated cost thereof, the alignment of the proposed water course or realignment of the existing watercourse, as the case may be, the site of the outlet, the particulars of the shareholders to be benefited and other persons who may be affected thereby, and a sketch plan of the area proposed to be covered by the scheme.

30-B. (1) Every scheme shall, as soon as may be, after its preparation be published in such form and manner as may be prescribed by rules made in this behalf inviting objections and suggestions with respect thereof within 30 days of the publication.

(2) After considering all objections and suggestions that may have been received by the Divisional Canal Officer, the Divisional Canal Officer shall submit the scheme with such amendments as he considers necessary together with his remarks on the objections and suggestions received by him, to the Superintending Canal Officer for his approval.

(3) The Superintending Canal Officer may direct the Divisional Canal Officer to furnish such information as he may require for the purpose of approving the scheme submitted to him under this section.

(4) The scheme submitted by the Divisional Canal Officer may be approved by the Superintending Canal Officer either as it was submitted to him by the Divisional Canal Officer or in such modified form as he may consider fit.

30-C. The Divisional Canal Officer shall, as soon as may be after the approval of the Superintending Canal Officer, publish the particulars of the scheme and call upon the shareholders to implement it at their own cost within the period to be specified and in the manner prescribed.

30-D. (1) The Divisional Canal Officer may, either of his own motion or on the application of a shareholder, publish in the manner prescribed a notice of his intention to acquire any land required for implementation of the scheme.

(2) Any person interested in the land notified under sub-section (1) may, within fifteen days from the publication thereof, apply to the Divisional Canal Officer by petition stating his objections to the proposed acquisition of his rights.

(3) After considering the objections, the Divisional Canal Officer may proceed to take the occupation of the land so required on behalf of the shareholders.

(4) Compensation, to be fixed by the Divisional Canal Officer on the principles set out under section 23 of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, shall be payable by the shareholders in proportion to the culturable commanded area under the scheme held by each one of them to the owner or occupier of any land for such acquisition and on failure of payment, the amount shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue.

(5) A person aggrieved from the order of the Divisional Canal Officer in respect of compensation may prefer an appeal within thirty days of the passing of the order to the Collector whose decision shall be final.

30-E. On failure of any shareholder to execute the work within the period specified in the notice under section 30-C the Divisional Canal Officer may proceed to carry out the work himself and the cost in proportion to the culturable commanded area under the scheme held by them shall be recoverable from the shareholders as arrears of land revenue.

30-F. On execution of the scheme, the Divisional Canal Officer shall, by requisition in writing, direct the shareholders to take over and maintain the water course and on failure of the shareholders to comply with this direction, he shall make arrangements for maintenance of the water course at the shareholders' cost in proportion to the culturable commanded area under the scheme held by them and the same shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue.

30-G. Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act or any other law for the time being in force, no Civil Court shall have jurisdiction to entertain or decide any question relating to matters falling under sections 30-A to 30-F.”

— Punj. Act XXI of 1958, S. 3 [10-7-1958].

PART IV OF THE SUPPLY OF WATER

31. In absence of written contract, water-supply to be subject to rules.

In the absence of a written contract, or so far as any such contract does not extend, every supply of canal-water shall be deemed to be given at the rates and subject to the conditions prescribed by the rules to be made by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] in respect thereof.

32. Conditions as to—

Such contracts and rules must be consistent with the following conditions :—
power to stop water-supply ;

(a) The Divisional Canal-officer may not stop the supply of water to any water-course, or to any person, except in the following cases :—

(1) whenever and so long as it is necessary to stop such supply for the purpose of executing any work ordered by competent authority and with the previous sanction of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] ;

(2) whenever and so long as any water-course is not maintained in such proper customary repair as to prevent the wasteful escape of water therefrom ;

(3) within periods fixed from time to time by the Divisional Canal-officer ;

claims to compensation in case of failure or stoppage of supply ;

(b) No claim shall be made against the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] for compensation in respect of loss caused by the failure or stoppage of the water in a canal, by reason of any cause beyond the control of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] or of any repairs, alterations or additions to the canal, or of any measures taken for regulating the proper flow of water therein, or for maintaining the established course of irrigation which the Divisional Canal-officer considers necessary ; but the person suffering such loss may claim such remission of the ordinary charges payable for the use of the water as is authorised by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] :

claims on account of interruption from other causes ;

(c) If the supply of water to any land irrigated from a canal be interrupted otherwise than in the manner described in the last preceding clause,

Section 31 — Note 1

[1] The use of water from a tank which has been filled with canal water for building of a pucca house though not authorised under R.10 framed under S. 31 is not penalised by any section of the Act and is therefore not punishable. 1921 Lah 187 (2) (188) [AIR V 8]: 23 Cri L Jour 17.

Section 32 — Note 1

[1] Section 32 (e), Northern India Canal and Drainage Act, does not make a contract to transfer right to receive canal water void from its inception. The only condition provided by the sub-section is that the approval of Superintending Canal Officer must be obtained by the alienee to complete a valid alienation of the right to irrigate the property sold with canal water. Such approval can be obtained even subsequent to the alienation and the law does not insist that it must precede the completion of the agreement to alienate. 1950 Pepsu 47 (47) [AIR V 37 C 17].

[2] A transfer of a greater share of canal water than the area of land transferred warranted is not invalid, although the right to such water is attached to other land belonging to the vendor. 1950 Pepsu 47 (48) [AIR V 37 C 17].

[3] The right to water-course through the land of another cannot be acquired by presumption under Illustration (e) to S. 114 of the Evidence Act. If a person is allowed to use the water of the water-course without the permission of the Superintending Canal Officer under S. 32 (e) he is liable for prosecution for his act. 1960 All 656 (659) [AIR V 47 C 192] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1388.

the occupier or owner of such land may present a petition for compensation to the Collector for any loss arising from such interruption, and the Collector may award to the petitioner reasonable compensation for such loss :

duration of supply ;

- (d) When the water of a canal is supplied for the irrigation of a single crop, the permission to use such water shall be held to continue only until that crop comes to maturity, and to apply only to that crop ; but, if it be supplied for irrigating two or more crops to be raised on the same land within the year, such permission shall be held to continue for one year from the commencement of the irrigation, and to apply to such crops only as are matured within that year :

sale or subletting of right to use canal-water ;

- (e) Unless with the permission of the Superintending Canal-officer, no person entitled to use the water of any canal, or any work, building or land appertaining to any canal, shall sell or sublet or otherwise transfer his right to such use :

Provided that the former part of this clause shall not apply to the use by a cultivating tenant of water supplied by the owner of a water-course for the irrigation of the land held by such tenant :

transfer, with land, of contracts for water.

But all contracts made between the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] and the owner or occupier of any immovable property, as to the supply of canal-water to such property, shall be transferable therewith, and shall be presumed to have been so transferred whenever a transfer of such property takes place :

No right acquired by user.

- (f) No right to the use of the water of a canal shall be, or be deemed to have been, acquired under the "Indian Limitation Act, 1877, Part IV, nor shall the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] be bound to supply any person with water except in accordance with the terms of a contract in writing.

PART V.

OF WATER-RATES

33. Liability when person using unauthorisedly cannot be identified.

If water supplied through a water-course be used in an unauthorised manner, and if the person by whose act or neglect such use has occurred cannot be identified,

Section 33 — Note 1

[1] From a perusal of Ss. 33, 34 and 35 it is clear that where an unauthorised use has occurred persons who have not been guilty of any injury to the canal or of any act on account of which the unauthorised use has occurred are also liable for the charge for the unauthorised use of the water. The facts that such persons did not cause the breach in the canal and were ignorant of the breach are the person on whose land such water has flowed if such land has derived benefit therefrom, or if such person cannot be identified or if such land has not derived benefit therefrom, all the persons chargeable in respect of the water supplied through such water-course, shall be liable, or jointly liable, as the case may be, to the charges made for such use<sup>a</sup>.

[a] As to the authority empowered to decide questions under this section, see S. 35.

34. Liability when water runs to waste.

If water supplied through a water-course be suffered to run to waste, and if, after enquiry by the Divisional Canal-officer, the person through whose act or neglect such water was suffered to run to waste cannot be discovered, all the persons chargeable in respect of the water supplied through such water-course shall be jointly liable for the charges made in respect of the water so wasted.<sup>a</sup>

[a] As to the authority empowered to decide questions under this section, see S. 35.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

In its application to Uttar Pradesh in respect of any State Tube-well, reference to a 'Divisional Canal-officer' in this section shall be deemed to be a reference to a 'Divisional officer.'

— U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

35. Charges recoverable in addition to penalties.

All charges for the unauthorised use or for waste of water may be recovered in addition to any penalties incurred on account of such use or waste.

Decision of questions under sections 33 and 34.

All questions under section 33 or section 34 shall be decided by the Divisional Canal-officer, subject to an appeal to the Head Revenue-officer of the district, or such other appeal as may be provided under section 75.

STATE AMENDMENTS

PUNJAB

In its application to the State of Punjab, in section 35—

(1) to the second paragraph, add the following Proviso, namely,—

"Provided that before recording his decision on such question under S. 33 or S. 34 as may be specified in the rules to be made by the State Government, the Divisional Canal Officer shall obtain the advice of an Advisory Committee to be constituted by the State Government for every division of a canal in such manner as the State Government may determine by rules made under this Act."

(2) after the second paragraph as amended by clause (1), add the following paragraphs, namely,—

"Every Advisory Committee shall consist of not more than five non-official members, including the Chairman, who shall be appointed by the State Government on such terms and conditions as may be determined by such rules.

The advice of the Advisory Committee shall be binding on the Divisional Canal Officer :

Provided that where the Divisional Canal Officer is unable to accept such advice he shall, with his opinion expressed thereon, refer the question to the Commissioner who shall,

(a) if he accepts the advice, pass an order accordingly; and

(b) if he does not accept the advice, refer the question to the State Government, with his opinion expressed thereon, whose decision on such reference shall be final."

Section 35 — Note 1

[1] Section 35 of Northern India Canal and Drainage Act can have no application, unless the case of the plaintiff as laid in the plaint falls within the purview of S. 33. If therefore the plaintiff's case, as stated in the plaint, is that he used water from the tanks for irrigating his trees and that he never took water from the canal authorities outside the terms of his contract, the section has obviously no application. It is well settled that the jurisdiction of a Court has to be determined on the allegations made in the plaint and a suit cannot be thrown out on ground pleaded in 36. Charge on occupier for water, how determined.

The rates to be charged for canal-water supplied for purposes of irrigation to the occupiers of land shall be determined by the rules<sup>a</sup> to be made by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], and such occupiers as accept the water shall pay for it accordingly.

"Occupier's rate."

A rate so charged shall be called the "occupier's rate."

<sup>b</sup>[The rules hereinbefore referred to may prescribe and determine what persons or classes of persons are to be deemed to be occupiers for the purposes of this section, and may also determine the several liabilities, in respect of the payment of the occupier's rate, of tenants and of persons to whom tenants may have sublet their lands or of proprietors and of persons to whom proprietors may have let the lands held by them in cultivating occupancy.]

37. "Owner's rate."

In addition to the occupier's rate, a rate to be called the "owner's rate" may be imposed, according to rules<sup>a</sup> to be made by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], on the owners of canal-irrigated lands, in respect of the benefit which they derive from such irrigation.

[a] See the Punjab and the U. P. Rules and Orders.

See also under S. 75.

38. Amount of owner's rate.

The owner's rate shall not exceed the sum which, under the rules for the time being in force for the assessment of land-revenue, might be assessed on such land on account of the increase in the annual value or produce thereof caused by the canal-irrigation. And, for the purpose of this section only, land which is permanently settled or held free of revenue shall be considered as though it were temporarily settled and liable to payment of revenue.

39. Owner's rate, when not chargeable.

No owner's rate shall be chargeable either on the owner or occupier of land temporarily assessed to pay land-revenue at irrigation-rates, during the currency of such assessment.

40. When occupier is to pay both owner's rate and occupier's rate.

If such land is occupied by the owner, or if it is occupied by a tenant whose rent is not liable to enhancement on the ground that the value of the produce of the land or the productive powers of the land has or have been increased by irrigation, such owner or tenant shall pay the owner's rate as well as the occupier's rate.

PUNJAB

In its application to Punjab Section 40 has been repealed by the Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887 (XVI of 1887), S. 3 and Sch.

41. Power to make rules for apportioning owner's rate.

In the case of a tenant with a right of occupancy, the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] shall have power to make rules for dividing the owner's rate between such tenant and his landlord, proportionately to the extent of the beneficial interest of each in the land.

STATE AMENDMENT

PUNJAB

In its application to Punjab section 41 has been repealed by the Punjab Tenancy Act, 1887 (XVI of 1887), S. 3 and Sch.

42. When owner is to pay owner's rate.

If the owner of the land is not the occupier, but has power to enhance the rent of the occupier on the ground that the value of the produce or the productive powers of the land has or have been increased by irrigation, or if, when the amount of a rent was fixed, the land was irrigated from the canal, the owner shall pay the owner's rate.

—U. P. Act XII of 1938, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937.]

46. Power to contract for collection of canal-dues.

The Divisional Canal-officer or the Collector may enter into an agreement with any person for the collection and payment to the State Government by such person of any sum payable under this Act by a third party.

When such agreement has been made, such person may recover such sum by suit as though it were a debt due to him, or an arrear of rent due to him on account of the land, work or building in respect of which such sum is payable, or for or in which the canal-water shall have been supplied or used.

If such person makes default in the payment of any sum collected by him under this section, such sum may be recovered from him by the Collector under section 45; and, if such sum or any part of it be still due by the said third party, the sum or part so due may be recovered in like manner by the Collector from such third party.

47. Lambardars may be required to collect canal-dues.

The Collector may require the lambardar, or person under engagement to pay the land-revenue of any estate, to collect and pay any sums payable under this Act by a third party, in respect of any land or water in such estate.

Such sums shall be recoverable by the Collector as if they were arrears of land-revenue due in respect of the defaulter's share in such estate; and for the purpose of collecting such sums from the subordinate zemindars, raiyats, <sup>a</sup>[tenants or sub-tenants], such lambardar or person may exercise the powers, and shall be subject to the rules, laid down in the law for the time being in force in respect to the collection by him of the rents of land or of shares of land-revenue.

The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] shall provide—

- (a) for remunerating persons collecting sums under this section; or
- (b) for indemnifying them against expenses properly incurred by them in such collection; or
- (c) for both such purposes.

[3] Section 45 only provides for recovery of the charge by the Collector as if it were an arrear of land-revenue. It gives authority to the Collector to recover the charge, but does not lay down the manner in which the charge is to be realised. Powers of Revenue Officers in the matter of realization of Land Revenue and the mode of realizing it are defined and settled by the Punjab Land Revenue Act which is in force in the State. ## STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

In its application to Uttar Pradesh, for section 47 substitute the following, namely :—

“47. Grant of permission to lambardars to collect canal-dues.—(1) If the lambardar or person under engagement to pay the land revenue of any estate desires to collect and pay to the Provincial Government any sums payable under this Act by a third party in respect of any land or water in such an estate he shall apply to the Collector and the Collector may grant or refuse his application.

(2) Where such application has been allowed such sums shall be recoverable from the lambardar or persons under engagement to pay the land revenue of any estate by the collector as if they were arrears of land-revenue.

(3) The lambardar or person under engagement to pay the land revenue of any estate whose application to make collections under this section has been allowed by the Collector may for the purpose of collecting such sums from the subordinate zamindars, tenants or sub-tenants exercise the powers, and shall be subject to the rules laid down in the law for the time being in force in respect of the collection by him of the rents of land or of the shares of land-revenue.

(4) The Provincial Government shall provide—

(a) for remunerating persons collecting sums, under this section; or

(b) for indemnifying them against expenses properly incurred by them in such collection; or

(c) for both purposes.”

—U. P. Act VI of 1932, S. 3.

48. Fines excluded from sections 45, 46, 47.

Nothing in section 45, 46 or 47 applies to fines.

PART VI

OF CANAL-NAVIGATION

49. Detainer of vessels violating rules.

Any vessel entering or navigating any canal contrary to the rules made in that behalf by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], or so as to cause danger to the canal or the other vessels therein, may be removed or detained, or both removed and detained, by the Divisional Canal-officer, or by any other person duly authorised in this behalf.

Liability of owners of vessels causing damage.

The owner of any vessel causing damage to a canal, or removed or detained under this section, shall be liable to pay to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] such sum as the Divisional Canal-officer, with the approval of the Superintending Canal-officer, determines to be necessary to defray the expenses of repairing such damage or of such removal or detention, as the case may be.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

The provisions of Part VI are not applicable in respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh.

—U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

50. Recovery of fines for offences in navigating canals.

Any fine imposed under this Act upon the owner of any vessel, or the servant or agent of such owner or other person in charge of any vessel, for any offence in respect of the navigation of such vessel, may be recovered either in the manner prescribed by the Code of Criminal Procedure<sup>a</sup> or, if the Magistrate imposing the fine so directs, as though it were a charge due in respect of such vessel.

[a] See now the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (V of 1898).

51. Power to seize and detain vessel on failure to pay charges.

If any charge due under the provisions of this Part in respect of any vessel is not paid on demand to the person authorised to collect the same, the Divisional Canal-officer may seize and detain such vessel and the furniture thereof, until the charge so due, together with all expenses and additional charges arising from such seizure and detention, is paid in full.

52. Power to seize cargo or goods, if charges due thereon are not paid.

If any charge due under the provisions of this Part in respect of any cargo or goods carried in a Government vessel on a canal, or stored on or in lands or warehouses occupied for the purposes of a canal is not paid on demand to the person authorised to collect the same, the Divisional Canal-officer may seize such cargo or goods and detain them until the charge so due, together with all expenses and additional charges arising from such seizure and detention, is paid in full.

53. Procedure for recovery of such charges after seizure.

Within a reasonable time after any seizure under section 51 or section 52, the said Canal-officer shall give notice to the owner or person in charge of the property seized that it, or such portion of it as may be necessary, will, on a day to be named in the notice, but not sooner than fifteen days from the date of the notice, be sold in satisfaction of the claim on account of which such property was seized, unless the claim be discharged before the day so named.

And, if such claim be not so discharged, the said Canal-officer may, on such day, sell the property seized or such part thereof as may be necessary to yield the amount due, together with the expenses of such seizure and sale :

Provided that no greater part of the furniture of any vessel or of any cargo or goods shall be so sold than shall, as nearly as may be, suffice to cover the amount due in respect of such vessel, cargo or goods.

The residue of such furniture, cargo or goods, and of the proceeds of the sale, shall be made over to the owner or person in charge of the property seized.

54. Procedure in respect of vessels abandoned and goods unclaimed.

If any vessel be found abandoned in a canal, or any cargo or goods carried in a Government vessel on a canal, or stored on or in lands or warehouses occupied for the purposes of a canal, be left unclaimed for a period of two months, the Divisional Canal-officer may take possession of the same.

The officer so taking possession may publish a notice that, if such vessel and its contents, or such cargo or goods, are not claimed previously to a day to be named in the notice, not sooner than thirty days from the date of such notice, he will sell the same; and, if such vessel, contents, cargo or goods be not so claimed, he may, at any time after the day named in the notice, proceed to sell the same.

Disposal of proceeds of sale.

The said vessel and its contents, and the said cargo or goods if unsold, or, if a sale has taken place, the proceeds of the sale, after paying all tolls, charges and expenses incurred by the Divisional Canal-officer on account of the taking possession and sale, shall be made over to the owner of the same, when his ownership is established to the satisfaction of the Divisional Canal-officer.

If the Divisional Canal-officer is doubtful to whom such property or proceeds should be made over, he may direct the property to be sold as aforesaid, and the proceeds to be paid into the district treasury, there to be held until the right thereto be decided by a Court of competent jurisdiction.

PART VII OF DRAINAGE

55. Power to prohibit obstructions or order their removal.

Whenever it appears to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] that injury to any land or the public health or public convenience has arisen or may arise from the obstruction of any river, stream or drainage-channel, such Government may, by notification published in the Official Gazette, prohibit, within limits to be defined in such notification, the formation of any obstruction, or may, within such limits, order the removal or other modification of such obstruction.

Thereupon so much of the said river, stream or drainage-channel as is comprised within such limits shall be held to be a drainage-work as defined in section 3.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

The provisions of Part VII are not applicable in respect of any State tube-well in Uttar Pradesh—U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

56. Power to remove obstructions after prohibition.

The Divisional Canal-officer, or other person authorised by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] in that behalf, may, after such publication issue an order to the person causing or having control over any such obstruction to remove or modify the same within a time to be fixed in the order.

If, within the time so fixed, such person does not comply with the order, the said Canal-officer may himself remove or modify the obstruction ; and if the person to whom the order was issued does not, when called upon, pay the expenses involved in such removal or modification, such expenses shall be recoverable by the Collector from him or his representative in interest as an arrear of land-revenue.

57. Preparation of schemes for works of improvement.

Whenever it appears to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] that any drainage-works are necessary for the improvement of any lands, or for the proper cultivation or irrigation thereof, or that protection from floods or other accumulations of water, or from erosion by a river, is required for any lands, the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may cause a scheme for such drainage-works to be drawn up and published, together with an estimate of its cost and a statement of the proportion of such cost which the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] proposes to defray, and a schedule of the lands which it is proposed to make chargeable in respect of the scheme.

STATE AMENDMENT

SECTION 57-A

PUNJAB

"57-A. The provisions contained in sections 30-A to 30-G shall apply to Field Drains as well."—Punj. Act XXI of 1958, S. 4 [10-7-1958].

58. Powers of persons employed on such schemes.

The persons authorised by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] to draw up such scheme may exercise all or any of the powers conferred on the Canal-officers by section 14.

59. Rate on lands benefited by works.

An annual rate, in respect of such scheme, may be charged, according to rules to be made by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], on the owners of all lands which shall, in the manner prescribed by such rules, be determined to be so chargeable.

Such rate shall be fixed, as nearly as possible, so as not to exceed either of the following limits :—

- (1) six per cent. per annum on the first cost of the said works, adding thereto the estimated yearly cost of the maintenance and supervision of the same, and deducting therefrom the estimated income, if any, derived from the works, excluding the said rate :
- (2) in the case of agricultural land, the sum which under the rules then in force for the assessment of land-revenue, might be assessed on such land on account of the increase of the annual value or produce thereof caused by the drainage-work.

Such rate may be varied from time to time within such maximum, by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government.]

So far as any defect to be remedied is due to any canal, water-course, road or other work or obstruction, constructed or caused by the ^[State Government] or by any person, a proportionate share of the cost of the drainage-works required for the remedy of the said defect shall be borne by such Government or such person, as the case may be.

STATE AMENDMENT

PUNJAB

For section 59, substitute the following :—

"(1) The proportion of the cost, other than that which is to be defrayed by Government, in respect of such scheme, may be charged from the owners of all lands made chargeable under section 57, in accordance with rules made by the State Government in this behalf.

(2) An owner shall be competent to contribute towards the charges payable by him either wholly or in part in terms of land, labour or cash in the manner prescribed by rules made in this behalf."—Punj. Act XIX of 1953, S. 2 [28-4-1953].

60. Recovery of rate.

Any such drainage-rate may be collected and recovered in manner provided by sections 45, 46 and 47 for the collection and recovery of water-rates.

STATE AMENDMENT

PUNJAB

For section 60, substitute the following :—

"Any sum certified by the Divisional Canal Officer to be due under the last preceding section and which remains unpaid after the expiry of the period during which it was payable, shall be recoverable from the owner liable for the same as if it were an arrear of land revenue."—Punj Act XIX of 1953, S. 2 [28-4-1953].

61. Disposal of claims to compensation.

Whenever, in pursuance of a notification made under section 55, any obstruction is removed or modified, or whenever any drainage-work is carried under section 57, all claims for compensation on account of any loss consequent on the removal or modification of the said obstruction or the construction of such work may be made before the Collector, and he shall deal with the same in the manner provided in section 10.

62. Limitation of such claims.

No such claim shall be entertained after the expiration of one year from the occurrence of the loss complained of, unless the Collector is satisfied that the claimant had sufficient cause for not making the claim within such period.

PART VIII

OF OBTAINING LABOUR FOR CANALS AND DRAINAGE-WORKS

63. Definition of "labourer".

For the purposes referred to in this Part, the word "labourer" includes persons who exercise any handicraft specified in rules to be made in that behalf by the ^[State Government].

64. Power to prescribe number of labourers to be supplied by persons benefited by canal.

In any district in which a canal or drainage-work is constructed, maintained or projected by the ^[State Government], the ^[State Government] may, if it thinks fit, direct the Collector—

- (a) to ascertain the proprietors, sub-proprietors or farmers whose villages or estates are or will be in the judgment of the Collector, benefited by such canal or drainage-work, and

- (b) to set down in a list, having due regard to the circumstances of the districts and of the several proprietors, sub-proprietors or farmers, the number of labourers which shall be furnished by any of the said persons, jointly or severally, from any such village or estate, for employment on any such canal or drainage-work when required as hereinafter provided.

The Collector may, from time to time, add to or alter such list or any part thereof.

STATE AMENDMENT

UTTAR PRADESH

In its application to Uttar Pradesh, in respect of any State tube-well reference to a 'Divisional Canal-Officer' in this section shall be deemed to be a reference to a "Divisional Officer".—U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

65. Procedure for obtaining labour for works urgently required.

Whenever it appears to a Divisional Canal-Officer duly authorised by the ^[State Government] that, unless some work is immediately executed, such serious damage will happen to any canal or drainage-work as to cause sudden and extensive public injury, and that the labourers necessary for the proper execution thereof cannot be obtained in the ordinary manner within the time that can be allowed for the execution of such work so as to prevent such injury, the said officer may require any person named in such list to furnish as many labourers (not exceeding the number which, according to the said list he is liable to supply) as to the said officer seems necessary for the immediate execution of such work.

Every requisition so made shall be in writing, and shall state—

- (a) the nature and locality of the work to be done;
- (b) the number of labourers to be supplied by the person upon whom the requisition is made; and
- (c) the approximate time for which and the day on which the labourers will be required; and a copy thereof shall be immediately sent to the Superintending Canal-Officer for the information of the ^[State Government].

The ^[State Government] shall fix, and may from time to time alter the rates to be paid to any such labourers :

Provided that such rates shall exceed the highest rates for the time being paid in the neighbourhood for similar work.

In the case of every such labourer, the payment shall continue for the whole period during which he is, in consequence of the provisions of this part, prevented from following his ordinary occupation.

The ^[State Government] may ^* * * ^* direct that the provisions of this part shall apply, either permanently or temporarily (as the case may be), to any district or part of a district for the purpose of effecting necessary annual silt-clearances, or to prevent the proper operation of a canal or drainage-work being stopped or so much interfered with as to stop the established course of irrigation or drainage.

[a] The words "with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council" were omitted by the Decentralization Act, 1914 (IV of 1914).

66. Liability of labourers under requisition.

When any requisition has been made on any person named in the said list, every labourer ordinarily resident within the village or estate of such person shall be liable to supply, and to continue to supply, his labour, for the purposes aforesaid.

PART IX

OF JURISDICTION

67. Jurisdiction under this Act of Civil Courts.

Except where herein otherwise provided, all claims against the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] in respect of anything done under this Act may be tried by the Civil Courts; but no such Court shall in any case pass an order as to the supply of canal-water to any crop sown or growing at the time of such order.

68. Settlement of differences as to mutual rights and liabilities of persons interested in water-course.

Whenever a difference arises between two or more persons in regard to their mutual rights or liabilities in respect of the use, construction or maintenance of a water-course, any such person may apply in writing to the Divisional Canal-officer stating the matter in dispute. Such officer shall thereupon give notice to the other persons interested that, on a day to be named in such notice, he will proceed to inquire into the said matter. And, after such inquiry, he shall pass his order thereon, unless he transfers (as he is hereby empowered to do) the matter to the Collector, who shall thereupon inquire into and pass his order on the said matter.

Such order shall be final as to the use or distribution of water for any crop sown or growing at the time when such order is made, and shall thereafter remain in force until set aside by the decree of a Civil Court.

STATE AMENDMENTS

PUNJAB

For the words "Such Officer shall thereupon give notice" the words "On receipt of such application or when in the opinion of the Divisional Officer any such difference is likely to arise he shall give notice" shall be deemed to be substituted.

— Punj. Act XXI of 1954, S. 4.

UTTAR PRADESH

(i) Same as that of Punjab.

(ii) In its application to Uttar Pradesh, in respect of any State tube-well, reference to a 'Divisional Canal-officer' in this section shall be deemed to be a reference to a Divisional Officer. —U. P. Act XII of 1936, S. 6 and Sch., item 5. [w. e. f. 13-3-1937].

Section 67 — Note 1

[1] Government for preventing intersection of canal and stream, constructing a super-bridge—Expert advice drawing Government's attention to danger to neighbouring lands being flooded — Practice of removing silt observed for many years but discontinued as being expensive and not necessary for purposes of canal authorities — Plaintiff's lands over-flooded — Suit for damages and injunction is cognizable by civil Courts — Discontinuance amounts to unreasonable conduct or negligence — Government must pay damages to plaintiff. 1928 All 735 (737, 738) [AIR V 15] (DB).

Section 68 — Note 1

[1] Where differences arise between the parties regarding water-course, the aggrieved party should apply to the Divisional Canal-Officer and his order thereon will be final. The validity of such order can be in a civil Court within one year from the date of passing the order failing which the suit will be barred by Art. 14 of the Limitation Act. ('93) 1893 Pun Re No. 25 p. 132 (136) (DB).

[2] Civil Courts are only concerned with the legal rights of the parties. If by reason of injury to some person's legal rights an order passed by a canal officer under S. 68 is found to be defective, the order can only be set aside as a whole and it is then for the canal officer to draw up a new list of turns from which the defect has been removed. It is impossible for Civil Courts to go into the difficult work of allocation of turns as if they were canal officers. ('45) 47 Pun L R 73 (73).

[3] Divisional Canal Officer has jurisdiction to decide differences even after warabandi is fixed. 1929 Lah 263 (261) [AIR V 16].

[4] If the Divisional Officer omits to serve notice on any of the parties interested in the enquiry under S. 68, his proceedings must be held to be vitiated on that account. 1933 Lah 76 (77) [AIR V 20].

[5] Where a party who is aggrieved by an order of Executive Engineer passed under S. 68, granting an application for a new warabandi brings a suit in a Civil Court to set it aside, the burden of showing that the order is unjust and inequitable or otherwise improper lies on him. 1937 Lah 448 (449) [AIR V 24] (DB).

69. Power to summon and examine witnesses.

Any officer empowered under this Act to conduct any inquiry may exercise all such powers connected with the summoning and examining of witnesses as are conferred on Civil Courts by the *Code of Civil Procedure, and every such inquiry shall be deemed a judicial proceeding.

[a] See now the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (Act V of 1908).

PART X*OF OFFENCES AND PENALTIES*70. Offences under Act.

Whoever, without proper authority and voluntarily, does any of the acts following, that is to say :—

- (1) damages, alters, enlarges or obstructs any canal or drainage-work ;
- (2) interferes with, increases or diminishes the supply of water in, or the flow of water from, through, over or under, any canal or drainage-work ;
- (3) interferes with or alters the flow of water in any river or stream, so as to endanger, damage or render less useful any canal or drainage-work ;
- (4) being responsible for the maintenance of a water-course, or using a water-course, neglects to take proper precautions for the prevention of waste of the water thereof, or interferes with the authorised distribution of the water therefrom, or uses such water in an unauthorised manner ;
- (5) corrupts or fouls the water of any canal so as to render it less fit for the purposes for which it is ordinarily used ;
- (6) causes any vessel to enter or navigate any canal contrary to the rules for the time being prescribed by the * [State Government] for entering or navigating such canal ;
- (7) while navigating on any canal, neglects to take proper precautions for the safety of the canal and of vessels thereon ;
- (8) being liable to furnish labourers under Part VIII of this Act, fails without reasonable cause, to supply or to assist in supplying the labourers required of him ;
- (9) being a labourer liable to supply his labour under Part VIII of this Act, neglects, without reasonable cause, so to supply, and to continue to supply, his labour ;

Section 70 — Note 1

[1] Before a person can be convicted under S. 70, there must be a clear finding of fact that there was a recognized water course for passage of water which has been demolished or damaged or altered. In the absence of such a finding the person cannot be held to be guilty under S. 70. ('50) ILR (1950) All 780 (783). (Unless, it is shown that a channel was a well-recognized one through which the people of the locality had a right to take water, it cannot be said to be a water course.)

A demolished the channel in October 1946. There was no clear finding that it was a well-recognized channel through which people of the locality had a right to take water — Held, that A could not be held guilty of an offence under S. 70. own authority or it can be obtained on the application of a private person to the Divisional Canal Officer under section 21 of the Act. Such a right can also be obtained by a private agreement. But where one person merely permits another to take water on a water course existing on the former's land and then discontinues the permission and stops the water course, he is not guilty under section 70. The Act in no way contemplates that one man has a right to the passage of water for his fields through the fields of another except that such right is derived in any of these ways from the Canal Authorities or obtained by private agreement. 1921 Lah 327 (327, 328) [AIR V 8] : 22 Cri L Jour 429.

[10] In order to prove an offence under S. 430 it is necessary to prove mischief as defined in S. 425 and it is also necessary to prove that the act committed is likely to cause a diminution of the supply of water for the various purposes mentioned in the section. Where all that was proved was that the accused forcibly opened the canal distributory and apparently diverted the flow of the water but there was nothing to show that they permanently diminished the utility of the distributory or affected it injuriously or that they practically diminished the supply of the water — Held, that the accused were liable to be convicted under S. 70 and not under S. 430, I. [12] The mere fact of travelling over the Canal Inspection Road without a permit is no offence under S. 70 (ii), Northern India Canal and Drainage Act, the essence of the offence being that a person should continue to travel after he has been desired to desist therefrom. 1943 Lah 298 (299) [AIR V 30] : 45 Cri L Jour 149 (DB).

[13] Use of water for building is not punishable. Section 70 (12) punishes a person who violates any rule made under the Act for a breach of which a penalty may be incurred. The use of water from a tank which has been filled with canal water for building of a pucca house, though not authorised under Rule 10 of section 31, is not penalised by any section of the Act and is therefore not punishable. 1921 Lah 187 (2) (188) [AIR V 8] : 23 Cri L Jour 17.

72. Compensation to person injured.

Whenever any person is fined for an offence under this Act, the Magistrate may direct that the whole or any part of such fine may be paid by way of compensation to the person injured by such offence.

73. Power to arrest without warrant.

Any person in charge of or employed upon any canal or drainage-work may remove from the lands or buildings belonging thereto, or may take into custody without a warrant and take forthwith before a Magistrate or to the nearest police-station, to be dealt with according to law, any person who, within his view, commits any of the following offences :—

- (1) wilfully damages or obstructs any canal or drainage-work :
- (2) without proper authority interferes with the supply or flow of water in or from any canal or drainage-work, or in any river or stream, so as to endanger, damage or render less useful any canal or drainage-work.

74. Definition of "canal".

In this Part the word "canal" shall (unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context) be deemed to include also all lands occupied by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] for the purposes of canals, and all buildings, machinery, fences, gates and other erections, trees, crops, plantations or other produce occupied by or belonging to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] upon such lands.

OF SUBSIDIARY RULES

75. Power to make, alter and cancel rules.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, from time to time <sup>A</sup>[* * * *] make rules<sup>aa</sup> to regulate the following matters :—

- (1) the proceedings of any officer who, under any provision of this Act, is required or empowered to take action in any matter ;
- (2) the cases in which, and the officers to whom, and the conditions subject to which, orders and decisions given under any provision of this Act, and not expressly provided for as regards appeal, shall be appealable ;
- (3) the persons by whom, <sup>b</sup>[and] the time, place or manner at or in which anything for the doing of which provision is made under this Act, shall be done ;
- (4) the amount of any charge made under this Act ; and
- (5) generally to carry out the provisions of this Act.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may from time to time <sup>a</sup>[* * * *] alter or cancel any rules so made.

Publication of rules.

Such rules, alterations and cancelments shall be published in the Official Gazette, and shall thereupon have the force of law.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"An Act for the regulation of ferries in the Punjab is much needed. Up to the 1st June 1872, when Act No. IV of 1872 (the Punjab Laws Act) came into force, ferries in the Punjab were governed by Bengal Regulation VI of 1819; but by the Punjab Laws Act that Regulation was inadvertently repealed, and, no other law being substituted for it, there has from that date been no law for the control of ferries in the Punjab. Another result is that, as the law now stands, it would be difficult for the Local Government to prevent an unlicensed person from setting up a rival ferry alongside of a Government ferry, and thus materially reducing the income of the latter ferry and the funds available for its maintenance.

To remedy this state of things, and at the same time to provide generally for the regulation of Government ferries, a Bill to regulate ferries in the Punjab was prepared. About the same time the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and Chief Commissioner of Oudh submitted a draft Bill for the regulation of ferries in the territories under his administration. The Bill, so submitted, and the Bill for the Punjab, as modified and supplemented in accordance with communications subsequently received from the Punjab, were found to differ so little, that it was thought advisable to amalgamate the two Bills, and accordingly the present Bill, extending to the Punjab, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, has been prepared.

The Bill is based upon the Burma Ferries Act, II of 1873, and the provisions of that Act have been followed as closely as the different circumstances and requirements of the Provinces with which this Bill deals would permit.

[THE] NORTHERN INDIA FERRIES ACT, 1878

(ACT XVII OF 1878)<sup>a</sup>

[9th November, 1878.]

An Act to regulate Ferries in Northern India.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient to regulate ferries in <sup>b</sup>[Uttar Pradesh, Punjab, the Central Provinces, Assam, Delhi and Ajmer]; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1878, Pt. V., p. 135 ; for Preliminary Report of the Select Committee, see ibid, page 210.

This Act applies to the Lakhimpur Frontier Tract, and to the Sadiya and Balipara Frontier Tracts in Assam, subject to certain modifications, see Assam Government notification No. 442-CS & 443-CS, dated 26th January, 1940.

It has been extended to the States merged in the State of—

Madhya Pradesh : see M. P. Act XII of 1950, Section 3. [3-4-1950].

Punjab : see Punj. Act V of 1950, S. 3. [15-4-1950].

[b] Substituted for "the United Provinces, East Punjab, the Central Provinces, Assam, Delhi and Ajmer-Merwara" by A. L. O. 1950. [26-1-1950].

I.—PRELIMINARY

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE NORTHERN INDIA FERRIES ACT, 1878.

Local extent.

Commencement.

It shall come into force in each of the said territories on such date<sup>c</sup> as the State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, fix in this behalf.

[a] Paragraph 2 has been successively amended so as to read as above, by A. C. A. O., 1948 and A. L. O., 1950. [b] This Act as in force in the Mahakoshal region of Madhya Pradesh is extended to and shall be in force in all the other regions of that State — M. P. Act XXIII of 1958, S. 3 (1).

In its application to the Vidarbha region of the State of Bombay (now Maharashtra) this Act is repealed—Bom. Act LX of 1959, S. 19. [19-10-1959].

[c] The Act was brought into force in Punjab on 1-4-1881, see Punj. Gaz., 1881, Pt. I, p. 139; in U. P., on 1-1-1879, see N. W. P. and Oudh Gaz., 1878, Pt. I, p. 2035 ; in Assam on 1-4-1879, see Assam Gaz., 1879, Pt. I, p. 187.

STATE AMENDMENT

MADHYA PRADESH

In its application to the State of Madhya Pradesh, in section 1—

(a) in second paragraph, for the words "Central Provinces" substitute "Madhya Pradesh" ;

(b) for the third paragraph substitute the following :

"It shall be in force in all such territories in which it was in force immediately before the commencement of the Madhya Pradesh Extension of Laws Act, 1958 and shall come into force on the commencement of the said Act in all such regions of Madhya Pradesh in which it was not in force before such commencement."

— M. P. Act XXIII of 1958, S. 3 & Sch.

2. Repeal. [Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1938 (I of 1938), S. 2 and Sch.]

3. Interpretation-clause.

In this Act the word "ferry" includes also a bridge of boats, pontoons or rafts, a swing-bridge, a flying-bridge and a temporary bridge, and the approaches to, and landing-places of, a ferry <sup>a</sup>[and "Punjab" and "Ajmer" mean the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in the States of Punjab and Ajmer respectively].

[a] Added by 2 A. L. O., 1956. [1-11-1956].

II.—PUBLIC FERRIES

4. Power to declare, establish, define and discontinue public ferries.

The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may from time to time—

- (a) declare what ferries shall be deemed public ferries, and the respective districts in which, for the purposes of this Act, they shall be deemed to be situate ;
- (b) take possession of a private ferry and declare it to be a public ferry ;
- (c) establish new public ferries where, in its opinion, they are needed ;
- (d) define the limits of any public ferry ;
- (e) change the course of any public ferry ; and
- (f) discontinue any public ferry which it deems unnecessary.

Every such declaration, establishment, definition, change or discontinuance shall be made by notification in the Official Gazette :

Provided also that, when any alteration in course or in the limits of a public ferry is rendered necessary by changes in the river, such alteration may be made, by an order under his hand, by the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate, or by such other officer as the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf.

[a] Substituted for the original Proviso by the Devolution Act, 1920 (XXXVIII of 1920), S. 2 and Sch. I, Pt. I. [b] The words "and in any case where the said Local Governments fail to agree as regards the exercise of any such power they shall exercise such power subject to the control of the Governor-General in Council" were omitted by A. O., 1937. [1-4-1937].

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] The word "ferry" in ordinary parlance does not include a pucca bridge over which vehicles and persons may pass in order to cross a river. A pucca bridge which is a part of highway is not therefore included within the definition in S. 3 nor can it be said to be an approach to or landing-place of a ferry. Under S. 4 the Government has a right to declare only ferries to be public ferries. It cannot declare pucca bridges to be public ferries. No toll tax can therefore be levied for crossing such bridges. 1956 All 7 (8) [AIR V 43 C 4].

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] Where the course of a river has changed and there has been no specification of limits under S. 4 subsequent to the change, a conviction under S. 28 for working ferry within the previously prohibited limits, is bad. (10) 11 Cri L Jour 595 (596) (All).

[2] What the notification obviously means is that the banks of the river up and down the stream within a distance of 440 yards would be taken to be parts of the ferry. The Government could never have intended to include in this ferry the bridges and public roads within this distance. The obvious meaning of the notification is that the bank of the river up to that distance would be taken to be parts of the ferry and not every article or thing situate within 440 yards of the ferry. 1956 All 7 (8) [AIR V 43 C 4].

STATE AMENDMENTS

AJMER

Substitute the words "the Deputy Commissioner" for the words "the Commissioner of the Division in which such ferry is situate".—Act VI of 1945, S. 3 and Sch. II. [16-4-1945].

UTTAR PRADESH

In the first proviso to S. 4 between the words "two States" and the words "the powers" insert the words "to which this Act applies".

— U. P. Act VIII of 1960, S. 2 [w. r.e. f., 22-5-1950].

5. Claims for compensation.

Claims for compensation for any loss sustained by any person in consequence of a private ferry being taken possession of under section 4, shall be inquired into by the Magistrate of the district in which such ferry is situate, or such officer as he appoints in this behalf, and submitted for the consideration and orders of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government].

6. Superintendence of public ferries.

The immediate superintendence of every public ferry shall, except as provided in section 7 <sup>A</sup>[and section 7A], be vested in the Magistrate of the district in which such ferry is situate, or in such other officer as the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, from time to time, appoint by name or in virtue of his office in this behalf; and such Magistrate or officer shall, except when the tolls at such ferry are leased, make all necessary arrangements for the supply of boats for such ferry, and for the collection of the authorised tolls leviable thereat.

[a] Inserted in the application of the Act to—

The U. P. by the U. P. Local Boards Act, 1883 (XIV of 1883), S. 65.

The Punjab, by the Punjab District Boards Act, 1883 (XX of 1883), S. 79.

The Madhya Pradesh by the C. P. Local Self-Government Act, 1883 (I of 1883), S. 44; and Assam, by the Assam Local Self-Government Act, 1952 (Assm. XXV of 1953), Chap. VIII, item 2.

But these words are not applicable to Ajmer.

7. Management may be vested in municipality.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may direct that any public ferry situate within the limits of a town be managed by the officer or public body charged with the superintendence of the municipal arrangements of such town;

<sup>A</sup>[and thereupon that ferry shall be managed accordingly.]

[a] Substituted by A. O., 1937 for the following words—

"and may further direct that all or any part of the proceeds from such ferry be paid into the municipal fund of such town; and thereupon such ferry shall be managed, and such proceeds or part thereof shall be paid, accordingly."

<sup>A</sup>[7A. Management may be vested in District Council or District or Local Board.

The State Government may direct that any public ferry wholly or partly within the area subject to the authority of a District Council or a District Board or, a Local Board in the State be managed by that Council or Board, and thereupon that ferry shall be managed accordingly.]

[a] Substituted for the former section 7A, by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] The legislature used two different words 'superintendence' and 'managed' in Ss. 6 and 7A. The word 'vested' appears in S. 6 but does not appear in S. 7A. It, therefore, appears that, the rights of a District Board under S. 7A are not of the same nature as the rights of the Magistrate under S. 6. 1958 All 464 (465) [AIR V 45 C 114].

[2] The arrears due from a lessee of the tolls of a public ferry can be recovered by the Magistrate as an arrear of land revenue. ('59) ILR (1959) Punj 1008 (1015).

Section 7A — Note 1

[1] The provisions of the Act are applicable even when the management of a public ferry is transferred to a local body, such as Municipal Committee or District Board, under S. 7 or 7A of the Act. ('59) ILR (1959) Punj 1008 (1014) * 1958 All 464 (466) [AIR V 45 C 114].

STATE AMENDMENT

ASSAM

For section 7A substitute the following, namely,—

"7A. The State Government may direct that any public ferry, wholly or partly within the area subject to the authority of an Anchalik Panchayat in the State be managed by the Anchalik Panchayat and thereupon the ferry shall be managed accordingly."

—Assam Act XXIV of 1959, S. 188 & Sch. B.

*18. Letting ferry tolls by auction.

The tolls of any public ferry may, from time to time, be let by public auction for a term not exceeding five years with the approval of the Commissioner,<sup>b</sup> or by public auction, or otherwise than by public auction, for any term with the previous sanction of the State Government.

The lessee shall conform to the rules made under this Act for the management and control of the ferry, and may be called upon by the officer in whom the immediate superintendence of the ferry is vested, or, if the ferry is managed by a municipal or other public body under section 7 or section 7A,<sup>c</sup> then by that body, to give such security for his good conduct and for the punctual payment of the rent as the officer or body, as the case may be, thinks fit.

When the tolls are put up to public auction, the said officer or body, as the case may be, or the officer conducting the sale on his or its behalf, may, for reasons recorded in writing, refuse to accept the offer of the highest bidder, and may accept any other bid, or may withdraw the tolls from auction.]

[a] Substituted for the original section by the Northern India Ferries (Amendment) Act, 1886 (III of 1886), S. 1. [b] In its application to Ajmer for the word "Commissioner" substitute "Deputy Commissioner", see Act VI of 1945, Sch. II. [c] The words "or section 7A" are inapplicable to Ajmer.

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] The public ferry remains in the possession of the public authorities and all that is let is a right to collect the tolls of that public ferry. Such a right is not immovable property and the lessee has no right to sue for recovery of possession under S. 9, Specific Relief Act. 1938 All 856 (857) [AIR V 23]: ILR (1937) All 193 (DB).

[2] Reading the Act as a whole, the scheme in respect of settlement of tolls of a public ferry seems to be that the State Government exercises only a power of approval or superintendence under certain cases either before or after the settlement and the Government is not competent to exercise the powers of direct settlement unless it is so empowered by any of the rules framed under S. 12 of the Act which provides for framing of rules subject to the Government control, generally to carry out the purposes of the Act and for the purposes enumerated therein. 1959 Assam 209 (210) [AIR V 48 C 46] (DB).

[3] The general principle laid down by S. 8 seems to be that for any period lesser than five years, the settlement of the tolls of any public ferry should normally be by public auction subject to the approval of the Commissioner or the Chief Engineer. But in case of some emergency or for special reasons, the Government might take the case out of the general rule of settlement by public auction. What is required under S. 8 is that the Government should decide earlier as to the method of the proposed settlement if they want to take the case out of the general rule and the procedure should be sanctioned by it in advance. 1959 Assam 209 (210) [AIR V 48 C 46] (DB).

[4] Settlement of Ferry Rules, Part II, R. 13 — Rule is in no way prejudicial to contents of S. 8. ('53) ILR (1953) 5 Assam 380 (387).

[5] The powers exercised by the Chief Engineer under paragraph 50 of the Code, were exercisable, under the notification by the Additional Chief Engineer. The power exercised by the Chief Engineer under the provisions of the Northern India Ferries Act is an administrative power and, in the absence of any clear definition of the word 'Chief Engineer,' the power under R. 19 (b) of the Rules framed under S. 12 of the Northern India Ferries Act could be, by notification, exercised by the Additional Chief Engineer. The provisions of R. 19 (a) and (b) clearly give power to the Chief Engineer or, the Additional Chief Engineer, not to accept the highest bid and to direct settlement with any other bidder. There is nothing in this rule which makes it obligatory for the Chief Engineer to accept only the price offered by a bidder at the auction sale, and not to accept any higher price even if offered by him. But the Chief Engineer cannot reject the highest bid unless he records his reasons in writing for so doing. It is not a discretion to be exercised arbitrarily. If the reasons are recorded by the Chief Engineer, they may be examined by the High Court under Art. 226 of the Constitution. Where there are no reasons recorded in writing by the Additional Chief Engineer and the only writing is a telegram which was sent by the Additional Chief Engineer to the Executive Engineer, that is not a compliance with the provision of R. 19 (b) and cannot be said to be recording reasons for disapproval of the bid accepted by the officer conducting the sale. Apart from this

9. Recovery of arrears from lessee.

All arrears due by the lessee of the tolls of a public ferry on account of his lease may be recovered from the lessee or his surety (if any) by the Magistrate of the district in which such ferry is situate as if they were arrears of land-revenue.

10. Power to cancel lease.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may cancel the lease of the tolls of any public ferry on the expiration of six months' notice in writing to the lessee of its intention to cancel such lease.

When any lease is cancelled under this section, the Magistrate of the district in which such ferry is situate shall pay to the lessee such compensation as such Magistrate may, with the previous sanction of the <sup>A</sup>[State Government], award.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"It has been objected that the period of notice (six months) required by section 10 for the cancellation of a ferry lease is too long, 'especially with reference to the grave public inconvenience that might be caused by the prolonged continuance in his position of a lessee whose conduct might not be satisfactory.' On this we would observe that the case of a lessee whose conduct is unsatisfactory seems to be sufficiently provided for by section 24, which gives power to cancel a lease at once for any breach of rule; and when it is desired to cancel a lease on any other ground, as e.g., with a view to introducing some improved means of communication, we do not consider the period of six months excessive. Lessees can scarcely be expected to make satisfactory arrangements if they are liable to be arbitrarily ejected on short notice."—S.C.R.

11. Surrender of lease.

The lessee of the tolls of a public ferry may surrender his lease on the expiration of one month's notice in writing to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] of his intention to surrender such lease, and on payment to the Magistrate of the district in which such ferry is situate of such compensation as such Magistrate, subject to the approval of the Commissioner, may in each case, direct.

Section 8 — Note 1 (contd.)

rule, S. 8 also points to the same conclusion. 1959 Assam 107 (107, 108) [A I R V 46 C 23] (DB).

[6] The right to collect tolls on ferry was sold by public auction. The Chief Engineer however settled the right in favour of third party who offered a higher amount, without assigning reasons for rejecting highest bidder. On the application of the highest bidder the order was set aside by the High Court and the Chief Engineer was directed to consider matter and pass order in accordance with R. 19 (b) of the Rules framed under the Act. But that officer referred the matter to Government, which then passed an order for dropping the proposal to sell the right by public auction and directing also the resettlement of the right in favour of the third party. Held, that although the Government initially had a right to choose the procedure by which it would settle the right it could not after having chosen the method once change its mind and adopt a new procedure which had the effect of circumventing the order of the Court. But although the order of the Government could be cancelled on that ground the Court could not grant a writ of mandamus directing the grant of the permit to the petitioner. The only order that could be issued was to direct the Chief Engineer to apply his mind to the question and pass such order as was permissible under law. 1959 Assam 169 (170) [A I R V 46 C 36] (DB).

Section 9 — Note 1

[1] The proprietary right in and over as well as all control of a public ferry continue to remain with the State, even where its limited management is transferred to the Municipal Committee or the District Board. The rents and compensation, even though they may be payable to the public body to which the management is transferred, are to form part of the revenues of the State. The arrears due from a lessee of the tolls of a public ferry can be recovered by the Magistrate as arrears of land revenue. ('59) ILR(1959)Punj 1008 (1015).

[2] The conditions necessary for taking action under S. 9 are : (1) Public ferry, (2) lease to collect tolls, and (3) arrears due by the lessee. Where all these conditions are fulfilled it is open to the District Board to take action under S. 9. The remedy under S. 9 is available even when management of a public ferry is made over to a District Board under S. 7-A. 1958 All 464 (466) [AIR V 45 C 114].

[But see 1950 Lah 193 (195) [A I R V 37 C 60] : Pak L R (1950) Lah 711.]

Section 11 — Note 1

[1] The compensation which a lessee ought to pay in respect of the surrender is to be determined by the District Magistrate and till that is determined and paid the lessee would be responsible to pay rent under the lease. Jurisdiction of Civil Courts to go into the matter is expressly barred by S. 34. ('59) ILR (1959) Punj 1008 (1016).

STATE AMENDMENTS

AJMER

For the word "Commissioner" substitute the words "Deputy Commissioner".—Act VI of 1945, Sch. II.

UTTAR PRADESH

In section 11, for the words "one month's notice" substitute the words "three months' notice".—U. P. Act XXIX of 1948, S. 2.

12. Power to make rules.

Subject to the control of the State Government, the Commissioner of a division, or such other officer as the State Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf, by name or in virtue of his office, may, from time to time, make rules consistent with this Act—

- (a) for the control and the management of all public ferries within such division and for regulating the traffic at such ferries ;
  - *[(b) for regulating the time and manner at and in which, and the terms on which, the tolls of such ferries may be let by auction, and prescribing the persons by whom auctions may be conducted ;]
  - (c) for compensating persons who have compounded for tolls payable for the use of any such ferry when such ferry has been discontinued before the expiration of the period compounded for ; and
  - (d) generally to carry out the purposes of this Act ;
- and, when the tolls of a ferry have been let under section 8, such Commissioner or other officer may, from time to time (subject as aforesaid), make additional rules consistent with this Act—
- (e) for collecting the rents payable for the tolls of such ferries ;
  - (f) in cases in which the communication is to be established by means of a bridge of boats, pontoons or rafts, or a swingbridge, flying-bridge or temporary bridge, for regulating the time and manner at and in which such bridge shall be constructed and maintained and opened for the passage of vessels and rafts through the same ; and
  - (g) in cases in which the traffic is conveyed in boats, for regulating (1) the number and kind of such boats and their dimensions and equipment ; (2) the number of the crew to be kept by the lessee for each boat ; (3) the maintenance of such boats continually in good condition ; (4) the hours during which, and the intervals within which, the lessee shall be bound to ply ; and (5) the number of passengers, animals and vehicles, and the bulk and weight of other things, that may be carried in each kind of boat at one trip.

The lessee shall make such returns of traffic as the Commissioner or other officer as aforesaid may, from time to time, require.

[a] Substituted by the Northern India Ferries (Amendment) Act, 1886 (III of 1886) S. 1 (2).

Section 12 — Note 1

[1] Where the highest bid at an auction sale of public ferry for a period of one year, is accepted by the sub-divisional Officer and the 1/4 price is deposited by the bidder the sale becomes complete and the Deputy Commissioner has no jurisdiction thereafter to direct a re-sale of the ferry. Rule 13 merely deals with certain proposals which deviate from the requirements of Rules 11 and 12. It has got no application at all to completed auction sales in which the highest bid is accepted and the deposit required by the rules has been made. Rules 19 to 21 read together show that the sale becomes complete when the final bid is accepted by the officer conducting the sale. The implication of these rules is that no confirmation is needed. There is also no provision in the rules for confirmation of the order of the sub-divisional Officer by the Deputy Commissioner. Rules 13 and 14 do not give any such power to the Deputy Commissioner. There is also no provision for appeals in the rules. ('53) ILR (1953) 5 Assam 380 (381).

[2] The Deputy Commissioner by general power of Superintendence or Control cannot rescind the settlement. The power of the Deputy Commissioner to cancel a lease is given under the Rules and it is only at that stage that he can interfere. ('53) I L R (1953) 5 Assam 380 (383, 384).

[3] Rule 13 framed under S. 12 of the Act is in no way prejudicial to the contents of S. 8. ('53) ILR (1953) 5 Assam 380 (382).

STATE AMENDMENT

AJMER

In section 12 for the words "the Commissioner of a division" the words "the Deputy Commissioner" shall be substituted; the words "within such division" in clause (a) shall be omitted; and for the word "Commissioner" where it occurs for the second and third time the words "Deputy Commissioner" shall be substituted.—Act VI of 1945, Sch. II.

13. Private ferry not to ply within two miles of public ferry without sanction.

*[Except with the sanction of the Magistrate of the district or of such other officer as the State Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf, by name or in virtue of his office, no person shall establish, maintain or work a ferry to or from any point within a distance of two miles from the limits of a public ferry] :

Provided that, in the case of any specified public ferry, the State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, reduce or increase the said distance of two miles to such extent as it thinks fit :

Provided also that nothing hereinbefore contained shall prevent persons plying between two places, one of which is without, and one within, the said limits, when the distance between such two places is not less than three miles, or apply to boats<sup>b</sup> [which do not ply for hire or] which the State Government expressly exempts<sup>c</sup> from the operation of this section.

STATE AMENDMENT

MADHYA PRADESH

After the second proviso, insert the following : —

"Explanation. — The expression 'boats which do not ply for hire' used in the second proviso shall not include boats, which, with a view to cause loss to a lessee, carry passengers free of charge."

14. Person using approaches, etc., liable to pay toll.

Whoever uses the approach to, or landing-place of, a public ferry is liable to pay the toll payable for crossing such ferry.

15. Tolls.

*Tolls, according to such rates as are, from time to time, fixed by the State Government, shall be levied on all persons, animals, vehicles and other things

Section 13 — Note 1

[1] The words used in S. 13 are "within a distance of two miles from the limits of a public ferry" and there is no reason why the distance contemplated by the section should be taken to be other than the shortest distance between the two points. The riverine distance between the two points on the bank cannot be taken because it may vary from time to time and according to seasons and does not seem to have been contemplated by S. 13. 1948 All 299 (299, 300) [AIR V 35 C 120] : ILR (1948) All 320 : 49 Cri L Jour 378 (DB).

the highway to the landing place. 1933 Lah 890 (890) [AIR V 20].

[2] By merely declaring a particular land as approach to the ferry, the rights of the public or an individual over and in the land cannot be taken away or destroyed. The words "whoever uses the approach" mean that the use of the land must be as an approach to a ferry. The land will be used as an approach to a ferry only if it is used for the purpose of crossing the river. Persons who exercise right as members of the public over the approach land which forms part of the highway, cannot be said to be using the approach land as an approach to a ferry. Mere user of the highway as a member of the public will not make a person liable to pay toll under S. 14 of the Act. 1960 Assam 67 (69) [AIR V 47 C 22].

Section 14 — Note 1

[1] The word "approach" is not limited to the distance between the landing place and the riverbank and includes an approach from crossing any river by a public ferry and not employed or transmitted on the public service :

Provided that the State Government may, from time to time, declare that any persons, animals, vehicles or other things shall be exempt from payment of such tolls.

Where the tolls of a ferry have been let under section 8, any such declaration, if made after the date of the <sup>b</sup>[lease], shall entitle the lessee to such abatement of the rent payable in respect of the tolls as may be fixed by the Commissioner of the division or such other officer as the State Government may, from time to time, appoint in this behalf by name or in virtue of his office.

[a] So much of S. 15 is repealed as provides for the exemption from payment of tolls of any persons, animals, vehicles or other things exempted by S. 3 of the Indian Tolls (Army and Air Force) Act, 1901 (2 of 1901); see S. 8 of that Act. [b] Substituted by the Northern India Ferries (Amendment) Act, 1886 (III of 1886), S. 1.

STATE AMENDMENT

SAMBALPUR DISTRICT (ORISSA)

(i) Existing section 17 shall be numbered as sub-section (1) of section 17 and to the said sub-section the following proviso shall be added, namely —

"Provided that, where the ferry is entrusted to management of a local authority under section 7 or section 7A, the receipts from tolls, rents, fines and compensation received under this Act shall not be revenues of the State and shall be disposed of as provided in sub-section (2)."

(ii) The following shall be inserted as sub-section (2) of section 17, namely : — "The sums received as tolls, rents, fines and compensation under this Act by a local authority entrusted with the management of a ferry under section 7 or section 7A shall, in the first instance, be applied to defraying all charges incurred by it in carrying out this Act and shall then be credited to the funds of the said local authority."

—The Sambalpur Local Self Government Act, 1939 (Orissa Act VI of 1939) S. 3 and Sch. III [20-10-1939].

NOTE.—The same amendments have also been made in section 17 of this Act by the following Orissa Acts, namely,—The Orissa Gram Panchayats Act, 1948 (XV of 1948), Sch. I; The Orissa Local Government Act, 1949 (XXII of 1950), Sch. II; The Orissa Municipal Act, 1950 (XXIII of 1950), Sch. II.

Section 17 — Note 1

[1] The proprietary right in and over as well as all control of a public ferry continue to remain with the State even where its limited management is transferred to the Municipal Committee or District Board. The rents and compensation, even though they may be payable to the public body to which the management is transferred, are to form part of the revenue of the State. ('59) 1 L R (1959) Punj 1008 (1015).

18. Compounding for tolls.

The State Government may, if it thinks fit, from time to time, fix rates at which any person may compound for the tolls payable for the use of a public ferry.

III.—PRIVATE FERRIES*19. Power to make rules.

The Commissioner of the division may, with the previous sanction of the State Government, from time to time, make rules<sup>a</sup> for the maintenance of order and for the safety of passengers and property at ferries other than public ferries.

[a] For the Orissa Private Ferries Rules, 1954, see Orissa Gaz., 1954, Pt. III, page 228.

STATE AMENDMENT*AJMER

Same as that given under section 15.

20. Tolls.

The tolls charged at such ferries shall not exceed the highest rates for the time being fixed under section 15 for similar public ferries.

IV.—PENALTIES AND CRIMINAL PROCEDURE*21. Penalty for breach of provisions as to table of tolls, list of tolls and return of traffic.

Every lessee or other person authorised to collect the tolls of a public ferry, who neglects to affix and keep in good order and repair the table of tolls mentioned in section 16, or who wilfully removes, alters or defaces such table, or allows it to become illegible, or who fails to produce on demand the list of the tolls mentioned in section 16, and every lessee who neglects to furnish any return required under section 12, shall be punished with fine which may extend to fifty rupees.

22. Penalty for taking unauthorised toll, and for causing delay.

Every such lessee or other person as aforesaid and any person in possession of a private ferry asking or taking more than the lawful toll, or without due cause delaying any person, animal, vehicle or other thing, shall be punished with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

23. Penalty for breach of rules made under sections 12 and 19.

Every person breaking any rule made under section 12 or section 19 shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to two hundred rupees, or with both.

Section 19 — Note 1

[1] Section 19 gives power to the Commissioner to make rules only (1) for the maintenance of order and (2) for the safety of passengers and property at private ferries. Any rule which does not come within these two classes is beyond his powers. The Commissioner cannot make a rule prohibiting the establishment of another ferry and such a rule would be ultra vires, and a breach of such a rule is no offence and cannot be made the basis of a conviction. 1952 All 795 (795) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1950) All 283.

29. Power to arrest without warrant.

The police may arrest without warrant any person committing an offence against section 25 or section 28.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Police have been empowered (section 29) to arrest without warrant persons committing offences against sections 25 and 28. As such offences will accordingly be "cognizable" within the meaning of the Criminal Procedure Code, sections 95, 96 and 97 of that Code will apply; and toll-collectors under the Bill will, as regards their right to assistance from the Police, be substantially in the same position as toll-collectors under the Roads and Bridges Act VIII of 1851." [Now entitled "The Indian Tolls Act, 1851".]

— S. C. B.

30. Power to try summarily.

Any Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates having summary jurisdiction under Chapter XVIII of the Code of Criminal Procedure<sup>1</sup> may try any offence against this Act in manner provided by that Chapter.

[a] See now the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 (3 of 1898), Ch. XXII.

31. Magistrate may assess damage done by offender.

Every Magistrate or Bench of Magistrates trying any offence under this Act may enquire into and assess the value of the damage (if any) done or caused by the offender to the ferry concerned, and shall order the amount of such value to be paid by him in addition to any fine imposed upon him under this Act; and the amount so ordered to be paid shall be leviable as if it were a fine, or when the offence is one under section 28, by the sale of the vessel, raft or timber causing the damage, and of any thing found in or upon such vessel or raft.

The Commissioner of the division may, on the appeal of any person deeming himself aggrieved by an order under this section, reduce or remit the amount payable under such order.

STATE AMENDMENT

Same as that given under section 15.

V.—MISCELLANEOUS

32. Power to take possession of boats, etc., on surrender or cancellation of lease.

When the lease of the tolls of any ferry is surrendered under section 11 or cancelled under section 24, the Magistrate of the district may take possession of all boats and their equipment, and all other material and appliances, used by the lessee for the purposes of such ferry, and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as the State Government may in each case direct) until such Magistrate can conveniently procure proper substitutes therefor.

33. Similar power in cases of emergency.

When any boats or their equipment, or any materials or appliances suitable for setting up a ferry, are emergently required for facilitating the transport of officers or troops of <sup>a</sup>[the Government of India] on duty, or of any other persons on the business of Government, or of any animals, vehicles or baggage belonging to such officers, troops or persons, or of any property of <sup>b</sup>[Government], the Magistrate of the district may take possession of and use the same (paying such compensation for the use thereof as <sup>c</sup>[the Central Government (where the transport is in connection with the affairs of the Central Government) and the State Government in other cases] may in each case direct) until such transport is completed.

34. Jurisdiction of Civil Courts barred.

No suit to ascertain the amount of any compensation payable, or abatement of rent allowable, under this Act shall be cognizable by any Civil Court.

35. Delegation of powers.

The State Government may, from time to time, delegate, under such restrictions as it thinks fit, any of the powers conferred on it by this Act to any Commissioner of a division or Magistrate of a district, or to such other officer as it thinks fit, by name or by virtue of his office.

[THE] NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH ACT, 1890

(ACT XX OF 1890)*

[16th October, 1890.]

An Act to provide for the better administration of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh and to amend certain enactments in force in those Provinces and in Oudh.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the better administration of the territories respectively administered by the <sup>b</sup>Lieutenant-Governor of the <sup>a</sup>North-Western Provinces and the <sup>b</sup>Chief Commissioner of Oudh, and for that purpose to amend certain enactments which are in force in the said Provinces and in Oudh; It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1890, Pt. V, p. 121 and for Report of Select Committee, see ibid., p. 135. [b] Now Governor of Uttar Pradesh.

[c] The territories known as the North-Western Provinces came to be known as Agra from 22-3-1902—see U. P. General Clauses Act, 1904 (U. P. Act I of 1904), S. 4 (4).

1. Title.

This Act may be called THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH ACT, 1890.

PART I

THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES

2. Commencement of Part I.

This Part shall come into force on such day<sup>a</sup> as the said Lieutenant-Governor may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct.

[a] The 1st April, 1891, see North-Western Provinces and Oudh Gazette, 1891, Pt. I, p. 130.

3 and 4. Amendment of Act XIX of 1873. [Repealed by the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901 (U. P. Act III of 1901)].

And whereas it has been determined to annex the Jhansi Division, comprising the districts of Jhansi, Jalaun and Lalatpur, to the Allahabad Division;

And whereas the said Jhansi Division is a scheduled district under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874;<sup>a</sup>

And whereas it is expedient that the law in force in the same division should, on such annexation, be the same as the law in force in the temporarily-settled districts comprised in the Allahabad Division, and that the said division should cease to be a scheduled District;

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] Since repealed by A. O., 1937.

5. Laws in force in certain districts of the Allahabad Division to apply to Jhansi.

(1) All enactments which shall on the day<sup>a</sup> when this Part comes into force be in force in the said temporarily-settled districts and not in the said Jhansi Division shall be deemed to come into force in that division on and from the said day.

(2) Except the Jhansi Encumbered Estates Act, 1882,<sup>b</sup> and the Jhansi and Morar Act, 1886,<sup>c</sup> all enactments which shall on the said day<sup>a</sup> be in force in the said division and not in the said temporarily-settled districts, including the Jhansi Courts Act, 1867, and Act No. 27 of 1867, shall be deemed to be repealed on and from the said day<sup>a</sup> in the said division.

[a] That is, the 1st April, 1891. [b] Repealed by the Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates Act, 1903 (U. P. Act I of 1903). [c] Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1953 (XLII of 1953), S. 2 and Sch. I [25-12-1953].

6. Amendment of Act XVI of 1882. [Repealed by the Bundelkhand Encumbered Estates Act, 1903 (U. P. Act I of 1903).]

7. Discharge of functions assigned to Deputy Commissioner and Commissioner by Act 17 of 1886.

The functions assigned to the Deputy Commissioner and the Commissioner by the Jhansi and Morar Act, 1886,<sup>a</sup> shall be discharged by the District Judge and the High Court, respectively, and references to Courts in the Jhansi district subordinate to the Commissioner shall be deemed to apply to the Civil Courts established in that district under the Bengal, <sup>b</sup>North-Western Provinces and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887.

[a] Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1953 (XLII of 1953), S. 2 and Sch. I [23-12-1953]. [b] "Agra" has been substituted for "North-Western Provinces" by the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts (Amendment) Act, 1911 (XVI of 1911).

8. Jhansi Division to cease to be a Scheduled District.

(1) On and from the said day<sup>a</sup> the said division shall cease to be a scheduled district <sup>b</sup>[* * *].

[a] That is, the 1st April 1891. [b] The second clause of sub-s. (1), and sub-s. (2) were omitted by the Repealing Act, 1938 (I of 1938), S. 2 and Sch.

9. Application of Act 12 of 1887 to Jhansi, and disposal of pending cases.

<sup>a</sup>[* * * * *]

(2) All cases or proceedings pending in any Civil Court in the said division on the said day<sup>b</sup> shall be disposed of as follows :

- (a) if pending in the Court of a Tahsildar or of an Assistant Commissioner of the second class—by the Munsif ;
- (b) if pending in the Court of an Assistant Commissioner of the first class—by the Subordinate Judge ;
- (c) if pending in the Court of a Deputy Commissioner—by the District Judge ;
- (d) if pending in the Court of the Commissioner—by the District Judge, unless the case pending is an appeal from a decree or order of the Deputy Commissioner, in which case the appeal shall be disposed of by the High Court.

(3) For the purposes of sections 20 to 22, both inclusive, of the Bengal, North-Western Provinces and Assam Civil Courts Act, 1887, all decrees and orders passed by Civil Courts in the said division and not appealed against before the said day<sup>b</sup> shall be deemed—

- (a) if passed by the Court of a Tahildar or an Assistant Commissioner of the second class—to have been passed by a Munsif ;
- (b) if passed by the Court of an Assistant Commissioner of the first class—to have been passed by a Subordinate Judge ;
- (c) if passed by the Court of a Deputy Commissioner or the Commissioner—to have been passed by a District Judge.

(4) Where any Civil Court ceases by reason of the passing of this Act to have jurisdiction with respect to any case, any proceeding in relation to that case which, if that Court had not ceased to have jurisdiction, might have been had therein, may be had in the Court to which the business of the former Court is transferred by sub-section (2) ; but this sub-section shall not apply to cases for which provision is made in section 623 or section 649 of the Code of Civil Procedure.<sup>4</sup>

(5) In the case of appeals from the decrees and orders mentioned in sub-section (3) the period of limitation shall be calculated in accordance with the provisions of section 15 of the Jhansi Courts Act, 1867*, as though this Act had not been passed.

[a] Sub-section (1) was omitted by the Repealing Act, 1938 (I of 1938), S. 2 and Sch. [b] That is, the 1st April, 1891. [c] "Agra" has been substituted for "North-Western Provinces" by the Bengal, Agra and Assam Civil Courts (Amendment) Act, 1911 (XVI of 1911). [d] See now the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908 (5 of 1908). [e] Act XVIII of 1867 repealed by S. 5 (2) of this Act.

PART II

OUDH

10. Commencement of Part II.

This Part shall come into force on such day<sup>a</sup> as the Chief Commissioner of Oudh may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct.

[a] 1st January, 1891, see the North-Western Provinces and Oudh Gazette, 1890, Pt. I, page 661.

11.<sup>a</sup> Board of Revenue of the North-Western Provinces to be the Board of Revenue of, and Chief Revenue-authority in, Oudh.

(1) On and from the day<sup>b</sup> on which this Part comes into force the Board of Revenue constituted under the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1873,<sup>c</sup> shall be deemed to be also the Board of Revenue for the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, and shall be known and designated as the Board of Revenue of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.<sup>d</sup>

(2) All references made in any enactment as amended by this Part to the Board of Revenue shall be deemed, so far as they relate to Oudh, to refer to the said Board.

(3) In any enactment for the time being in force in the territories administered by the Chief Commissioner of Oudh, in which the expression "Chief Revenue-authority" or "Chief Controlling Revenue-authority" is used, the expression shall, subject to the provisions of any enactment passed after the said day<sup>b</sup>, be construed, so far as the said territories are concerned, as referring to the Board of Revenue of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh.<sup>d</sup>

[a] Section 11 shall stand unmodified—A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] 1st January 1891.

[c] Since repealed by the U. P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (U. P. Act III of 1901), S. 2, but not so as to affect anything done under the Agra Land Revenue Act, 1873 (XIX of 1873); see S. 3. [d] Now the Board of Revenue of Uttar Pradesh.

12. to 53. [NOTE.—These sections amended certain number of Central Acts. These sections have subsequently been repealed by various Central and U. P. Acts.]

54. Pending appeals.

All appeals pending when this Part comes into force<sup>a</sup> from decrees or orders passed under the same Act shall be disposed of as if this Act had not been passed :

Provided that the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, by order, transfer to the District Judge any appeals then pending before the Commissioner or Collector in cases in which the appeal will, under the Oudh Rent Act, 1886,<sup>b</sup> as amended by this Part, lie to the District Judge.

[a] That is, the 1st January 1891. [b] Now repealed by the U. P. Tenancy Act, 1939 (U. P. Act XVII of 1939).

55. to 61. [NOTE. — Sections 55 to 60 amended Act XXII of 1886 and S. 61 amended Act IX of 1881. These sections were subsequently repealed.]

PART III

THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES AND OUDH

62. Commencement of Part III.

This part shall come into force on such day<sup>a</sup> as the Lieutenant-Governor of the North-Western Provinces and Chief Commissioner of Oudh may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct.

[a] 1st January, 1891, see the North-Western Provinces and Oudh Gazette, 1890, Pt. I, p. 661.

63. Place where the Board may sit.

(1) Notwithstanding anything<sup>a</sup> [in section 128 of the Oudh Rent Act, 1886 the Board of Revenue of the North-Western Provinces and Oudh shall, for the disposal of cases under those Acts, sit in such place or places in the North-Western Provinces or Oudh as the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] may, by notification<sup>b</sup> in the Official Gazette, appoint in respect to cases under either of those Acts.

(2) For the disposal of cases other than those referred to in sub-section (1) the said Board may, subject to the orders of the <sup>a</sup>[State Government], sit in any place in the North-Western Provinces or Oudh that the Board thinks fit.

[a] Section 63, so far as it relates to Act XII of 1881, that is the words "in S. 152 of the North-Western Provinces Rent Act, 1881, or," was repealed by the Agra Tenancy Act, 1901 (U. P. Act II of 1901). [b] For notification declaring that the Board of Revenue may sit at the head-quarters of any district of the United Provinces, see U. P. Local Rules and Orders.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Under section 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the Government of India have the power to appoint notaries public, but only for the limited purpose of performing functions under that Act. By virtue of an ancient English Statute, the Master of Faculties in England used to appoint notaries public in India for performing all recognised notarial functions, but it is no longer appropriate that persons in this country who wish to function as notaries should derive their authority from an institution in the United Kingdom.

The object of the present Bill is to empower the Central and State Governments to appoint notaries, not only for the limited purposes of the Negotiable Instruments Act, but generally for all recognised notarial purposes, and to regulate the profession of such notaries.

A Bill on the subject was accordingly introduced in the provisional Parliament on the 19th April, 1951 and referred to a Select Committee on the 18th August, 1951. The report of the Select Committee was presented on the 4th October, 1951, but the Bill could not be proceeded with in the last session of Parliament for want of time and, therefore, lapsed. Apart from one or two minor drafting changes, the present Bill follows closely the Notaries Bill, 1951, as amended by the Select Committee."—Gaz. of Ind., 1952, Pt. II-Sec. 2, p. 166.

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

—Adapted by 3 A. L. O., 1956; Central Acts on State and Concurrent subjects (Maharashtra Adaptation) Order, 1960.

—Repealed in part by Act XXXVI of 1957.

[THE] NOTARIES ACT, 1952

(ACT LIII OF 1952)<sup>a</sup>

[9th August, 1952.]

An Act to regulate the profession of notaries.

BE it enacted by Parliament as follows :

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1952, Pt. II-Sec. 2, p. 166 and for Report of the Select Committee, see ibid, p. 319.

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE NOTARIES ACT, 1952.

(2) It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

(3) It shall come into force on such date<sup>a</sup> as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

[a] The Act came into force on 14-2-1956, see S. R. O. 317 published in Gaz. of Ind., 1956, Extra., Pt. II-Sec. 3, p. 179.

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(a) "India" means the territories to which this Act extends ;

(b) "instrument" includes every document by which any right or liability is, or purports to be, created, transferred, modified, limited, extended, suspended, extinguished or recorded ;

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"In order to make the definition of 'instrument' more comprehensive, the Committee 'modified' and 'suspended' and have amended cl. (2) (b) accordingly."

(c) "legal practitioner" means any advocate or agent of the Supreme Court or any advocate, vakil or attorney of any High Court or any pleader authorized under any law for the time being in force to practise in any court of law.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"In the definition of 'legal practitioner' in cl. 2 (c) the Committee think that agents of included and have also slightly redrafted the clause to make the intention clear."

(d) "notary" means a person appointed as such under this Act :

Provided that for a period of two years from the commencement<sup>a</sup> of this Act it shall include also a person who, before such commencement was appointed a notary public either under the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, or by the Master of Faculties<sup>b</sup> in England, and is, immediately before such commencement, in practice in any part of India;

[a] That is 14-2-1956. [b] The Archbishop of Canterbury (England) has a Court (really an office) called the Court of Faculties and also an officer called the Master of the Faculties, who deals with applications for the admission and removal of notaries public. He has inherent jurisdiction to strike the name of any notary public off the roll of notaries public for misconduct.—"The Dictionary of English Law" by Earl Jowitt, 1959 Edn., page 777.

Note.—Under S. 138 of the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, the Government of India has power to appoint notaries public for the limited purposes of performing functions under that Act. Till the passing of the present Act, notaries public in India, for performing all notarial functions, were appointed by the Master of Faculties in England. This practice is abolished by this Act, but a person who before the commencement was appointed a notary public either under the Negotiable Instruments Act 1881, or by the Master of Faculties in England, shall continue to be a notary for a period of two years from the commencement of this Act.

- (e) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act ;
- (f) "Register" means a Register of Notaries maintained by the Government under section 4;
- (g) *["State Government", in relation to a Union Territory, means, the administrator thereof.]

[a] Substituted for the original clause (g), by S A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956].

3. Power to appoint notaries.

The Central Government, for the whole or any part of India, and any State Government, for the whole or any part of the State, may appoint as notaries any legal practitioners or other persons who possess such qualifications<sup>a</sup> as may be prescribed.

[a] For the qualifications for appointment as a notary, see Rule 3 of the Notaries Rules, 1956.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Committee are of opinion that it is not desirable to discriminate among notaries and to appoint some notaries to perform only a limited class of functions mentioned in cl. 8 [now S. 8]. The words "on such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit" [which occurred in the Bill after the word 'may'] have been omitted accordingly."—S. C. R.

4. Registers.

(1) The Central Government and every State Government shall maintain, in such form as may be prescribed, a Register of the notaries appointed by that Government and entitled to practise as such under this Act.

(2) Every such Register shall include the following particulars about the notary whose name is entered therein, namely :—

- (a) his full name, date of birth, residential and professional address;
- (b) the date on which his name, is entered in the Register;
- (c) his qualifications; and
- (d) any other particulars which may be prescribed.

5. Entry of names in the Register and issue or renewal of certificates of practice.

(1) Every notary who intends to practise as such shall, on payment to the Government appointing him of the prescribed fee, if any, be entitled—

- (a) to have his name entered in the Register maintained by that Government under section 4, and
- (b) to a certificate authorizing him to practise for a period of three years from the date on which the certificate is issued to him.

(2) Every such notary who wishes to continue to practise after the expiry of the period for which his certificate of practice has been issued under this section shall, on application made to the Government appointing him and payment of the prescribed fee, if any, be entitled to have his certificate of practice renewed for three years at a time.

SECTION 5-A

STATE AMENDMENT

MAHARASHTRA

After S. 5, insert the following :—

"5A. Special provision regarding register of notaries for the State of Maharashtra. — (1) Notwithstanding anything contained in this Act, the State Government of Maharashtra may by order published in the Official Gazette amend the Register, maintained before the 1st day of May 1960 by the State Government of Bombay, by deleting therefrom the name of any notary whose professional address as recorded in the Register, falls outside the State of Maharashtra :

Provided that, before passing any order as aforesaid, the State Government of Maharashtra, shall make such inquiry as it deems necessary, and give an opportunity to the person concerned to make his representation, if any.

(2) After the amendment of the Register as aforesaid,—

(a) the Register as so amended shall for all purposes of this Act be deemed to be the Register for the State of Maharashtra; and

(b) all persons whose names remain thereon, shall (for the residue of the period for which they were appointed by the State Government of Bombay), be deemed to have been appointed by the State Government of Maharashtra; and accordingly, the certificates of practice issued to them under section 5 shall be amended so as to restrict their area of practice to the State of Maharashtra.”

—The Central Acts on State and Concurrent Subjects (Maharashtra Adaptation) Order, 1960 [w. r. e. f. 1-5-1960].

6. Annual publication of lists of notaries.

The Central Government and every State Government shall, during the month of January each year, publish in the Official Gazette a list of notaries appointed by that Government and in practice at the beginning of that year together with such details pertaining to them as may be prescribed.

7. Seal of notaries.

Every notary shall have and use, as occasion may arise, a seal of such form and design as may be prescribed.

8. Functions of notaries.

(1) A notary may do all or any of the following acts by virtue of his office, namely :—

- (a) verify, authenticate, certify or attest the execution of any instrument;
- (b) present any promissory note, hundi or bill of exchange for acceptance or payment or demand better security;
- (c) note or protest<sup>a</sup> the dishonour by non-acceptance or non-payment of any promissory note, hundi or bill of exchange or protest for better security or prepare acts of honour under the Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881, or serve notice of such note or protest;
- (d) note and draw up ship's protest, boat's protest or protest relating to demurrage and other commercial matters;
- (e) administer oath to, or take affidavit from, any person;
- (f) prepare bottomry and respondentia bonds, charter parties and other mercantile documents;
- (g) prepare, attest or authenticate any instrument intended to take effect in any country or place outside India in such form and language as may conform to the law of the place where such deed is intended to operate;
- (h) translate, and verify the translation of, any document from one language into another;
- (i) any other act which may be prescribed.

(2) No act specified in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to be a notarial act except when it is done by a notary under his signature and official seal.

[a] For the meaning of 'protest' see Negotiable Instruments Act, 1881 (XXVI of 1881), S. 100.

Note.—“Bottomry” means a contract by which money is borrowed on the security of a ship.

9. Bar of practice without certificate.

(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, no person shall practise as a notary or do any notarial act under the official seal of a notary unless he holds a certificate of practice in force issued to him under section 5 :

Provided that nothing in this sub-section shall apply to the presentation of any promissory note, hundi or bill of exchange for acceptance or payment by the clerk of a notary acting on behalf of such notary.

(2) Nothing contained in sub-section (1) shall, until the expiry of two years from the commencement<sup>a</sup> of this Act, apply to any such person as is referred to in the proviso to clause (d) of section 2.

[a] That is 14-2-1956.

Note.—Violation of these provisions is punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine or with both.

10. Removal of names from Register.

The Government appointing any notary may, by order, remove from the Register maintained by it under section 4 the name of the notary if he—

- (a) makes a request to that effect; or
- (b) has not paid any prescribed fee required to be paid by him; or
- (c) is an undischarged insolvent; or
- (d) has been found, upon inquiry in the prescribed manner, to be guilty of such professional or other misconduct as, in the opinion of the Government, renders him unfit to practise as a notary.

11. Construction of references to notaries public in other laws.

Any reference to a notary public in any other law shall be construed as a reference to a notary entitled to practise under this Act.

12. Penalty for falsely representing to be a notary, etc.

Any person who—

- (a) falsely represents that he is a notary without being appointed as such, or
  - (b) practises as a notary or does any notarial act in contravention of section 9,
- shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to three months, or with fine, or with both.

13. Cognizance of offence.

(1) No Court shall take cognizance of any offence committed by a notary in the exercise or purported exercise of his functions under this Act save upon complaint in writing made by an officer authorized by the Central Government or a State Government by general or special order in this behalf.

(2) No Magistrate other than a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the first class shall try an offence punishable under this Act.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Committee consider that protection should be given to notaries in respect of cognizance of offences. They think that protection should be given only to notaries who commit an offence acting or purporting to act in the discharge of their functions under this Act. This clause has been inserted to achieve this object." — S. C. R.

14. Reciprocal arrangements for recognition of notarial acts done by foreign notaries.

If the Central Government is satisfied that by the law or practice of any country or place outside India, the notarial acts done by notaries within India are recognised for all or any limited purposes in that country or place, the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that the notarial acts lawfully done by notaries within such country or place shall be recognised within India for all purposes or, as the case may be, for such limited purposes as may be specified in the notification.

15. Power to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules<sup>a</sup> to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the qualifications of a notary, the form and manner in which applications for appointment as a notary may be made and the disposal of such applications;

- (b) the certificates, testimonials or proofs as to character, integrity, ability and competence which any person applying for appointment as a notary may be required to furnish;
- (c) the fees payable for appointment as a notary and for the issue and renewal of a certificate of practice, and exemption, whether wholly or in part, from such fees in specified classes of cases;
- (d) the fees payable to a notary for doing any notarial act;
- (e) the form of Registers and the particulars to be entered therein;
- (f) the form and design of the seal of a notary;
- (g) the manner in which inquiries into allegations of professional or other misconduct of notaries may be made;
- (h) the acts which a notary may do in addition to those specified in section 8 and the manner in which a notary may perform his functions;
- (i) any other matter which has to be, or may be, prescribed.

THE SCHEDULE.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Provincial Nursing Councils have been established in all Provinces and maintain registers of qualified nurses, health visitors and midwives. Increasing difficulties have been experienced by the nursing profession and by employing authorities owing to the diversity in the standards of preliminary education of candidates entering training schools of nursing, the varying standards of training and examination for nursing certificates and the lack of inter-provincial reciprocity in the registration of nurses. To remedy these difficulties it is proposed to enact legislation for the purpose of setting up an Indian Nursing Council which will prescribe uniform minimum standards of education and training for nurses, midwives and health visitors, supervise examinations, and maintain a schedule of qualifications recognised for registration throughout India. To avoid delay an Ordinance was passed in August 1947 for this purpose. The Ordinance will be repealed by this Act."

[THE INDIAN] NURSING COUNCIL (AMENDMENT) ACT, 1957*STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The objects with which this Bill seeks to amend the Indian Nursing Council Act, 1947 (XLVIII of 1947), are—

(1) to extend the Act to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir ;

(2) to make certain changes in the constitution of the Council as now set out in section 3 of the Act, with a view to increase the number of members and in particular—

(i) to provide for the election of two members by the heads of institutions having courses of studies leading to a University degree in nursing or a post-certificate course in teaching and administration, instead of one member by the heads of institutions giving training in nursing administration as at present ;

(ii) to provide that Superintendents of Nursing Services in the States which are for this purpose divided into two groups, shall be members ex officio of the Council by rotation. At present four State Directors of Public Health of States to which this Act extends, are made members ex officio by rotation ;

(iii) to increase the number of members to be elected by Parliament from two to three and to allocate two seats to the Lok Sabha and one seat to the Rajya Sabha ;

(3) to facilitate the registration of Indian citizens holding foreign qualifications and the temporary registration of foreign nurses who are engaged as nurses or teachers or administrators in hospitals or institutions in India, even though there are no reciprocal arrangements for the recognition of Indian qualifications with the Nurses Registration Councils in the countries where they were trained or registered ;

(4) to empower the Central Government to amend the Schedule listing recognised qualifications ;

(5) to provide for the maintenance of an All India Register of Nurses.

Opportunity has also been taken to make a few other amendments of a formal or minor character."

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

—Amended by Acts LXXV of 1950 ; XLV of 1957.

—Adapted by A. L. O., 1950 ; 3 A. L. O., 1956 ; Andhra (Adaptation of Laws on Union Subjects) Order, 1954.

[THE INDIAN] NURSING COUNCIL ACT, 1947

(ACT XLVIII OF 1947)*

[31st December, 1947.]

An Act to constitute an Indian Nursing Council.

WHEREAS it is expedient to constitute an Indian Nursing Council in order to establish a uniform standard of training for nurses, midwives and health visitors ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1947, Pt. V, page 456.

This Act has been extended to the States merged in the State of Bombay : see Bom. Act IV of 1950, S. 3 and Schedule II, Pt. I [30-3-1950].

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN NURSING COUNCIL ACT, 1947.

(2) * [It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.]

(3) It shall come into force at once.

[a] Substituted for former sub-section (2), by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 2 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958].

2. Interpretation.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(a) "the Council" means the * [Council] constituted under this Act ;

(b) "prescribed" means prescribed by regulations made under section 16 ;

(c) "A [State] Council" means a Council (by whatever name called) constituted under the law of a * [State] to regulate the registration of nurses, midwives or health visitors in the * [State] ;

(d) “<sup>A</sup>[State] register” means a register of nurses, midwives or health visitors maintained under the law of a <sup>A</sup>[State].

b[* * * * *].

[a] Substituted for “Indian Council of Nursing”, by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 3 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958]. [b] Omitted, ibid.

3. Constitution and composition of the Council.

(1) The Central Government shall as soon as may be constitute a Council consisting of the following members, namely :

- (a) one nurse enrolled in a <sup>A</sup>[State] register elected by each <sup>A</sup>[State] Council ;
- <sup>a</sup>[(b) two members elected from among themselves by the heads of institutions recognised by the Council for the purpose of this clause in which training is given—
  - (i) for obtaining a University degree in nursing ; or
  - (ii) in respect of a post-certificate course in the teaching of nursing and in nursing administration ;]
- (c) one member elected from among themselves by the heads of institutions in which health visitors are trained ;
- (d) one member elected by the Medical Council of India ;
- (e) one member elected by the Central Council of the Indian Medical Association ;
- (f) one member elected by the Council of the Trained Nurses Association of India ;
- <sup>b</sup>[(g) one midwife or auxiliary nurse-midwife enrolled in a State register, elected by each of the State Councils in the four groups of States mentioned below, each group of States being taken in rotation in the following order, namely :—
  - (i) Kerala, Madhya Pradesh and Uttar Pradesh,
  - (ii) Andhra Pradesh, Bihar, Bombay and Rajasthan,
  - (iii) Mysore, Punjab and West Bengal,
  - (iv) Assam, Madras and Orissa ;]
- (h) the Director General of Health Services, ex officio ;
- (i) the Chief Principal Matron, Medical Directorate, General Headquarters, ex officio ;
- (j) the Chief Nursing Superintendent, office of the Director General of Health Services, ex officio ;
- (k) the Director of Maternity and Child Welfare, Indian Red Cross Society, ex officio ;
- <sup>c</sup>[(l) the Chief Administrative Medical Officer (by whatever name called) of each State other than a Union territory, ex officio ;]
- <sup>d</sup>[(m) the Superintendent of Nursing Services (by whatever name called), ex officio, from each of the States in the two groups mentioned below, each group of States being taken in rotation in the following order, namely :—
  - (i) Andhra Pradesh, Assam, Bombay, Madhya Pradesh, Madras, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal ;
  - (ii) Bihar, Kerala, Mysore, Orissa, Punjab and Rajasthan ;]
- (n) four members nominated by the Central Government, of whom at least two shall be nurses, midwives or health visitors enrolled in a <sup>A</sup>[State] register and one shall be an experienced educationalist ;
- <sup>e</sup>[(o) three members elected by Parliament, two by the House of the People from among its members and the other by the Council of States from among its members.]

(2) The President of the Council shall be elected by the members of the Council from among themselves :

Provided that for five years from the first constitution of the Council the President shall be a person nominated from amongst the members of the Council by the Central Government, who shall hold office during the pleasure of the Central Government.

(3) No act done by the Council shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Council.

Note.—For the Statement of Objects and Reasons for the amendments made by Act XLV of 1957, increasing the number of members of the Council, see Gaz. of Ind., 1957, Extra., Pt. II-Sec. 2, page 825.

4. Incorporation of the Council.

The Council constituted under section 3 shall be a body corporate by the name of the Indian Nursing Council, having perpetual succession and a common seal, with power to acquire property both movable and immovable, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

5. Mode of elections.

(1) Elections under sub-section (1) of section 3 by <sup>a</sup>[State] Councils shall be conducted in accordance with rules made in this behalf by the respective <sup>a</sup>[State] Governments, and where any dispute arises regarding any such election it shall be referred to the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] concerned whose decision shall be final.

(2) Other elections under that sub section shall be conducted in the prescribed manner, and where any dispute arises regarding any such election it shall be referred to the Central Government whose decision shall be final.

6. Term of office and casual vacancies.

(1) Subject to the provisions of this section, an elected or nominated member, other than a nominated President, shall hold office for a term of five years from the date of his election or nomination or until his successor has been duly elected or nominated, whichever is longer.

(2) An elected or nominated member may at any time resign his membership by writing under his hand addressed to the President, and the seat of such member shall thereupon become vacant.

(3) An elected or nominated member shall be deemed to have vacated his seat if he is absent without excuse sufficient in the opinion of the Council from three consecutive meetings of the Council where the interval between the first and third of the said meetings exceeds six months.

(4) A casual vacancy in the Council shall be filled by fresh election or nomination, as the case may be, and the person elected or nominated to fill the vacancy shall hold office only for the remainder of the term for which the member whose place he takes was elected or nominated.

(5) Members of the Council shall be eligible for re-election or re-nomination.

<sup>a</sup>[ * * * * * ]

[a] Sub-section (6) was omitted by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 5 [w.e.f. 1-12-1958].

7. Meetings.

(1) The Council shall hold its first meeting at such time and place as may be appointed by the President, and thereafter the Council shall meet at such time and place as may be appointed by the Council.

(2) Until otherwise prescribed, ten members of the Council shall form a quorum, and all the acts of the Council shall be decided by a majority of the members present and voting.

8. Officers, committees and servants of the Council.

(1) The Secretary of the Council (who may also, if it is deemed expedient by the Council, act as Treasurer) shall, for three years from the first constitution of the Council, be a person appointed by the Central Government and shall hold office during the pleasure of the Central Government.

(2) The Council shall—

- (a) elect from among its members a Vice-President;
- (b) constitute from among its members an Executive Committee and such other committees for general or special purposes as the Council deems necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act;
- (c) subject to the provisions of sub-section (1), appoint a Secretary, who may also, if deemed expedient, act as Treasurer;
- (d) appoint or nominate such other officers and servants as the Council deems necessary to carry out the purposes of this Act;
- (e) require and take from the Secretary, or from any other officer or servant, such security for the due performance of his duties as the Council deems necessary;
- (f) with the previous sanction of the Central Government, fix the fees and allowances to be paid to the President, Vice-President and members and the pay and allowances of officers and servants of the Council.

9. The Executive Committee.

(1) The Executive Committee shall consist of nine members, of whom seven shall be elected by the Council from among its members.

(2) The President and vice-President of the Council shall be members ex officio of the Executive Committee, and shall be President and vice-President, respectively, of that Committee.

(3) In addition to the powers and duties conferred and imposed upon it by this Act, the Executive Committee shall exercise and discharge such powers and duties as the Council may confer or impose upon it by any regulations which may be made in this behalf.

10. Recognition of qualifications.

(1) For the purposes of this Act, the qualifications included in <sup>a</sup>[Part I of] the Schedule shall be recognised qualifications, and the qualifications included in Part II of the Schedule shall be recognised higher qualifications.

(2) Any authority within the <sup>a</sup>[States] <sup>b</sup>[° ° °] which, being recognised by the <sup>a</sup>[State] Government <sup>a</sup>[in consultation with the State Council, if any,] for the purpose of granting any qualification, grants a qualification in general nursing, midwifery, <sup>a</sup>[auxiliary nursing-midwifery] health visiting or public health nursing, not included in the Schedule may apply to the Council to have such qualification recognised, and the Council may declare that such qualification, or such qualification only when granted after a specified date, shall be a recognised qualification for the purposes of this Act.

(3) The Council may enter into negotiations with any authority <sup>c</sup>[in any <sup>a</sup>territory of India to which this Act does not extend] or foreign country <sup>b</sup>[° ° °] which by the law of <sup>a</sup>[such territory] or country is entrusted with the maintenance of a register of nurses, midwives or health visitors, for the settling of a scheme of reciprocity for the recognition of qualifications, and in pursuance of any such scheme the Council may declare that a qualification granted by any authority in any <sup>a</sup>[such territory] or country, or such qualification only when granted after a specified date, shall be a recognised qualification for the purposes of this Act :

Provided that no declaration shall be made under this sub-section in respect of any qualification unless by the law and practice <sup>1</sup>of the foreign country in which the qualification is granted persons domiciled or originating <sup>2</sup>[in India] <sup>3</sup>[• • •] and holding qualifications recognised under this Act are permitted to enter and practise the nursing profession <sup>4</sup>[in that country] :

Provided further that—

(i) any reciprocal arrangements subsisting at the date of the commencement of this Act between a <sup>5</sup>[State] Council and any authority outside India for the recognition of qualifications shall, unless the Council decides otherwise, continue in force, and

<sup>1</sup>(ii) any qualification granted by an authority in a territory of India to which this Act did not extend at the date of its commencement, and recognised on the said date by the State Council of a State to which this Act then extended, shall continue to be a recognised qualification for the purpose of registration in that State.]

(4) The provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3) and of sections 14 and 15 shall apply mutatis mutandis to the declaration by the Council of a qualification granted in respect of post-certificate nursing training as a recognised higher qualification.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 6 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958]. [b] The words "of India" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [c] Substituted for "in any State or country outside the States," by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1950 (LXXV of 1950), S. 2 [28-12-1950]. [d] Substituted for "Part B State", by 3 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. [e] Substituted for "such State", ibid. [f] Substituted for "of the State or country", by Act (LXXV of 1950), S. 2 [28-12-1950]. [g] Substituted for "in any State", ibid. [h] Substituted for "in that State or country" by Act (LXXV of 1950), S. 2 [28-12-1950]. [i] Substituted for the original clause by Act (XLV of 1957), S. 6 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958].

11. Effect of recognition.

(a) any recognised qualification shall be a sufficient qualification for enrolment in any <sup>2</sup>[State] register;

(b) no person shall, after the date of the commencement of this Act, be entitled to be enrolled in any <sup>3</sup>[State] register as a nurse, midwife, <sup>4</sup>[auxiliary nurse-midwife] health visitor, or public health nurse unless he or she holds a recognised qualification :

Provided that any person already enrolled in any <sup>5</sup>[State] register before the said date may continue to be so enrolled notwithstanding that he or she may not hold a recognised qualification :

Provided further that any person who was immediately before the said date entitled to be enrolled in any <sup>6</sup>[State] register but was not so enrolled shall, on application made in this behalf before the expiry of two years from the said date be entitled to be enrolled in that register;

(c) any person holding a recognised higher qualification shall be entitled to have the qualification entered as a supplementary qualification in any <sup>7</sup>[State] register in which he or she is enrolled, and after the said date no person shall be entitled to have entered as a supplementary qualification in any <sup>8</sup>[State] register any qualification which is not a recognised higher qualification.

(a) a citizen of India holding a qualification which entitles him or her to be registered with any Council of Nursing or Midwifery (by whatever name called) in any foreign country, may, with the approval of the Council, be enrolled in any State register; and where approval has been accorded by the Council in respect of such qualification in one case, the approval of the Council for enrolment in a State register in the case of any other citizen of India holding the same qualification shall not be necessary;

- (b) a person not being a citizen of India who is employed as a nurse, midwife, auxiliary nurse-midwife, teacher or administrator in any hospital or institution situated in any State for purposes of teaching, research or charitable work may, with the approval of the President of the Council, be enrolled temporarily in the State register for such period as may be specified in this behalf in the order issued by the said President :

Provided that practice by such person shall be limited to the hospital or institution to which he or she is attached.]

[a] Section 11 was re-numbered as sub-section (1) thereof by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 7 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958]. [b] Inserted, ibid.

12. Power to require information as to courses of study and training and examinations.

Every authority in any ^[State] ^[* * *] which grants a recognised qualification or a recognised higher qualification shall furnish such information as the Council may, from time to time, require as to the courses of study and training and examinations to be undergone in order to obtain such qualification, as to the ages at which such courses of study and examinations are required to be undergone and such qualifications conferred, and generally as to the requisites for obtaining such qualification.

[a] The words "of India" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

13. Inspections.

(1) The Executive Committee may appoint such number of inspectors <sup>a</sup>[whether from among members of the Council or otherwise] as it deems necessary to inspect any institution recognised as a training institution, and to attend examinations held for the purpose of granting any recognised qualification or recognised higher qualification.

(2) Inspectors appointed under this section shall report to the Executive Committee on the suitability of the institution for the purposes of training and on the adequacy of the training therein, or as the case may be, on the sufficiency of the examinations.

(3) The Executive Committee shall forward a copy of such report to the authority or institution concerned, and shall also forward copies, with the remarks, if any, of the authority or institution concerned thereon, to the Central Government and to the ^[State] Government and ^[State] Council of the ^[State] in which the authority or institution is situated.

[a] Inserted by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 8 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958].

14. Withdrawal of recognition.

(1) When, upon report by the Executive Committee, it appears to the Council—

- (a) that the courses of study and training and the examinations to be gone through in order to obtain a recognised qualification from any authority in any ^[State] ^[* * *], or the conditions for admission to such courses or the standards of proficiency required from the candidates at such examinations are not in conformity with the regulations made under this Act or fall short of the standards required thereby, or

- (b) that an institution recognised by a ^[State] Council for the training of nurses, midwives <sup>b</sup>[auxiliary nurse-midwives] or health visitors does not satisfy the requirements of the Council,—

the Council may send to the Government of the <sup>A</sup>[State] in which the authority or institution, as the case may be, is situated a statement to such effect, and the <sup>A</sup>[State] Government shall forward it, along with such remarks as it may think fit to the authority or institution concerned and, in a case referred to in clause (b) to the <sup>A</sup>[State] Council also, with an intimation of the period within which the authority or institution may submit its explanation to the <sup>A</sup>[State] Government.

(2) On the receipt of the explanation or, where no explanation is submitted within the period fixed, then on the expiry of the period, the <sup>A</sup>[State] Government shall make its recommendations to the Council.

(3) The Council, after such further inquiry, if any, as it may think fit to make, and in a case referred to in clause (b) of sub-section (1), after considering any remarks which the <sup>A</sup>[State] Council may have addressed to it, may declare,—

(a) in a case referred to in clause (a) of that sub-section, that the qualifications granted by the authority concerned shall be recognised qualifications only when granted before a specified date, or

(b) in a case referred to in the said clause (b), that with effect from a date specified in the declaration any person holding a recognised qualification whose period of training and study preparatory to the grant to him of the qualification was passed at the institution concerned shall be entitled to be registered only in the <sup>A</sup>[State] in which the institution is situated.

(4) The Council may declare that any recognised qualification granted outside the <sup>A</sup>[States] <sup>A</sup>[ ] shall be a recognised qualification only if granted before a specified date.

[a] The words "of India" were omitted by A. I. O., 1950. [b] Inserted by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 9 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958].

15. Mode of declarations.

<sup>A</sup>[(1)] All declarations under section 10 or section 14 shall be made by resolution passed at a meeting of the Council called for the purpose, and shall forthwith be published in the Official Gazette.

<sup>b</sup>[(2) The Central Government shall, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, amend the Schedule so as to bring it into accord with any declaration under section 10 or section 14.]

[a] Section 15 was re-numbered as sub-s. (1) thereof by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 10 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958]. [b] Inserted, ibid.

<sup>A</sup>[15A. Indian Nurses Register.

(1) The Council shall cause to be maintained in the prescribed manner a register of nurses, midwives, auxiliary nurse-midwives and health visitors to be known as the Indian Nurses Register, which shall contain the names of all persons who are for the time being enrolled on any State register.

(2) It shall be the duty of the Secretary of the Council to keep the Indian Nurses Register in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and from time to time, to revise the register and publish it in the Gazette of India and in such other manner as may be prescribed.

(3) Such register shall be deemed to be a public document within the meaning of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, and may be proved by a copy published in the Gazette of India.]

[a] Sections 15-A and 15-B were inserted by the Indian Nursing Council (Amendment) Act, 1957 (XLV of 1957), S. 11 [w. e. f. 1-12-1958].

<sup>A</sup>[15B. Supply of copies of State registers.

Each State Council shall supply to the Council twenty printed copies of the State register as soon as may be after the 1st day of April of each year and inform the Council without delay of all additions to, and other amendments in, the State register made from time to time.]

[a] See Foot-note (a) under S. 15-A.

16. Power to make regulations.

(1) The Council may make regulations not inconsistent with this Act generally to carry out the provisions of this Act, and in particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such regulations may provide for—

- (a) the management of the property of the Council and the maintenance and audit of its accounts ;
- (b) the manner in which elections referred to in sub-section (2) of section 5 and in clause (a) of sub-section (2) of section 8 shall be conducted ;
- (c) the summoning and holding of the meetings of the Council, the times and places at which such meetings shall be held, the conduct of business thereat and the number of members necessary to constitute a quorum ;
- (d) prescribing the functions of the Executive Committee, the summoning and holding of meetings thereof, the times and places at which such meetings shall be held, and the number of members necessary to constitute a quorum ;
- (e) prescribing the powers and duties of the President and the Vice-President ;
- *[(f) prescribing the tenure of office and the powers and duties of the Secretary and other officers and servants of the Council ;
- (ff) prescribing the powers and duties of inspectors ;]
- (g) prescribing the standard curricula for the training of nurses, midwives and health visitors, for training courses for teachers of nurses, midwives and health visitors, and for training in nursing administration ;
- (h) prescribing the conditions for admission to courses of training as aforesaid ;
- (i) prescribing the standards of examination and other requirements to be satisfied to secure for qualifications recognition under this Act ;
- (j) any other matter which is to be or may be prescribed under this Act.

(2) To enable the Council to be first constituted, the President may, with the previous sanction of the Central Government, make regulations for the conduct of the elections referred to in sub-section (2) of section 5, and any regulations so made may be altered or rescinded by the Council in exercise of its powers under this section.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The object of this Bill is two-fold—to consolidate the law relating to judicial oaths and affirmations, and to repeal the laws requiring declarations to be made by Judges, Magistrates, &c., before entering on their official duties. The Bill, if it become law, will replace twenty-seven enactments.

The Bill does not apply to proceedings before Courts-Martial, or to oaths prescribed by laws which the Governor-General in Council has not the power to repeal.

Incidentally, the Bill will remove the doubt which has been raised as to the power of the Courts in certain parts of India to administer oaths and affirmations." — Gazette of India, 1873, Part V, page 17.

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

SECTION 5 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and applicability.
2. Oath to child witness.
3. Omission to administer oath.
4. Oath to accused.
5. Criminal proceeding.

1. Scope and applicability.—[1] “Oath or affirmation” in S. 8 and following sections that, though he understands the duty of speaking the truth, he does not understand the nature of an oath or affirmation, the foregoing provisions of this section and the provisions of section 6 shall not apply to such witness, but in any such case the absence of an oath or affirmation shall not render inadmissible any evidence given by such witness nor affect the obligation of the witness to state the truth.]

Nothing herein contained shall render it lawful to administer, in a criminal proceeding, an oath or affirmation to the accused person, <sup>b</sup>[unless he is examined as a witness for the defence] or necessary to administer to the official interpreter of any Court, after he has entered on the execution of the duties of his office, an oath or affirmation that he will faithfully discharge those duties.

is different from that in S. 5, 1927 P C 165 (171) [AIR V 14] : 54 Ind App 301 : 2 Luck 316.

[2] Having regard to the language of the Oaths Act a Court has no option when once it has elected to take the statements of a person as evidence, but to administer to such person either an oath or affirmation as the case may require. (189) 11 All 183 (185) (DB).

[3] In every case where witness is competent within meaning of S. 118, Evidence Act, Ss. 5 and 6 ought to be applied. Oath should not be administered only where it clearly appears that the person does not understand its moral obligation. 1921 Pat 109 (113) [AIR V 8] : 6 Pat L Jour 147 : 22 Cri L Jour 417 (DB).

[4] Under S. 5 of the Oaths Act, oath shall be administered to those witnesses who may be lawfully examined, which means those who can understand the sanctity of oath. A witness may be a competent witness, and yet he may not be in a position to understand the sanctity of an oath. In such a case, S. 13 of the Act comes into play. A witness of this type can be examined without an oath and his testimony is as good as that of witness to whom oath has been administered. 1952 Bhopal 25 (26) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1366.

[5] A defendant or even the plaintiff is not bound to go into the witness box, but if either of them chooses to do so he cannot, after he has taken the oath, to make a truthful statement, state anything which is false. Indeed the very sanctity of the oath requires that a person put on oath must state the truth. 1959 S C 843 (846) [AIR V 46 C 115] : ILR (1959) Punj 1709 : 1959 Cri L Jour 1124.

[6] There is no violation of S. 5 if a person proceeded against in an enquiry under Public Servants (Inquiries) Act, 1850, is examined as a witness on oath in the enquiry. 1956 Pat 384 (396) [(S) AIR V 43 C 97] (DB).

2. Oath to child witness. — [1] It is desirable that Judges and Magistrates should always record their opinion that the child understands the duty of speaking the truth and state why they think that, otherwise the credibility of the witness may be seriously affected, so much so, that in some cases it may be necessary to reject the evidence altogether. 1952 S C 54 (56) [A I R V 39] : 1952 S C R 377 : 1952 Cri L Jour 547.

[2] As according to S. 13 of the Oaths Act, even an omission to take the oath does not affect the admissibility of the evidence, it follows that an irregularity arising out of the proviso to S. 5, namely, failure to certify that the child understood the duty to speak the truth, cannot affect the admissibility of evidence. 1952 S C 54 (55) [A I R V 39] : 1952 S C R 377 : 1952 Cri L Jour 547.

[3] The question whether the omission to take an oath referred to in S. 13 applies to a case where the Court deliberately refrains from administering the oath to a witness or only to cases where the omission is due to some accident or negligence can no longer arise now in the case of a child under 12 years of age, because the insertion of the proviso to S. 5 by Act 39 of 1939 settles the law that such an omission can be deliberate. 1946 P C 3 (5) [A I R V 53 C 2] + 1938 Mad 490 (491) [AIR V 25] : 39 Cri L Jour 585 (DB) + (193) 16 Mad 105 (116) (DB). (Per Parker J.) + 1914 Mad 293 (294) [A I R V 1] : 38 Mad 550 : 15 Cri L Jour 161 (DB) + 1942 Oudh 193 (196) [A I R V 29] : 17 Luck 376 : 43 Cri L Jour 243 (DB).

[5] Child of tender years should be examined as a witness only after the Court has satisfied itself that the child is intellectually sufficiently developed to enable it to understand what it has seen and afterwards inform the Court thereof. If Court is satisfied that child has such intelligence, it should comply with the provisions of S. 6 of the Indian Oaths Act. 1930 Sind 129 (130) [A I R V 17] : 31 Cri L Jour 114.

3. Omission to administer oath.—[1] An omission to administer oath, even to an adult, goes only to the credibility of the witness and not his competency. 1952 S C 54 (55) [A I R V 39] : 1952 S C R 377 : 1952 Cri L Jour 547.

[2] The omission to administer to an interpreter under S. 5 (b) of the Oaths Act does not by reason of S. 13 render the evidence of a witness whose evidence was interpreted by him inadmissible against the latter on his subsequent trial for giving false evidence. (1909) 10 Cri L Jour 150 (155) : 36 Cal 808 (DB).

6. Affirmation by Natives or by persons objecting to oaths.

Where the witness, interpreter or juror is a Hindu or Muhammadan, or has an objection to making an oath, he shall, instead of making an oath, make an affirmation.

In every other case the witness, interpreter or juror shall make an oath.

IV. —FORMS OF OATHS AND AFFIRMATIONS*7. Forms of oaths and affirmations.

All oaths and affirmations made under section 5 shall be administered according to such forms as the High Court may from time to time prescribe.

And until any such forms are prescribed by the High Court, such oaths and affirmations shall be administered according to the forms now in use.

[a] The Explanation to S. 7 was omitted by the Lower Courts Act, 1900 (VI of 1900), S. 48 and Sch. II.

8. Power of Court to tender certain oaths.

If any party to, or witness in, any judicial proceeding offers to give evidence on oath or solemn affirmation in any form common amongst, or held binding

4. Oath to accused. — [1] Section 5 applies to accused under trial. 1927 Cal 307 (308) [AIR V 14] : 54 Cal 52 : 28 Cri L Jour 481 (DB).

[2] A contemner is not an accused person within the meaning of S. 5. 1954 All 523 (537) [A I R V 41 C 214] : 11 L R (1954) 1 All 594 : 1954 Cri L Jour 1141 (FB).

[3] A person becomes an accused person immediately after he has been arrested by the police for an offence which forms the subject-matter of investigation by them. 1947 Lah 92 (96) [A I R V 34 C 20] : 47 Cri L Jour 772 (DB).

[4] A co-accused cannot be examined by an accused as his defence witness as no oath can be administered to him. (147) 1947 Rang L R 214 (218, 219).

[5] An accused who is convicted on his own plea of guilty is a competent witness against his co-accused. The reason is that on his conviction he ceases to be an accused and the bar under S. 5 of the Oaths Act against administration of oath to him cannot apply. 1952 Him Pra 5 (6) [A I R V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 114.

[6] Recording confession under S. 164, Criminal P. C., on solemn affirmation is illegal. 1947 Lah 92 (96) [A I R V 34 C 20] : 47 Cri L Jour 772 (DB).

5. Criminal proceeding. — [1] "Criminal proceeding", denotes proceeding before criminal Court as distinguished from civil Court — It does not mean only a proceeding relating to a case pending in a criminal Court. 1947 Lah 92 (96) [A I R V 34 C 20] : 47 Cri L Jour 772 (DB).

[2] An application under S. 526, Criminal P. C., by accused is a criminal proceeding within meaning of S. 5. (105) 1 Weir 822 (822).

[3] An accused who is charged with another accused but whose case is separated before the trial commences so that he can be examined as a witness in the case of the other accused ceases to remain the accused in that case and, therefore, there is no impediment to oath being administered to him. 1957 Mad 727 (734) [AIR V 44 C 232] : 11 L R (1957) Mad 715 : 1957 Cri L Jour 1287.

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] Section 6 expressly exempts witnesses, interpreters and jurors who are Hindus or Muhammadans from making an oath. Hence where a Muhammadan witness is proffered an oath by repetition of Kalma and he declines to take the oath he commits no offence under S. 178, I. P. C. (102) 1902 Pun Re (Cr) No. 20, p. 51 (52).

[2] The offence of giving false evidence may be committed although the person giving evidence has been neither sworn nor affirmed. (192) 19 Cal 355 (358) (DB).

[3] If the Court thinks that the child, though of tender years, is capable of informing the Court of what it has seen or heard, it is best that the Court should comply with the provisions of S. 6 in the case of a child just as in the case of any other witness. 1915 All 437 (438) [A I R V 2] : 38 All 49 : 16 Cri L Jour 829 (DB).

[4] Where the evidence of witnesses is recorded merely on solemn affirmation and no reason is given why oath is not administered, the statements of witnesses are not admissible in evidence. 1952 Hyd 25 (28) [AIR V 39].

SECTION 8 — SYNOPSIS

1. Oath under this section.
2. Agreement to abide by oath.
3. Oath affecting third person.
4. Power of commissioner to tender oath.
5. Form of oath.
6. Criminal proceedings.

by, persons of the race or persuasion to which he belongs, and not repugnant to justice or decency, and not purporting to affect any third person, the Court may, if it thinks fit, notwithstanding anything hereinbefore contained, tender such oath or affirmation to him.

Section 8 (contd.)

1. Oath under this section.— [1] Oath under S. 8 is different from that under S. 5—Neither invocation nor oath or affirmation is necessary—No preliminary oath under S. 5 is necessary—Oath under S. 8 is not dependent on any discretion of Court. 1927 P C 165 (170) [A I R V 14] : 54 Ind App 301 : 2 Luck 316.

[2] Use of alternative expression 'oath' and 'solemn affirmation' as special ritual indicates that the ritual is to be at least as solemn for the deponent and attended by same consequences to him as is an ordinary oath or affirmation for and to an ordinary witness. The words were selected primarily to put it beyond doubt that temporal consequences of corrupt falsehood would follow as inevitably for one class of witness as for the other. They are descriptive of nature of result of the ritual; they are in no way concerned with its form. 1927 P C 165 (171) [A I R V 14] : 54 Ind App 301 : 2 Luck 316.

[3] Object of oath is to substitute super-human retribution for falsehood, for earthly punishment. Actual words or ceremonies used for purpose is immaterial. 1924 Oudh 442 (445, 446, 447) [A I R V 11] (DB).

[4] Calling on other party to admit or deny before particular deity and acceptance by other of offer and actual statements before deity by party accepting offer is tantamount to taking oath. Real object of oath is super-human retribution. Purpose of giving oath is not to call attention of God to party but to call attention of party to God. 1924 Oudh 442 (446, 447) [A I R V 11] (DB).

[5] For oath to be administered by Court it is necessary that it should not be against decency and that it should not affect rights of third party. An offer to abide by oath of plaintiff's witness, if taken on talak is not a respectable form of oath. It has the effect of divorcing the wife who is a third party. Hence refusal of party to abide by offer does not affect the case at all. 1940 Pesh 26 (27) [A I R V 27] * ('10) 1910 Pun L R No. 114, p. 321 (321) : 1910 Pun Re No. 66 (DB).

[6] Where a defendant desires that the plaintiff should be required to appear in Court to state whether or not he is prepared to make a certain statement on solemn affirmation, the order of the Court dismissing the suit on the ground that the plaintiff has disobeyed the order requiring him to attend in person is without jurisdiction, or at all events the Court acts with material irregularity. 1950 Pat 180 (181) [A I R V 37 C 39].

[7] Where a Court administers the oath to a party in spite of the other party's protest and in the result dismisses the suit on that basis, the plaintiff cannot be said to be stopped by the mere fact that a wrong step was taken by the Court. 1957 Nag 47 (52) [A I R V 44 C 14] : ILR (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

2. Agreement to abide by oath.—

[1] When an offer made by a party to abide by the statement of the other party made on special oath proposed by him under S. 8 is accepted by the other party upon an inquiry made by the Court under S. 9 a binding agreement comes into existence from which the party making the offer has no right in law to resile. 1948 All 125 (126) [A I R V 35 C 56] : ILR (1947) All 54 (DB) * 1952 All 882 (886) [A I R V 39] : ILR (1953) 1 All 494 (FB) * 1952 Pat 208 (209) [A I R V 39] : 31 Pat 91 (DB) * ('46) 1946 A M L J 32 (33).

[2] Before the Commissioner appointed by the Court to examine accounts, the respondent (plaintiff) offered special oath on him to the appellant (defendant) who accepted the offer. The Commissioner thereon submitted the papers to the Court as he was not competent to administer the oath. When the matter came before the Court, the respondent did not offer as provided by S. 9 to be bound by the special oath of the defendant. The respondent was prepared to offer the special oath of lifting gangajali to the appellant to which the latter did not agree.—Hec, that there was neither an offer nor was it agreed to as contemplated by the Act. There was no compliance of S. 9 or S. 10. In this view, the offer and acceptance before the Commissioner (who was not a Court for purposes of the Oaths Act) did not form a binding contract between the parties which the Court was bound to enforce. 1957 Nag 47 (57) [A I R V 44 C 14] : ILR (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

[3] In order to apply Ss. 8 to 11 it is necessary that a party must agree to abide by the special oath of any witness or the opposite party. 1952 All 678 (679) [A I R V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[4] In a suit, where there is no compliance with the provisions of the Oaths Act the contention that there was at any rate an agreement apart from the Oaths Act and the suit should have been decided in accordance with such an agreement cannot prevail. Case law, discussed. 1957 Nag 47 (52) [A I R V 44 C 14] : ILR (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

[5] It is a rule of prudence that unless both parties agree to be bound by the special oath of a witness or a party, the special oath is not to be administered. 1952 All 678 (679) [A I R V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[6] It would prima facie appear that a party to the judicial proceeding in Ss. 8 and 9, Oaths Act, would include an advocate of the party also. An advocate empowered as such by a party to enter into a compromise, etc., can make the officer to abide by the special oath under instructions from his client and in the absence of any allegation to the contrary, he must be deemed to have been so instructed. ('59) 1959 Andh L T 32 (34, 35).

[See however 1953 Mad 708 (709) [A I R V 40 C 271.]]

[7] Where one of the plaintiffs is not conducting the suit under any power of attorney he has no right to bind the other plaintiffs by oath contrary to the provisions of S. 8. 1953 Mad 708 (709) [AIR V 40 C 271.]

3. Oath affecting third person.—[1] For a person to be challenged or to make an offer to take an oath on the head of his son is to give evidence on oath not contemplated by S. 8 of the Oaths Act, which specifically requires that the oath should be one not purporting to affect any third person. 1953 Mad 708 (708) [AIR V 40 C 271] + 1952 All 678 (680) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[2] Oath purporting to affect third party ought not to be administered—But considering that such an oath was a form of oath especially binding upon Hindus, statement made upon it was accepted. ('96) 18 All 46 (48) (DB).

[3] Though swearing by son is not opposed to decency among Chamars a party cannot be made to swear by his son because such an oath affects a third person. The idea behind taking an oath of one's son is that in the event of the oath being false some evil may befall the son. In such a case the son is a third party who is thus introduced in a dispute pending between two other parties and hence the oath being against the provisions of S. 8 cannot be administered by a Court. 1952 All 678 (680) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

4. Power of commissioner to tender oath.—[1] Local commissioner for recording evidence in a case cannot administer oath to one of parties under Ss. 8, 9 and 10 because under the Act he is not a Court. ('09) 1909 Pun Re No. 89, p. 336 (337) (DB) + 1957 Nag 47 (51) [AIR V 44 C 14] : 1 L R (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

5. Form of oath.—[1] The oath or solemn affirmation referred to in S. 8 may be in any form common amongst or held binding by persons of the race or persuasion to which "the deponent" belongs and not repugnant to "justice or decency." 1954 Nag 56 (57) [AIR V 41 C 22].

[2] There can be no outside interference in determining the form of the special oath or affirmation contemplated by S. 8, and if it is either common amongst or is held binding by persons of the race or persuasion of the deponent and is not repugnant to justice or decency, and also does not affect a third person, it may be administered to him. The word 'Iman' has a special significance amongst the trading communities where the credit of the deponent is likely to suffer if he makes a false oath or affirmation. The form of oath or affirmation prescribed by the High Court under S. 7 of the Oaths Act does not contain this word which is an invocation by the deponent to all that is good and sanctified in him to witness the ceremony. It is in effect an invitation to what he holds dear and solemn to help him if he is truthful and to punish him if he is false. This kind of oath is not repugnant to justice or decency and does not affect any third persons. 1957 Nag 47 (50) [AIR V 44 C 14] : 1 L R (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

6. Criminal proceedings.—[1] Sections 8 to 11 do not apply to criminal proceedings. ('89) 13 Bom 359 (390, 391) (DB). ("Party to judicial proceeding" does not include either complainant or accused.) + 1947 Sind 66 (68) : [AIR V 34 C 24] : 48 Cri L Jour 700; 1 L R (1948) Kar 437 (DB) + 1921 Bom 425 (426) [AIR V 8] : 45 Bom 96; 21 Cri L Jour 723 (DB). (Proceedings before the Police Patil under Ss. 14 and 15 of the Bombay Village Police Act (VIII of 1867) are essentially criminal proceedings.) + ('12) 13 Cri L Jour 23 (24) : 5 Sind L R 129.

[2] Since the consent of the State cannot be taken and since generally the State does not agree to abide by the oath of any witness, Ss. 8 to 11 do not apply to criminal proceedings. 1952 All 678 (679) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[3] Proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. C., are proceedings between private individuals. State has no interest in it and is not a party to these proceedings. Nor is the State the prosecutor. In the circumstances there is no reason why sections 8 to 11 should not apply to proceedings under section 145, Cr. P. C. Special Oath can therefore be administered in these proceedings provided both parties agree to abide by the statement of a particular witness or party. 1952 All 678 (679, 680) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[4] Where in proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. Code, one party gives a Special Oath to the other, and, as a result of that Special Oath, the proceedings are decided on the basis of the oath taken by the party to whom the Special Oath is offered, it is clear that it is the adjudication upon the oath which is res judicata between the parties and not the evidence. 1951 Pat 370 (371) [AIR V 38 C 91] : 25 Pat 441 (DB).

[5] The term 'judicial proceeding' as used in section 8, Oaths Act, means a proceeding in which the court may record evidence and has to make judicial pronouncement on the right of the parties. Applying this test one would come to the conclusion that proceedings in a criminal case are also judicial proceedings. 1952 All 678 (679) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

SECTION 9 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Offer by "any party."
3. Withdrawal of offer.

1. Scope.—[1] Application for oath under the Act must be unconditional. To say that if the Court does not hold evidence to be sufficient, defendant should swear by Ganges does made by the other party to, or by any witness in, such proceeding, the Court may, if it thinks fit, ask such party or witness, or cause him to be asked, whether or not he will make the oath or affirmation :

Provided that no party or witness shall be compelled to attend personally in Court solely for the purpose of answering such question.

Section 9 — Note 1 (contd.)

not amount to offer within S. 9. 1932 All 404 (405) [AIR V 19] (DB).

[2] Under S. 8 initiative should come from parties and it is only under such conditions that special oath can be administered under S. 9. Where suggestion came from Court after the close of evidence and arguments, the decision was set aside. 1933 Cal 116 (116) [AIR V 20].

[3] Proceedings under S. 145, Cr. P. C., being proceedings between private individuals, Special Oath can be administered in such proceedings under the provisions of this Act provided both parties agree to abide by the statement of a particular witness or party. 1952 All 678 (678, 679) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[4] Person making statement on oath on being challenged to do so is, though he is no party to suit, a witness though not summoned and has as much binding force as that of regular witness. (11) 1911 Pun L R No. 245, p. 910 (912).

[5] Sections 9 and 11 of the Act do not require that all parties in a suit should agree to be bound by oath. The evidence given on oath is binding as against those parties who have offered to be bound. 1929 All 759 (759) [AIR V 16] (DB).

[6] Where a party offers to be bound by a Special Oath to be taken by the other party and the other party accepts the offer, there is a completed agreement between the parties even though no oath is taken. Taking of the oath is the performance of the agreement and does not affect its making. 1952 All 882 (885) [AIR V 39] : ILR (1953) 1 All 494 (FB).

[7] An agreement to an oath contained a provision that if owing to the challenger's failure to pay the cost of taking the oath, the same was not taken, it should be treated as equivalent to the oath having been taken — Held, that the provision introduced a method of decision which the law did not authorise. 1919 Mad 615 (616) [AIR V 6] (DB).

[8] If the only agreement made by the parties is that a particular decree will be passed if the party took the oath and another decree will be passed if the party did not take the oath, and the party though accepting to take the oath at one time does not take the oath, the agreement cannot be deemed to be an adjustment of the suit on the basis of which a decree can legally be passed. 1959 Punj 252 (253, 254) [AIR V 46 C 80] (DB) * 1953 Mad 396 (398) [AIR V 40 C 143] * 1946 Lah 78 (79) [AIR V 33 C 21] * (08) 31 Mad 1 (3) (DB).

[9] Contract to be bound by opponent's oath is valid contract provided it is oath which Court is permitted to administer under S. 8, Oaths Act. 1923 All 443 (444) [AIR V 10].

[10] Referee, by whose statements parties have agreed to abide, can be re-examined if all points necessary to be established are not put to him. 1926 All 266 (266) [AIR V 13] : 48 All 276 (DB).

[11] Statement by party in pursuance of agreement made under Oaths Act, is ordinarily binding only as against parties making the offer; but where rights and liabilities of certain parties are inseparable and some of them agree to be bound, agreement is binding on all of them. 1931 Oudh 350 (351) [AIR V 18].

Hindu joint family.

[12] Hindu father suing or sued in representative character can bind his major and minor sons by special oath. Assent of major sons to representative character may be implied. Consequently, decree passed in such suit against father on special oath, will be binding as res judicata under S. 11, Civil P. C., on his sons. 1938 Bom 465 (466, 467) [AIR V 25] * 1946 Pat 272 (276) [AIR V 33 C 99].

Agreement not coming under Act.

[13] There is nothing to prevent parties to suit from agreeing, apart from Oaths Act, to abide by statement of third person. Parties referring disputes to nominee and agreeing to abide by his statement in Court on enquiry — Agreement is not to refer dispute to arbitration — Agreement and statement in Court by referee on oath after enquiry amount to adjustment — Parties cannot challenge it. 1937 All 701 (704) [AIR V 24] (DB).

[14] Offer and acceptance of special oath in proceedings before the Commissioner who is not the Court for the purposes of Oath Act does not form a binding contract between the parties which the Court is bound to enforce. 1957 Nag 47 (52) [AIR V 44 C 14] : ILR (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

[15] Parties can agree, apart from Oaths Act, to be bound down by statement of witness including one who is party to suit — Statement of such referee is admission of both parties and is conclusive against both and can operate as estoppel. 1933 All 861 (880, 881) [AIR V 20] : 56 All 39 (SB).

[See also 1959 All 382 (384) [AIR V 46 C 91] (DB).]

2. Offer by "any party." — [1] The offer under S. 9 by a party to be bound by the special oath to be made by the other party must be before the Court. 1957 Nag 47 (51) [AIR V 44 C 14] : 1 L R (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

[2] Offer that case should be decided in accordance with statement of witness, amounts to offer to be bound by his deposition. 1929 All 759 (759) [AIR V 16] (DB).

10. Administration of oath if accepted.

If such party or witness agrees to make such oath or affirmation, the Court may proceed to administer it, or, if it is of such a nature that it may be more conveniently made out of Court, the Court may issue a commission to any person to administer it, and authorize him to take the evidence of the person to be sworn or affirmed and return it to the Court.

Section 9 — Note 3 (contd.)

Oath against decency and affecting third party.

[6] Resiling from offer to abide by oath, even after its acceptance, does not affect the case, if the oath is repugnant to decency and affects a third party, such as an oath on talak. 1940 Pesh 26 (27) [AIR V 27] * (10) 1910 Pun L R No. 114, p. 321 (322) : 1910 Pun Re No. 66 (DB).

Cases outside Act.

[7] Party is entitled to resile from offer on good grounds—Court can use its discretion — But oath or solemn affirmation must be in essence and nature different from oath and affirmation contemplated by S. 5 — Parties agreeing to constitute person as referee who is to make a simple statement on which case is to be decided—Statement not being on oath, parties can resile from original position, but before the statement is given without assigning satisfactory reasons. 1933 All 184 (185, 186) [AIR V 20].

[8] Parties agreeing that pleader be appointed referee and case decided in accordance with statement which he makes in Court without any oath being administered — Parties further agreeing to accept it and desiring not to produce evidence — Agreement is not adjustment — Oaths Act does not apply — Any party may resile from such agreement before statement is made by pleader and action taken on it. 1931 All 557 (558, 559) [AIR V 18] : 53 All 673 (DB).

Procedure.

[9] Even if party resiles from taking oaths in matters to be proved by oaths, it is not equivalent of its proof. No decree can be passed under circumstances against resiling party. Court then can proceed with suit in ordinary manner drawing inferences from defaulter's conduct and can impose appropriate costs. ('12) 1912 Mad W N 361 (361) (DB).

[10] Where the defendant desires that the plaintiff should be required to appear in Court to state whether or not he is prepared to make a certain statement on solemn affirmation and if he is prepared, to make the statement, the order of the Court dismissing the suit on the ground that the plaintiff has disobeyed its order requiring him to attend in person is without jurisdiction. 1950 Pat 180 (181) [AIR V 37 C 39].

[11] Party retracting— Court should either administer oath and decide on that or proceed according to law with appropriate inference from party's refusal. 1927 Lah 78 (78) [AIR V 14].

[12] Agreement to be bound by oath of other party is agreement to treat evidence given under oath as evidence in case and to dispense with other evidence. If after agreement, the party is prevented from taking oath, the party so prevented is entitled to decree. Where it is the plaintiff who agrees to be bound by oath, and where it is he who prevents the oath being taken, his suit should be dismissed as one for want of evidence. ('07) 17 Mad L Jour 99 (100) (DB).

[13] Where in a suit on a promissory note, the plaintiff agreed to abide by the defendant's oath, but the agreement became abortive and the Court permitted the plaintiff to withdraw his offer, it was held that it was competent to the Court to decide the suit on the evidence already on record prior to the agreement. 1917 Mad 722 (722) [AIR V 4].

Section 10 — Note 1

[1] Court has discretion to administer oath or not administer it even after offer has been accepted by the opposite party and when the trial Court has duly exercised that discretion, appellate Court should not interfere with it. ('36) 38 Pun L R 1171 (1172).

[See also 1952 All 882 (884) [AIR V 39], ILR (1953) 1 All 494 (FB).]

[2] Where a challenger who offers to be bound by an oath on condition precedent that he should perform certain act in the proceedings for administration of oath, fails or refuses to do the act as agreed, he must be deemed to have waived that condition and cannot insist upon it. The duty of administering the oath under the Act devolves on the Court and it cannot be said to be acting in excess of its powers if it orders the Commissioner to be appointed by it, to perform certain terms which the challenger refuses to execute in spite of his agreement. 1938 Mad 385 (387) [AIR V 25] (DB).

[3] Agreement to take oath must specify form of oath and place where it is to be administered. ('11) 21 Mad L Jour 618 (620).

[4] The plaintiff agreed to accept oath of defendant as conclusive of matter in issue. Agreement did not stipulate time of oath, which were left to be fixed by Court. On day appointed by Court parties appeared but parties agreed to abide by decision of panchayatdars but subsequently, they did not abide by decision — Held that on facts agreement to abide by decision of mediators did not cancel or supersede oath agreement. 1936 Mad 406 (407) [AIR V 23].

[5] Necessary procedure in administration of special oath and in preliminary stages not strictly followed—Oath is not binding. ('10) 7 Mad L Tim 286 (287) (DB).

[6] Agreement to abide by special oath of plaintiff if taken before six persons—Only five present — Defendant can take objection — No inference against defendant should be made. 1933 Lah 452 (453) [AIR V 20].

[7] Oath should be taken in presence of parties to be bound by it. ('12) 3 Low Bur 60 (61).

[8] Unless specially authorised, Vakil cannot agree to decision, on oath of opposite party in particular form. ('10) 20 Mad L Jour 386 (DB).

[9] Section 10 applies only after the party or the witness agrees to make the special oath or affirmation, when the Court is empowered to proceed to administer it. ('58) 1958-1 Andh W R 451 (453).

See also S. 9, Note 3.

[10] Sections 8, 9 and 10 do not entitle a party to withdraw from the offer of being bound by special oath after once the said offer has been accepted by the other side. 1952 Pat 208 (210) [AIR V 39] : 31 Pat 91* 1946 Pat 272 (277) [AIR V 33 C 99].

[11] Sections 10 and 11 of the Oaths Act are applicable to proceedings under Ss. 144 and 145 of the Criminal Procedure Code but obviously they are not applicable to criminal proceedings which are between the Crown or Government and the accused unless these may be criminal proceedings between the complainant and the accused in certain circumstances. 1951 Pat 370 (371) [AIR V 38 C 91] : 28 Pat 441 (DB).

[12] Where the plaintiff makes no valid grounds for resiling from the agreement to take oath his refusal to take oath is arbitrary. 1959 Mys 21 (23) [AIR V 46 C 6] : ILR (1958) Mys 562.

[13] Even when the procedure of Ss. 9, 10 and 11 has been gone through, the Court is still required to pass a judgment. 1959 All 93 (95) [AIR V 46 C 31] (DB).

[14] Sections 8 to 11 do not apply to criminal proceedings. 1952 All 678 (679) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1183.

[15] A Commissioner appointed merely to record evidence and submit a report cannot act for the purposes of Ss. 8, 9 and 10 of the Oaths Act. 1957 Nag 47 (51) [AIR V 44 C 14] : ILR (1956) Nag 685 (DB).

Section 11 — Note 1

[1] The primary meaning of S. 11 is that the evidence given in any proceeding in which a challenge has been made and an oath has been taken shall be in that proceeding conclusive proof of the matter stated. It cannot automatically be evidence at all except in the proceedings in which it is actually being received. 1957 Him-Pra 35 (36) [AIR V 44 C 13] * 1940 Mad 627 (627, 628) [AIR V 27]. (Evidence given in a proceeding under O. 21, R. 100, Civil P. C., cannot be a conclusive proof in any suit under O. 21, R. 103).

[2] Under S. 11 it is only if oath is taken that it is conclusive proof of matters stated—Declining afterwards or failure to take it is a circumstance to be taken in deciding case—Party should be given opportunity to adduce evidence. 1925 Mad 1264 (1265) [AIR V 12].

[3] Where parties to suit merely agree to abide by statement of witness and the agreement does not refer to an oath in any special form, the Act does not apply and the party is not bound by the mere statement made by witness. 1933 All 184 (186) [AIR V 20].

[4] Person making statement on oath on being challenged to do so, is, though he is no party to suit, a witness though not so summoned and his oath has as much binding force as that of regular witness. ('11) 1911 Pun L R No. 245, p. 910 (912).

[5] Where a suit was dismissed by the trial Court and the appeal therefrom by the defendant was also dismissed on the basis of a special oath offered by the defendant and accepted by the respondent, Held, that the defendant could not but be bound by the oath of the respondent and whatever he stated was conclusive proof of the matter in controversy between them. 1959 Raj 127 (129) [AIR V 46 C 49] : ILR (1959) 9 Raj 632.

[6] Unless oath is taken in pursuance of agreement, case cannot be disposed of on basis of default either on behalf of challenger or by the acceptor. Provisions of S. 11, can only be attracted after oath had been taken in accordance with agreement arrived at between parties as mentioned in Ss. 9 and 10 of the Act. 1938 Mad 385 (386) [AIR V 25] (DB).

[7] Where the defendant offers to be bound by the statement on oath made by the plaintiff on a certain question and agrees that if the statement is made the suit may be decreed against him, and the statement is duly made by the plaintiff, there is no issue of law or fact to go into and the plaintiff is entitled to a decree as prayed for by him. ('51) 1951 Raj L W 52 (54) (DB) * 1924 All 126 (127) [AIR V 11] : 45 All 724 * 1919 Lah 138 (138) [AIR V 6] : 1919 Pun Re No. 118.

[8] Where the party agreeing to abide by oath of his opponent imposes fresh conditions at time of taking oath, the party taking oath has right to enforce agreement originally entered and if he takes oath according to original agreement evidence will be conclusive against other party. ('12) 12 Mad L Tim 613 (615) (DB).

[9] Once the defendant agrees to take special oath, the plaintiff cannot renege from the agreement and the statement made by the defendant is binding on the plaintiff, even if it was made after plaintiff's retraction. 1931 Cal 549 (550) [AIR V 18] (DB).

[10] For the application of S. 11 it is necessary that the statement of the referee should amount to 'evidence' of fact in controversy, between the parties. Where the statement is not an 'evidence' with reference to matters in dispute between the parties it cannot be accepted as conclusive evidence under the section. 1927 All 676 (677) [AIR V 14] (DB).

[11] Facts proved by special oath are conclusively proved and any further evidence that may be taken should be limited to matters not proved by oath. ('99) 22 Mad 234 (237) (DB).

Section 11 — Note 1 (contd.).

[12] Effect of oath taken under the Act is merely to furnish conclusive evidence on matter in issue and decision on oath is res judicata. (113) 36 Mad 287 (291) (DB).

[13] Decision by oath is conclusive only as against person who offered to be bound. 1923 Nag 180 (180) [AIR V 10] * 1929 All 759 (759) [AIR V 16] (DB) * 1924 Bom 511 (512) [AIR V 11] : 25 Cri L Jour 1287 (DB). (It is not conclusive against others though present at the time.) * 1925 Oudh 104 (104) [AIR V 12] : 27 Oudh Cas 217.

[14] Unless the party offers to be bound by a special oath, the statement cannot be conclusive evidence for the purpose of S. 11. 1928 Bom 285 (286) [AIR V 15] : 52 Bom 295 (DB).

[15] Unless the oath is taken as agreed to by the parties, there cannot be said to be any evidence on the basis of which the Court can proceed to dispose of the case one way or the other so that it is necessary that the agreement to take the oath must be put into operation before the Court can have any material before it to decide the case on the basis of the agreement. 1953 Mad 396 (398) [AIR V 40 C 143]. (If a party agreeing to take oath in the temple is unable to do so on account of the temple being closed he is entitled to a fresh opportunity.)

[4] Though refusal to take special oath is conduct which Court is entitled to take into consideration, yet it would not outweigh positive evidence which has been adduced. 1933 Nag 52 (53) [AIR V 20].

[5] When both the parties agree to treat the evidence given under the oath as the evidence in the case and dispense with the other evidence and the plaintiff resiles from the agreement and refuses to take the oath, then there is no other evidence on record and the opposite side is entitled to a decree on the offer embodied in the agreement itself. 1955 N U C (Mad) 3163 [AIR V 42].

[6] Section 12 of the Oaths Act deals with procedure to be adopted in case of refusal to take oath. That section contemplates only the recording of the said fact. The law does not authorise the Court to pass a decree merely because a party has resiled from his original agreement to abide by the result of the oath. Such a party has the liberty to demand an adjudication of the question involved in the suit on merits. 1957 Trav Co 315 (316) [AIR V 44 C 129].

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The object of this Bill is to empower the Government to remove obstructions to navigation which may exist in fairways situate in seas adjacent to British India, and to prohibit the creation of such obstructions for the future. The advantages of having such a law have been impressed upon the Government by certain recent cases. In one of these a question has been raised as to the power of the Government to remove the fishing stakes which are annually placed during the fine season in the sea off the port of Bombay, and which, having recently been advanced into the approach to the harbour, are now a source of serious danger to vessels frequenting that port. In another case which related to the deposit of ballast by shipmasters, at the mouth of the Rangoon river, a practice which, if permitted, might cause serious impediment and danger to the navigation of the approaches to the port of Rangoon, the need for some further preventive powers than those which Government now possesses, has been made apparent.

There can be no doubt that it is extremely desirable that the powers of Government officers, and the procedure to be followed by them, in relation to matters of this nature, should be clearly defined, and as the Indian Statute-Book, as it now stands, does not deal adequately with the subject, the present Bill has been prepared. A precedent for such legislation will be found in the Imperial Statute 40 & 41 Vic., c. 16 (the Removal of Wrecks Act, 1877). The Bill, while following generally the lines of the statute, goes beyond affirmation—Even otherwise S. 14 of the Act requires witness to state the truth—When therefore witness makes statement known to him to be false, he commits offence under Penal Code, S. 191. ('39) 1939 Nag L Jour 396 (396).

[2] A petitioner who files an application for transfer under S. 24, Civil P. C., is bound by express provisions of law to state the truth under S. 14. 1955 NUC (Cal) 2908 [AIR V 42].

[3] Whenever a man makes a statement in Court on oath he is bound to state the truth and if he does not, he makes himself liable under the provisions of S. 193, I. P. C. It is no defence to say that he was not bound to enter the witness box. Indeed the very sanctity of the oath requires that a person put on oath must speak the truth. 1959 S C 843 (846) [AIR V 46 C 115] : 1 L R (1959) Punj 1709 : 1959 Cri L Jour 1124 * (55) 1955 All L Jour 155 (156).

it in two material respects. The power to remove obstructions conferred by it is not confined, as in the statute, to the case of obstructions caused by wrecks, but extends also to fishing stakes, ballast and any other thing which may form an obstruction or danger to navigation. The other point in which the Bill goes beyond the statute is that, in addition to giving power to remove existing obstructions, it enables the Government to prevent the wilful creation of obstructions in the future. With this object the Governor-General in Council is empowered (section 7) to make rules to regulate or prohibit in any fairway the placing of fishing stakes, the casting of ballast, or the doing of any other act which will, in his opinion, cause or be likely to cause danger or obstruction to navigation."

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

—Adapted by A. O. 1937; A. L. O. 1950; 2 A. L. O. 1956.

—Repealed in part by Act X of 1914.

[THE] OBSTRUCTIONS IN FAIRWAYS ACT, 1881

(ACT XVI OF 1881)<sup>a</sup>

[15th March, 1881.]

An Act to empower the Government to remove or destroy obstructions in fairways, and to prevent the creation of such obstructions.

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to empower the Government to remove or destroy obstructions to navigation in fairways leading to ports in <sup>a</sup>[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part A States and Part C States] and to prevent the creation of such obstructions : It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] Substituted for "a Part A State or a Part C State" by 2 A. L. O., 1956. Immediately before the 1st November 1956 the following were Part A States : Andhra, Assam, Bihar, Bombay, Madhya Pradesh, Madras, Orissa, Punjab, Uttar Pradesh and West Bengal. And the following were Part C States : Ajmer, Bhopal, Coorg, Delhi, Himachal Pradesh, Kutch, Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh.

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE OBSTRUCTIONS IN FAIRWAYS ACT, 1881.
<sup>a</sup>[* * *]

But nothing herein contained shall apply to vessels <sup>b</sup>[belonging to, or hired by a contract made on behalf of, the <sup>A</sup>[Government]].

[a] The words "and it shall come into force at once" were omitted by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1914 (X of 1914), S. 3 and Sch. II. [b] Substituted for "belonging to Her Majesty or hired by Her Majesty or by the Secretary of State for India in Council", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

2. Central Government empowered to remove or destroy obstruction in fairway.

Whenever, in any fairway leading to any port in <sup>a</sup>[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part A States and Part C States], any vessel is sunk, stranded or abandoned, or any fishing-stake, timber or other thing is placed or left, <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government] may, if in its opinion such thing is, or is likely to become, an obstruction or danger to navigation,

(a) cause such thing or any part thereof to be removed ; or

(b) if such thing is of such a description or so situate that, <sup>c</sup>[in the opinion of the Central Government], it is not worth removing, cause the same or any part thereof to be destroyed.

[a] Substituted for "a Part A State and a Part C State", by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. [b] Substituted for "the Local Government of the part of British India in which such port is situate", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [c] Substituted for "in the opinion of the Local Government", ibid.

3. Central Government entitled to expenses incurred in removing obstruction.

Whenever anything is removed under section 2, <sup>a</sup>[the Central Government] shall be entitled to receive a reasonable sum, having regard to all the circumstances of the case, for the expenses incurred in respect of such removal.

Dispute concerning such expenses.

Any dispute arising concerning the amount due under this section, in respect of anything so removed, shall be decided by the District Magistrate or Presidency Magistrate having jurisdiction at the place where such thing is, upon application to him for that purpose by either of the disputing parties; and such decision shall be final.

[a] Substituted for "the Government", by A.O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

4. Notice of removal to be given by Central Government.

The <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] shall, whenever anything is removed under section 2, publish in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette] a notification containing a description of such thing, and the time at which and the place from which the same was so removed.

[a] Substituted for "Local Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

5. Things removed may, in certain cases, be sold.

If after publishing such notification, such thing is unclaimed, or if the person claiming the same fails to pay the amount due for the said expenses and any customs-duties or other charges properly incurred by the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] in respect thereof, the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may sell such thing by public auction, if it is of a perishable nature, forthwith, and if it is not of a perishable nature, at any time not less than six months after publishing such notification as aforesaid.

[a] Substituted for "Local Government", by A.O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

6. Proceeds how applied.

On realizing the proceeds of such sale, the amount due for expenses and charges as aforesaid, together with the expenses of the sale, shall be deducted therefrom, and the surplus (if any) shall be paid to the owner of the thing sold, or, if no such person appear and claim such surplus, shall be held in deposit for payment, without interest, to any person thereafter establishing his right to the same :

Provided that he makes the claim within one year from the date of the sale.

7. "Vessel" to include tackle, cargo, etc.

For the purposes of this Act, the term "vessel" shall be deemed to include also every article or thing or collection of things being or forming part of the tackle, equipment, cargo, stores or ballast of a vessel; and any proceeds arising from the sale of a vessel, and of the cargo thereof, or of any other property recovered therefrom, shall be regarded as a common fund.

8. Power to make rules to regulate and prohibit the placing of obstructions in fairways.

The <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] may, from time to time, by notification in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette], make rules to regulate or prohibit, in any fairway leading to a port in <sup>a</sup>[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part A States and Part C States] the placing of fishing stakes,

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] The accused was ordered by the Superintendent of the coast guard to remove certain fishing stakes and on his failing to comply with the order was convicted under S. 283, I. P. C. and sentenced to pay a fine of Rs. 20. Out of the fine Rs. 15 were ordered to be paid to the complainant coast guard to cover the expenses of removing the stakes under S. 545 of Cr. P. C. — Held that the case not having been dealt with under The Obstructions In Fairways Act, the order of compensation was illegal. (188) 1886 Rat 241 (242).

the casting or throwing of ballast, rubbish, or any other thing likely to give rise to a bank or shoal, or the doing of any other act which will, in <sup>b</sup>[its] opinion, cause, or be likely to cause, obstruction or danger to navigation.

[a] Substituted for "a Part A State or a Part C State" by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. For the names of Part A and Part C States see foot-note 'a' under Preamble. [b] Substituted for "his", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

9. Penalty for breach of such rules.

Whoever is guilty of any act or omission in contravention of the rules made under section 8, may be tried for such offence in any district or presidency-town in which he is found, and shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to six months, or with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees, or with both.

10. Compensation payable in certain cases for damage caused under this Act.

Whenever the maintenance or creation of an obstruction in any fairway has become lawful by long usage or otherwise, and such obstruction is removed or destroyed under section 2, or its creation is regulated or prohibited under section 8, any person having a right to maintain or create such obstruction shall be entitled to receive from the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] reasonable compensation for any damage caused to him by such removal, destruction, regulation or prohibition.

Every dispute arising concerning the right to such compensation, or the amount thereof, shall be determined according to the law for the time being in force relating to like disputes in the case of land needed for public purposes<sup>b</sup> and not otherwise ; and for the purposes of such law the fairway from or in which such obstruction was removed or destroyed, or in which its creation was regulated or prohibited, shall be deemed to be a part of the presidency-town or district in which the port to which such fairway leads is situate.

[a] Substituted for "Secretary of State for India in Council", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

[b] See the Land Acquisition Act, 1894 (I of 1894).

11. Certain action of the Government previous to passing of this Act to be deemed to have been taken hereunder.

Whenever any obstruction in a fairway leading to a port in <sup>a</sup>[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956, were comprised in Part A States and Part C States] has been removed or destroyed, or whenever the creation of any such obstruction has been regulated or prohibited, by an order of the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] or a <sup>a</sup>[State Government], previous to the passing of this Act, such removal, destruction, regulation or prohibition shall be deemed to have been effected under this Act.

[a] Substituted for "a Part A State or a Part C State", by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. For the names of Part A and Part C States see foot-note 'a' under Preamble.

12. Saving of other powers possessed by Central Government.

Nothing herein contained shall be deemed to prevent the exercise by <sup>a</sup>[the Central Government] of any other powers possessed by it in this behalf.

[a] Substituted for "the Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

*[13. Application to fairways in inland waterways.

All references in this Act to the Central Government shall, in relation to fairways in inland waterways, be construed as references to <sup>b</sup>[State Government] ].

[a] Inserted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] Substituted for "the Government of a Part A State or a Part C State", by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956].

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The position in regard to the protection of official secrets in India is briefly as follows. The provisions of the law which are now in force are: (a) An Act of the Legislature in India — the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889, as amended by the Indian Official Secrets (Amendment) Act, 1904; and (b) A Statute of Parliament, — the Official Secrets Act, 1911, (1 & 2 George V, C. 28). The provisions of the British Statute have, as a result of experience gained during the War, been considerably modified by the enactment of the Official Secrets Act, 1920 (10 & 11 Geo. V, C. 75), but the latter Statute does not apply to British India.

It has for some time past been recognised that it is unsatisfactory to have two separate laws in force simultaneously in India. Further, although the British Act of 1911 is in force in India, difficulties arise in applying it because of the use in it of English common law terms and so on. For these reasons it is desirable that there should be a single consolidated Act applicable to Indian conditions, and the desirability of this has been emphasised by the passing of the British Act of 1920 which has considerably amended the Act of 1911, but is not applicable to India.

The provisions of the British Act of 1911 are more effective, particularly in the matter of the protection of military secrets than the Indian enactments, and they have been further strengthened by the enactment of the amending Statute of 1920, which is based on experience gained during the War. It is considered desirable, therefore, that the law in India should be assimilated to that in force in the United Kingdom, and the object of this Bill is to consolidate the provisions of the British Acts of 1911 and 1920 and to enact them in a form suitable for India.

As this Bill is a purely consolidating measure, it is not necessary to deal with the clauses in detail, but it may be mentioned that it is proposed to omit provisions on the lines of sections 4 and 5 of the Act of 1920, as it is considered that the matters dealt with in these sections are sufficiently covered by the provisions of the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and the Indian Post Office Act, 1898.

If this Bill is passed it will not be necessary to retain the Indian Acts, and provision is therefore made in clause 15 for their repeal."

[THE INDIAN] OFFICIAL SECRETS ACT, 1923

(ACT XIX OF 1923)<sup>a</sup>

[2nd April, 1923.]

*An Act to consolidate and amend the law <sup>b</sup>[* * *] relating to official secrets.*

•[* * * * *]

WHEREAS it is expedient that the law relating to official secrets <sup>b</sup>[• • •] should be consolidated and amended;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1922, Pt. V, p. 210; and for Report of Select Committee see, ibid, 1923 Pt. V, p. 61. [b] The words "in the Provinces" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [c] First two paragraphs of the preamble were omitted, ibid.

1. Short title, extent and application.

(1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN OFFICIAL SECRETS ACT, 1923.

<sup>a</sup>[(2) It extends to the whole of India and applies also to servants of the Government and to citizens of India outside India.]

[a] Substituted for the former sub-section (2) by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951].

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) any reference to a place belonging to Government includes a place occupied by any department of the Government, whether the place is or is not actually vested in Government;

•[* * * * *]

[a] Clause (1a) which was inserted by A. O. 1937, was omitted by A. C. A. O., 1948 [23-3-1948].

(2) expressions referring to communicating or receiving include any communicating or receiving, whether in whole or in part, and whether the sketch, plan, model, article, note, document, or information itself or the substance, effect or description thereof only be communicated or received; expressions referring to obtaining or retaining any sketch, plan, model, article, note or document, include the copying or causing to be copied of the whole or any part of any sketch, plan, model, article, note, or document; and expressions referring to the communication of any sketch, plan, model, article, note or document include the transfer or transmission of the sketch, plan, model, article, note or document;

(3) "document" includes part of a document;

(4) "model" includes design, pattern and specimen;

(5) "munitions of war" includes the whole or any part of any ship, submarine, aircraft, tank or similar engine, arms and ammunitions, torpedo, or mine intended or adopted for use in war, and any other article, material, or device, whether actual or proposed, intended for such use;

(6) "Office under <sup>A</sup>[Government]" includes any office or employment in or under any department of the Government or of the Government of the United Kingdom or of any British possession;

(7) "photograph" includes an undeveloped film or plate;

(8) "prohibited place" means—

(a) any work of defence, arsenal, naval, military or air force establishment or station, mine, minefield, camp, ship or aircraft belonging to, or occupied by or on behalf of, <sup>A</sup>[Government], any military telegraph or telephone so belonging or occupied, any wireless or signal station or office so belonging or occupied and any factory, dockyard or other place so belonging or occupied and used for the purpose of building, repairing, making or storing any munitions of war, or any sketches, plans, models or documents relating thereto, or for the purpose of getting any metals, oil or minerals of use in time of war;

(b) any place not belonging to <sup>a</sup>[Government] where any munitions of war or any sketches, models, plans or documents relating thereto, are being made, repaired, gotten or stored under contract with, or with any person on behalf of, <sup>a</sup>[Government], or otherwise on behalf of <sup>a</sup>[Government];

(c) any place belonging to or used for the purpose of <sup>a</sup>[Government] which is for the time being declared by the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government], by notification in the Official Gazette, to be a prohibited place for the purposes of this Act on the ground that information with respect thereto, or damage thereto, would be useful to an enemy, and to which a copy of the notification in respect thereof has been affixed in English and in the vernacular of the locality;

(d) any railway, road, way or channel, or other means of communication by land or water (including any works or structures being part thereof or connected therewith) or any place used for gas, water or electricity works or other works for purposes of a public character, or any place where any munitions of war or any sketches, models, plans, or documents relating thereto, are being made, repaired, or stored otherwise than on behalf of <sup>a</sup>[Government], which is for the time being declared by the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government], by notification in the Official Gazette, to be a prohibited place for the purposes of this Act on the ground that information with respect thereto, or the destruction or obstruction thereof, or interference therewith, would be useful to an enemy, and to which a copy of the notification in respect thereof has been affixed in English and in the vernacular of the locality;

[a] Substituted for "Governor-General in Council" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 2 (8)—The definition of 'prohibited place' has been restricted with a view to applying it, in respect of telegraphs and telephones, only to military telegraphs and telephones and in respect of factories and dockyards only to those factories and dockyards which besides belonging to or being occupied by or on behalf of Government are also used for any of the purposes mentioned in the last part of the definition.

In the interests of the public we have provided that a place notified under (c) or (d) as a prohibited place until a copy of the notification in English and in the vernacular of the locality is affixed thereto."

(9) "sketch" includes any photograph or other mode of representing any place or thing; and

<sup>a</sup>[* * * * *]

[a] Sub-section (9A) which was inserted by A. L. O., 1950 was omitted by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951].

(10) "Superintendent of Police" includes any police-officer of a like or superior rank, and any person upon whom the powers of a Superintendent of Police are for the purposes of this Act conferred by the <sup>a</sup>[Central Government] <sup>b</sup>[* * *].

[a] Substituted for "Governor General in Council" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] The words "or by any Local Government" were omitted by A. O. 1937 [1-4-1937].

3. Penalties for spying.

(1) If any person for any purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State—

- (a) approaches, inspects, passes over or is in the vicinity of, or enters, any prohibited place; or
- (b) makes any sketch, plan, model, or note which is calculated to be or might be or is intended to be, directly or indirectly, useful to an enemy; or
- (c) obtains, collects, records or publishes or communicates to any other person any secret official code or pass word, or any sketch, plan, model, article or note or other document or information which is calculated to be or might be or is intended to be, directly or indirectly, useful to an enemy;

he shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend, where the offence is committed in relation to any work of defence, arsenal, naval, military or air force establishment or station, mine, minefield, factory, dockyard, camp, ship or aircraft or otherwise in relation to the naval, military or air force affairs of <sup>A</sup>[Government] or in relation to any secret official code, to fourteen years and in other cases to three years.

(2) On a prosecution for an offence punishable under this section with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years, it shall not be necessary to show that the accused person was guilty of any particular act tending to show a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, and, notwithstanding that no such act is proved against him, he may be convicted if, from the circumstances of the case or his conduct or his known character as proved, it appears that his purpose was a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State; and if any sketch, plan, model, article, note, document, or information relating to or used in any prohibited place, or relating to anything in such a place, or any secret official code or pass word is made, obtained, collected, recorded, published or communicated by any person other than a person acting under lawful authority, and from the circumstances of the case or his conduct or his known character as proved it appears that his purpose was a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, such sketch, plan, model, article, note, document or information shall be presumed to have been made, obtained, collected, recorded, published or communicated for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (1) — "Offences under this section cover a very wide field and many of them even in their most aggravated form would not merit the maximum penalty provided by the clause. We have therefore introduced two separate maxima, retaining the maximum of fourteen years for the graver offences specified by us and introducing a maximum of three years for other offences under the section. The line of distinction, which we have laid down, is approximately the line between what we may call civil secrets on the one hand and secrets of defence on the other. For the same reason we have removed the minimum penalty of three years altogether."

Sub-section (2) — "We have limited the application of the provisions of the first part of this sub-clause, which facilitates proof of a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, to prosecutions for the graver class of offences for which we have retained the maximum penalty of fourteen years under sub-clause (1); and in respect of those offences for which a special presumption was introduced in the second part of this sub-clause, we have limited the operation of that presumption by providing that it shall not be raised by the mere fact of the accused having improperly made, obtained, etc., a document of the nature covered by the sub-clause."

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] The disclosure of Government Departmental examination papers constitutes an offence under Official Secrets Act. ('02) 1 Low Bur Rul 133 (134, 135).

[2] Offences under S. 3 in certain cases are punishable with fourteen years' imprisonment and in other cases with three years' imprisonment and S. 12 of this Act makes the offences under S. 3 which are punishable with imprisonment of 14 years non-bailable. Therefore, it should be proved that the offence of which the accused is suspected is bailable or non-bailable. 1958 Tripura 34 (35) [AIR V 45 C 14] : 1958 Cri L Jour 1248.

4. Communications with foreign agents to be evidence of commission of certain offences.

(1) In any proceedings against a person for an offence under section 3, the fact that he has been in communication with, or attempted to communicate with, a foreign agent, whether within or without * [India], shall be relevant for the purpose of proving that he has, for a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, obtained or attempted to obtain information which is calculated to be or might be, or is intended to be, directly or indirectly, useful to an enemy.

(2) For the purpose of this section, but without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provisions,—

(a) a person may be presumed to have been in communication with a foreign agent if—

(i) he has, either within or without * [India], visited the address of a foreign agent or consorted or associated with a foreign agent, or

(ii) either within or without * [India], the name or address of, or any other information regarding, a foreign agent has been found in his possession, or has been obtained by him from any other person;

(b) the expression “foreign agent” includes any person who is or has been or in respect of whom it appears that there are reasonable grounds for suspecting him of being or having been employed by a foreign power, either directly or indirectly, for the purpose of committing an act, either within or without * [India], prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, or who has or is reasonably suspected of having, either within or without * [India], committed, or attempted to commit, such an act in the interests of a foreign power;

(c) any address, whether within or without * [India] in respect, of which it appears that there are reasonable grounds for suspecting it of being an address used for the receipt of communications intended for a foreign agent, or any address at which a foreign agent resides, or to which he resorts for the purpose of giving or receiving communications, or at which he carries on any business, may be presumed to be the address of a foreign agent, and communications addressed to such an address to be communications with a foreign agent.

[a] Substituted for “the States”, by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951].

5. Wrongful communication, etc., of information.

<sup>a</sup>(1) If any person having in his possession or control any secret official code or pass word or any sketch, plan, model, article, note, document or information

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] Section 5 (1) of the Official Secrets Act is very comprehensive in its nature. It applies not merely to Government servants, but also to all persons who have obtained the secret in contravention of the Act. Reading S. 5 (4) of the Act and S. 4 (1) (f) of the Press (Emergency Powers) Act together, an invitation to the public, contained in an article or advertisement in a newspaper, to send official secrets to the editor of a newspaper for payment comes within S. 4 (f) of the Press Act as well as S. 5 (1) of the Official Secrets Act. It is really an invitation encouraging and inciting any person to commit an offence. 1946 Bom 322 (324) [AIR V 33 C 68] : I L R (1946)

Bom 454 : 47 Cri L J 744 (SB) + ('60) I L R (1960) Ker 1085 (1089).

[2] The expression ‘official secret’ is ordinarily understood in the sense in which it is used in the Official Secrets Act and has reference to secrets of one or the other department of the Government or the State. 1946 Bom 322 (324) [AIR V 33 C 68] : I L R (1946) Bom 454 : 47 Cri L Jour 744 (SB).

[3] Budget papers are official secrets which cannot be published until the budget is actually presented in the Legislature and the contravention of the same would amount to an offence under the Act. ('60) I L R (1960) Ker 1085 (1091) (DB).

which relates to or is used in a prohibited place or relates to anything in such a place, or which has been made or obtained in contravention of this Act, or which has been entrusted in confidence to him by any person holding office under <sup>A</sup>[Government], or which he has obtained or to which he has had access owing to his position as a person who holds or has held office under <sup>A</sup>[Government], or as a person who holds or has held a contract made on behalf of <sup>A</sup>[Government], or as a person who is or has been employed under a person who holds or has held such an office or contract —

- (a) wilfully communicates the code or pass word, sketch, plan, model, article, note, document or information to any person other than a person to whom he is authorised to communicate it, or a Court of Justice or a person to whom it is, in the interests of the State, his duty to communicate it ; or
- (b) uses the information in his possession for the benefit of any foreign power or in any other manner prejudicial to the safety of the State ; or
- (c) retains the sketch, plan, model, article, note or document in his possession or control when he has no right to retain it, or when it is contrary to his duty to retain it, or wilfully fails to comply with all directions issued by lawful authority with regard to the return or disposal thereof ; or
- (d) fails to take reasonable care of, or so conducts himself as to endanger the safety of, the sketch, plan, model, article, note, document, secret official code or pass word or information ;

he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(2) If any person voluntarily receives any secret official code or pass word or any sketch, plan, model, article, note, document or information knowing or having reasonable ground to believe, at the time when he receives it, that the code, pass word, sketch, plan, model, article, note, document or information is communicated in contravention of this Act, he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(3) If any person having in his possession or control any sketch, plan, model, article, note, document or information, which relates to munitions of war, communicates it, directly or indirectly, to any foreign power or in any other manner prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

<sup>a</sup>(4) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

[a] Sub-sections (1) and (4) were amended temporarily during the continuance of War by the Defence of India Act, 1939 (XXXV of 1939), S. 6. These amendments lapsed on 30-9-1946.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (1). — “In (a) we have inserted the word ‘wilfully’ as we do not think that negligent communication should be punishable except to the extent to which it is punishable under (d). We have made a similar insertion in (c) for the same purpose. We have also inserted the words “or in a Court of Justice” in order to protect public officers who have used their discretion under section 124 of the Indian Evidence Act.” — S. C. R.

6. Unauthorised use of uniforms ; falsification of reports, forgery, personation, and false documents.

(1) If any person for the purpose of gaining admission or of assisting any other person to gain admission to a prohibited place or for any other purpose prejudicial to the safety of the State—

- (a) uses or wears, without lawful authority, any naval, military, air force, police or other official uniform, or any uniform so nearly resembling the same as to be calculated to deceive, or falsely represents himself to be a person who is or has been entitled to use or wear any such uniform ; or

- (b) orally, or in writing in any declaration or application, or in any document signed by him or on his behalf, knowingly makes or connives at the making of any false statement or any omission ; or
  - (c) forges, alters, or tampers with any passport or any naval, military, air force, police, or official pass, permit, certificate, licence, or other document of a similar character (hereinafter in this section referred to as an official document) or knowingly uses or has in his possession any such forged, altered, or irregular official document ; or
  - (d) personates, or falsely represents himself to be, a person holding, or in the employment of a person holding, office under <sup>A</sup>[Government], or to be or not to be a person to whom an official document or secret official code or pass word has been duly issued or communicated, or with intent to obtain an official document, secret official code or pass word, whether for himself or any other person, knowingly makes any false statement ; or
  - (e) uses, or has in his possession or under his control, without the authority of the department of the Government or the authority concerned, any die, seal or stamp of or belonging to, or used, made or provided by, any department of the Government, or by any diplomatic, naval, military, or air force authority appointed by or acting under the authority of <sup>A</sup>[Government], or any die, seal or stamp so nearly resembling any such die, seal or stamp as to be calculated to deceive, or counterfeits any such die, seal or stamp, or knowingly uses, or has in his possession or under his control, any such counterfeited die, seal or stamp ;
- he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(2) If any person for any purpose prejudicial to the safety of the State—

- (a) retains any official document, whether or not completed or issued for use, when he has no right to retain it, or when it is contrary to his duty to retain it, or wilfully fails to comply with any directions issued by any department of the Government or any person authorised by such department with regard to the return or disposal thereof ; or
  - (b) allows any other person to have possession of any official document issued for his use alone, or communicates any secret official code or pass word so issued, or, without lawful authority or excuse, has in his possession any official document or secret official code or pass word issued for the use of some person other than himself, or, on obtaining possession of any official document by finding or otherwise, wilfully fails to restore it to the person or authority by whom or for whose use it was issued, or to a police-officer ; or
  - (c) without lawful authority or excuse, manufactures or sells, or has in his possession for sale, any such die, seal or stamp as aforesaid ;
- he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(3) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

(4) The provisions of sub-section (2) of section 3 shall apply, for the purpose of proving a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the State, to any prosecution for an offence under this section relating to the naval, military or air force affairs or <sup>A</sup>[Government], or to any secret official code in like manner as they apply, for the purpose of proving a purpose prejudicial to the safety or interests of the State, to prosecutions for offences punishable under that section with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sub-section (1).—“We consider that the ordinary penal law provides a sufficient penalty for most, if not for all, of the offences created by this clause, and we accordingly think that the penalty provided by this clause should only be enforceable where the safety of the State is affected. We have therefore struck out the words 'or interest' in sub-clauses (1), (2) and (4)."

Sub-section (2). — "We consider that in respect of all the offences created by sub-clause (2) it should be necessary for the prosecution to prove that the acts complained of were done for a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the State. For the insertion of the word "wilfully" compare note on clause 5 (1)."

Sub-section (4). — "The redrafting of this sub-clause is mainly consequential on the changes made in sub-clauses (1) and (2) of this clause, but we have thought it right following the principle which we laid down when considering clause 3 to restrict the operation of this sub-clause, which facilitates the proof of a purpose prejudicial to the safety of the State, to prosecutions for the graver offences under this clause."

7. Interfering with officers of the police or members of the Armed Forces of the Union.

(1) No person in the vicinity of any prohibited place shall obstruct, knowingly mislead or otherwise interfere with or impede, any police-officer, or any member of * [the Armed Forces of the Union] engaged on guard, sentry, patrol or other similar duty in relation to the prohibited place.

(2) If any person acts in contravention of the provisions of this section, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

[a] Substituted for "His Majesty's forces", by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

8. Duty of giving information as to commission of offences.

(1) It shall be the duty of every person to give on demand to a Superintendent of Police, or other police-officer not below the rank of Inspector, empowered by an Inspector-General or Commissioner of Police in this behalf, or to any member of * [the Armed Forces of the Union] engaged on guard, sentry, patrol or other similar duty, any information in his power relating to an offence or suspected offence under section 3 or under section 3 read with section 9 and, if so required, and upon tender of his reasonable expenses, to attend at such reasonable time and place as may be specified for the purpose of furnishing such information.

(2) If any person fails to give any such information or to attend as aforesaid, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

[a] Substituted for "His Majesty's forces", by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950].

9. Attempts, incitements, etc.

Any person who attempts to commit or abets the commission of an offence under this Act shall be punishable with the same punishment, and be liable to be proceeded against in the same manner as if he had committed such offence.

10. Penalty for harbouring spies.

(1) If any person knowingly harbours any person whom he knows or has reasonable grounds for supposing to be a person who is about to commit or who has committed an offence under section 3 or under section 3 read with section 9 or knowingly permits to meet or assemble in any premises in his occupation or under his control any such persons, he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(2) It shall be the duty of every person having harboured any such person as aforesaid, or permitted to meet or assemble in any premises in his occupation or under his control any such persons as aforesaid, to give on demand to a Superintendent of Police or other police-officer not below the rank of Inspector empowered by an Inspector-General or Commissioner of Police in this behalf, any information in his power relating to any such person or persons, and if any person fails to give any such information, he shall be guilty of an offence under this section.

(3) A person guilty of an offence under this section shall be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

11. Search-warrants.

(1) If a Presidency Magistrate, Magistrate of the first class or Sub-divisional Magistrate is satisfied by information on oath that there is reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence under this Act has been or is about to be committed, he may grant a search-warrant authorising any police-officer named therein, not being below the rank of an officer in charge of a police-station, to enter at any time any premises or place named in the warrant, if necessary, by force, and to search the premises or place and every person found therein, and to seize any sketch, plan, model, article, note or document, or anything of a like nature, or anything which is evidence of an offence under this Act having been or being about to be committed which he may find on the premises or place or any such person, and with regard to or in connection with which he has reasonable ground for suspecting that an offence under this Act has been or is about to be committed.

(2) Where it appears to a police-officer, not being below the rank of Superintendent, that the case is one of great emergency, and that in the interests of the State immediate action is necessary, he may by a written order under his hand give to any police-officer the like authority as may be given by the warrant of a Magistrate under this section.

(3) Where action has been taken by a police-officer under sub-section (2) he shall, as soon as may be, report such action, in a presidency-town to the Chief Presidency Magistrate, and outside such town to the District or Sub-divisional Magistrate.

12. Power to arrest.

Notwithstanding anything in the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, —

- (a) an offence punishable under section 3 or under section 3 read with section 9 with imprisonment for a term which may extend to fourteen years shall be a cognizable and non-bailable offence ;
- (b) an offence under clause (a) of sub-section (1) of section 6 shall be a cognizable and bailable offence ; and
- (c) every other offence under this Act shall be a non-cognizable and bailable offence, in respect of which a warrant of arrest shall ordinarily issue in the first instance.

13. Restriction on trial of offences.

(1) No Court (other than that of a Magistrate of the first class specially empowered in this behalf by the *[appropriate Government]) which is inferior to that of a District or Presidency Magistrate shall try any offence under this Act.

(2) If any person under trial before a Magistrate for an offence under this Act at any time before a charge is framed claims to be tried by the Court of Session, the Magistrate shall, if he does not discharge the accused, commit the case for trial by that Court, notwithstanding that it is not a case exclusively triable by that Court.

(3) No Court shall take cognizance of any offence under this Act unless upon complaint made by order of, or under authority from, the *[appropriate

Section 12 — Note 1

[1] Section 12 makes only the offences under S. 3 or attempts for the same which are punishable with imprisonment for 14 years non-bailable, while the other offences under the Act are bailable. 1958 Tripura 34 (35) [AIR V 45 C 14] : 1958 Cri L Jour 1248.

Section 13 — Note 1

[1] Section 13 (2) indicates that the case is not to be sent to the Sessions Court as a matter of course. The Magistrate has to see whether there is a prima facie case before the accused is to be committed to Sessions. If there is no prima facie case, the accused has to be discharged. But where the accused themselves are not anxious for a formal enquiry, and are prepared to stand their trial before the Sessions Court, the enquiry may be dispensed with and the order of commitment allowed to stand. 1958 All 325 (326) [AIR V 45 C 71] : 1958 Cri L Jour 585.

Government] * [ * * ] or some officer empowered by the [appropriate Government] in this behalf :

Provided that a person charged with such an offence may be arrested, or a warrant for his arrest may be issued and executed, and any such person may be remanded in custody or on bail, notwithstanding that such complaint has not been made, but no further or other proceedings shall be taken until such complaint has been made.

(4) For the purposes of the trial of a person for an offence under this Act, the offence may be deemed to have been committed either at the place in which the same actually was committed or at any place in <sup>a</sup>[India] in which the offender may be found.

•[(5) In this section, the appropriate Government means—

(a) in relation to any offences under section 5 not connected with a prohibited place or with a foreign power, the State Government ; and

(b) in relation to any other offence, the Central Government.]

[a] Substituted for "Local Government" by A. O. 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] Substituted for "Governor-General in Council," ibid. [c] The words "the Local Government" were omitted, ibid. [d] Substituted for "the States" by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951]. [e] Inserted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Committee have proposed no change in this clause, but, as Mr. Neogy has intimated that he proposes to dissent on the ground that all offences under the Act should be triable only by a Court of Session, the Committee think it right to express their views in favour of retaining the clause as it stands. Under the Indian Official Secrets Act, 1889, all Magistrates of the first class were authorized to try offences under the Act, while under the Bill it is provided that the only Magistrates who may try cases shall be those described in sub-clause (1) of this clause. Mr. Neogy relies on sub-section (3) of section 10 of the Official Secrets Act, 1911, in which it is laid down that an offence under that Act shall not be tried by any Court outside the United Kingdom, which has not jurisdiction to try crimes which involve the greatest punishment allowed by law. As the Bill stands, read with the second schedule to the Code of Criminal Procedure, the graver offences punishable under section 3 with imprisonment up to fourteen years will be triable only by Court of Session ; and the Committee are of opinion that the other offences under the Act can properly be tried by Magistrates of the rank named in sub-clause (1)." — S. C. R.

STATE AMENDMENT

MAHARASHTRA

In its application to the State of Bombay, in sub-s. (1), after the words "Government" insert the words "or that of a Presidency Magistrate," and delete the words "which is inferior to that of a District or Presidency Magistrate."

— Bom. Act XXIII of 1951, S. 2 and Sch. Pt. II [w. e. f. 1-7-1953].

14. Exclusion of public from proceedings.

In addition and without prejudice to any powers which a Court may possess to order the exclusion of the public from any proceedings if, in the course of proceedings before a Court against any person for an offence under this Act or the proceedings on appeal, or in the course of the trial of a person under this Act, application is made by the prosecution, on the ground that the publication of any evidence to be given or of any statement to be made in the course of the proceedings would be prejudicial to the safety of the State, that all or any portion of the public shall be excluded during any part of the hearing, the Court may make an order to that effect, but the passing of sentence shall in any case take place in public.

15. Offences by companies, etc.

Where the person guilty of an offence under this Act is a company or corporation, every director and officer of the company or corporation with whose knowledge and consent the offence was committed shall be guilty of the like offence.

THE SCHEDULE. — [Repealed.]

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The revision of the law relating to the office of Administrator-General has necessitated the revision of the law relating to the office of Official Trustee. Many of the provisions of the existing law already apply mutatis mutandis to both offices and it is considered desirable further to approximate the constitution of these offices and the conditions of their tenure as closely as possible since their duties will be normally discharged by the same person. The existing law relating to the office of official Trustee is contained in the Official Trustees Act XVII of 1864, the Probate and Administration Act, II of 1890, and the Administrator-General's and Official Trustee's Act, V of 1902. The trend of this legislation has, as in the case of the legislation relating to the Administrator-General, been to substitute for a class of Official Trustees remunerated by commission a class of salaried officials whose liabilities are undertaken by the Government in return for fees credited to the Government. The draft Bill carries this process a stage further, and does away with old system of Official Trustees remunerated by commission.

Under the existing law Official Trustees are subject to the control of the Government and of the High Court. For obvious reasons such a dual control is undesirable, and the bulk of the opinion consulted, including that of the Calcutta High Court, is in favour of the transfer of the whole control to the Government. The Bill gives effect to this object. Since Indian law relating to the office of the Official Trustee was enacted, the Public Trustees Act, 1906, 6, Edw. VII, Chap. 55, has been passed, and consideration of some of the provisions of that Statute have enabled useful amendments to be made in the Indian law. The Bill further deals with the qualifications for appointment of Official Trustee, fees, the rule-making power and similar matters on the same lines as those explained in connection with the Bill relating to the office of Administrator-General. Opportunity has been taken to make several minor amendments in the law and to consolidate the enactments relating to the Official Trustee . . ."

[THE] OFFICIAL TRUSTEES ACT, 1913

(ACT II OF 1913)<sup>a</sup>

[27th February, 1913.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the Law constituting the office of Official Trustee.

WHEREAS it is expedient to consolidate and amend the law constituting the office of the Official Trustee; It is hereby enacted as follows :

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1912, Pt. V, p. 202; for Report of Select Committee, see ibid, 1913, Pt. V, p. 19.

This Act has been extended to Berar by the Berar Laws Act, 1941 (IV of 1941).

It has been extended to the new Provinces and merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to States merged in the State of Bombay : see Bom. Act IV of 1950, S. 3 [30-3-1950.]

PART I

PRELIMINARY

1. Short title, extent and commencement;

(1) This Act may be called THE OFFICIAL TRUSTEES ACT, 1913.

(3) It shall come into force on such date<sup>c</sup> as the <sup>A</sup>[Central Government] by notification in the <sup>A</sup>[Official Gazette], may direct.

[a] Substituted for the former sub-section (2), by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] Substituted for "except Part B States", by the Part B States (Laws) Act, 1951 (III of 1951), S. 3 and Sch. [1-4-1951]. [c] The Act came into force on 1-4-1914, see Gaz. of Ind., 1914, Pt. I, p. 365.

2. Interpretation clause.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

(1) "Government" or "the Government" means, in relation to a State, the State Government and, in relation to a Union territory, the Central Government.

(2) "High Court" means—

(a) in relation to a State, the High Court for that State;

(b) in relation to the Union territory of Delhi or Himachal Pradesh, the High Court of Punjab;

(c) in relation to the Union territory of Manipur or Tripura, the High Court of Assam;

(d) in relation to the Union territory of the Andaman and Nicobar Islands, the High Court at Calcutta; and

(e) in relation to the Union territory of the Laccadive, Minicoy and Amindivi Islands, the High Court of Kerala.

(3) "Prescribed" means prescribed by rules under this Act.]

[a] Substituted for the former section, by 2 A. L. O. 1956 [1-11-1956].

3. Extent of jurisdiction of High Courts [Repealed by the Adaptation of Laws (No. 2) Order, 1956 (1-11-1956)]

PART II

THE OFFICE OF OFFICIAL TRUSTEE

4. Official Trustees.

<sup>a</sup>[(1) "The Government shall appoint an Official Trustee for each State] :

Provided that nothing herein contained shall be deemed to bar the appointment of the same person as Official Trustee for two or more <sup>c</sup>[States] ]

(2) No person shall be appointed to the office of Official Trustee <sup>d</sup>[• • •] who is not—

(a) a Barrister; or

(b) an Advocate, Attorney or Vakil enrolled by a High Court; or

(c) a person holding the office of Deputy Administrator General at the commencement of this Act, <sup>e</sup>[or]

[a] Substituted for the original sub-section (1), by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] Substituted for the first paragraph, by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956]. [c] Substituted for "Divisions" by A. L. O., 1950 [28-1-1950]. [d] The words "of any of the said Presidencies were omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [e] Inverted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [f] Substituted for "Bengal", by A. C. A. O., 1948 [23-3-1948]. [g] Sub-section (3) was omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

STATE AMENDMENT

ANDHRA PRADESH

In sub-section (2), clause (d), for "Madras" substitute "Andhra Pradesh, Madras."

—Andhra Adaptation of Laws (Second Amendment) Order, 1954 and Andh. Pra. A. L. (Amendment) Order, 1957.

5. Appointment and powers of Deputy Official Trustee.

The Government may appoint a Deputy or Deputies to assist the Official Trustee; and any Deputy so appointed shall, subject to the control of the Government and the general or special orders of the Official Trustee, be competent to discharge any of the duties and exercise any of the powers of the Official Trustee, and, when discharging such duties or exercising such powers shall have the same privileges and be subject to the same liabilities as the Official Trustee.

6. Official Trustee to be corporation sole, to have perpetual succession and official seal, and to sue and be sued in his corporate name.

The Official Trustee shall be a corporation sole by the name of the Official Trustee of the [State] for which he is appointed and, as such Official Trustee shall, have perpetual succession and an official seal, and may sue and be sued in his corporate name.

[a] Substituted for "Division", by A. L. O., 1950 [28-1-1950].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This section is new. It follows section 1 of the English Public Trustee Act, 1906. This section does away with the cumbrous existing provisions securing the succession of individual Official Trustees, by declaring an Official Trustee to be a corporation sole. — S. O. R.

PART III

RIGHTS, POWERS, DUTIES AND LIABILITIES OF OFFICIAL TRUSTEE

7. General powers and duties of Official Trustee.

(1) Subject to, and in accordance with, the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder, the Official Trustee may, if he thinks fit,—

(a) act as an ordinary trustee;

(b) be appointed trustee by a Court of competent jurisdiction.

(2) Save as hereinafter expressly provided, the Official Trustee shall have the same powers, duties and liabilities and be entitled to the same rights and privileges and be subject to the same control and orders of the Court as any other trustee acting in the same capacity.

(3) The Official Trustee may decline, either absolutely or except on such conditions as he may impose, to accept any trust.

(4) The Official Trustee shall not accept any trust under any composition or scheme of arrangement for the benefit of creditors, nor of any estate known or believed by him to be insolvent.

(5) The Official Trustee shall not, save as provided by any rules made under this Act, accept any trust for a religious purpose or any trust which involves the management or carrying on of any business.

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] Provisions of this Act override S. 6 of Married Women's Property Act. The explanation of this apparent inconsistency is that S. 6 of the Married Women's Property Act does not apply to the corporation sole which has been created under the provisions of this Act. 1937 Cal 379 (380) [AIR V 24] : 1 L R (1937) 2 Cal 67 * 1955 N U C (Mad) 3895 [AIR V 42].

[2] Under S. 6 of the Act, Official Trustee is corporation sole with perpetual succession and therefore is not servant of Crown. Nor is Official Trustee acting under S. 7 (1) (a), as ordinary trustees, servant of Crown. 1940 Rang 207 (210) [AIR V 27] : 1940 Rang L R 273 (DB).

[3] In face of Ss. 6 and 14, it is idle to contend that the entry of the Official Trustee on the Register of members amounts to notice of a trust and that it offends the provisions of S. 153, Companies Act. 1959 Ker 254 (260) [AIR V 46 C 90] (DB).

Section 7 — Note 1

[1] Drawing of distinction between trust for religious purpose and trust in English form where ultimate beneficiary or one of them is Thakur, does not exclude application of Official Trustees Act or Trusts Act. Where, however, contrary to provisions of Official Trustees Act, the Court permits the Official Trustee to accept the trust and on his application passes an order for conversion of the corpus of the trust into fund, the appointment of the Official Trustee and the order for conversion are nevertheless valid so as to pass a good title to the transferee of the corpus of trust. 1941 Cal 272 (281) [AIR V 28] : 1 L R (1940) 2 Cal 285.

[2] Official Trustee is Government officer appointed by Government and liable to be removed by Government. Official Trustee as such should not be appointed guardian of the property of a minor. 1928 Bom 69 (70, 73) [AIR V 15].

[3] Official Trustee acting under S. 7 (1) (a) as an ordinary trustee is not acting as a servant of the Crown. 1940 Rang 207 (210) [AIR V 27] : 1940 Rang L R 273 (DB) * 1955 N U C (Mad) 3895 [AIR V 42].

(6) The Official Trustee shall not administer the estate of a deceased person, unless he is expressly appointed sole executor of, and sole trustee under, the will of such person.

(7) The Official Trustee shall always be sole trustee, and it shall not be lawful to appoint the Official Trustee to be trustee along with any other person.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This section brings together the powers and duties of the Official Trustee in a convenient manner. It follows mainly the English Act, for example, in prohibiting the Official Trustee from managing insolvent estates or accepting trusts which involve the carrying on of any business. These provisions are necessary as Government has undertaken the civil liabilities of Official Trustee. By sub-section (2) he is declared to have the same powers and liabilities as a private trustee, and is allowed an option to decline any trust. — S. O. R.

"We have amended this section (~~see~~ sub-section (5)) so as to empower the Official Trustee to take over trusts for religious purposes and trusts involving the management of business in cases in which the Government by rules authorises him so to do. The amendment follows the provisions of the Public Trustee Act, 1906.

By an amendment of sub-section (6), we have further provided that the Official Trustee may act as administrator of an estate if he is expressly appointed sole executor and sole trustee under a will." —S.C.R.

8. Official Trustee may with consent be appointed trustee of settlement by grantor.

(1) Any person intending to create a trust other than a trust which the Official Trustee is prohibited from accepting under the provisions of this Act may by the instrument creating the trust and with the consent of the Official Trustee, appoint him by that name or any other sufficient description to be the trustee of the property subject to such trust :

Provided that the consent of the Official Trustee shall be recited in the said instrument and that such instrument shall be duly executed by the Official Trustee.

(2) Upon such appointment the property subject to the trust shall vest in such Official Trustee, and shall be held by him upon the trusts declared in such instrument.

9. Appointment of Official Trustee as trustee by will.

When the Official Trustee has by that name or any other sufficient description been appointed trustee under any will, the executor of the will of "[the testator] or the administrator of his estate shall, after obtaining probate or letters of administration, notify in the prescribed manner the contents of such will to such Official Trustee; and, if such Official Trustee consents to accept the trust, then upon the execution by such executor or administrator of an instrument in writing transferring the property subject to the trust to the Official Trustee, such property shall vest in such Official Trustee, and shall be held by him upon the trusts expressed in the said will :

Provided that the consent of the Official Trustee shall be recited in the said instrument and that such instrument shall be duly executed by the Official Trustee.

[a] Substituted for "such testator", by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1919 (XVIII of 1919), S. 2 and Sch. I.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"It is considered desirable to make provision for the appointment by will of the Official Trustee as trustee of property bequeathed by the will".—S. O. R.

"We have amended this section so as to avoid any possibility of conflict with the rights of an executor or administrator under the provisions of the Indian Succession Act, 1865, or the Probate and Administration Act, 1881."—S. C. R.

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] Testator cannot appoint Official Trustee as constituted by the Act as executor of his will; and if he be so appointed, he cannot get probate by virtue of his office and in his character as Official Trustee, and in name of Official Trustee. ('11) 38 Cal 53 (57) (DB).

[See also ('10) 37 Cal 387 (393, 395) (DB).]

10. Power of High Court to appoint Official Trustee to be trustee of property.

(1) If any property is subject to a trust other than a trust which the Official Trustee is prohibited from accepting under the provisions of this Act, and there is no trustee within the local limits of the ordinary or extraordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court willing or capable to act in the trust, the High Court may on application make an order for the appointment of the Official Trustee by that name with his consent to be the trustee of such property.

(2) Upon such order such property shall vest in the Official Trustee and shall be held by him upon the same trusts as the same was held previously to such order, and the previous trustee or trustees (if any) shall be exempt from the liability as trustees of such property save in respect of acts done before the date of such order.

(3) Nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the provisions of the 'Trustees' and Mortgagees' Powers Act, 1866, or the Indian Trusts Act, 1882.

[a] Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1952 (XLVIII of 1952), S. 1 and Sch. I.

11. Power of private trustees to appoint Official Trustee to be trustee of property.

(1) If any property is subject to a trust other than a trust which the Official Trustee is prohibited from accepting under the provisions of this Act, and all the trustees or the surviving or continuing trustee or trustees and all persons beneficially interested in the trust are desirous that the Official Trustee shall be appointed in the room of such trustee or trustees, it shall be lawful for such trustee or trustees, by an instrument in writing to appoint the Official Trustee by that name or any other sufficient description with his consent to be the trustee of such property :

Provided that the consent of the Official Trustee shall be recited in the said instrument and that such instrument shall be duly executed by him.

(2) Upon such appointment such property shall vest in the Official Trustee and shall be held by him upon the same trusts as the same was held previously to such appointment, and the previous trustee or trustees shall be exempt from all liability as trustees of such property save in respect of acts done before the date of such appointment.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This section "partly follows section 10 of the Act of 1864. Under that section, however, if trustees and all the persons beneficially interested in a trust desired to appoint the Official Trustee they might do so by leave of the High Court. This section renders such permission unnecessary. It follows the principle of section 31 of the Administrator-General's Act, 1874, and will result in saving trust estates unnecessary expense." — S. O. R.

12. Executor or administrator may pay to Official Trustee legacy, share, etc., of infant or lunatic.

(1) If any infant or lunatic is entitled to any gift, legacy or share of the assets of a deceased person, it shall be lawful for the person by whom such gift is made, or executor or administrator by whom such legacy or share is payable or transferable or any trustee of such gift, legacy or share, to transfer the same by an instrument in writing to the Official Trustee by that name or any other sufficient description with his consent :

Provided that the consent of the Official Trustee shall be recited in the said instrument and that such instrument shall be duly executed by the Official Trustee.

(2) Any money or property transferred to the Official Trustee under this section shall vest in him and shall be subject to the same provisions as are contained in this Act as to other property vested in such Official Trustee.

13. Official Trustee not to be required to give bond or security.

(1) No Official Trustee shall be required by any Court to enter into any bond or security on his appointment in any capacity under this Act.

(2) No Official Trustee or Deputy Official Trustee shall be required to verify otherwise than by his signature any petition presented by him under the provisions of this Act, and if the facts stated in any such petition are not within the Official Trustee's personal knowledge, the petition may be verified and subscribed by any person competent to make the verification.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Under section 6 of the Act of 1864 it is obligatory for the Official Trustee to give security. This clause in so far as it does not require security follows section 12 of the Administrator-General's Act, 1854. As the Administrator-General will, as a rule, also be Official Trustee it does not seem necessary to take security from him in one capacity and not in the other."

—S.O.R.

14. Entry of Official Trustee not to constitute notice of a trust.

The entry of the Official Trustee by that name in the books of a company shall not constitute notice of a trust; and a company shall not be entitled to object to enter the name of the Official Trustee on its register by reason only that the Official Trustee is a corporation; and, in dealing with property, the fact that the person dealt with is the Official Trustee shall not of itself constitute notice of a trust.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This section "provides that the entry of the Official Trustee in the Books of a company is not to constitute notice of a trust. A company, therefore, will not be entitled under section 53 of the Indian Companies Act, VI of 1882, to object to entering the name of the Official Trustee on its register, and the fact that the Official Trustee is a corporation will not affect his dealings with the outside world. This clause follows section 11 (5) of the English Public Trustee Act, 1906." — S.O.R.

STATE AMENDMENT

SECTION 14-A

WEST BENGAL

After Section 14, the following section shall be inserted namely :—

"14A. Power to examine on oath.—The Official Trustee for West Bengal may, whenever he desires, for the purposes of this Act, to satisfy himself regarding any question of fact, examine upon oath (which he is hereby authorised to administer) any person who is willing to be examined by him regarding such question."—Beng. Act I of 1941, S. 3 [20-3-41].

15. Liability of Government.

(1) The revenues of the Government [* * *] shall be liable to make good all sums required to discharge any liability which the Official Trustee, if he were a private trustee, would be personally liable to discharge, except when the liability is one to which neither the Official Trustee nor any of his officers has in any way contributed or which neither he nor any of his officers could by the exercise of reasonable diligence have averted, and in either of those cases

Section 15 — Note 1

[1] If any action is to be brought against the Official Trustee where Government is sought to be made liable notice under S. 80, Civil P. C. is necessary. But in a suit against Official Trustee for breaches in respect of a trust administered by him as an ordinary trustee consent of Governor is not necessary. 1955 N U C (Mad) 3895 [AIR V 42].

the Official Trustee shall not, nor shall the revenues <sup>b</sup>[of the Government] <sup>a</sup>[* * *] be subject to any liability.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall be deemed to render the revenues <sup>b</sup>[of the Government] <sup>a</sup>[* * *] or any Official Trustee appointed under this Act liable for anything done by or under the authority of any Official Trustee before the commencement of this Act.

[a] The words "of India" were omitted by the Official Trustees and Administrator General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (XXI of 1922), S. 3. [b] Inserted, ibid. [c] The words "or of the Government of India" were omitted by A. O. 1937 [1-4-1937].

OBJECTS AND REASONS

This section "makes the revenue of Government liable for the Acts of the Official Trustee, except in cases where the Official Trustee and his subordinates have not contributed to the liability or where loss could not have been averted by the exercise of reasonable diligence. These exceptions . . . . . are contained in section 7 of the English Act which it is deemed advisable to follow."

—S. O. R.

16. Notice of suit not required in certain cases.

Nothing in section 80 of the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, shall apply to any suit against the Official Trustee in which no relief is claimed against him personally.

PART IV

FEEES

17. Fees.

(1) There shall be charged in respect of the duties of the Official Trustee such fees, whether by way of percentage or otherwise, as the Government may prescribe :

Provided that in the case of a trust accepted by the Official Trustee before the commencement of this Act the fees prescribed under this section shall not exceed the fees leviable in respect of such trust under the Official Trustees Act, 1864,<sup>a</sup> as subsequently amended.

(2) The fees under this section may be at different rates for different properties or classes of properties or for different duties, and shall, so far as may be, be arranged so as to produce an amount sufficient to discharge the salaries and all other expenses incidental to the working of this Act (including such sum as Government may determine to be required to insure the revenues of the Government <sup>b</sup>[* * *] against loss under this Act.)

[a] Repealed by this Act. [b] The words "of India" were omitted by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (XXI of 1922), S. 4.

18. Disposal of fees.

(1) All expenses which might be retained or paid out of the trust fund, if the Official Trustee were a private trustee, shall be so retained or paid, and any fees leviable under this Act shall be retained or paid in like manner as and in addition to such expenses.

(2) The Official Trustee shall transfer and pay to such authority and in such manner and at such times as the Government may prescribe, all fees received by him under this Act, and the same shall be carried to the account and credit of the Government <sup>a</sup>[* * *].

[a] Words "of India" were omitted by the Official Trustees and Administrator-General's Acts Amendment Act, 1922 (XXI of 1922), S. 4.

PART V

AUDIT

19. Auditors to be appointed to examine Official Trustee's accounts, etc., and to report to Government.

(1) The accounts of the Official Trustee shall be audited at least once annually and at any other time if the Government so direct by the prescribed person and in the prescribed manner.

(2) The auditor shall examine such accounts, and shall forward to Government a statement thereof in the prescribed form, together with a report thereon and a certificate signed by him showing—

- (a) whether the accounts contain a full and true account of everything which ought to be contained therein, and
- (b) whether the books, which by any rules made under this Act are directed to be kept by the Official Trustee, have been duly and regularly kept, and
- (c) whether the trust funds and securities have been duly kept and invested and deposited in the manner prescribed by this Act or any rules made thereunder;

or (as the case may be) that such accounts are deficient, or that the Official Trustee has failed to comply with this Act or the rules made thereunder, in such respects as may be specified in such certificate.

STATE AMENDMENT

WEST BENGAL

For clause (a) of sub-section (2), the following clauses shall be substituted, namely :—

- “(a) Whether the accounts have been audited in the prescribed manner, and
- (aa) Whether, so far as can be ascertained by such audit, the accounts contain a full and true account of everything which ought to be contained therein, and”.

—Beng. Act XII of 1940, S. 3 [1-9-1940].

20. Auditor's power to summon witnesses and to call for documents.

(1) Every auditor shall have the powers of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908,

- (a) to summon any person whose presence he may think necessary to attend him from time to time, and
- (b) to examine any person, on oath to be by him administered, and
- (c) to issue a commission for the examination on interrogatories or otherwise of any person, and
- (d) to summon any person to produce any document or thing, the production of which appears to be necessary for the purposes of such audit or examination.

(2) Any person who, when summoned, refuses, or without reasonable cause neglects to attend or to produce any document or thing or attends and refuses to be sworn, or to be examined shall be deemed to have committed an offence within the meaning of, and punishable under section 188 of the Indian Penal Code, and the auditor shall report every case of such refusal or neglect to Government.

21. Costs of audit, etc., how paid.

The cost of and incidental to every such audit and examination shall be determined in accordance with rules made by the Government and shall be defrayed in the prescribed manner.

22. Right of beneficiary to inspection and copies of accounts.

Every beneficiary under a trust which is being administered by the Official Trustee shall, subject to such conditions and restrictions as may be prescribed, be entitled, at all reasonable times, to inspect the accounts of such trust, and the report and certificate of the auditor and, on payment of the prescribed fee, to be furnished with copies thereof or extracts therefrom, and nothing in the Indian Trusts Act, 1882<sup>a</sup>, shall affect the provisions of this section.

[a] See S. 57 of that Act.

PART VI

MISCELLANEOUS

23. Transfer to Government of accumulations in the hands of Official Trustee.

When any moneys payable to a beneficiary under a trust have been in the hands of any Official Trustee for a period of twelve years or upwards whether before or after the commencement<sup>a</sup> of this Act in consequence of the Official Trustee having been unable to trace the person entitled to receive the same, such money shall be transferred in the prescribed manner to the account and credit of the Government <sup>b</sup>[* * *]:

Provided that no such moneys shall be so transferred if any suit or proceeding is pending in respect thereof in any Court.

25. Power of High Court to make orders in respect of property vested in Official Trustee.

The High Court may make such orders as it thinks fit respecting any trust property vested in the Official Trustee, or the interest or produce thereof.

26. Who may apply for order under Act.

Any order under this Act may be made, on the application of any person beneficially interested in any trust property or of any trustee thereof.

27. Order of Court to have effect of a decree.

Any order made by a High Court under this Act shall have the same effect as a decree.

28. General powers of administration.

The Official Trustee may, in addition to and not in derogation of any other powers of expenditure lawfully exercisable by him, incur expenditure—

(a) on such acts as may be necessary for the proper care and management of any property belonging to any trust administered by him; and

- (b) with the sanction of the High Court on such religious, charitable and other objects and on such improvements as may be reasonable and proper in the case of such property.

29. Transfer of trust property by Official Trustee to original trustee or any other trustee.

(1) Nothing in this Act shall be deemed to prevent the transfer by the Official Trustee of any property vested in him to—

- (a) the original trustee (if any) ; or
- (b) any other lawfully appointed trustee ; or
- (c) any other person if the Court so directs.

(2) Upon such transfer such property shall vest in such trustee, and shall be held by him upon the same trusts as those upon which it was held prior to such transfer, and the Official Trustee shall be exempt from all liability as trustee of such property except in respect of acts done before such transfer :

Provided that, in the case of any transfer under this section, the Official Trustee shall be entitled to retain out of the property any fees leviable in accordance with the provisions of this Act.

30. Rules.

(1) The Government shall make rules<sup>a</sup> for carrying into effect the objects of this Act and for regulating the proceedings of the Official Trustee in the discharge of his duties.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for—

- (a) the accounts to be kept by the Official Trustee and the audit and inspection thereof ;
- (b) the safe custody, and deposit of the funds and securities which come into the hands of the Official Trustee ;
- (c) the remittance of sums of money in the hands of the Official Trustee in cases in which such remittances are required ;
- (d) the statements, schedules and other documents to be submitted by the Official Trustee to Government or to any other authority and the publication of such statements, schedules or other documents ;
- (e) the realization of the cost of preparing any such statements, schedules or other documents ;

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The establishment of the Oil and Natural Gas Commission in August 1956, was the first concrete step taken by Government to carry out inter alia geological and geophysical surveys for discovering petroleum resources in the country and developing them in the public sector. The Commission was organized, in the first instance, as an ordinary Government Department; but even within this short period of less than three years, the size of this organisation and the volume of work handled by it have increased very rapidly. The magnitude of its programmes and activities is likely to increase further in the near future. In the light of the experience gained so far, it is felt that the powers already delegated to the Commission or a mere amplification of these powers would not suffice. Exploration work in the public sector has reached a stage where for efficient and expeditious progress much more autonomy and elasticity are required than would be possible if the Commission continued to work as a Government Department. Oil industry being a highly integrated one, exploration work and exploitation should more appropriately be entrusted to an agency which can function more or less as a commercial agency in the private sector. The Bill accordingly proposes to convert the existing organisation into a statutory corporate body with the same nomenclature.

Under the Bill the Commission will consist of not less than three members including the Chairman and one of these members will be exclusively in charge of the finances of that body. The Commission's main functions will be—(i) to organize and implement programmes for the development of petroleum resources; (ii) to carry out necessary surveys for the exploration of such resources and the drilling and other prospecting operations required for this purpose; (iii) to promote the production of petroleum and its refinement and the sale of petroleum and petroleum products produced by it; and (iv) to advise Government as and when advice is sought. The Commission will generally have full powers to carry out its functions under the Bill.

The Bill makes adequate provision for the exercise of suitable control over the Commission. It has been provided that the previous approval of the Government should be obtained by the Commission before exercising its powers in respect of certain specific matters. The Commission will also be subject to the directions of Government in the discharge of its functions. Provision has also been made for financial control over the Commission. The submission of an annual statement of the programme and activities undertaken and likely to be undertaken by the Commission, and of financial estimates in respect thereof has been made obligatory. In addition, the funds of the Commission are required to be deposited in the Reserve Bank or a Government Treasury or to be invested in securities approved by Government; and the scrutiny of the accounts of the Commission by the Comptroller and Auditor General of India has been ensured. Parliament also will be kept in touch with the working of the Commission as the Bill requires copies of its annual report and the Comptroller and Auditor General's audit report to be laid before both Houses of Parliament.

The Bill also contains ancillary provisions in respect of various other matters like the transfer of staff, the vesting of properties in the Commission, etc."

[THE] OIL AND NATURAL GAS COMMISSION ACT, 1959

(ACT XLIII OF 1959)<sup>a</sup>

[18th September, 1959.]

An Act to provide for the establishment of a commission for the development of petroleum resources and the production and sale of petroleum and petroleum products produced by it and for matters connected therewith.

BE it enacted by Parliament in the Tenth Year of the Republic of India as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of India, 1959, Ext., Pt. II, Sec. 2 p. 600.

CHAPTER I

PRELIMINARY

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE OIL AND NATURAL GAS COMMISSION ACT, 1959.

(2) It extends to the whole of India, except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

(3) It shall come into force on such date<sup>a</sup> as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

[a] The Act came into force on 15-10-1959 : see S. O. 2302, D/- 14-10-1959 in Gaz. of Ind., 1959, Extra., Pt. II, Sec. 3 (ii), p. 515.

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(a) "chairman" means the chairman of the Commission;

(b) "Commission" means the Oil and Natural Gas Commission established under section 3;

(c) "existing organisation" means the body set up in pursuance of the resolution of the Government of India, No. 22/29/55-ONG, dated the 14th August, 1956;

(d) "Fund" means the fund referred to in section 19;

(e) "member" means a member of the commission and includes the chairman;

(f) "petroleum" has the same meaning<sup>a</sup> as in the Petroleum Act, 1934, and includes natural gas;

[a] Section 2 (a) of the Petroleum Act, 1934 defines petroleum as—

"(a) 'petroleum' means any liquid hydrocarbon or mixture of hydrocarbons, and any inflammable mixture (liquid, viscous or solid) containing any liquid hydrocarbon;"

(g) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

CHAPTER II

THE OIL AND NATURAL GAS COMMISSION

3. Establishment and incorporation of the Commission.

(1) With effect from such date as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint<sup>a</sup> in this behalf, there shall be established a Commission to be called the Oil and Natural Gas Commission.

(2) The Commission shall be a body corporate having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire, hold and dispose of property and to contract and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

[a] The date appointed is 15-10-1959 : see S. O. 2303, D/- 14-10-1959 in Gaz. of Ind., 1959, Extra., Pt. II, S. 2 (ii), p. 515.

4. Composition of the Commission.

The Commission shall consist of a chairman and not less than two, and not more than eight, other members appointed by the Central Government and the members may be required to render whole time or part time service, as the Central Government may direct :

Provided that one of the members shall be a whole-time Finance Member in charge of the financial matters relating to the Commission :

Provided further that the Central Government may, if it thinks fit, appoint one of the members as vice-chairman of the Commission.

5. Term of office and conditions of service of members.

(1) The term of office and conditions of service of the chairman and other members shall be such as may be prescribed :

Provided that the Central Government may, if it thinks fit, terminate the appointment of any member before the expiry of his term of office, after giving him a reasonable opportunity of showing cause against the same.

(2) Any member may resign his office by giving notice in writing to the Central Government, and on such resignation being notified in the Official Gazette by that Government, shall be deemed to have vacated his office.

(3) A casual vacancy created by the resignation of a member under sub-section (2) or for any other reason may be filled by fresh appointment.

6. Disqualifications for being appointed, or for continuing, as member of the Commission.

A person shall be disqualified for being appointed or for continuing as a member, if he has, directly or indirectly, any interest in a subsisting contract made with, or in any work being done for, the Commission.

7. Temporary absence of member.

If any member is by infirmity or otherwise rendered temporarily incapable of carrying out his duties or is absent on leave or otherwise in circumstances not involving the vacation of his appointment, the Central Government may appoint another person to act in his place during his absence.

8. Vacancies, etc., not to invalidate acts and proceedings of the Commission.

No act or proceeding of the Commission shall be invalid by reason only of the existence of any vacancy among its members or any defect in the constitution thereof.

9. Meetings of the Commission.

(1) The Commission shall meet at such times and places and shall, subject to the provisions of sub-sections (2) and (3), observe such rules of procedure in regard to the transaction of business at its meetings (including the quorum at meetings) as may be provided by regulations made under this Act.

(2) The chairman or, in his absence, the vice-chairman, if any, or in the absence of the chairman and of the Vice-Chairman, if any, any member chosen by the members from among themselves, shall preside at a meeting of the Commission.

(3) All questions at a meeting of the Commission shall be decided by a majority of the votes of the members present and voting, and in the case of an equality of votes, the chairman or, in his absence, the person presiding, shall have a second or casting vote :

Provided that the person presiding may, in his discretion, reserve any matter for the consideration of the Central Government.

10. Temporary association of persons with the Commission for particular purposes.

(1) The Commission may associate with itself in such manner and for such purposes, as may be provided by regulations made under this Act, any person whose assistance or advice it may desire in performing any of its functions under this Act.

(2) A person associated with it by the Commission under sub-section (1) for any purpose shall have a right to take part in the discussions of the Commission relevant to that purpose, but shall not have a right to vote at a meeting of the Commission, and shall not be a member for any other purpose.

11. Authentication of orders and other instruments of the Commission.

All orders and decisions of the Commission shall be authenticated by the signature of the chairman or any other member authorised by the Commission in this behalf, and all other instruments issued by the Commission shall be authenticated by the signature of an officer of the Commission authorised in like manner in this behalf.

12. Staff of the Commission.

(1) Subject to the provisions of section 15, the Commission may, for the purpose of enabling it efficiently to perform its functions or exercise its powers under this Act, appoint such number of employees as it may consider necessary.

(2) The functions and the terms and conditions of service of such employees shall be such as may be provided by regulations made under this Act.

13. Transfer of service of existing employees to the Commission.

(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, every person employed by the existing organisation immediately before the date of establishment<sup>a</sup> of the Commission shall, on and from such date, become an employee of the Commission with such designation as the Commission may determine and shall hold his office or service therein by the same tenure, at the same remuneration and upon the same terms and conditions as he would have held the same on such date if the Commission had not been established and shall continue to do so unless and until his employment in the Commission is terminated or until such tenure, remuneration and terms and conditions are duly altered by the Commission :

Provided that—

- (a) the tenure, remuneration and terms and conditions of service of any such person shall not be altered to his disadvantage without the previous approval of the Central Government ;
  - (b) any service rendered in the existing organization by any such person shall be deemed to be service under the Commission ; and
  - (c) all persons employed by the Commission on the date of its establishment, who, immediately before such date, hold, in a permanent or quasi-permanent capacity, posts in connection with the affairs of the Union or of any State, but not posts in the existing organisation, shall be treated as Government servants on foreign service with the Commission.
- (2) The commission may employ any person who has become its employee under sub-section (1), in such capacity as it thinks fit, and every such employee shall be bound to discharge his functions accordingly.

[a] That is 14-10-1959.

CHAPTER III

POWERS AND FUNCTIONS OF THE COMMISSION

14. Functions of the Commission.

(1) Subject to the provisions of this Act, the functions of the Commission shall generally be to plan, promote, organise and implement programmes for the development of petroleum resources and the production and sale of petroleum and petroleum products produced by it and to perform such functions as the Central Government may, from time to time, assign to the Commission.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, the Commission may take such steps as it thinks fit—

- (a) for the carrying out of geological and geophysical surveys for exploration of petroleum;
- (b) for the carrying out of drilling and other prospecting operations to prove and estimate the reserves of petroleum;
- (c) to undertake, encourage and promote such other activities as may lead to the establishment of such reserves;
- (d) to undertake, assist or encourage and promote the production of petroleum from such reserves and its refining;
- (e) for the transport and disposal of natural gas and refinery gases produced by the Commission :

Provided that no industry, which will use any of these gases as a raw material, shall be set up by the Commission without the previous approval of the Central Government;

- (f) to undertake, encourage and promote geological, chemical and other scientific investigations whether in or outside the laboratory;
  - (g) to undertake, assist or encourage the collection, maintenance and publication of statistics, bulletins and monographs;
  - (h) to perform any other function which is supplemental, incidental or consequential to any of the functions aforesaid or which may be prescribed.
- (3) In the discharge of its functions under this Act, the Commission shall be bound by such directions as the Central Government may, for reasons to be stated in writing, give to it from time to time.

15. Powers of the Commission.

The Commission may exercise all such powers as may be necessary or expedient for the purpose of carrying out its functions under this Act :

Provided that before exercising its powers in respect of the following matters, it shall obtain the previous approval of the Central Government, namely :—

- (a) the creation of any post the salary or honorarium of which would be rupees two thousand a month or more or would be on a scale the maximum of which is rupees two thousand a month or more, and the appointment of any person to any such post :
- (b) the implementation of any scheme or proposal which will involve a capital expenditure exceeding thirty lakhs of rupees;
- (c) the disposal of any property, right or privilege, the original or book value of which exceeds ten lakhs of rupees.

CHAPTER IV

FINANCE, ACCOUNTS, AUDIT AND REPORTS

16. Capital of the Commission.

(1) All non-recurring expenditure incurred by the Central Government for or in connection with the existing organisation up to the date of establishment of the Commission and declared to be capital expenditure by that Government, shall be treated as capital expenditure provided by that Government to the Commission, and shall be brought into the books of the Commission.

(2) The Central Government may, after due appropriation made by Parliament in this behalf, provide any further capital that may be required by the Commission for the carrying on of the business of the Commission or for any purpose connected therewith on such terms and conditions as that Government may determine.

17. Vesting of property in the Commission.

All property acquired and all works constructed or under construction by or on behalf of the Central Government for the purposes of the existing organisation up to the date of establishment of the Commission shall, on such date, vest in the Commission and all income derived and all expenditure incurred in this behalf shall be brought into the books of the Commission.

18. Commission to have rights, liabilities and obligations of the Central Government in certain cases.

All rights, liabilities and obligations of the Central Government which, whether arising out of any contract or otherwise, were acquired or incurred by it in connection with the existing organisation or for any of the purposes referred to in this Act, before the date of establishment<sup>a</sup> of the Commission shall be deemed to have been acquired or incurred by the Commission and shall be the rights, liabilities and obligations respectively of the Commission.

[a] That is 15-10-1959.

19. Fund of the Commission.

(1) The Commission shall have its own Fund and all receipts of the Commission, whether from grants made by the Central Government or otherwise, shall be carried thereto and all payments by the Commission made therefrom.

(2) The Commission may expend such sums as it thinks fit for performing its functions under this Act and such sums shall be treated as expenditure payable out of the Fund.

(3) All monies of the Commission shall be deposited in the Reserve Bank of India or with the agents of that Bank or where there is neither an office of that Bank, nor an agent of that Bank, in a Government Treasury, or be invested in such securities as may be approved by the Central Government.

Note:—The Act makes adequate provision for the exercise of suitable financial control by the Government over the Commission. The submission of an annual statement of the programme and activities undertaken and likely to be undertaken by the Commission, and of financial estimates in respect thereof has been made obligatory. In addition, the funds of the Commission are required to be deposited in the Reserve Bank or a Government Treasury or to be invested in securities approved by Government; and the scrutiny of the accounts of the Commission by the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India has been ensured.

20. Borrowing of money.

The Commission may, with the previous approval of the Central Government, borrow money in the open market or otherwise for the purposes of carrying out its functions under this Act.

21. Budget.

(1) (a) The Commission shall, by such date in each year as may be prescribed, submit to the Central Government for approval a budget in the prescribed form for the next financial year, showing the estimated receipts and expenditure, and the sums which would be required from the Central Government, during that financial year.

(b) If any sum granted by the Central Government remains wholly or partly unspent in any financial year, the unspent sum may be carried forward to the next financial year and taken into account in determining the sum to be provided by the Central Government for that year.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), no sum shall be expended by or on behalf of the Commission unless the expenditure is covered by provision in the budget approved by the Central Government.

(3) The Commission may sanction any re-appropriation from one head of expenditure to another or from a provision made for one scheme to that for another :

Provided that, except with the previous approval of the Central Government—

(a) no re-appropriation from the head 'loan' to another head of expenditure and vice versa in the budget shall be sanctioned by the Commission ;

(b) no re-appropriation which has the effect of augmenting the provision under any head of expenditure as approved by the Central Government by more than twenty per cent. or seven and a half lakhs of rupees, whichever is less, shall be made.

22. Annual reports, accounts and audit.

(1) The Commission shall maintain proper accounts and other relevant records and prepare an annual statement of accounts, including the profit and loss account and balance sheet in accordance with such general directions as may be issued, and in such form as may be prescribed, by the Central Government in consultation with the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India.

(b) The accounts of the Commission shall be audited annually by the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India and any expenditure incurred by him in connection with such audit shall be payable by the Commission to the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India.

(3) The Comptroller and Auditor-General of India and any person appointed by him in connection with the audit of the accounts of the Commission shall have the same rights and privileges and authority in connection with such audit as the Comptroller and Auditor-General has in connection with the audit of Government accounts, and in particular, shall have the right to demand the production of books, accounts, connected vouchers and other documents and papers and to inspect any of the offices of the Commission.

(4) The accounts of the Commission as certified by the Comptroller and Auditor-General of India or any other person appointed by him in this behalf, together with the audit report thereon, shall be forwarded annually to the Central Government and that Government shall cause the same to be laid before each House of Parliament.

23. Returns and Reports.

(1) The Commission shall furnish to the Central Government at such time and in such form and in such manner, as may be prescribed or as the Central Government may direct, such returns and statements and such particulars in regard to any proposed or existing programme for the development of petroleum resources and the production and sale of petroleum and petroleum products produced by the Commission as the Central Government may, from time to time, require.

(2) Without prejudice to the provisions of sub-section (1), the Commission shall, as soon as possible after the commencement of each financial year, submit to the Central Government a report in such form and before such date as may be prescribed, giving a true and full account of its activities, policy and programme during the previous financial year and an account of the activities likely to be undertaken during the current financial year.

(3) A copy of the report received under sub-section (2) shall be laid before each House of Parliament.

---

CHAPTER V MISCELLANEOUS

24. Compulsory acquisition of land for the Commission.

Any land required by the commission for carrying out its functions under this Act shall be deemed to be needed for a public purpose and such land shall be acquired for the Commission as if the provisions of Part VII of the Land Acquisition Act, 1894, were applicable to it and the Commission were a company within the meaning of clause (3) of section 3 of the said Act.

25. Power of entry.

Any employee of the Commission, generally or specially authorised by it, may at all reasonable times enter upon any land or premises and there do such things as may be reasonably necessary for the purpose of lawfully carrying out any of its works or of making any survey, examination or investigation preliminary or incidental to the exercise of powers or the performance of functions by the Commission under this Act.

26. Delegation of powers and duties.

The Commission may, by general or special order in writing, direct that all or any of the powers or duties which may be exercised or discharged by it shall, in such circumstances and under such conditions, if any, as may be specified in the order, be exercised or discharged also by any person specified in this behalf in the order.

27. Members and employees of the Commission to be public servants.

All members and employees of the Commission, shall, when acting or purporting to act in pursuance of the provisions of this Act, or of any rule or regulation made thereunder, be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code.

28. Protection of action taken under Act.

No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against the Commission or any member or employee of the Commission for anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done in pursuance of this Act or of any rule or regulation made thereunder.

29. Liability of Commission to pay taxes and fees.

The Commission shall be deemed to be a company within the meaning of any enactment for the time being in force providing for the levy of any tax or fee by the Central Government or a State Government and shall be liable to pay such tax or fee accordingly.

30. Dissolution of the Commission.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that the Commission shall be dissolved from such date as may be specified in the notification and thereupon the Commission shall be deemed to be dissolved accordingly.

(2) On and from the said date—

- (a) all assets, liabilities and obligations acquired or incurred by the Commission for purposes of the Commission or for any of the purposes referred to in this Act shall vest in the Central Government, and
- (b) all members shall vacate their offices as members of the Commission.

31. Power of Central Government to make rules.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules<sup>a</sup> to give effect to the provisions of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the term of office of, and the manner of filling casual vacancies among, the members, and their conditions of service including the salaries, remuneration and allowances to be paid to them and the travelling and daily allowances to be drawn by them when they are on tour;
- (b) the disqualifications for membership of the Commission and the procedure to be followed in removing a member who is or becomes subject to any disqualification;
- (c) the procedure to be followed in the discharge of functions by members;
- (d) the date by which, and the form in which, the budget shall be submitted in each year under sub-section (1) of section 21;
- (e) the procedure to be followed for placing the Commission in possession of funds;
- (f) the procedure to be followed and the conditions to be observed in borrowing moneys or in granting loans;
- (g) the conditions subject to which, and the mode in which, contracts may be entered into by or on behalf of the Commission;
- (h) the form and manner in which the accounts of the Commission shall be maintained under sub-section (1) of section 22;
- (i) the form and manner in which returns, reports or statements shall be submitted under section 23;
- (j) any other matter which has to be, or may be, prescribed.

(3) Every rule made under this section shall be laid as soon as may be after it is made before each House of Parliament while it is in session for a total period of thirty days which may be comprised in one session or in two successive sessions, and if before the expiry of the session in which it is so laid or the session immediately following, both Houses agree in making any modification in the rule or both Houses agree that the rule should not be made, the rule shall thereafter have effect only in such modified form or be of no effect, as the case may be; so however that any such modification or annulment shall be without prejudice to the validity of anything previously done under that rule.

[a] Rules are not published in the Official Gazette up to the date of printing of this Act.

32. Power of Commission to make regulations.

(1) The Commission may, with the previous approval of the Central Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, make regulations, not inconsistent with this Act and the rules made thereunder, for enabling it to discharge its functions under this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing provision, such regulations may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the terms and conditions of appointment and service and the scales of pay of employees of the Commission, including payment of travelling and daily allowances in respect of journeys undertaken by such employees for the purposes of this Act;
- (b) the time and place of meetings of the Commission, the procedure to be followed in regard to the transaction of business at such meetings and the quorum necessary for the transaction of business at a meeting;
- (c) the maintenance of minutes of meetings of the Commission and the transmission of copies thereof to the Central Government;
- (d) the persons by whom, and the manner in which payments, deposits and investments may be made on behalf of the Commission;
- (e) the custody of moneys required for the current expenditure of the Commission and the investment of moneys not so required;
- (f) the maintenance of accounts.

(3) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, amend, vary or rescind any regulation which it has approved; and thereupon the regulation shall have effect accordingly but without prejudice to the exercise of the powers of the Commission under sub-section (1).

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The question of Central regulation of mines and oilfields and mineral development has been engaging the attention of Government for some time. The need for Central regulation was amply illustrated in the last war when certain key minerals had to be controlled under the Defence of India Act. It is now well recognised that a planned and uniform policy of mineral development is essential to economic and industrial progress. The Industrial Policy Resolution of the 6th April 1948 included minerals amongst the industries whose location must be governed by economic factors of all-India import or which require considerable investment or a high degree of technical skill and must consequently be the subject of Central regulation and control.

This Bill has accordingly been drafted under Item 36 of the Federal Legislative List of the Seventh Schedule to the Government of India Act, 1935, to regulate mines and oilfields and mineral development on the lines contemplated in the Industrial Policy Resolution of the 6th April 1948. It seeks to give powers to the Central Government to frame rules for the regulation of the terms and conditions of mining leases, as also for the conservation and development of minerals. It also provides for modification of existing leases on payment of compensation. Clause 8 provides for delegation of powers to Provincial Governments or any officers or authority as may be specified in this behalf, e. g., a Coal Commission. Clause 11 confers powers of entry and inspection on any officers authorised by the Central Government in this behalf. Finally, there is a clause prescribing penalties for contravention of any of the provisions of the Act or the rules made thereunder. The rules made under the Act will be laid before the Legislature as soon as may be after they are made, while rules relating to compensation to be paid for modification of existing leases will not be operative unless and until they are approved by the Legislature."

2. MINES AND MINERALS (REGULATION AND DEVELOPMENT) ACT, LXVII OF 1957.

[THE] OILFIELDS (REGULATION AND DEVELOPMENT) ACT, 1948 (ACT LIII OF 1948)*

[8th September, 1948]

*An Act to provide for the regulation of <sup>b</sup>[* *] oilfields and for the development of <sup>c</sup>[mineral oil resources].*

WHEREAS it is expedient in the public interest to provide for the regulation of <sup>b</sup>[* *] oilfields and for the development of <sup>c</sup>[mineral oil resources] <sup>d</sup>[* * *];

It is hereby enacted as follows:—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1948, Part V, p. 601.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been applied to all the partially excluded areas in —

Assam, see Assam Gaz., 1950, Pt. II, p. 173;

C. P. and Berar, see C. P. and Berar Gaz., 1948, Pt. I, p. 809;

Madras, see Ft. St. Geo. Gaz., 1950, Pt. I, p. 142;

Orissa, see Ori. Gaz., 1950, Extra., 25-1-1950.

It has also been applied to Darjeeling district in West Bengal, see Cal. Gaz., 1949, Pt. I, p. 269.

[b] The words "Mines and" were omitted in the long title and in the Preamble, by the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (LXVII of 1957), S. 32 and Sch. III [w. e. f. 1-6-1958]. [c] Substituted for "minerals", ibid. [d] The words "to the extent hereinafter specified" were omitted, ibid.

1. Short title, extent and commencement.

(1) This Act may be called THE <sup>a</sup>[OILFIELDS] (REGULATION AND DEVELOPMENT) ACT, 1948.

(3) It shall come into force on such date<sup>d</sup> as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint in this behalf.

[a] Substituted for "Mines and Minerals", by the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (LXVII of 1957), S. 32 and Sch. III [w. e. f. 1-6-1958]. [b] Substituted for the former sub-section, by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [c] The words "except the State of Jammu and Kashmir" were omitted by Act LXVII of 1957, S. 32 and Sch. III [w. e. f. 1-6-1958]. [d] The Act came into force on 25-10-1949, see Notifn. No. M-II-155 (24)-1, D/- 18-10-1949, published in Gaz. of Ind., 1949, Extra., p. 2075.

2. Declaration as to expediency of control by Central Government. [Omitted by the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (LXVII of 1957), S. 32 and Sch. III [w. e. f. 1-6-1958].]

3. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) the expressions “lessor” and “lessee” respectively include a licensor and licensee;
- (b) “mine” means any excavation for the purpose of searching for or obtaining <sup>a</sup>[mineral oils] and includes an oilwell;
- (c) <sup>a</sup>“mineral oils” include natural gas and petroleum ;
- (d) “mining lease” means a lease granted for the purpose of searching for, winning, working, getting, making merchantable, carrying away or disposing of <sup>a</sup>[mineral oils] or for purposes connected therewith, and includes an exploring or a prospecting license ;
- (e) “oilfield” means any area where any operation for the purpose of obtaining natural gas and petroleum, crude oil, refined oil, partially refined oil and any of the products of petroleum in a liquid or solid state, is to be or is being carried on.

[a] Substituted for “minerals” by the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (LXVII of 1957), S. 32 and Sch. III [w. e. f. 1-6-1958].

4. No mining lease to be valid unless it is in accordance with this Act.

(1) No mining lease shall be granted after the commencement<sup>a</sup> of this Act otherwise than in accordance with the rules made under this Act.

(2) Any mining lease granted contrary to the provisions of sub-section (1) shall be void and of no effect.

[a] That is, 25-10-1949.

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] A mining sub-lease made after the coming into force of the Act and the Rules is included in the term ‘mining lease’ as defined in S. 3 (d). The rules made under Ss. 5 and 6 would apply to such a sub-lease, though the main lease is granted before the Act and the Rules came into force. 1960 S C 1373 (1375) [AIR V 47 C 250]+1954 Pat 340 (343) [AIR V 41 C 119] : 33 Pat 198 (DB).

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] The Government may treat an application for a mining lease as valid and act upon it even though the application is not in conformity with the rules. Hence, a lease granted by the Government on any such application is not void under S. 4 of the Act. 1959 Punj 589 (591) [AIR V 46 C 185]. (Application rejected by State Government for non-compliance with rules—Central Government in review treating the application as valid and acting upon it—High Court will not interfere with the order.)

[2] Rules made under Mines and Minerals Act are mandatory—Lease of Mica mining area granted by Government in violation of Rr. 67 and 68 is void. 1956 Pat 506 (509) [(S) AIR V 43 C 119] : 35 Pat 700 (DB).

[3] A lease granted under the Act before the Rules were framed cannot be treated as void because it is not in accordance with the rules subsequently framed. Section 4 did not prohibit the Government from granting leases until rules were framed. 1957 Madh Pra 135 (138) [AIR V 44 C 58] (DB).

[4] The use of lime-stone can be for other purposes than lime-burning. Where a lease states that it is a mining lease concerning lime-stone only and it does not speak of lime-stone to be used for lime-burning nor is there anything to show that it was with reference to a minor mineral, the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949, will apply to it and such a lease cannot be said to be illegal as being contrary to the provisions of the Act and the Rules. 1956 S C 175 (176) [(S) AIR V 43 C 38].

[5] There is no statute or authority which disables a person in the position of a shrotrium-dar from granting any mineral concessions on his own account. Hence, mines in shrotrium villages should not be treated as mines where in the Government could grant mining rights in assertion of an exclusive right. 1956 Andh 81 (83) [AIR V 43 C 23] (DB).

[6] In respect of licenses or leases for mining operations which came into existence under the old Act, viz., Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, LIII of 1948, prosecutions for non-observance of conditions or terms is not only illegal but impossible and for the same reason it is difficult to predicate that the provisions of S. 4 in both the Acts (Acts LIII of 1948 and LXVII of 1957) are analogous or could be said to have the same effect or to carry the same consequences, having regard especially to S. 9 of the old Act and S. 21 of the new Act. (‘60) 1960-2 Andh W R 36 (37).

5. Power to make rules as respects mining leases.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules<sup>a</sup> for regulating the grant of mining leases or for prohibiting the grant of such leases in respect of any <sup>b</sup>[mineral oil] or in any area.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

- (a) the manner in which, the <sup>c</sup>[mineral oils] or areas in respect of which and the persons by whom, applications for mining leases may be made and the fees to be paid on any such applications ;
- (b) the authority by which, the terms on which, and the conditions subject to which, mining leases may be granted ;
- (c) the maximum or minimum area and the period for which any mining lease may be granted, and the terms on which leases in respect of contiguous areas may be amalgamated ;
- (d) the fixing of the maximum and minimum rent payable by a lessee, whether the mine is worked or not.

[a] For Mineral Concession Rules, 1949, see Gaz. of Ind. 1949, Pt. I, p. 2075 and for Petroleum Concession Rules, 1949, see ibid, Extra., p. 2713. [b] Substituted for "mineral" by the Mines and Minerals (Regulation and Development) Act, 1957 (LXVII of 1957), S. 32 and Sch. III [w. e. f. 1-6-1958]. [c] Substituted for "minerals", ibid.

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] Rules 13 and 17 of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949, and S. 5 of the Oilfields (Regulation and Development) Act, authorise the State to undertake the exploitation of mineral resources. 1959 Andh Pra 485 (487) [AIR V 46 C 138].

[2] Rule 32 of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949, does not violate Art. 14 of the Constitution. 1956 Nag 101 (102) [AIR V 43 C 34] : ILR (1955) Nag 525 (DB).

[3] Rule 32 of the Mineral Concessions Rules confers no right on a person to apply for a lease. All that the person may be entitled to is to get a lease in certain circumstances but if no lease is granted it cannot be said that any fundamental right guaranteed by Art. 19 (1)(f) or (g) of the Constitution is infringed thereby. (1957) ILR (1957) Punj 39 (51, 55). (Affirmed in AIR 1959 Punj 510).

[4] Rule 37 does not apply to a transfer of a lease granted by a private person in case of land in which the minerals belong to him and not to Government. 1956 Pat 4 (6) [AIR V 43 C 2] : 34 Pat 746 (DB). (The Rule applies only to a transfer of the leased land by lessee from the State Government.)

[5] Rule 45 of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949 in prescribing that mining lease should be granted only to a person holding a certificate of approval under R. 5 does not impose any unreasonable restriction on the ground that the Provincial Government possesses an uncontrolled and arbitrary power under R. 6 in the matter of granting a certificate. The power conferred by R. 6 is in no way uncontrolled or arbitrary because R. 7 prescribes the condition subject to which the power is to be exercised and R. 52 provides an appeal to the Central Government against the orders of the State Government. 1954 Pat 340 (344, 345) [AIR V 41 C 119] : 33 Pat 198 (DB).

[6] Rule 47 read with R. 41 imposes restrictions in the national interest for controlling the price of basic materials needed for industrial development. Hence, unless those restrictions are shown to be unreasonable from a quantitative point of view, the Court will not declare them to be unreasonable and violative of the freedom guaranteed by Art. 19 (1) (f) of the Constitution from a qualitative standpoint. 1954 Pat 340 (345) [AIR V 41 C 119] : 33 Pat 198 (DB).

[7] Rule 48 provides that no mining lease or prospecting licence, or any right, title or interest therein, shall be transferred except to a person holding a certificate of approval from the State Government. This does not mean that the executing Court has no jurisdiction to sell such a property. It only indicates that at the time of the sale the executing Court will have to make it clear that only those persons could offer bids who had got a certificate of approval as required by Rule 48 of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949. 1956 Pat 4 (6) [AIR V 43 C 2] : 34 Pat 746 (DB).

[8] The Mineral Concession Rules, 1949, came into force on 25-10-1949. These rules apply to all transfers of lease, or prospecting licence or mining lease, or their assignments, made after the date when these rules came into force irrespective of the fact whether the original lease itself was created before or after the date when the rules came into force. 1956 Pat 4 (6) [AIR V 43 C 2] : 34 Pat 746 (DB).

[9] The Central Government in reviewing an order under R. 59 acts merely as an administrative authority and it is not bound to adopt any procedure analogous to judicial proceedings. Hence, its decision does not become void and invalid because it did not give the parties any opportunity to put their case before it when making its order. 1959 Punj 54 (57, 58) [AIR V 46 C 16]. (The procedure laid down by Rr. 57 to 59 excludes the right of a petitioner for review to be heard in person as it implies that the State Government is not to be

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules<sup>a</sup> for the conservation and development of <sup>b</sup>[mineral oils].

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely :—

0 [ * * * * * ]

- (c) the development of any <sup>d</sup>[mineral oil resources] in any area by prescribing or regulating the use of any engines, machinery or other equipment ;
- (d) the regulation of the drilling, redrilling, deepening, shutting down, plugging and abandoning of oilwells in an oilfield and for the limitation or prohibition of such operations and for the taking of remedial measures to prevent waste of or damage to oil ;

so heard.) + ('57) I L R (1957) Punj 39 (55).
(Affirmed in AIR 1959 Punj 510.)

[11] The fact that R. 40 and R. 35, proviso 2, expressly refer to renewal of a lease does not mean that the other rules do not apply to the case of renewal of a lease. By necessary implication all the rules made for mining lease would also apply to the renewal of a lease, including the important rules, namely, R. 6 and R. 26. ('60) 38 Pat 1160 (1197, 1198) (DB).

[12] The second proviso to R. 6 imposes a condition precedent and the company which is not incorporated under the Indian Companies Act is not qualified for grant of a certificate of approval within the meaning of R. 6 of the Mineral Concession Rules. The bar against the companies is not absolute, (for the third proviso states that when it is so expedient in the public interest, the State Government may by order, with the previous approval of the Central Government, grant exemption from this rule. Even assuming that the Corporation registered under the English Companies Act, cannot be registered under the Indian Act (assuming that S. 253 of the Indian Act, 1913

[13] Section 4 (1) forbids grant of a mining lease after the commencement of the Act otherwise than in accordance with the rules made under the Act. Any mining lease granted contrary to the provisions of sub-section (1) would be void and of no effect. The Act 53 of 1948 and the Mineral Concession Rules were promulgated on the same date. On the question of interpretation, therefore the Courts have got to construe S. 4 of Act 53 of 1948 together with the R. 62 which has been made by the Central Government under S. 5 of the Act. 1953 S C J 373 : (1953) 1 M L J 743; AIR 1953 S C 252; (1871) 6 Ch. A C 875, Hel. ou. Rule 62 of the Mineral Concession Rules is a contemporaneous exposition to the effect that renewal of the pre-Act lease after the commencement of the Act is tantamount to a "grant of a lease" within the meaning of the expression in Ss. 4 and 5 of Act 53 of 1948. The language of S. 4 of Act 53 of 1948 is unqualified and absolute. There is no exception in favour of grants in pursuance of the earlier contracts. A lease granted in pursuance of an earlier contract of renewal comes within the mischief of Ss. 4 and 5 and also rule 26. The lease cannot be renewed unless the lessee holds a certificate of approval from the State Government. ('60) 38 Pat 1160 (1192, 1194) (DB).

[1] The Central Government, while deciding an application under R. 54, is acting in a quasi-judicial capacity. There is prima facie a lis in such a case as between the person to whom the lease has been granted and the person who is aggrieved by the refusal and therefore prima facie it is the duty of the authority which has to review the matter to act judicially and there is nothing in R. 54 to the contrary. As such it is incumbent upon it before coming to a decision to give a reasonable opportunity to the other party in the review application whose rights were being affected, to represent his case. 1960 S C 608 (609) [A I R V 47 C 94] : 1960-2 S C R 775 : ILR (1960) 2 Punj 43. - (f) the compulsory notification of all new borings and shaft sinkings, and the preservation of boring records and specimens of cores of all new bore-holes ;
- (g) the taking of samples from mines and new bore-holes ;

7. Power to make rules for modification of existing leases.

(1) The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules for the purpose of modifying or altering the terms and conditions of any mining lease granted prior to the commencement of this Act so as to bring such lease into conformity with the rules made under sections 5 and 6 :

Provided that any rules so made which provide for the matters mentioned in clause (c) of sub-section (2) shall not come into force until they have been approved, either with or without modifications, by <sup>a</sup>[the House of the People].

(2) The rules made under sub-section (1) shall provide —

- (a) for giving previous notice of the modification or alteration proposed to be made thereunder to the lessee, and where the lessor is not the Central Government, also to the lessor, and for affording them an opportunity of showing cause against the proposal ;
- (b) for the payment of compensation by the party who would be benefited by the proposed modification or alteration to the party whose rights under the existing lease would thereby be adversely affected ; and
- (c) for the principles on which, the manner in which and the authority by which the said compensation shall be determined.

[a] Substituted, for "the Central Legislature", by A. L. O., 1950, [26-1-1950].

8. Delegation.

The Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, direct that any power exercisable under this Act shall be exercised, subject to such conditions, if any, as may be specified therein by such officer or authority as may be specified in the direction.

9. Penalties.

(1) Any rule made under any of the provisions of this Act may provide that any contravention thereof shall be punishable with imprisonment which may

Section 7 — Note 1

[1] It cannot be urged that where a mining lease has been granted before the Act and the Rules came into force, it is only the rules framed under S. 7 which will affect any sub-lease granted by the lessee even though the sub-lease is after the date on which the Act and the Rules came into force. 1960 S C 1373 (1375) [AIR V 47 C 250].

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] Under R. 4 of the Mineral Concession Rules, 1949, made by the Central Government the authority to frame rules with respect to minor minerals has been delegated to State Governments. Hence the rules framed by the Rajasthan Government with respect to minor minerals are valid. (2) Whoever, after having been convicted of any offence referred to in sub-section (1), continues to commit such offence shall be punishable for each day after the date of the first conviction during which he continues so to offend, with fine which may extend to one hundred rupees.

10. Rules to be laid before the Legislature.

All rules made under any of the provisions of this Act shall be laid before **[the House of the People]* as soon as may be after they are made.

[THE INDIAN] OILSEEDS COMMITTEE ACT, 1946

(ACT IX OF 1946)*

[18th April, 1946.]

An Act to provide for the creation of a fund to be expended by a Committee specially constituted for the improvement and development of the cultivation and marketing of oilseeds and of the production, manufacture and marketing of oilseed products.

WHEREAS it is expedient to provide for the creation of a fund to be expended by a Committee specially constituted in this behalf for the improvement and development of the cultivation and marketing of oilseeds and of the production, manufacture and marketing of oilseed products ;

It is hereby enacted as follows :—

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1946, Part V, dated 26-1-1946 ; and for Report of the Select Committee, see ibid, page 131.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and Merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950], and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

1. Short title and extent.

(1) This Act may be called THE INDIAN OILSEEDS COMMITTEE ACT, 1946.

*[(2) It extends to the whole of India :

Provided that it shall not apply to the State of Jammu and Kashmir except to the extent to which the provisions of this Act relate to the levy and collection of the duty of excise and the duty of customs specified therein.]

[a] Substituted for the former sub-section (2), by the Jammu and Kashmir (Extension of Laws) Act, 1956 (LXII of 1956), S. 2 and Schedule [1-11-1956].

2. Definitions.

In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context—

- (a) "approved growers' association" means an association of growers approved by resolution of the Committee for the purposes of clause (g) of section 4 ;
- (b) "Collector" means the officer appointed by the Central Government to perform in any specified area the duties of a Collector under the provisions of this Act and the rules made thereunder, and includes any officer subordinate to that officer whom he may by order in writing authorize to perform his duties under those provisions ;
- (c) "the Committee" means the *[Indian Central Oilseeds Committee] constituted under this Act ;
- (d) "Fund" means the Oilseeds Improvement Fund referred to in sub-section (2) of section 3 ;
- (e) "grower" means an agriculturist who grows oilseeds, with or without the aid of hired labour ;

<sup>b</sup>[(f) "mill" means any premises in which or in any part of which oilseeds are crushed or are ordinarily crushed with the aid of power ;

Explanation. — "Power" means electrical energy or any other form of energy which is mechanically transmitted and is not generated by human or animal agency ;]

(g) "oilseeds" does not include coconuts ;

(h) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act.

[a] Substituted for "Indian Oilseeds Committee" by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1949 (XL of 1949), S. 3 and Schedule II [1-5-1949]. [b] Substituted for clause (f), by the Indian Oilseeds Committee (Amendment) Act, 1952 (LXVIII of 1952), S. 2 [w. e. f. 1-4-1953].

3. Imposition of oilseeds cess.

(1) There shall be levied and collected on and after the date of the commencement of this Act as cesses for the purposes of this Act,—

(a) on all oils extracted from oilseeds crushed in any mill in <sup>a</sup>[India], whether the oilseeds are produced in or imported from outside <sup>b</sup>[India], a duty of excise <sup>c</sup>[at the rate of seventeen naye paise per quintal], and

(b) on all oilseeds exported out of <sup>b</sup>[India] to a destination outside India, a duty of customs <sup>d</sup>[at the rate of thirty-three naye paise per quintal] ;

Provided that the Central Government may from time to time and after consulting the Committee fix by notification in the Official Gazette a lesser rate at which the duty of excise or duty of customs shall be levied and collected ;

Provided further that no such duty of customs shall be levied on any oilseeds exported under a contract for export entered into before the aforesaid date.

(2) On the last day of each month, or as soon thereafter as may be convenient, the proceeds of the duties recovered during that month shall, after deduction of the expenses, if any, of collection and recovery, be paid to the Committee and the Committee shall credit the said proceeds and any other monies received by it to a fund to be called the Oilseeds Improvement Fund.

[a] Substituted for "the territories to which this Act extends", by the Jammu and Kashmir (Extension of Laws) Act, 1956 (LXII of 1956), S. 2 and Sch. [1-11-1956] b] Substituted for "the said territories", ibid. [c] Substituted for "at the rate of one anna per maund", by the Customs Duties and Cesses (Conversion to Metric Units) Act, 1960 (XL of 1960), S. 7 [1-10-1960]. [d] Substituted for "at the rate of two annas per maund", ibid.

4. Constitution of Indian Oilseeds Committee.

As soon as may be after the commencement of this Act, the Central Government shall cause to be constituted a Committee consisting of the following members, to receive for credit to the Fund the proceeds of the duties and to administer the Fund, namely :—

Note.—The Indian Central Oil Seeds Committee, constituted under this section, consists of persons representing all the bodies or associations of persons interested in the improvement and development of the cultivation and marketing of oil-seeds and of the production, manufacture and marketing of oil-seed products.

5. Incorporation of the Committee.

The Committee shall be a body corporate by the name of the <sup>a</sup>[Indian Central Oilseeds Committee], having perpetual succession and a common seal with power to acquire and hold property, both movable and immovable and to contract, and shall by the said name sue and be sued.

[a] Substituted for "Indian Oilseeds Committee", by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1949 (XL of 1949), S. 3 and Sch. II [1-5-1949].

6. Vacancies.

(1) If, within the period prescribed in this behalf, or within such further period as the Central Government may allow, any authority or body fails to make any nomination or election which it is entitled to make under section 4, the Central Government may itself appoint a member to fill the vacancy in the Committee.

(2) Where a member of the Committee dies, resigns or is removed, or ceases to reside in India or becomes incapable of acting, the Central Government may, on the recommendation of the authority or body which was entitled to make the first nomination or election under section 4, or where such recommendation is not made within a reasonable time, then on its own initiative, appoint a person to fill the vacancy.

(3) No act done by the Committee shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or any defect in the constitution of, the Committee.

7. President of Committee, Secretary, sub-committees and staff.

<sup>a</sup>[(1) The Central Government may appoint any of the persons referred to in section 4 or any other person to be the President of the Committee, and if any other person is so appointed that other person shall be deemed to be a member of the Committee for all the purposes of this Act.]

(2) The Central Government shall appoint a person to be the Secretary of the Committee and such person shall be paid by the Committee such salary and such allowances as may be fixed by the Central Government.

(3) The Committee may appoint such sub-committees and staff as may be necessary for the efficient performance of its functions under this Act.

[a] Substituted for sub-section (1) by the Indian Oilseeds Committee (Amendment) Act, 1952 (LXVIII of 1952), S. 4 [w. e. f. 1-4-1953].

8. Appointment of officers.

The Central Government may, on the recommendation of the Committee, appoint an officer or officers, to discharge under the direction of the Committee such duties as may be prescribed, and such officer or officers shall be paid by the Committee such salary and allowances as may be fixed by the Central Government.

9. Application of Fund.

(1) The Committee shall apply the Fund to meet the expenses of the Committee and the cost of such measures as it may consider necessary or expedient to take for the improvement and development of the cultivation and marketing of oilseeds and of the production, utilisation and marketing of oilseed products.

(2) Without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, the Committee may utilise the Fund to defray expenditure involved in—

- (a) undertaking, assisting or encouraging agricultural, industrial, technological and economic research, including research into the food-value of oilseeds and oilseed products;
- (b) supplying technical advice to growers and millers;
- (c) encouraging the adoption of improved methods of cultivation and storage of oilseeds;

- (d) producing, testing and distributing improved varieties of oilseeds or assisting such work;
- (e) assisting in the control of insect and other pests and diseases of oilseeds both in the field and in storage;
- (f) promoting the improvement of the marketing of oilseeds and their products including the setting up and adoption of grade standards for oilseeds and their products;
- (g) collecting statistics from growers, dealers and millers on all relevant matters and promoting improvement in the forecasting of oilseed crops and the preparation of all relevant statistics relating to oilseeds and oilseed products;
- (h) maintaining, and assisting in the maintenance of, such institutes, farms and stations as it may consider necessary;
- (i) advising and providing assistance on all matters connected with the improvement of the cultivation of oilseeds (including advising on the best and most suitable varieties of oilseeds to be cultivated) and the improvement of the industries using oilseeds or their products;
- (j) promoting and encouraging the co-operative movement in the oilseeds industry;
- (k) adopting such measures as may be practicable for assuring remunerative returns to growers;
- (l) organising the establishment of growers', millers' and consumers' associations;
- (m) aiding and encouraging the establishment of exhibitions for demonstrating the uses of oilseeds and oilseed products;
- (n) adopting any other measures or performing any other duties which it may be required by the Central Government to adopt or perform or which the Committee may itself think necessary or advisable in order to carry out the purposes of this Act.

10. Delivery of monthly returns.

(1) The owner of every mill shall furnish to the Collector, on or before the 7th day of each month, a return stating the total amount of oils extracted in the mill during the preceding month, together with such further information in regard thereto as may be prescribed :

Provided that no return shall be required in regard to oils extracted before the commencement of this Act.

(2) Every such return shall be made in such form and shall be verified in such manner as may be prescribed.

11. Collection of duty of excise.

(1) On receiving any return made under section 10, the Collector shall assess the amount of the duty of excise payable under section 3 in respect of the period to which the return relates, and if the amount has not already been paid, shall cause a notice to be served, upon the owner of the mill requiring him to make payment of the amount assessed within thirty days of the service of the notice.

(2) If the owner of any mill fails to furnish in due time the return referred to in sub-section (1) of section 10 or furnishes a return which the Collector has reason to believe is incorrect or defective, the Collector shall assess the amount, if any, payable by him in such manner as may be prescribed, and the provisions of sub-section (1) shall thereupon apply as if such assessment had been made on the basis of a return furnished by the owner :

Provided that, in the case of a return which he has reason to believe is incorrect or defective, the Collector shall not assess the duty of excise at an amount higher than that at which it is assessable on the basis of the return without giving to the owner a reasonable opportunity of proving the correctness and completeness of the return.

(3) A notice under sub-section (1) may be served on the owner of a mill either by post or by delivering it or tendering it to the owner or his agent at the mill.

Note. — Any owner of a mill, if he is aggrieved by the order of assessment made under this section, may apply to the District Judge or in a Presidency Town to the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court for cancellation or modification of the assessment, within three months of service of the notice referred to in sub-section (1). The decision of the District Judge or the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court, as the case may be, shall be final. See next section.

12. Finality of assessment and recovery of unpaid duty of excise.

(1) Any owner of a mill who is aggrieved by an assessment made under section 11 may, within three months of service of the notice referred to in sub-section (1) of that section, apply to the District Judge, or in a Presidency-town, to the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court for the cancellation or modification of the assessment and, on such application, the said Judge may cancel or modify the assessment and order the refund to such owner of the whole or part, as the case may be, of any amount paid thereunder.

(2) The decision under sub-section (1) of the District Judge or the Chief Judge of the Small Cause Court, as the case may be, shall be final.

(3) Any sum recoverable under section 11 may be recovered as an arrear of land-revenue.

13. Power to inspect mills and take copies of records and accounts.

(1) The Collector or any officer empowered by general or special order of the Central Government in this behalf shall have free access at all reasonable times during working hours to any mill or to any part of any mill.

(2) The Collector or any such officer may, at any time during working hours, with or without notice to the owner, examine the purchase, sale and stock records and accounts of any mill and take copies of or extracts from all or any of the said records or accounts for the purpose of testing the accuracy of any return or of informing himself as to the particulars regarding which information is required for the purposes of this Act or any rules made thereunder :

Provided that nothing in this section shall be deemed to authorize the examination of any description or formulae of any trade process.

14. Information acquired to be confidential.

(1) All such copies and extracts and all information acquired by a Collector or any other officer from an inspection of any mill or warehouse or from any return submitted under this Act shall be treated as confidential.

(2) If the Collector or any such officer discloses to any person other than a superior officer any such information as aforesaid without the previous sanction of the Central Government, he shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to six months and shall also be liable to fine :

Provided that nothing in this section shall apply to the disclosure of any such information for the purposes of a prosecution in respect of the making of a false return under this Act.

15. Keeping and auditing of accounts.

(1) The Committee shall publish an annual report and shall keep accounts of all duty and other monies received by it under this Act and of the manner in which the Fund is expended and shall also publish a summary of the accounts along with the annual report.

(2) Such accounts shall be examined and audited annually in the prescribed manner, and the auditors shall have power to disallow any item which has been, in their opinion, expended otherwise than in pursuance of the purposes of this Act.

(3) If any item is disallowed, an appeal shall lie to the Central Government whose decision shall be final.

16. Dissolution of Committee.

The Central Government may, with the previous approval of '[* * *]' [the House of the People], by notification in the Official Gazette, declare that, with effect from such date as may be specified in the notification, the Committee shall be dissolved, and on the making of such declaration all funds and other property vested in the Committee shall vest in '[* * *]' the Central Government and this Act shall be deemed to have been repealed.

[THE] OPIUM ACT, 1857

(ACT XIII OF 1857)*

[6th June, 1857.]

An Act to consolidate and amend the law relating to the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium <sup>b</sup>[* *].

Preamble.

WHEREAS the existing law relating to the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium on account of Government is in some respects inconsistent with the practice which now obtains under agreement between the Opium Agents and the cultivators, and it is expedient that such inconsistency should be removed;

AND WHEREAS it is also expedient <sup>c</sup>[* * *] that the laws for preventing the illicit cultivation of the poppy, and for regulating the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium on account of Government, should be consolidated and amended;

It is enacted as follows :—

[a] Short title to the Act was given by the Amending Act, 1903 (I of 1903), Sch. I.

This Act has been declared to be in force throughout the former Province of Bengal and the former North-Western Provinces except the Scheduled Districts by the Laws Local Extent Act, 1874 (XV of 1874), Ss. 6 and 7.

It has also been declared to be in force in the Santhal Parganas by Regulation III of 1872, S. 3 (1) and Sch. ; and in Oudh, subject to certain modifications, by the Oudh Laws Act, 1876 (XVIII of 1876), S. 3 (e) and Sch. II. Sections 21 to 23 and 25 to 29 of the Act have been declared to be in force in the C. P. by the C. P. Laws Act, 1875 (XX of 1875), S. 3 and Sch.

It has been declared by Notification under the Scheduled Districts Act, 1874 (XIV of 1874), S. 3, to be in force in :—

West Jalpaiguri in the Jalpaiguri District . . . see Gaz. of Ind. ; 1881, Pt. I, p. 74.

Kumaon, Garhwal, the Schedule portion of the Mirzapur District and the Tarai Parganas . . . . . see Gaz. of Ind., 1879, Pt. I, p. 383.

The Districts of Hazaribagh, Ranchi, Palamau and Manbhum, and Pargana Dhalbhum and the Kolhan and the Porahat Estate in the district of Singhbhum, in the Chota Nagpur Division . . . . . see Gaz. of Ind., 1881, Pt. I, p. 504.

The Act has been extended to the new provinces and Merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to States merged in the State of :—

Madhya Pradesh see M. P. Act XII of 1950, S. 3 [3-4-1950].

Punjab : see Punjab Act V of 1950, S. 3 [15-4-1950].

The validity of the Act is not affected by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), or by the rules made thereunder ; see S. 39 (2) of that Act.

[c] The words "in the Presidency of Fort William in Bengal" were omitted by the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act, 1950 (XXXIII of 1950), S. 2 and Sch. [18-4-1950]. [c] The words "that certain obsolete Regulations relating to the provision of opium should be formally repealed and" were omitted by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).

*[1. Short title and extent.

(1) This Act may be called THE OPIUM ACT, 1857.

(2) It extends to the whole of India b[* * *].

[a] Inserted by the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act, 1950 (XXXIII of 1950), S. 2 and Sch. [18-4-1950]. The original section 1 was omitted by Act XIV of 1870. [b] The words "except the State of Jammu and Kashmir" were omitted by the Jammu and Kashmir (Extension of Laws) Act, 1958 (LXII of 1958), S. 2 and Sch. [1-11-1958].

2. Prohibition of poppy cultivation and opium manufacture. [Repealed by the Opium Act, 1878 (I of 1878).]

*[3. Appointment of officers to superintend provision of opium.

(1) The a[Central Government], after consideration of any recommendation made in this behalf by the a[State Government] of the a[State] for which the appointment is to be made, may appoint Opium Agents to superintend the provision of opium for b[the Central Government].

(2) The a[Central Government] may appoint officers to assist the Opium Agents, under the designation of Deputy Agents, district opium officers, assistant opium officers, or such other designations as it may think fit and may delegate to the Opium Agents the power of appointing all or any of such officers.

(3) Unless the a[Central Government], after consideration of any recommendation made by the State Government in this behalf, otherwise directs, the Collector shall be Deputy Agent for his district.

(4) The a[Central Government] may by rule prescribe the powers and duties of officers appointed under this section.]

[a] Substituted for the original section by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

4. Officers amenable to Civil Courts.

The Opium Agents, and their subordinate officers of every description, are declared amenable to the Civil Courts for all acts done by them in their official capacity, except as otherwise herein provided.

Bar of suit without previous application to agent for redress.

But no suit shall be instituted against an Agent, or any subordinate officer, for any act done in his official capacity, unless the person who shall consider himself aggrieved by the act of such Agent or officer shall have first made application for redress to the Agent himself.

In the event of such person not being satisfied with the order which the Agent may pass upon his application, it shall then be competent to him either to lay his case by petition before a[the Central Government], or at once to seek redress in the Civil Court.

[a] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

5. Sanction to suit by Agent.

The Opium Agents shall not in their official capacity institute any suit in a Civil Court without the previous sanction of a[the Central Government].

[a] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

*[6. Power of Central Government to appoint officer to conduct suits.

b[The Central Government] may take upon itself, or entrust to an officer specially appointed for the purpose, the superintendence of the prosecution or defence of any suit or appeal in which b[the Central Government] or an Agent, or any other officer subordinate to <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government], may be engaged, instead of leaving such superintendence to the Agent or any other officer.]

[a] Substituted for the original section 6, by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Substituted for "Government" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

7. Board to fix limits of cultivation and price to be paid to cultivators.

<sup>b</sup>[The Central Government] shall from time to time fix the price to be paid to the cultivators for the opium produced.

The price shall be fixed at a certain sum per seer of eighty tolas for opium of a certain standard consistence, and shall be subject to a rateable reduction according to a scale sanctioned by <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government], for opium of a consistence below the standard.

[a] The words "The Board of Revenue with the sanction of" were omitted by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

8. Issue of licenses.

The <sup>a</sup>[district opium officers] or other officers entrusted with the superintendence of the cultivation shall, at the proper period of the year, issue licenses to the cultivators who may choose to engage to cultivate the poppy and to deliver the produce to the officers of <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government] at the established rates.

What to be specified in license.

Every license shall specify the number of bighas which the party engages and is authorized to cultivate, and shall be in such form as the Agent, with the sanction of <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government] may direct. A counterpart engagement, in conformity with the tenor of the license, shall be taken from the cultivator.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agents" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

9. Cultivator to have option to engage to cultivate or not. Officers compelling cultivator to engage liable to be dismissed.

It shall be at the option of every cultivator to enter into engagements for the cultivation of the poppy or not as he may think fit; and any <sup>a</sup>[district opium officer] or other officer as aforesaid, or any inferior officer employed in the provision of opium, who shall compel, or use any means to compel, any cultivator to enter into engagements, or to receive advances, for the cultivation of the poppy, shall be liable to be dismissed from his situation.

District opium officer may withhold license to cultivate.

It shall be at the option of the <sup>a</sup>[district opium officer] or other officer as aforesaid to withhold a license from any cultivator whenever he may think proper so to do.

Appeal.

Any person to whom a license has been refused may appeal to the Agent and the decision of the Agent shall be final.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch.

10. Penalty on cultivator receiving advances and not cultivating full quantity of land. Adjudication of penalty.

If it shall be found that any cultivator who has received advances from the Government has not cultivated the full quantity of land for which he received such advances, he shall be liable to a penalty of three times the amount of the advances received for the land which he has failed to cultivate; and the said penalty may be adjudged by the Deputy Agent or Collector, on the complaint of the <sup>a</sup>[district opium officer] or other officer as aforesaid.

Appeal.

Any person dissatisfied with the judgment of the Deputy Agent or Collector may appeal to the Agent, and the decision of the Agent shall be final.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch.

11. Delivery of opium produced.

All opium the produce of land cultivated with poppy on account of <sup>a</sup>[the Central Government], shall be delivered by the cultivators to the <sup>b</sup>[district opium officers] or <sup>c</sup>[other officers duly authorized to receive such opium], or shall be brought by them to the sadar factory, as the Agent may direct.

Opium not liable to distress or attachment. Value thereof may be attached.

And no such opium shall be liable to be distrained or attached by zamindar or other proprietor, or a farmer of land, for the recovery of arrears of rent, or by any other creditor of a cultivator under any order or decree of Court, but the sum due to the cultivator on account of such opium may be attached by order of Court in the hands of the Agent or <sup>d</sup>[other] officer under the rules in force for such attachments.

12. Opium to be weighed and classified by district opium officer.

All opium delivered by the cultivators to the <sup>a</sup>[district opium officer] or <sup>b</sup>[other officer authorized as aforesaid] shall, before it is forwarded to the sadar factory, be weighed, examined and classified according to its quality and consistence by that officer, or his assistant if duly authorized by the Agent in that behalf, in the presence of the cultivators and in conformity with rules sanctioned by <sup>c</sup>[the Central Government].

Proceeding where cultivator is dissatisfied with classification.

Any cultivator who may be dissatisfied with the classification of the <sup>d</sup>[receiving officer] shall be at liberty either to take his opium to the sadar factory, or to have it forwarded thither by such officer separate from the opium respecting which no dispute has arisen.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Substituted for "other district officer," ibid. [c] Substituted for "Government" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [d] Substituted for "district officer" by Act XXVII of 1925, S. 2 and Sch.

13. Weighing and examination at sadar factory.

All opium forwarded by the <sup>a</sup>[receiving] officers to the sadar factory, and all opium delivered at the sadar factory, by the cultivators, shall be there weighed and examined by the Opium Examiner or other officer duly authorized in that behalf, agreeably to rules sanctioned by <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government]; and the quality and consistence of the opium, and deductions from or additions (if any) to the standard price to be made in accordance with the said rules, shall be determined by the result of such examination.

The decision of the Examiner, or of the Agent in cases in which a reference to the Agent may be prescribed by the said rules, shall be final and conclusive, and not open to question in any Court.

[a] Substituted for "district" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch. [b] Substituted for "Government" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

14. Confiscation of adulterated opium.

When opium delivered by a cultivator, either to a *[receiving] officer, or at the sadar factory, is suspected of being adulterated with any foreign substance it shall be immediately sealed up pending examination by the Opium Examiner, and notice of such intended examination shall be given to the cultivator.

Adjudication of confiscation.

If upon such examination the opium shall be found to be so adulterated, the Agent on the report of the Examiner may order that it be confiscated, and the order of the Agent shall be final and not open to question in any Court.

[a] Substituted for "district" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Sch.

15. Weights and scales ;

The weights and scales made use of in the sadar factories and at the district kothis shall be provided by *[the Central Government].

examination thereof.

Every <sup>b</sup>[district opium officer] shall annually, before beginning to weigh the opium of the season, examine the weights and scales in use in his district and shall report the result of such examination to the Agent.

The Agent shall make a similar examination of the weights and scales of the sadar factory, and shall report the result to *[the Central Government].

No weights or scales shall be made use of which on any such examination have not been found to be strictly accurate.

It shall be the duty of all officers who may superintend the weighing of opium to see that the opium is weighed fairly with an even beam ; and the practice of taking excess weight for the purpose of turning the scale, or as an allowance for dryage and wastage, is hereby prohibited.

[a] Substituted for "Government" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] Substituted for "district officer", by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule.

16. Adjustment of cultivators' accounts and recovery of balance by distress.

The accounts of the cultivators shall be adjusted annually by the *[district opium officers or other officers duly authorized in this behalf] as soon after the conclusion of the weighing and examination as possible ; and any balance that may remain due from any cultivator, or from any mahto or intermediate manager, may be recovered by the *[adjusting officer] by distress and sale of the property of the defaulter or of his surety, in the same manner and under the same rules as the property of defaulting cultivators in estates held khas may be distrained and sold by the Collector for the recovery of an arrear of rent or revenue :

Sanction to issue of warrant.

Provided that no warrant of distress and sale shall be issued by any *[adjusting officer] without the sanction of the Agent previously obtained.

[a] Substituted for "district officer" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule.

17. Penalty on officer taking bribes.

Any officer of the Opium Department who shall receive any fee, gratuity, perquisite or allowance, either in money or effects, under any pretence whatsoever, from any cultivator, or from any other person employed or concerned in the provision of opium, other than the authorized allowances of his situation, shall be dismissed from his office, and, on conviction before a Magistrate, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

18. Exactions by landholder from raiyat recoverable, together with penalty, in summary suit before Collector.

If any zamindar or other proprietor of land, or any farmer of land shall exact from any *raiya*t on account of his poppy land any illegal cess or any higher rate of rent than he is lawfully entitled to demand, the raiyat, or the *[district opium officer] or *[other officer duly authorized in this behalf], may institute a suit before the Collector, and recover from such proprietor or farmer the sum exacted by him in excess of his lawful demand, together with a penalty of treble the amount of such excess ; and such suit shall be tried according to the rules prescribed for suits instituted before a Collector relating to arrears or exactions of rent.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule. [b] Substituted for "other district officer on his behalf", ibid.

19. Penalty for embezzlement of opium by cultivator.

Any cultivator entering into engagements for the cultivation of the poppy on account of *[the Central Government] who may embezzle, or otherwise illegally dispose of, any part of the opium produced shall be liable to a penalty not exceeding ten times the fixed price of the opium which he may be proved to have so disposed of, or to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees if the amount of the said penalty be less than that sum, and the opium, if found, shall be liable to confiscation.

[a] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

20. Penalty for illegal purchase of opium from cultivator ;

Any person purchasing or receiving any opium from a cultivator or other person who may have entered into engagements for the cultivation of the poppy, or who may be employed in the provision of opium on account of *[the Central Government], or bargaining for the purchase of opium with such cultivator or person, or in any way causing or encouraging such cultivator or person to embezzle or illegally dispose of any opium, and for illegal connivance at embezzlement by opium officer.

and any officer of the Opium Department conniving in any way at the embezzlement or illegal disposal of any opium, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, unless the opium purchased, bargained for or illegally disposed of shall exceed the weight of thirty-one seers and a quarter, in which case the fine may be increased, at a rate not exceeding thirty-two rupees per seer for all such opium in excess of that weight ; and the opium, if found, shall be liable to confiscation.

[a] Substituted for "Government", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

21. Penalty for unlicensed cultivation.

Any person who shall cultivate the poppy without license from a *[district opium officer] or other officer duly authorized in that behalf, and any person who shall in any way cause, encourage or promote such illegal cultivation, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees, unless the quantity of land so illegally cultivated shall exceed twenty bighas, in which case the fine may be at the rate of twenty five rupees per bigha ; and the poppy plants shall be destroyed, or, if any opium have been extracted from them, it shall be seized and confiscated.

If the opium shall have been extracted and shall not be seized, the offender shall be liable to a further fine not exceeding the rate of thirty-two rupees per bigha of land illegally cultivated.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent", by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule.

22. Duty of landholder and others to give information of illegal cultivation.

All proprietors, farmers, tahsildars, gumashias and other managers of land shall give immediate information to the police or abkari darogas, or opium gumashias, or to the Magistrates, Collectors or officers in charge of the abkari mahal, or to the Agents, their deputies or *[the district opium officers], of all poppy which may be illegally cultivated within the estates or farms held or managed by them ; and every proprietor, farmer, tahsildar, gumashta or other manager of land, who shall knowingly neglect to give such information, shall be liable to the penalties for illegal cultivation prescribed in the last preceding section.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputies" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule.

23. Duty of police and other officer to give information of illegal cultivation.

All police and abkari darogas, and opium gumashtas, and all <sup>a</sup>[* * *] officers of the Government of whatever description, and all chaukidars, paiks and other village police-officers, shall give immediate information to the authority to which they are subordinate when it may come to their knowledge that any land has been illegally cultivated with poppy ; and such authority shall transmit the information to the <sup>b</sup>[district opium officer] or other officer superintending the cultivation of the poppy if in a district where the poppy is cultivated on account of <sup>c</sup>[the Central Government], or to the Collector or officer in charge of the abkari mahal if in a district where the poppy is not so cultivated.

Every police or abkari daroga, opium gumashta, <sup>a</sup>[* * *] officer, chaukidar or other police-officer as aforesaid, who shall neglect to give such information, or shall in any respect connive at the illicit cultivation of the poppy, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees if the offender be an officer of the Opium Department, or in any other case to a fine not exceeding five hundred rupees.

[a] The word "native" was omitted by A. L. O., 1950 [26-1-1950]. [b] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule. [c] Substituted for "Government" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

24. Police or abkari daroga how to proceed in case of illegal cultivation.

Whenever a police or abkari daroga or opium gumashta shall receive intelligence of any land within his jurisdiction having been illegally cultivated with poppy, he shall immediately proceed to the spot, and, if the information be correct, shall attach the crop so illegally cultivated, and report the same without delay to the authority to which he may be subordinate.

He shall at the same time take security from the cultivator of the said land for his appearance before the Magistrate ; and, in the event of such cultivator not giving the required security, he shall send him in custody to the Magistrate.

25. Landholders, etc., may attach in case of illegal cultivation.

Proprietors, farmers, tahsildars, gumashtas and other managers of land shall be at liberty to attach any poppy grown in opposition to the provisions of this Act in any estate or farm held or managed by them, and shall immediately report such attachment to the nearest police or abkari daroga or opium gumashta, who shall thereupon proceed in conformity with the rules contained in the last preceding section.

26. Adjudication of penalties.

Except as otherwise herein provided, all fines, penalties and confiscations prescribed by this Act shall be adjudged by the Magistrate on the information of the Deputy Agent or <sup>a</sup>[district opium officer] in districts in which the poppy is cultivated on account of <sup>b</sup>[the Central Government], and in other districts on the information of the Collector or officer in charge of the abkari mahal :

Provided that no information of an offence against this Act shall be admitted unless it be preferred within the period of one year after the commission of the offence to which the information refers.

[a] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Agent" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule. [b] Substituted for "Government" A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

27. Imprisonment in default of payment of fine.

When any person is sentenced to pay any fine or penalty under this Act, such person, in default of payment of the same, may be imprisoned by order of the Magistrate for any time not exceeding six months or until the fine is sooner paid.

28. Punishment for repetition of offences.

Whenever any person shall be convicted of an offence against this Act after having been previously convicted of a like offence, he shall be liable, in addition to the penalty attached to such offence, to imprisonment for a period not exceeding six months; and a like punishment of imprisonment not exceeding six months shall be incurred, in addition to the punishment, which may be inflicted for a first offence, upon every subsequent conviction after the second.

29. Place of imprisonment under section 28.

Every person who shall be imprisoned under the last preceding section, or on account of the non-payment of any fine or penalty prescribed by this Act, unless such person be an officer of the Government or a village police-officer convicted of an offence under section 17, 20 or 23, shall be imprisoned in the civil jail.

30. Disposal of fines and forfeitures.

One-half of all fines and penalties levied from persons convicted of offences under sections 19, 20 and 21 of this Act, together with a reward of one rupee eight annas for each seer of opium confiscated and declared by the Civil Surgeon to be fit for use, shall, upon adjudication of the case, be awarded to the officer or officers who apprehended the offender, and the other half of such fines and forfeitures, together with a reward of one rupee eight annas for each seer of opium confiscated as aforesaid, shall be given to the informer.

If in any case the fine or penalty is not realized, the *[Opium Agent] may grant such reasonable reward, not exceeding the sum of two hundred rupees, as may seem to <sup>b</sup>[him] fit.

[a] Substituted for "Board of Revenue" by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule. [b] Substituted for "them", ibid.

31. Central Government may allow free cultivation of poppy and manufacture of opium in any district.

The Central Government may authorize, by an order *[* * *] the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium in any district or districts without license from a <sup>b</sup>[district opium officer] or other officer of the Government; and, when such order has been published, all the provisions of this Act shall cease to have effect in such district or districts:

Power to prescribe rules for delivery to Government officers.

Provided always that <sup>c</sup>[the Central Government] may prescribe rules for the delivery of the opium so produced to officers of the Government appointed to receive it; and, when such rules have been passed, any cultivator or other person engaged in the cultivation of the poppy and manufacture of opium who shall dispose of any opium otherwise than is allowed by such rules, and any person who shall purchase or receive any such opium in contravention of the said rules, shall be subject to the penalties prescribed in section 19 of this Act; and such penalties may be adjudged by a Magistrate on the information of any officer of the Government or of any other person.

[a] The words "of Government" were omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] Substituted for "Sub-Deputy Opium Agent", by the Opium (Amendment) Act, 1925 (XXVII of 1925), S. 2 and Schedule. [c] Substituted for "the Government" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The present Bill has the following objects: first to enable the Governor-General in Council to bring the Opium Act, 1878, into force in such local areas and at such respective dates as he thinks fit; secondly, to remove the doubts as to whether sections 4 and 5 of that Act admitted of the free export and import of opium, when thought desirable; thirdly, to permit and regulate, by rules framed under that Act, section 8, the form of opium-duties and to facilitate the recovery of their dues by farmers; lastly, to correct a clerical error in section 22 of the same Act."—Gazette of India, 1877, part V, page 645.

[THE] OPIUM ACT, 1878
(ACT I OF 1878)***

[9th January, 1878.]

An Act to amend the law relating to opium.

Preamble

WHEREAS it is expedient to amend the law relating to opium; it is hereby enacted as follows :

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1877, Pt. V, p. 645.

The Act has been declared in force in the Sonthal Parganas by the Sonthal Parganas Settlement Regulation, 1872 (III of 1872), S. 3; in the Khondmals District by the Khondmals Laws Regulation, 1938 (IV of 1938), S. 3 and Sch.; and in the Angul District by the Angul Laws Regulation, 1938 (V of 1938), S. 3 and Sch.

This Act has been extended to the new Provinces and the merged States by the Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (LIX of 1949), S. 3 [1-1-1950] and to the States of Manipur, Tripura and Vindhya Pradesh by the Union Territories (Laws) Act, 1950 (XXX of 1950), S. 3 [16-4-1950].

It has also been extended to States merged in the State of —

Madhya Pradesh, by M. P. Act XII of 1950, S. 3 [3-4-1950].

Madras, by Mad. Act XXXV of 1949, S. 3 [1-1-1950].

Orissa by Ori. Act IV of 1950, S. 4 [3-3-1950].

Punjab, by Punj. Act V of 1950, S. 3 [15-4-1950].

The Act in its application to the Pre-Reorganisation State of Bombay (excluding the transferred territories) has been repealed in whole, see Bombay Repealing and Amending Act, 1959 (Bom. Act LXIII of 1959). As to repeal of this Act in the other areas of the State of Bombay, see Bom. Act XXV of 1949 as amended by Bom. Act XII of 1959.

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE OPIUM ACT, 1878.

Local extent.

*[It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.]

[a] Substituted for the previous clause by the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act, 1950 (XXXIII of 1950), S. 2 and Sch. [18-4-1950]. By S. 2 of this Act all the rules and orders made under this Act which were in force immediately before the commencement of this Act in certain parts of India, were extended to, and would be in force in, the rest of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir. And further by S. 4 any law corresponding to this Act in force in any Part B State, other than Jammu and Kashmir, or in the merged territory of Cooh Behar was repealed, subject to a saving clause.

2. Repeal and amendment of enactments. [Repealed by the Repealing and Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891), and the Amending Act, 1894 (IV of 1894)]

Preamble — Note 1

[1] Apart from providing that the offences under the Opium Act are to be investigated, inquired into and tried in accordance with the provisions of the Cr. P. Code, the Act neither lays down any scheme of procedure for their investigation and trial under the Act, nor is there any section in the Act prohibiting a Magistrate from taking cognizance of any offence under the Act except on a charge-sheet presented by the Police in accordance with the provisions of the Cr. P. Code. Therefore where a Superintendent of Customs and Excise files a charge-sheet on the basis of an investigation by the Police and it is accepted by the Magistrate, the irregularity is curable under S. 537, Cr. P. Code and the whole trial cannot be said to have been vitiated. 1952 Madh-B 17 (21) [AIR V 39]; 1952 Cri L Jour 246.

Section 1 — Note 1

[1] The provisions of the Abkari and Opium Act. are not intended merely to protect the public revenue and the provisions contained therein are based on public policy. (12) 35 Mad 582 (586) (DB).

[2] For complaints under the Abkari Act or under the Opium Act (1 of 1878), the ordinary Criminal Procedure Code, is not applicable, but the procedure contained in those Acts is to be strictly followed; and as complaints by private persons are not provided for by the procedure in those Acts, they must be treated as not properly instituted. 1929 Mad 604 (605) [AIR V 16]; 52 Mad 613; 30 Cri L Jour 1011.

[3] A police officer may be authorized to investigate non-cognizable cases under the Opium Act. But this power of investigation does not necessarily bring the investigation itself under Ch. 14, Cr. P. C. 1942 Cal 593 (597) [AIR V 29]; ILR (1942) 1 Cal 436; 44 Cri L Jour 145 (DB).

3. Interpretation-clause.

In this Act, unless there be something repugnant in the subject or context, —

- <sup>b</sup>[(i) the capsules of the poppy (papaver somniferum L.), whether in their original form or cut, crushed or powdered, and whether or not juice has been extracted therefrom;]
- (ii) the spontaneously coagulated juice of such capsules which has not been submitted to any manipulations other than those necessary for packing and transport; and
- (iii) any mixture, with or without neutral materials, of any of the above forms of opium, but does not include any preparation containing not more than 0·2 per cent. of morphine, or a manufactured drug as defined in section 2 of the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930;]

<sup>d</sup>["customs frontiers" means any of the customs frontiers of India as defined by the Central Government under section 3A of the Sea Customs Act, 1878;

SECTION 3 — SYNOPSIS

1. Opium.
2. Magistrate.
3. Import.
4. Transport.

1. Opium.—[1] Opium as defined in S. 3 does not include opium prepared or in course of preparation such as beinsi and beinchi. Hence a person in possession of both beinsi and beinchi is not guilty under S. 9, Opium Act, but is guilty under S. 10 (b), Dangerous Drugs Act. 1933 Rang 258 (258) [AIR V 20] : 11 Rang 436 : 34 Cri L Jour 1085 (DB).

[2] Pyaungchi and opium refuse are not opium within the meaning of S. 3, Opium Act as amended by Sch. 2, Dangerous Drugs Act. They now come within the definition of 'prepared opium' under S. 2 (f) (ii), Dangerous Drugs Act and possession of prepared opium in contravention of S. 4 (b) of that Act is punishable under S. 10 (b) of that Act and not under S. 9 (a) of Opium Act. 1937 Rang 346 (347) [AIR V 24] : 38 Cri L Jour 1092.

[3] Morphia is an alkaloid prepared from the poppy and is an intoxicating drug and comes within the definition of S. 3 of Opium Act. 1922 Lah 216 (217) [A I R V 9] : 3 Lah 230 : 23 Cri L Jour 580 (DB).

[But see 1920 Lah 263 (263) [A I R V 7] : 1 Lah 443 : 22 Cri L Jour 8].

[4] The substance called Bondika Bhusa which consists of the shells of poppy heads possesses in some measure the active properties of opium and can be used as intoxicant. It therefore comes within the definition of opium. The capsules in the definition include shells of the capsules and preparations of them, as they are parts of the capsule. 1936 Nag 240 (241) [AIR V 23] : I L R (1937) Nag 141 : 38 Cri L Jour 371.

[But see 1956 Punj 159 (160) [A I R V 43 C 58] : I L R (1956) Punj 416 : 1956 Cri L Jour 917 (DB).]

[5] The word "preparation" designates a completed or manufactured article and not an article in process of manufacture, the test being whether the stage has been reached at which it can be used. The word "admixture" refers only to a completed article and can only be applied after the mixing has been finished, and not earlier. The articles designated by both words only come within the scope of their respective definitions when they have been prepared or mixed as the case may be. 1924 Lah 99 (101) [AIR V 11] : 4 Lah 12 : 24 Cri L Jour 668.

[6] Opium in the form of coagulated juice of poppy is so well known in this country being widely used for medicinal and other purposes that any one can identify it and it is unnecessary to call in an expert to establish its identity. If an Excise Inspector says that certain article is crude opium his testimony cannot be looked upon as merely an opinion of an expert and is entitled to weight as evidence even if no reasons are given for the opinion. 1952 All 118 (118) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 288 (DB) * 1952 Ajmer 45 (1) (45) (1) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1386.

[7] The possession of poppy heads from which the opium had already been extracted cannot possibly be intended to be unlawful. 1958 Punj 77 (78) [A I R V 45 C 22] : I L R (1957) Punj 1371 : 1958 Cri L Jour 418 (1).

[8] Where the Excise Inspector, a witness and the accused himself stated that the commodity seized from the possession of the accused was contraband opium, it was held that the commodity must be considered to be opium and need not be sent for chemical analysis. (56) 1956 Raj L W 54 (56).

[9] Where the Excise Inspector was not able to say whether the article seized from the possession of the accused was opium within the meaning of S. 3 but simply stated that the article was opium it was held that the article need not be considered as opium in

"import" and "export", means respectively to bring into, or take out of, a State otherwise than across any customs frontiers;

"transport" means to remove from one place to another within the same State;

"sale" does not include sale for export across customs frontiers, and "sell" shall be construed accordingly.]

[a] Substituted for the original definition by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), S. 40 and Sch. II. [b] Substituted for clause (1), by the Opium Laws (Amendment) Act, 1957 (LII of 1957), S. 2 [21-12-1957]. [c] Cf. definition in sub-section (2) of S. 3 of the Code of Criminal Procedure. [d] Substituted for the former definitions of "import", "export", "transport" and "sale", by the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act, 1950 (XXXIII of 1950), S. 2 (2) and Sch. [18-4-1950].

4. Prohibition of poppy cultivation and possession, etc., of opium.

Except as permitted by this Act, or by any other enactment relating to opium for the time being in force, or by rules framed under this Act or under any such enactment, no one shall—

* * * * *

<sup>a</sup>[(b)] transport opium;

<sup>a</sup>[(c)] import or export opium; or

[a] Sub-clauses (a) and (b), relating to the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium, were omitted and the subsequent sub-clauses relettered, by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), S. 40 and Sch. II.

the absence of chemical analysis. ('57) 1957 Cri L Jour 237 (238) (Raj).

2. Magistrate.—[1] The word 'specially' in S. 3 of the Act, is used in speaking of individuals and in contrast with the word 'generally.' When by a notification of the Government a class of officials is invested with power to try certain offence, such officials are only 'generally empowered.' Per Seshagiri Aiyar J. — Notification empowering all 2nd Class Magistrates to try all offences under the Opium Act is ultra vires of the powers given by the Act, as its effect is to enlarge the definition of Magistrate as given therein. 1915 Mad 1159 (1160) [A I R V 2] : 16 Cri L Jour 268 (DB).

[2] Notification of Government published in the Fort St. George Gazette under date 4th June, 1915 empowered the Second Class Magistrates mentioned in the list appended to the Notification to try cases under the Opium Act. This is a special empowering within the meaning of S. 39, Cr. P. C. 1924 Mad 256 (256) [A I R V 11] : 24 Cri L Jour 846 (DB).

3. Import.—[1] The offence of importing opium is an offence constituted by bringing it into the territory in question. It does not matter where it was before, provided it was outside the province. The offence is in bringing it in. If the goods once come across the border of the territory in question, if they come for and on account of the accused, with his consent, let alone by his procurement, the offence of importing is complete. It is not necessary to show that the accused did anything outside the territory. 1932 Cal 465 (466) [A I R V 19] : 59 Cal 1085 : 35 Cri L Jour 267 (DB).

4. Transport.—[1] A person having a licence for the possession of opium as a Medical practitioner limited to 8 palams of opium sent his servant to Sholavaram in the Ponnertaluk of Chingleput district to buy 4 palams of opium from a licensed vendor of opium and bring to Madras—Held, S. 3, absolutely prohibits transport of opium which is defined to mean the moving it from one place to another, except in the manner prescribed by the Act. By sending the servant to bring opium from Sholavaram to Madras the person was clearly transporting opium within the meaning of the Act. ('90) 13 Mad 191 (192) (DB).

[2] A licensed cultivator of opium took opium from Hoshiarpur to the Jalandur District where he sold it, to a retail vendor—Held that in taking opium from one district to another the cultivator must necessarily have transported it within the definition in S. 3. ('84) 1884 Pun Re (Cri) No. 13, p. 17 (8) (DB).

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] A person in possession of both beinsi and beinchi is not guilty under S. 9 but is guilty under S. 10 (b), Dangerous Drugs Act. 1933 Rang 258 (258) [A I R V 20] : 11 Rang 436 : 34 Cri L Jour 1085 (DB).

[2] It cannot be said that when possession is on behalf of another it is not possession within the meaning of the Opium Act. The offence consists in the possession of an amount beyond the prescribed amount without reference to any question as to any alleged proprietary right to any portion of the opium. ('05) 1 Weir 832 (833) (DB).

[3] Under S. 4 the possession of opium was prohibited except as permitted. Where the

5. Power to make rules to permit such matters.

The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] <sup>b</sup>[* * *] may, from time to time, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules consistent with this Act, to permit absolutely, or subject to the payment of duty or to any other conditions, and to regulate, within the whole or any specified part of the territories administered by such Government, all or any of the following matters :—

<sup>b</sup>[* * * * *]
<sup>b</sup>[(a)] the possession of opium;

accused was charged of being in illicit possession of opium, Held it was for the accused to establish, when his possession was found that it came within the exception and that the possession was permitted by the rules made under the Act. ('87) 1887 Pun Re (Cr) No. 8 p. 11 (13, 14) (DB).

[4] A person had a license from Collector under R. VI of the Rules framed by the Local Government under the Act for possession of opium as medical practitioner limited to 8 palams of opium. He sent his servant to buy from a licensed dealer at Sholavaram and bring to Madras 4 palams of opium—Held, that by sending his servant to bring opium from Sholavaram to Madras the person was clearly transporting opium within the meaning of the Act. Such transport was illegal since the Act prohibits the transport of opium unless it conforms to Rules VIII to XIII. ('90) 13 Mad 191 (192) (DB).

[5] A was licensed vendor of drugs in the town of Mazaffargarh. He asked B who was a wholesale contractor of drugs in the Multan district to send poppy heads. B obtained Rowana from the Collector of Multan district and sent the poppy heads. A was prosecuted for having contravened R. 24 of the Rules framed under the Opium Act as the poppy heads were transported without the permission of the Collector of Mazaffargarh—Held that the conviction could not be supported as there was no ground for finding that A authorised B to transport the poppy heads otherwise than in accordance with law and the rules in force. ('87) 1887 Pun Re (Cr) No. 40, p. 92 (93) (DB).

[6] A licensed cultivator of opium took opium from Hoshiarpur to Jalandur district where he sold it to a retail vendor—Held that in taking opium from one district to another the cultivator must necessarily have transported the opium and as under the rules only a farmer, a licensed vendor or a wholesale licensed vendor could transport opium, the cultivator was liable to punishment under S. 9. ('84) 1884 Pun Re (Cr) No. 13, p. 17 (18) (DB).

[7] The farmer of opium monopoly for retail vending of opium leased to another a shop for the retail sale of opium and other drugs to be supplied by the farmer—Held, the other person could not lawfully carry on the retail sale of opium without a license from the farmer. The agreement entered into between the parties was not equivalent to a license. ('81) 1881 Pun Re No. 114, p. 263 (265) (DB).

[8] Where the plaintiff, who was the farmer of the monopoly of the sale of drugs, entered into an agreement with the defendant whereby the latter as his servant or agent was to sell drugs supplied to him by the plaintiff and hand over the proceeds of the sales to the plaintiff after deducting one anna per rupee as his remuneration for his services—Held that the agreement was not illegal there being nothing in the Act or the rules framed thereunder to say that a farmer may not appoint an agent or servant to act for him in the sale of drugs, and the defendant could legally receive, and retain possession of the drugs without any license from the plaintiff. ('83) 1883 Pun Re No. 105, p. 328 (330) (DB).

[9] A and B who had obtained a license for the vend of opium from the Collector admitted C as a partner without the Collector's sanction and though the conditions of the license prohibited A, B from transferring or sub-letting the privilege held, that the combined effect of Ss. 4, 5 and 9 of the Opium Act was to nullify a transfer made in violation of the provisions of the conditions of the license and C acquired no rights enforceable in law under it and that C's partnership with A, B was a transfer of the right of sale under the conditions of the license. ('12) 35 Mad 582 (584) (DB).

[10] A sale of opium of more than 2 tolas to a single person in contravention of the terms of a license is a breach of R. 48 and is punishable under S. 9 of the Act. 1920 Lah 405 (406) [AIR V 7] : 1919 Pun Re (Cri) No. 33 : 21 Cri L Jour 180.

[11] The section in prohibiting transport of opium contrary to the provisions of the Act does not imply that in the case of a breach of that prohibition there can never be a breach of the prohibition relating to possession. Hence where a person is both in possession of the opium and is also transporting it in contravention of the Act he is liable not only for the transportation of it but also for the possession of it. 1958 S C 935 (936) [AIR V 45 C 131] : 1959 S C R 1162 : 1958 Cri L Jour 1432. (Hence his separate conviction under cls. (a) and (b) of S. 9 is valid.)

[12] Since possession without restriction of incised capsules of poppy from which juice has been extracted is permitted by the rules framed under the Dangerous Drugs Act such possession is not prohibited by S. 4 of this Act. 1957 Orissa 93 (95) [AIR V 44 C 28] : ILR (1957) Cut 128 : 1957 Cri L Jour 527.

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] If it is proved that a person is in possession on behalf of others as also of himself of opium the total quantity of which is less than all the joint owners are entitled to possess he would not be guilty of any offence. 1930 Lah 342 (344) [AIR V 17] : 31 Cri L Jour 240.

<sup>b</sup>[(b)] the transport of opium;

<sup>b</sup>[(c)] the importation or exportation of opium; and

<sup>b</sup>[(d)] the sale of opium and the form of duties leviable on the sale of opium by retail :

Provided that no duty shall be levied under any such rule or any opium imported and on which a duty is imposed by or under the law relating to sea-customs<sup>e</sup> for the time being in force or under <sup>d</sup>[the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930].

[a] The words "subject to the control of the Governor-General-in-Council" were omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] Sub-clauses (a) and (b), relating to the cultivation of the poppy and the manufacture of opium, were omitted, and the subsequent sub-clauses re-lettered, by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), S. 40 and Sch. II. [c] See the Sea Customs Act, 1878 (VIII of 1878), Chapter VIII. [d] Substituted for "section 6" by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), S. 40 and Sch. II.

STATE AMENDMENTS

MADHYA PRADESH

In clause (a) of section 5 after the word "possession" insert the words "or use".

—M. B. Act XV of 1955, S. 2 [17-6-1955] read with M. P. Act XXIII of 1958.

WEST BENGAL

For clause (d) the following clause shall be substituted namely :—

"(d) the sale of opium and the form of taxation leviable on such sale."

—Beng. Act V of 1955, S. 3 (2).

Section 5 — Note 1 (contd.)

[2] Accused charged of being in possession of opium exceeding 3 tolas — Defence that there were other persons in the house who also consumed opium—Held, it lies upon the accused to prove that he was in possession of opium on behalf of other persons living in the house with him. ('05) 1905 Pun Re (Cr) No. 34, p. 72 (73) (DB)*('02) 1902 Pun Re (Cr) No. 31, p. 82 (83)*('97) 1897 Pun Re (Cr) No. 13, p. 33 (34) (DB).

[3] Under the amended R. 38 (2) of the Rules framed under the Opium Act the amount of chandu which two or more persons may without license at one time have in their possession is limited to 1 tola. This amendment has rendered unnecessary a decision on the conflict of the rulings reported in 1897 Pun Re (Cr) No. 13 and 1901 Pun Re (Cr) No. 10. 1918 Lah 216 (217) [AIR V 51 : 1918 Pun Re (Cr) No. 15 : 19 Cri L Jour 686 (DB)].

[4] A and B purchased  $\frac{1}{2}$  tola of opium each and B left his share near A and went to fetch water. Held, that A could not under the circumstances be held to have been in possession of B's share of the opium and could not be convicted under S. 9. ('29) 30 Cri L Jour 727 (727) (Nag).

[5] Rule 16 framed under S. 5 permits possession of either opium not exceeding 3 tolas or intoxicating drugs not exceeding 3 tolas or of both not exceeding 3 tolas in the aggregate. A person found in possession of  $2\frac{1}{2}$  tolas of opium and  $2\frac{1}{2}$  tolas of chandu not manufactured for domestic use held properly convicted of being in possession of opium and chandu in contravention of the rule. ('90) 1890 Pun Re (Cr) No. 22, p. 49 (54).

[6] Rule 4 (iii) (c) of the Rules framed by the Bombay Government under S. 5 is a rule of evidence as to the fact of possession and not a rule as to the conditions of possession as contemplated by S. 5 and as such is ultra vires of the section. Therefore a conviction based on the rule is illegal. 1914 Sind 124 (125) [AIR V 1] : 8 Sind L R 138: 16 Cri L Jour 136.

[7] A licensed cultivator of the poppy had been convicted of a breach of Rule 9 of the Rules made under S. 5, on the ground that he had consumed poppy heads of his own growth and thereby contravened the rules—Held, that Rule 9 read in connection with other rules did not necessarily imply that the holder of a cultivator's license was prohibited from consuming opium of which he was lawfully possessed under his license. ('84) 1884 Pun Re (Cr) No. 12, p. 16 (17) (FB). (1875 Pun Re (Cr) No. 7, Overruled.)

[8] Accused failing to inform patwari of quantity of out-turn of their poppy cultivation—Held, there was nothing in the rules framed under Ss. 5 and 13 which required a poppy cultivator to inform patwari of quantity of out-turn of poppy heads. ('83) 1883 Pun Re (Cr) No. 16, p. 27 (28) (DB).

[9] Rule 9 (f) of the rules made by Local Government provided that a cultivator's license might be granted subject to the condition that the cultivator shall enter or cease to be entered on his license the actual out-turn of poppy heads—Held, that to omit to have the entry made was a breach of the condition of the license and not a contravention of the Rule that a license may be granted subject to certain specified conditions. ('93) 1893 Pun Re (Cr) No. 10, p. 52 (54).

[10] Accused was charged with an offence of selling opium more than 3 tolas without a pass in contravention of S. 5 and R. 38 of the Rules passed thereunder—Held, that this was a clear offence against the rules framed under the Act and not a mere breach of the license. ('99) 1 Bom L R 677 (678) (DB).

[11] Under R. 49, sub-cl. 3 (f) of the Rules framed by the Punjab Govt. under S. 5 of the Opium Act a retail licensee for the sale of opium is bound to keep correct daily accounts of sales of opium. A contravention of this rule is punishable under S. 9 of the Act. 1919 Lah 118 (117) [AIR V 6] : 1919 Pun Re (Cr) No. 9 : 20 Cri L Jour 419 (DB).

6. Duty on opium imported by land. [Repealed by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), S. 40 and Sch. II.]

*[7. Warehousing opium.

The <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may, by notification published in the <sup>A</sup>[Official Gazette], declare any place to be a warehouse for all or any opium legally imported, whether before or after the payment of any duty leviable thereon, into the territories administered by that Government, or into any specified part thereof, and intended to be exported thence.

Section 5 — Note 1 (contd.)

[12] Where a person to whom a license has been granted for selling opium omits to write up the accounts as soon as the transactions of each day are over he commits a breach of Rule 25 framed by Local Government of Oudh under S. 5 of Opium Act, and is liable to punishment under S. 9 (g) of the Act. 1925 Oudh 350 (350) [AIR V 12] : 28 Cri L J 1308.

[13] The rules framed in exercise of the powers conferred by S. 5 cannot be sent for reference under S. 432, Cr. P. C. because there is no express provision in the Act making the rules as part of the Act itself. 1956 Pepsu 73 (73) [AIR V 43 C 23] : 1956 Cri L Jour 1014.

[14] The accused was convicted under S. 9 (g) of contravening the rule under Opium Act in that he contravened a rule made under S. 5 by not keeping a regular account of opium found in his possession — Held that the person who contravened a condition of a license imposed under a rule may be considered guilty of a breach of the rule. ('86) 1886 Rat 297 (298) (DB).

[15] A person having license for the sale of opium is guilty of an offence under S. 9 if he permits some other person to act as salesman at his shop without express sanction of the Collector first obtained. ('04) 1 All L Jour 245 (246).

[16] Servant of licensed vendor of opium selling opium to person under 14 years — Master held liable under S. 9 even though he may not be aware of the sale. ('12) 13 Cri L Jour 282 (283) : 34 All 319 (DB).

[17] The plaintiff a farmer of the monopoly of the sale of drugs entered into an agreement with the defendant whereby the defendant as his servant or agent was to sell drugs supplied to him by the plaintiff and hand over the proceeds of the sales to the plaintiff after deducting certain percentage as remuneration for his services — Held, the defendant was not the lessee of the farmer, he was merely an agent or servant of the farmer appointed by him to sell drugs for him at a particular shop. The shop still remained the shop of the farmer. Therefore, the defendant required no license from the plaintiff authorising him to sell the drugs. His possession and acts were those of the master or the principal. There was nothing in Act 1 of 1878 or in rules framed under it to say that a farmer may not appoint an agent or servant to act for him in the sale of drugs or to prevent remuneration of such agent or servant by a percentage on the proceeds of the sales. ('83) 1883 Pun Re (Cr) No. 105 p. 328 (330) (DB).

[18] While a contravention of the rules is punishable as an offence under S. 9, a contravention of the conditions of the permit is not penal. The only penalty for such a contravention is the cancellation of the license and the forfeiture of the money paid in pursuance of the license. 1921 Oudh 143 (143) [AIR V 8] : 24 Oudh Cas 235 : 22 Cri L Jour 743.

[19] Certain poppy cultivators were charged of having sold their produce without having first entered the amount on their licenses — Held that R. 21 was not applicable to cultivators of poppy because the patwari had neglected to supply the cultivator's license. As there was no illicit cultivation of poppy and no extraction of opium the cultivators had not contravened the rules. ('85) 1885 Pun Re (Cr) No. 46 p. 104 (104) (DB).

[20] Section 5 Cl. (f) of the Opium Act authorizes the local Government to frame rules for regulating the sale of opium and S. 9 makes it an offence to sell opium in contravention of the Act and the rules so framed. The Local Government cannot, however, delegate this power of making the rules to the Commissioner in Sind and therefore the last words of rule 39 "or in such form as the Commissioner from time to time prescribes" are ultra vires. A breach of the terms of a license which is not in the form E as prescribed by the Act but in the form approved of by the Commissioner in Sind cannot be punished under the Act. ('08) 8 Cri L Jour 188 (189) : 1 Sind L R 70 (DB).

[21] The amendment of R. 215 of the Punjab Opium Orders by the State Government does not exceed in any manner the powers conferred on the Government under S. 5 of the Opium Act. 1956 Pepsu 73 (74) [AIR V 43 C 23] : 1956 Cri L Jour 1014.

[22] Punjab Opium (Restriction on Oral Consumption) Rules (1957) which in effect introduced rationing leading to complete prohibition are not inconsistent with the provisions of the Opium Act under which they were promulgated, nor are their provisions beyond the scope of the Act. 1958 Punj 406 (402). [AIR V 45 C 114] : ILR (1958) Punj 1332.

[23] Punjab Opium (Restriction on Oral Consumption) Rules, 1957 — Constitutional validity — Rules do not impose unreasonable restrictions on trade of opium and so do not contravene Art. 19 (1) (g), Constitution of India. 1958 Punj 400 (402) [AIR V 45 C 114] : ILR (1958) Punj 1332.

[24] In the context the term "regulation" in S. 5 includes restriction and also prohibition of the opium trade. 1958 Punj 400 (402) [AIR V 45 C 114] : ILR (1958) Punj 1332.

So long as the declaration remains in force, the owner of all such opium shall be bound to deposit it in that warehouse.]

8. Power to make rules relating to warehouses.

The <sup>a</sup>[State Government] <sup>a</sup>[* * *] may, from time to time, by notification in the <sup>a</sup>[Official Gazette] make rules consistent with this Act to regulate the safe custody of opium warehoused under section 7; the levy of fees for such warehousing; the removal of such opium for sale or exportation; and the manner in which it shall be disposed of, if any duty or fees leviable on it be not paid within twelve months from the date of warehousing the same.

[a] The words "subject to the control of the Governor-General-in-Council" were omitted by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

9. Penalty for illegal cultivation of poppy, etc.

Any person who, in contravention of this Act, or of rules made and notified under section 5 or section 8,— and any person who otherwise contravenes any such rule,

<sup>a</sup>[* * * * *]

<sup>a</sup>[(a)] possesses opium, or

STATE AMENDMENTS

ASSAM

In its application to the State of Assam this section has been amended by Assam Act I of 1933.

MADHYA PRADESH

In its application to the State of Madhya Pradesh, in section 9—

(1) in clause (a) after the word 'possesses' insert the words "or uses";

(2) for the words "one year or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees or with both" substitute the words and figures "two years or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees or with both; provided that, in the absence of special reasons to the contrary mentioned in the judgment of the Court, such imprisonment shall not be less than three months and fine shall not be less than Rs. 500";

(3) add the following Explanation to section 9—

"Explanation.—The possession of a Railway receipt or a Postal receipt relating to an undelivered parcel of opium lying in a railway or post office prima facie constitutes possession of the opium within the meaning of clause (a) of section 9, unless the accused person is able to give a satisfactory explanation of its possession."

—M. B. Act XV of 1955, S. 3 [17-6-1955] read with M. P. Act XXIII of 1958, S. 3.

MADRAS

In section 9 for the words beginning with "imprisonment for a term" and ending with "or with both" substitute the words "imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees, or with both".

—Mad. Act XXXII of 1951, S. 2 [23-10-1951].

[But see ('11) 12 Cri L Jour 178 (178) : 37 Cal 24 (DB). (For the purposes of an offence under S. 9 nothing is necessary beyond possession of contraband opium. (Where the existence of more than 5 tolas of opium in a boat is not accounted for satisfactorily, it is to be considered in possession of the person who is in possession of the boat as manghi. It cannot be considered as possession of the crew.)]

[2] Where opium was found in accused's house during his absence, Held that possession of opium could not be attributed to him in the sense required by law. 1914 Oudh 171 (172) [AIR V 1] : 15 Cri L Jour 420.

[3] B a licensed opium seller was in the habit, when he went home in the evening, to put the opium in a locked box and make it over to G shopkeeper and neighbour of B for safe custody during night. The key was with B himself—Held, such custody did not amount to possession by G of the opium. ('03) 25 All 263 (263).

[But see ('11) 12 Cri L Jour 185 (185) (DB) (Mad). (Where one person leaves a locked up box containing opium in the house of another person, the latter is in illegal possession of opium.)]

[4] A and B purchased half a tola of opium each, B left his share near A and went to fetch water—Held that under the circumstances A could not be held to have been in possession of B's share. ('29) 30 Cri L Jour 727 (727) (Nag).

[5] Empty house occasionally occupied by owner—Key of outer door with servant—Opium found in locked room inside house—Key of locked room not with servant—Owner held liable to account for opium. 1944 Oudh 297 (298) [AIR V 31] : 46 Cri L Jour 364.

[6] Mere physical possession without knowledge and assent would not constitute that possession which in law is necessary to the commission of an offence. Where a child travelling in the care of person is found carrying tins of opium, the presumption would be that the child was acting under the direction and control of the latter. The latter has the means of knowing what kind of luggage

PUNJAB

- (1) For the words "one year" the words "two years" shall be substituted; and shall be deemed to be substituted.
- (2) For the words "one thousand" the words "two thousand" shall be substituted; and shall be deemed to be substituted.
- (3) The last para shall be deemed to be omitted.

—Punj. Act III of 1925, S. 2.

WEST BENGAL

- (1) In section 9 for the words "one year or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees" the words "two years or with fine" shall be substituted;
- (2) For the word "Magistrate" wherever it occurs, the word "Court" shall be substituted;
- (3) To the section the following Explanation shall be added, namely:—

"Explanation.—The possession of a railway receipt or a steamer or a mate's receipt relating to an undelivered parcel of opium lying in a railway or steamer office prima facie constitutes possession of the opium within the meaning of clause (a) of section 9, unless the accused person is able to give a satisfactory explanation of its possession."

—Bengal Act V of 1933, S. 4.

SECTIONS 9-A to 9-G*ASSAM

New sections were added after section 9 by Assam Act I of 1933.

MADHYA PRADESH

In its application to the State of Madhya Pradesh, after section 9 insert the following new sections, namely,—

"9A. Import, export, transport, sale or possession by one person on account of another. —

- (1) When opium is imported, exported, transported, sold or possessed by any person on account of any other person and such other person knows or has reason to believe that such import, export, transport, sale or possession is on his account, the opium shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be imported, exported, transported, sold or possessed by such other person.

- (2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall absolve any person who imports, exports, transports, sells or possesses opium on account of another person, from liability to any punishment under this Act, for the unlawful import, export, transport, sale or possession of such opium.

his companion is taking about with him and of satisfying himself that the child was not carrying contraband and breaking the law and of preventing him from doing so. ('92-96) 1892-96 Upp Bur Rul 139 (140).

[7] Any possession of opium beyond the prescribed quantity amounts to an offence under the Opium Act and Rules. It cannot be said that when possession is on behalf of another it is not possession within the meaning of the Opium Act and the Rules. The offence consists in the possession of an amount beyond the prescribed amount without reference to any question as to any alleged proprietary right to any portion of the opium. ('05) 1 Weir 832 (833) (DB) + 1934 Rang 83 (83) [AIR V 21]. (It is the mere illegal possession that is punishable and that possession does not rest on any presumption that the law orders to be drawn.)

[8] The mere fact that a passenger by boat has contraband opium with him places no liability on the boatman to give any satisfactory account of the opium; more especially where the prosecution evidence shows that it was the passenger who had the opium; the boatman, in such a case cannot be convicted under S. 9, the Opium Act. 1920 Cal 741 (741) [AIR V 7] : 22 Cri L Jour 21 (DB).

[9] The mere possession of the paraphernalia of opium smoking is not in itself an offence under S. 9. 1931 Rang 14 (14) [AIR V 18] : 32 Cri L Jour 506.

[10] Any possession of opium beyond the prescribed quantity amounts to an offence under the Act. The offence consists in the possession of the amount beyond the prescribed amount without reference to any question as to any alleged proprietary right to any portion of the opium. ('05) 1 Weir 832 (833) (DB).

[11] The mere fact of opium having been discovered on being pointed out by the accused would not be sufficient to prove possession of the opium by the accused within S. 9 of the Opium Act, but where he makes a statement that he has buried opium at a certain place, that, along with the production of the opium from the spot referred to in the statement, is sufficient to establish the accused's possession and control over the opium even though the spot where it was buried was neither owned nor possessed by the accused. 1951 Him Pra 28 (30) [AIR V 38 C 7] : 1952 Cri L Jour 267.

[12] The mere fact that illicit opium was recovered from possession of accused from different places will not divide his possession so as to constitute different offences of possession with regard to it, and as such there can be no question of separate trials under S. 233, Criminal P. C. 1960 Punj 643 (644). [AIR V 47 C 227] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1657.

[13] The possession of poppy heads from which the opium has already been extracted, is not an offence under the Section. 1958 Punj 77 (78) [AIR V 45 C 22] : 1 L R (1957) Punj 1371 : 1958 Cri L Jour 418 (1) + 1957 Orissa 95 (96) [AIR V 44 C 29] : 1957 Cri L Jour 529 + 1957 Orissa 93 (95) [AIR V 44

9B. Criminal liability of licensee for acts of servants. — When any offence punishable under section 9 is committed by any person in the employ and acting on behalf of the holder of a licence, permit or pass granted under this Act, such holder shall also be punishable as if he had himself committed the offence, unless he establishes that all due and reasonable precautions were exercised by him to prevent the commission of such offence.

9C. Penalty of certain acts by licensee or his servant. — If the holder of any licence, permit or pass granted under this Act, or any person in his employ and acting on his behalf—

- (a) fails to produce without satisfactory explanation such licence, permit or pass on the demand of any officer empowered by the State Government by notification in the Official Gazette to make such demand, or
- (b) in any case not provided for by section 9, wilfully contravenes any rule made under section 5 or section 8, or
- (c) wilfully and knowingly does any act in breach of any of the conditions of the licence, permit or pass, for which a penalty is not prescribed elsewhere in this Act, he shall, for every such offence, be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

9D. Penalty for possession of opium in respect of which any offence has been committed. — If any person without lawful authority has in his possession any quantity of opium knowing the same to have been unlawfully imported, transported or manufactured or knowing that the prescribed duty has not been paid thereon, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees or with both.

9E. Penalty for allowing premises to be used for commission of offence. — Whoever, being the owner or occupier or having the use of any house, room, enclosure, space, vessel, vehicle or place knowingly permits it to be used for the commission by any other person of an offence punishable under section 9 on conviction be punishable with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees or with both.

9F. Penalty for attempting or abetting offence. — (1) Whoever attempts to commit an offence punishable under this Act, or to cause such an offence to be committed and in such attempt does any act towards the commission of the offence, shall, on conviction, be punishable with punishment provided for the offence.

[14] Where a prosecution was lodged on the basis of recovery of certain incriminating articles from a house, unless the house is shown to have been in the occupation and control of the accused, the mere factum of recovery of the incriminating articles therefrom cannot fasten criminal liability on him. 1956 Him Pra 26 (27) [AIR V 43 C 12] : 1956 Cri L Jour 747.

[15] Large quantity of opium found in house of accused — Circumstances of case raising inference that accused had knowledge of presence of opium in his house — Accused failing to account satisfactorily for possession of such opium — Accused held guilty under S. 9. 1949 Assam 73 (74) [AIR V 36 C 35] : 51 Cri L Jour 51 (DB).

2. Joint possession. — [1] There may be a joint criminal possession of an excisable article by several persons. Each case must be decided on the evidence. Certain quantity of opium was discovered in an house occupied by three brothers living jointly. It was held that in the circumstances of the case eldest brother alone should be convicted. 1938 Lah 320 (321) [AIR V 25] : 39 Cri L Jour 486.

[2] Two brothers were the joint owners of the shops from which illicit opium was recovered. The elder brother had had possession of opium under a license previously—Held that the presumption might safely be made that the possession of the opium was that of the elder brother and that the younger brother should not be held guilty. 1925 Lah 477 (478) [AIR V 12] : 6 Lah 311 : 26 Cri L Jour 1268.

[3] If it is proved that a person is in possession on behalf of others as also of himself of opium the total quantity of which is less than all the joint owners are entitled to possess he would not be guilty of any offence. Two persons were found in possession of 9 mashes of chandu, the amount allowed by law to each person being 6 mashes i.e. they were in joint possession of less than the two of them could have held separately — Held that neither of them could be convicted of an offence under Opium Act. 1930 Lah 342 (344) [AIR V 17] : 31 Cri L Jour 240.

[4] The accused was charged for being in possession of 11½ tolas of opium and acquitted on the ground that there were other members of his family who took opium — Held that the order of acquittal was wrong for there was no proof that the accused was in possession of the opium on behalf of other members of the family. ('05) 1905 Pun Re (Cr) No. 34 p. 72 (73) (DB) + ('02) 1902 Pun Re (Cr) No. 31 p. 82 (83) (DB).

(9) Whoever abets an offence punishable under this Act, shall, whether such offence be or be not committed in consequence of such abetment, and notwithstanding anything contained in section 118 of the Indian Penal Code, on conviction, be punishable with the imprisonment provided for the offence.

Explanation. — The word 'abets' as used in this section and in section 9G has the same meaning as in section 107 of the Indian Penal Code.

9G. Penalty for attempting or abetting offence outside Madhya Pradesh. — Any person who in Madhya Pradesh attempts or abets the commission in any place outside Madhya Pradesh of any offence punishable under this Act or under the provision of any corresponding law in force in that place, or does any act preparatory to, or in furtherance of any act which, if committed in Madhya Pradesh, would constitute an offence under this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine which may extend to two thousand rupees or with both.

Explanation. — The offences referred to in this section are independent of the existence, location, possession, original destination or other attribute of the opium to which they relate.

9H. Enhanced punishment after previous conviction. — Whoever, having been convicted of an offence punishable under sections 9, 9A, 9B, 9C, 9D, 9E, 9F and 9G is again convicted of any offence punishable under any of those sections, shall be liable for each such subsequent offence to twice the punishment which might be imposed on a first conviction under this Act:

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent any offence, which might otherwise have been tried summarily under Chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, from being so tried.

9I. Special provision regarding fine. — Notwithstanding anything contained in section 32 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, it shall be lawful for any Magistrate of the first class to pass a sentence of fine exceeding one thousand rupees on any person convicted of contravening the provisions of sections 9 to 9G.

9J. Security for abstaining from commission of certain offences. — (1) Whenever any person is convicted of any offence punishable under sections 9 to 9G and the Magistrate convicting him is of opinion that it is necessary to require such person to execute a bond for abstaining from the commission of offences punishable under those sections, the Magistrate may, at the time of passing sentence on such person, order him to execute a bond for a sum proportionate to his means, with or without sureties, for abstaining from the commission of such offences during such period not exceeding three years. The Magistrate shall, in his order, also specify the term of imprisonment the accused shall serve in the event of his failure to execute bond, such term not exceeding one year in any case.

[8] Possession of husband does not necessarily connote that the wife is also liable under S. 9. 1935 Pesh 68 (69) [AIR V 22]: 36 Cri L Jour 1437.

[9] When at a search conducted by the Excise Inspector, a packet of opium was recovered from a box in a house of which the accused was the master, he must be held to be the person in possession of opium. It is not necessary for the prosecution to prove who put it in that box. A wife cannot be held to be in joint possession with her husband of anything found in the house. ('30) 1930 Mad W N 1103 (1105).

[10] Where the petitioner's cook room which was the place in which opium was found was such that several persons had equal right of access thereto — Held that petitioner could not be convicted of illegally possessing opium. 1922 Pat 387 (387) [AIR V 9]: 23 Cri L Jour 264.

[11] Husband and wife living together — Contraband opium of one anna weight recovered from tin terna in house and of two tolas and twelve annas weight from person of wife — No definite evidence led against husband either for possession or for abetting wife for possessing opium — Conviction of husband held could not be maintained. 1955 N U C (Assam) 4217 [AIR V 42].

[12] Excisable articles recovered from a place in a house occupied by the accused, his aged father and his son — Articles recovered under such circumstances that persons frequenting the house must have been aware of their existence — Accused confessing before excise officer that he had kept these articles in the house and that his father and son had nothing to do with — Accused held was rightly convicted under S. 9 (a) of the Act. ('55) ILR (1955) Cut 109 (111, 112).

(2) The bond shall be in the form contained in the Schedule hereto annexed, and the provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall, in so far as may be, apply to all matters connected with such bond as if it were a bond to keep the peace ordered to be executed under section 106 of the said Code.

(3) If the conviction be set aside on appeal or in revision, the bond so executed shall become void.

(4) An order under this section may also be made by an appellate Court or by the High Court when exercising its powers of revision."

—M. B. Act XV of 1955, S. 4 [17-6-1955] read with M. P. Act XXIII of 1958, S. 3.

SECTIONS 9A to 9C

WEST BENGAL

After section 9 the following new sections shall be inserted,—

"9A. Import, export, transport, sale or possession by one person on account of another.—

(1) When opium is imported, exported, transported, sold or possessed by any person on account of any other person, and such other person knows or has reason to believe that such import, export, transport, sale or possession is on his account, the article shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be imported, exported, transported, sold or possessed by such other person.

(2) Nothing in sub-section (1) shall absolve any person who imports, exports, transports, sells or possesses opium on account of another person from liability to any punishment under this Act, for the unlawful import, export, transport, sale or possession of such article.

9B. Criminal liability of licensee for acts of servant.—When any offence punishable under section 9 is committed by any person in the employ and acting on behalf of the holder of a license, permit or pass granted under this Act, such holder shall also be punishable as if he had himself committed the offence unless he establishes that all due and reasonable precautions were exercised by him to prevent the commission of such offence.

9C. Penalty for certain acts by licensee or his servant.—If the holder of any license, permit or pass granted under this Act or any person in his employ and acting on his behalf

(a) fails to produce without satisfactory explanation such license, permit or pass on the demand of any officer empowered by the Provincial Government by notification in the Official Gazette to make such demand, or

Section 9 (contd.)

3. Possession of railway receipt. —

[1] Per Richardson J. — When the consignee of a railway receipt knows that a parcel containing opium has been sent to him, the possession of the railway receipt constitutes possession of the opium. 1919 Cal 777 (778) [AIR V 6] : 46 Cal 820 : 20 Cri L Jour 629 (DB).

4. Illicit possession. — [1] The quantity of opium that may be possessed by any person is determined by the rules issued by the Government under the powers conferred by S. 5 of the Act. Where the possession of the accused is not contrary to the terms of his license he is not guilty. 1917 Lah 436 (436) [AIR V 4] : 1917 Pun Re (Cr) No. 41 : 18 Cri L Jour 977 (DB).

[2] Possession of a black substance containing only traces of opium and hardly more than one per cent. of it and which is unfit to be used as opium, is not an offence for which the person possessing it is liable to conviction under the Opium Act as for illegal possession of opium. 1917 Cal 307 (308) [AIR V 4] : 17 Cri L Jour 412 (DB).

[3] The Opium Rules 1910 include beinchi in what is there called "defined opium" and allow the possession of such opium by a non-Burman upto 3 tolas in weight if bought by him from a licensed vendor. 1914 Upp Bur 15 (15) [AIR V 1] : 2 Upp Bur Rul 1 : 15 Cri L Jour 532. ((1892-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 133, held no longer good law.)

[4] A person in possession of both beinchi and beinchi is not guilty under S. 9, Opium Act but is guilty under S. 10 (b), Dangerous Drugs Act. 1933 Rang 258 (258) [AIR V 20] : 11 Rang 436 : 34 Cri L Jour 1085 (DB).

[5] Pyaungchi and opium refuse are not opium within S. 3 — Registered opium-smoker found in possession of three tolas of raw opium and some pyaungchi and opium refuse — Person held could not be convicted. 1937 Rang 346 (347) [AIR V 24] : 38 Cri L Jour 1092.

[6] The opium water in the rules and directions made under the opium Act is a mixture of water with capsules of the poppy or with the juice of such capsules of the poppy or a mixture of such with neutral materials. A registered opium-smoker being legally entitled to possess opium for his own consumption, possession of prepared opium mixed with water does not amount to an offence under the Opium Act. 1937 Rang 194 (195) [AIR V 24] : 14 Rang 694 : 38 Cri L Jour 765.

[7] There is no rule allowing a person to possess opium purchased by another person, nor to possess opium in excess of 3 tolas which has been purchased for other persons, or which has been handed over to him to carry. (1892-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 137 (137).

[8] An authorised agent of a retail vend licensee is authorised to keep opium under his license in his vend premises to the extent allowed by the license and if the amount found is not beyond the limit of his license

(b) in any case not provided for by section 9, wilfully contravenes any rule made under section 5 or section 8, or

(c) wilfully and knowingly does any act in breach of any of the conditions of the license, permit or pass, for which a penalty is not prescribed elsewhere in this Act, he shall, for every such offence, be punished with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

9D. Penalty for possession of opium in respect of which an offence has been committed.— If any person without lawful authority has in his possession any quantity of opium knowing the same to have been unlawfully imported, transported, or manufactured or knowing that the prescribed duty has not been paid thereon, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two years, or with fine, or with both.

9E. Penalty for attempting or abetting offence.— Whoever attempts to commit or abets the commission of an offence punishable under this Act, shall be punished with the punishment provided for such offence.

Explanation.— The word "abets" as used in this section and in section 9F has the same meaning as in section 107 of the Indian Penal Code.

9F. Penalty for attempting or abetting offence outside West Bengal. Explanation:— Any person who in West Bengal attempts, or abets the commission, in any place outside West Bengal, of any offence punishable under this Act or under the provisions of any corresponding law in force in that place, or does any act preparatory to, or in furtherance of, any act which, if committed in West Bengal, would constitute an offence against this Act, shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to five years, or with fine, or with both.

Explanation:— The offences referred to in this section are independent of the existence, location, possession, origin, destination or other attribute of the opium to which they relate.

9G. Enhanced punishment after previous conviction.— Whoever, having been convicted of an offence punishable under sections 9, 9A, 9B, 9C, 9D, 9E, or 9F, shall be guilty of any offence punishable under any of those sections shall be liable for each such subsequent offence to twice the punishment which might be imposed on a first conviction under this Act:

Provided that nothing in this section shall prevent any offence, which might otherwise have been tried summarily under Chapter XXII of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, from being so tried.

—Beng. Act V of 1933, S. 5.

Section 9 — Note 4 (contd.)

conviction cannot stand. 1921 Lah 169 (170) [AIR V 8].

[9] In cases under S. 9 for possession of contraband opium it is the duty of the prosecution to send the article in question to the chemical examiner for chemical examination because, without it, it cannot be said as to how much percentage of the substance is there which would make its possession culpable. (157) 1957 Cri L Jour 237 (238) (Raj).

5. Transporting opium.— [1] A licensed cultivator of opium took opium from Hoshiarpur to Jalandhar district where he sold it to a retail vendor—Held that in taking opium from one district to another the cultivator must necessarily have transported the opium and as under the rules only a farmer, a licensed vendor or a wholesale licensed vendor could transport opium, the cultivator was liable to punishment under S. 9. (184) 1884 Pun Re (Cr) No. 13, page 17 (18) (DB).

[2] M, debarred person found in possession of opium while carrying it to shop P license vendor—M producing transport license issued in name of P—M held rightly convicted under S. 9 (b) but P's conviction was set aside. 1945 Mad 52 (52, 53) [AIR V 32] : 1 L R (1945) Mad 461.

[3] Under R. VIII of the Opium Rules of 1891, a farmer desiring to transport opium from one taluq to another taluq of the same district must "when the taluqs of the district are farmed to different farmers" obtain a pass for each consignment from the officer-in-charge of the excise revenue of the district or from the Tahsildar of the taluq. (105) 1 Weir 833 (833).

[4] Where opium was recovered on search from a car during transport, all the occupants of the car must be presumed to commit an offence in respect of that opium under the Act, unless they can show that they had a right to transport it in the manner in which they were doing. 1958 Madh Pra 285 (285, 286) [AIR V 45 C 104] : 1958 Cri L Jour 1194.

[5] Where a person transports opium and is in possession of it at the time of transporting it, he commits two offences, viz., (1) of transporting opium and (2) of possessing opium and he can be convicted of both the offences. 1958 S C 935 (936) [AIR V 45 C 131] : 1959 S C R 1162 : 1958 Cri L Jour 1432.

[6] If the person possessing opium does not carry it himself but entrusts it to some other person for carriage in a car and that person carries the opium knowingly, then the driver of the car would be the person who transports the opium and the person who directs him to do so would be the abettor of the offence of transporting and the occupants of such a car besides the driver can be said to have transported the opium if it is shown that the opium in the car was in their possession so as to make them liable for the offence of possession. 1952 Madh B 17 (19) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 246.

[7] Mere transport of contraband opium would be no offence. In order that a person be held to have committed the offence under S. 9 (b), there should be a finding that he knew that he was transporting contraband opium. 1953 Him Pra 36 (37) [AIR V 40 C 16] : 1953 Cri L Jour 590.

6. Importing opium.—[1] The offence of importing opium is an offence constituted by bringing it into the territory in question. It does not matter where it was before, provided it was outside the province. The offence is in bringing it in. If the goods once come across the border of the territory in question, if they come for and on account of the accused with his consent, let alone by his procurement, the offence of importing is complete. It is not necessary to show that the accused did anything outside the territory. 1932 Cal 465 (466) [AIR V 19] : 59 Cal 1065 : 33 Cri L Jour 267 (DB).

[2] One V hired N's cart to carry cuminseed from Ranapur into British India. Illicit opium was found concealed in the cuminseed. V and N both were convicted of illegally importing opium without a licence—Held as there was nothing to show that V knew that N was carrying opium in his cart he could not be convicted. ('88) 1888 Rat 378 (378) (DB).

[3] Where a person under a pretended name consigned from Kotah, a native state, into Cawnpore in British India, bags of maize containing considerable quantity of opium which was detected at Cawnpore and searched in his presence—Held that the offence under S. 9 was committed. 1924 All 558 (559) [AIR V 11] : 46 All 146 : 25 Cri L Jour 612 (DB).

[4] Per Shamsul Huda J.—When the consignee of a railway receipt knows that a parcel containing opium has been sent to him, the possession of the railway receipt amounts to importing opium. 1919 Cal 777 (778) [AIR V 6] : 46 Cal 820 : 20 Cri L Jour 629 (DB).

[5] Where the case against the accused is that he imported opium, and he did so by carrying it himself, and his possession was the method of importing it, the magistrate is not justified in convicting him for two separate offences under S. 9 (a) and S. 9 (c) of the Opium Act for the same act, and in imposing two separate sentences therefor. 1950 Assam 5 (6) [AIR V 37 C 2] : 51 Cri L Jour 240 (DB) * 1952 Madh B 17 (19) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 246.

7. Exporting opium.—[1] Where the accused tendered a parcel of opium at the Post Office for despatch to Burma but the parcel was opened by the Post Master at the place of despatch on account of information received and sent on to Burma marked "doubtful" with a view to the identification of the consignee—Held that the accused did not commit the offence of exporting opium under S. 9 as the parcel was seized by the authorities before despatch and it ceased to be in the Post Office on accused's account before it left India for Burma. ('11) 12 Cri L Jour 116 (117) (Lah).

[2] An unlawful possession of opium with the intention of eventually exporting it, does not amount to "exporting" opium. 1916 Lah 143 (143) [AIR V 3] : 1916 Pun Re (Cr) No. 15 : 17 Cri L Jour 194 (DB).

8. Illicit sale of opium.—[1] Several persons were found present in a house one of whom was smoking Chandu on the premises and there were found three pipes, two iron needles, one pair of tongs, one lamp and one smoking pillow. The quantity of opium found was within limits allowed by law. Held that the facts of the case were not sufficiently strong to allow a presumption to be drawn that an illicit sale of opium was being carried on in the premises. ('10) 11 Cri L Jour 138 (138) (All).

[2] There is a clear distinction between use of morphia in practice by an approved medical practitioner and sale of morphia by him to his patients. A sale is punishable under S. 9. 1920 Cal 403 (406) [AIR V 7] : 21 Cri L Jour 497 (DB).

[3] Accused convicted for having possessed opium in excess of quantity shown in the stock register and hidden in the premises—Cakes of opium supplied by the treasury proved to be often of overweight—Excess cannot be assumed to be due to selling under weight—Conviction was set aside. 1928 Cal 324 (325) [AIR V 15] : 30 Cri L Jour 37.

[4] Mere preparation of sugar-mixed opium pills is no offence, though prepared with intent to sell. 1924 Lah 529 (529) [AIR V 11] : 25 Cri L Jour 666.

[5] Selling opium without license and importing foreign opium into British India are different offences. 1937 Nag 188 (189) [AIR V 24] : 1 L R (1939) Nag 297 : 38 Cri L Jour 542.

9. Master and servant.—[1] The custody of a servant is not such "possession" as the Opium Act and the rules thereunder contemplate; a Burmese servant who has 3 tolas of opium with him on behalf of his master who is a non-Burmese is not guilty of illegal possession. ('10) 11 Cri L Jour 55 (56) : (1907-09) Upp Bur Rul 1.

[2] The prosecution must prove affirmatively that possession by the servant was on his master's behalf and with his authority to convict the latter. 1916 Lah 143 (144) [AIR V 3] : 1916 Pun Re (Cr) No. 15 : 17 Cri L Jour 194 (DB).

[3] To justify the conviction of a master under the Act based entirely upon the possession of it by another person alleged to be his servant, it is insufficient to merely call a witness who says that he is a neighbour of the servant and knows the fact of service. 1917 Pat 341 (342) [AIR V 4] : 18 Cri L Jour 633 (DB).

[4] Where the master is himself not entitled to be in possession of opium, the servant cannot plead possession on behalf of the master to a charge under S. 9. 1917 Mad 687 (687, 688) [AIR V 4] : 17 Cri L Jour 384.

[5] Servant selling opium to person under 14 years contrary to master's license in absence of master—Held master was properly convicted as mere selling of opium in contravention of conditions of license constituted offence without any question of intention. ('12) 13 Cri L Jour 282 (283) : 34 All 319 (DB).

[6] Sale of smuggled opium by servant of a contractor — Both servant and the master are criminally liable, though the master was not present at the time of sale. ('20) L R 1 All 58 (58) (Cr).

[7] Accused who was a licensed vendor of madak was punished for contravening a rule made under S. 5 which provided that he shall not allow any of the drug to be consumed on his premises. It was found that the accused was not present but his servant was present when the drug was consumed on his premises—Held that although generally a master was not criminally liable for the act of a servant done without his cognizance the accused was liable for the breach committed by the servant under S. 9. ('94) 7 C P L R (Cr) 41 (43).

10. Offences in respect of keeping of accounts of opium. — [1] Article 13 of the form No. 1 made under R. 15 of the rules made by the Government of Bengal required the holder of the license to keep a daily correct account showing the quantity of opium received and sold and other details—Held the rules made under S. 5 did not make preparation of incorrect accounts punishable under S. 9. ('99) 26 Cal 571 (573, 574) (DB).

[2] Rules made under the Opium Act held did not make neglect to keep accounts an offence punishable under the Act. ('05) 1 Weir 831 (832) (DB).

[3] Where a person to whom a license has been granted for selling opium omits to write up the accounts as soon as the transactions of each day are over he commits a breach of Rule 25 framed by Local Government of Oudh under S. 5 and is liable to punishment under S. 9. 1925 Oudh 350 (350) [AIR V 12] : 26 Cri L Jour 1306.

11. Violation of the conditions of license. — [1] While a contravention of the rules is punishable as an offence under Section 9 a contravention of the conditions of the permit is not penal. The only penalty for such a contravention is the cancelment of the license and the forfeiture of the money paid in pursuance of the license. 1921 Oudh 143 (143) [AIR V 8] : 24 Oudh Cas 235 : 22 Cri L Jour 743 * ('96) 1896 Rat 860 (860) (DB).

[2] Neither the rules nor the terms of a license provide for any penalty against the authorised agent in respect of a mistake in the register. 1921 Lah 169 (170) [AIR V 8].

12. Contemplating violation of provisions of the Act.—[1] A person can be convicted for breach of the rules framed under S. 9 of the Opium Act only when he does some act in contravention of such rules and not merely for contemplating such a violation. 1915 Mad 29 (29) [AIR V 2] : 15 Cri L Jour 667 (DB).

13. Abetment of offences under S. 9. — [1] Abetment of possession of opium in contravention of the Opium Act or rules thereunder would be an offence. A, B and C who were licensed cultivators of poppy employed D to prepare opium for them. D was found in possession of 32½ tolas of opium and was convicted of illegally possessing opium—Held that as A, B and C were cultivators independent of each other and there was nothing to show as to what quantity of poppy-heads each of them made over to D so that it could not be said that any one of them abetted D in possessing more opium than he might lawfully possess, there was no sufficient foundation for a conviction of abetment of an offence of D. ('84) 1884 Pun Re (Cr) No. 4 p. 4 (6) (DB).

[2] On search one G was found in possession of opium in excess of what he was entitled to possess. Some persons were found in his house smoking opium amongst whom C was one. There was nothing to show that C was aware of existence of excess opium. Held that purchase or consumption of small quantity of opium provided by G could not be said to amount to abetment of G's possession and it was impossible to convict C upon general inference from a certain trade carried on that the owner of the chandu possessed an illegal quantity. ('01) 1901 All W N 117 (118).

[3] There is no provision in the Opium Rules for the possession of more than three tolas of opium by one person, nor for the joint possession of more than that quantity by several persons and consequently possession of 5 tolas is illegal. The accused a Burman was the servant of a Chinaman who sent him with a letter to another chinaman for procuring opium. The opium was purchased at the licensed shop and was made over to the accused to carry to his master. On the road the accused was stopped by the police—Held that accused was aware that he was committing breach of law and his act was thus independent of the position of servant. His taking charge of opium might be regarded as possession, joint possession or abetment of possession. If the master committed the offence of possessing opium in contravention of the Opium Rules the servant abetted the commission of that offence. (1897-1901) 1 Upp Bur Rul 232 (235, 236).

[4] The Opium Act, 1878 does not contain any provision prescribing punishment for abetment of the offences under S. 9 of the Act. An abetment of the offence under S. 9 of the Opium Act is, however, an offence under S. 109 of the Penal Code read with S. 40 thereof and is chargeable and punishable thereunder. 1952 Madh B 17 (20) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 246.

14. Frame of charge under S. 9. — [1] The proper and fair course in respect of a person accused of an offence under S. 9, (which is triable as a warrant case) is to charge him with possessing opium etc., as the case may be, in contravention of a rule made under S. 5 and to specify the rule contravened so that he may know precisely with what he is charged. The adoption of proper course is a safeguard against accused being misled in his defence which if it should occur may necessitate revision and a fresh trial at considerable inconvenience to the accused and to witnesses. ('88) 1888 Pun Re (Cr) No. 10, p. 14 (15) (DB) * ('91) 1891 Pun Re (Cr) No. 19, p. 61 (62).

[2] Accused was suspected of trafficking in opium — The Magistrate entered in the charge the possession of articles to cook and smoke opium and omitted to enter the essential point constituting the offence namely that the accused was a Burman and as such not at liberty under the rules made under the Opium Act to be in possession of opium — Held this was not correct. ('92-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 136 (136).

15. Evidence.—[1] It is incumbent upon Magistrates to scrutinize the evidence for the prosecution in all opium cases most closely in order to be satisfied that the evidence is truthful because S. 13 permits rewards to be paid to officers and informers and this prospect of rewards offers to a temptation to fabricate evidence and make false charges. ('90) 1890 Pun Re (Cr) No. 19, p. 40 (41).

[2] Wholly inadmissible and irrelevant statements admitted and considered by Lower Courts—Legal evidence not sufficient to establish illicit possession of opium — Accused prejudiced—Conviction set aside. ('94) 1894 Pun Re (Cr) No. 1, p. 1 (3).

[3] Opium was found in an inner room under a bed and in men's boots where the accused withdrew when the search party entered an outer room where she was being shampooed. Evidence showed that she was a mere visitor residing temporarily in the outer room — Held that her conviction was illegal unless the bed was shown to have been hers. Men's boots would not have belonged to her. 1923 Rang 152 (152) [A I R V 10] : 24 Cri L Jour 934.

[4] Evidence of witness that he heard window in accused's house opened with a bang and saw a bundle falling to the ground — Identification not satisfactory — Search list not stating that bundle was recovered from below accused's window—Held evidence was not sufficient for conviction. ('34) 35 Cri L Jour 1220 (1223) (DB) (Cal).

[5] In the absence of proof of incriminating statement made by an accused, leading to the discovery of the opium, the mere fact of the opium having been discovered on being pointed out by him would not be sufficient to prove possession of the opium by him within S. 9. 1951 Him Pra 28 (30) [A I R V 38 C 7] : 1952 Cri L Jour 267.

[6] Where a substantial amount of opium is found in the bedroom of the accused with weighing scales and small weights, knowledge of the presence of the opium in the house can reasonably be attributed to him. Under S. 10, Opium Act, the accused is then required to account satisfactorily for his possession, and his failure renders him liable to a conviction under S. 9 of the Act. 1949 Assam 73 (74) [AIR V 36 C 35] : 51 Cri L Jour 51 (DB).

[7] Where in a trial under S. 9 the only evidence of the recovery of the contraband opium was that of police employees. Held, that for the simple reason that they were police employees their evidence could not be disregarded by a Court of revision when it had been accepted by both lower Courts, and especially where it was very difficult to procure any other witnesses in a jungle at the midnight. ('57) 1957 Cri L Jour 237 (238) (Raj).

[8] If an excise inspector says that certain article is crude opium without assigning reasons his testimony cannot be looked upon as merely an opinion of an expert. 1952 All 118 (118) [A I R V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 288 (DB).

[9] In a trial under S. 9, when other evidence on record was satisfactory to prove that the commodity in question was contraband opium, the accused could not be said to have been wrongly convicted for the possession of it simply because the opium was not submitted for chemical examination. ('56) 1956 Raj L W 54 (56).

16. Confession before Excise Officer. —

[1] An Excise Officer who in the conduct of investigation of an offence against the Excise, exercises the powers conferred by the Code of Criminal Procedure upon an officer-in-charge of a Police Station for the investigation of a cognizable offence is a Police Officer within the meaning of S. 25, Evidence Act. The legislature in using the term 'Police Officer' in S. 25 did not intend to exclude from its meaning Excise Officers exercising the powers of detection and investigation of crimes committed against Excise laws. 1934 Cal 580 (587) [AIR V 21] : 61 Cal 607 : 35 Cri L Jour 1071 (FB).

[2] The Excise Officers investigating offences are virtually deemed to be police officers. On principle also the position of a police officer cannot be distinguished from that of an Excise officer with regard to an offence under the Excise Act, because an excise officer is also interested in the conviction of the accused and in a position to dominate him. Therefore a confession made before an excise Officer during investigation is inadmissible in evidence under S. 25, Evidence Act. 1931 Cal 350 (352) [AIR V 18] : 32 Cri L Jour 640 : 58 Cal 1260 (DB).

[3] A confession by an accomplice to an Excise Officer is inadmissible as a piece of substantive evidence as against the other accused even if the latter had been tried along with the maker and a fortiori it is inadmissible as a piece of substantive evidence in a separate proceeding against the other accused. But where the maker is examined as a witness on behalf of the other accused it is admissible for the purpose of impeaching his credit in respect of the later statement made by him in his evidence in Court under the provisions of S. 155, Evidence Act. An Excise Officer is not to be regarded as a Police Officer for the purpose of S. 162, Criminal P. C. 1934 Cal 616 (617) [AIR V 21] : 61 Cal 967 : 35 Cri L Jour 1178 (DB).

17. Onus. — [1] Where possession of opium with accused is proved and its legality is challenged by the Crown, it is incumbent on the accused irrespective of the quality and quantity of the opium to prove that the accused obtained it legally. ('04) 17 C P L R 75 (94).

[2] Under S. 4 the possession of opium was prohibited except as permitted. Where the accused was charged of being in illicit possession of opium—Held, it was for the accused to establish, when his possession was found, that it came within the exception and that the possession was permitted by the rules made under the Act. ('87) 1887 Pun Re (Cr) No. 8 p. 11 (13, 14) (DB).

[3] The effect of Ss. 9 and 10 is that when once it is proved that an accused person had dealt with opium in any of the ways described in S. 9, the onus of proving that he had a right so to deal with it is thrown on the accused by S. 10. But the commission of an act which may be an offence must be proved before the presumption comes into play at all and it cannot, therefore, be used to establish that fact. ('10) 11 Cri L Jour 256 (257) : 37 Cal 581 (DB).

18. Jurisdiction. — [1] It is quite clear from S. 9 that the Court of Sessions has no jurisdiction in the case of offences under the section. The conviction must be before the Magistrate for a Magistrate and not the Judge of the Court of Session is the person empowered to pass sentence. A Magistrate taking cognizance of an offence has no power to commit to the Court of Session. ('97) 19 All 465 (465, 466) (DB).

[2] A Magistrate cannot be said to be personally interested in a case merely by reason of its being his duty as an officer under the Government to see that the law relating to the sale of opium is enforced and maintained in the part of the district of which he has charge. He can, therefore, exercise jurisdiction in respect of offences under the Opium Act. ('93) 15 All 192 (193) (FB).

[3] Where a Magistrate who is competent to take cognizance of an offence under S. 9 of the Opium Act, tries and convicts the accused of such offence, the mere fact that the seizure of the illicit opium and the arrest of the accused were made by officers of the opium department who were not authorised in that behalf under S. 14 of the Act would not vitiate the trial. The defect is merely an irregularity within S. 537 and, therefore, the conviction is not liable to be set aside if there is no failure of justice. 1952 Him Pra 74 (80) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L Jour 1712.

[See also 1958 Cal 213 (217) [AIR V 45 C 50] : 1958 Cri L Jour 622 (DB). (The police cannot arrest persons suspected of offences under S. 9 (a) or 9 (c) of the Act without a warrant. They can do so under S. 14 or 15 of the Act.)]

19. Punishment.—[1] No hard and fast rule can be laid down as to what punishment would be proper in a case. The principle to be followed is that an offender ought not to be subjected to any punishment beyond what the public interest demands. ('92-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 137 (143).

[2] The section provides for penalty for illegal cultivation of poppy etc. 1957 All 753 (754) [AIR V 44 C 204] : 1957 Cri L Jour 1199 (DB).

[3] Where the accused was a confirmed opiumsmoker from Burmese times—Held that some allowance might be made for his continuance of a habit which had recently been prohibited in respect of persons of his race by a different Government and a heavy penalty should not be imposed. ('92-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 136 (136)* ('92-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 133 (135).

[4] When an accused person is convicted of an offence under the Opium Act under conditions which lead the Magistrate to conclude that he is engaged in traffic in opium on a large scale or in transporting opium in considerable quantities, a substantive term of imprisonment may appropriately be awarded in addition to a substantial fine. ('97-01) 1 Upp Bur Rul 241 (241).

[5] Where the sentence imposed upon an accused for offences under Ss. 9 (a) and 9 (b) of the Opium Act, is three months' imprisonment under each count to run consecutively, i. e., in all six months the sentence does not contravene the provisions of S. 71, I. P. Code, and is not illegal. 1958 S C 935 (937) [AIR V 45 C 131] : 1959 S C R 1162 : 1958 Cri L Jour 1432.

[6] When a substantial quantity of opium is recovered from the possession of the accused, a deterrent sentence is called for. ('53) 1953 Raj L W 48 (50).

[7] In view of S. 3 (26) read with S. 4 (1) General Clauses Act, sentence of imprisonment awarded under S. 9 (a) of the Act may be rigorous or simple. 1960 Orissa 139 (140) [AIR V 47 C 42] : 1960 Cri L Jour 1126 (DB)* 1952 Madh B 17 (21) [AIR V 39] : 1952 Cri L J 246.

[8] The offences under S. 9 (a) and (b) of the Act are such that the offence of transporting opium would involve the offence of possessing the same and as such S. 71 I. P. C. would be applicable and the awarding of the single sentence cannot be objected to. 1955 Madh B 80 (80) [(S) AIR V 42 C 23] : 1955 Cri L Jour 815.

[9] Even though there may have been some conflict between S. 9 of the Central Act and S. 5 (a) of the Assam Act as to the measure of punishment, it is the latter Act which will prevail so far as that state is concerned. 1960 Assam 37 (38) [AIR V 47 C 11] : 11JR (1957) 9 Assam 389 : 1960 Cri L Jour 317 (DB). (Case under Assam Opium Prohibition Act (23 of 1947).)

[10] Section 9 (a) of the Act is in the same words as S. 8 (a) of the Rajasthan Opium Ordinance. Therefore, where on the date of the offence, the ordinance was not in force and had been repealed but the Opium Act of 1878 was in force on that date and the sentence passed did not exceed the sentence which could be awarded under S. 9 of the Act, the mistake of the magistrate in convicting the accused under the ordinance was immaterial and the conviction could not be set aside unless prejudice was shown to the accused. ('56) 1956 Raj L W 54 (55).

10. Presumption in prosecutions under section 9.

In prosecutions under section 9, it shall be presumed, until the contrary is proved, that all opium for which the accused person is unable to account satisfactorily is opium in respect of which he has committed an offence under this Act.

Section 9 (contd.)

20. Obtaining excess opium by personation.— [1] Where a person licensed to buy opium personates another and obtains from the licensed vendor more opium than he would have got if he had not so personated he cannot thereby be said to have acted dishonestly as there would have been no wrongful gain or loss had the opium been sold to him. He must, however, be deemed to have acted fraudulently as he deceived the vendor and thereby obtained an advantage which he would otherwise have not got. ('10) 11 Cri L Jour 686 (686) (Low Bur).

Section 10 — Note 1

[1] The effect of Ss. 9 and 10 of the Opium Act, is that when once it is proved that an accused person has dealt with opium in any of the ways described in section 9, the onus of proving that he had a right so to deal with it is thrown on him by section 10. But the commission of an act must be proved before the presumption contemplated by S. 10 comes into play at all and so the presumption cannot be used to establish the fact. So a defective evidence of a sale cannot be supplemented by the presumption raised by S. 10 and hence the conviction for illicit sale is bad. ('10) 37 Cal 581 (584) (DB)* 1951 Him Pra 28 (30) [AIR V 38 C 7] : 1952 Cri L Jour 267* 1949 Assam 73 (74) [AIR V 36 C 35] : 51 Cri L Jour 51 (DB).

[2] Section 10 of the Opium Act provides, that opium in respect of which it is to be presumed, that the accused has committed an offence, must be opium in the possession of the accused. The possession need not be to the knowledge of the accused. A penal section should be read plainly. S. 10 contains no reservation in favour of common carriers and hence a common carrier is not exempt from the provisions of S. 10, which is of a character that is exceptional, but by no means uncommon. ('04) 8 Cal W N 349 (351, 352) (DB).

[3] Possession implies knowledge, and there would be no possession when there is no knowledge on the part of the ostensible occupant of the room or cabin, as the case may be; possession without knowledge can hardly have been meant since in that case the element of criminal intention or knowledge would be entirely wanting. It would be quite unsafe to conclude that the accused had the knowledge which is necessary to convict him, merely on grave suspicion. Onus of proving that knowledge is on the prosecution. The bare fact that the opium was found in the accused's cabin, without any extraneous evidence, establishing connection between him and the opium does not discharge that onus. 1930 Cal 668 (669, 670, 671) [AIR V 17] : 32 Cri L Jour 245 (DB).

[4] The term "possession" implies knowledge on the part of the possessor and before the accused is required to account for opium there must be proof that such opium has been in his possession or under his control. 1929 Rang 121 (121) [A I R V 16] : 7 Rang 11 : 30 Cri L Jour 753.

[5] The possession which the law intends to punish is criminal or guilty possession. Where an accused is found in illegal possession of opium under S. 9 his guilty possession can be prima facie presumed, if the opium was found in that portion of a house, which he exclusively occupied. ('73) Oudh S C 236 (479).

[6] Although S. 10 casts upon accused persons the onus of satisfactorily accounting for opium found in their possession. Magistrates must be careful to note firstly that the presumption against the accused person is only a presumption and may be rebutted and secondly that possession must be proved. Opium is frequently maliciously placed in or upon a person's premises by an enemy who then brings down the police to the spot and opium is thus found. ('73) Oudh S C 161 (194).

[7] If a person is accused of illegally possessing even a quantity permitted by R. 3 of Opium Rules, the burden of proof that he got it in a lawful manner, rests upon him, and his failure in doing so makes him liable to be prosecuted under S. 9 of the Opium Act. ('05) 1 Weir 832 (832).

[8] Accused was tried for illegal possession of opium found on him on 18-5-09. He stated that he had purchased it from a licensed vendor. This fact was accepted by the prosecution but they alleged that the date of his purchase did not agree with this explanation—Held that it lay upon the prosecution to prove the date, and only then if the accused failed to satisfactorily account for the large quantity of opium still in his possession on the date of his arrest could any presumption be drawn against him under S. 10. ('10) 11 Cri L Jour 658 (659) (DB) (Low Bur). ('07-08) 4 Low Bur Rul 314. Considered.

[9] Section 10 expressly throws upon the accused the burden to account for opium in respect of which he is alleged to have committed an offence, so that failure of the magistrate to examine the accused at greater length, to elicit any explanation from him cannot vitiate his conviction. A person is not to account for any opium regarding which there is no prima facie evidence of possession and where other persons than the accused had access to the place where the opium in question was kept, no presumption can be raised that he was in possession of it. 1944 Oudh 297 (298) [AIR V 31] : 46 Cri L Jour 364.

[10] The Act carefully restricts the powers of the officers appointed to carry out the law relating to opium and safe-guards their exercise. The intention of the law in the enactment of S. 10 was that when after these precautions a person is charged with committing an offence under S. 9, the burden of showing that he is not responsible for the opium found should be cast upon him. But before imposing the presumption and requiring the accused person to prove that the opium is not opium in respect of which he had committed an offence the law provides that an opportunity shall be given for accounting for opium and it is only when he is unable to account for it satisfactorily that the accused is called upon to prove the contrary. If the accused is unable to account satisfactorily for opium found the law presumes until contrary is proved that the possession is with knowledge and assent so as to constitute an offence. (192-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 139 (141, 142).

[11] Where the opium is recovered on search from a car during transport, all the occupants of the car must be presumed to commit an offence in respect of that opium under the Act unless they can show that they had a right to transport it in the manner in which they were doing. 1958 Madh Pra 285 (286) [A I R V 45 C 104] : 1958 Cri L Jour 1194.

[12] Where conscious possession is not proved no presumption arises in favour of the prosecution. The burden of proving conscious possession on the part of the accused remains on the prosecution and is not shifted to the accused by anything contained in the section. 1950 Assam 152 (153) [A I R V 37 C 55] : 1LR (1950) 2 Assam 333 : 51 Cri L Jour 973 (DB).

Section 11 — Note 1

[1] Section 11 does not authorise the confiscation of every receptacle such as a conveyance in which a small quantity of opium may happen to be found. The liability arises only from the owner of such conveyance using it for the purpose of transporting opium. A person cannot be made liable because his servant uses his private carriage for his stock of opium. (11) 12 Cri L Jour 103 (104) (DB) (Cal).

[2] An accused hired a cart and carried with him opium in the cart, without the cartier's knowledge. On the way accused was arrested and convicted of smuggling opium. Carter's cart and bullocks were also confiscated — Held that such a confiscation was illegal in view of the cartier's innocence — Held also that no appeal lies from an order of confiscation made under S. 11 of the Opium Act. (105) 1 Weir 835 (835).

[3] Improper conduct of owner of the vessel — Neither imputed nor proved — He should be given opportunity to be heard before confiscation of vessel. 1925 Cal 1021 (1021) [A I R V 12] : 27 Cri L Jour 127 (DB).

[4] An order was made under S. 11 of the Opium Act confiscating a boat in which some opium had been found — Held that the order should not have been made without giving the owner of the boat an opportunity of being heard. (11) 12 Cri L Jour 103 (104) (DB) (Cal).

[5] An order confiscating the conveyance under S. 11 should not be passed without giving an opportunity to the alleged owner to prove that he did not know and had no reason to believe that opium was transported in the conveyance in question. 1921 Pat 232 (232) [AIR V 8].

[6] A conveyance ought not to be confiscated unless the owner knew or had reason to believe that his vehicle was likely to be used for the purpose of transporting contraband goods. 1942 Mad 724 (725) [A I R V 29] : 44 Cri L Jour 136.

STATE AMENDMENTS

MADHYA PRADESH

In its application to the State of Madhya Pradesh, for section 11 substitute the following, namely,—

"11. Confiscation of opium.—In any case in which the offence under sections 9, 9A, 9B, 9C, 9D, 9E, 9F and 9G has been committed, the property detailed herein below shall be confiscated—

- (a) the opium in respect of which any offence has been committed ;
- (b) where, in the case of an offence relating to the transport, import or export, of opium the offender is transporting, importing or exporting any opium exceeding the quantity (if any) which he is permitted to transport, import or export, as the case may be, the whole of the opium he is transporting, importing or exporting ;
- (c) where, in the case of an offence relating to the sale of opium, the offender has in his possession any opium other than the opium in respect of which the offence has been committed the whole of such other opium ;
- (d) the receptacles, packages and coverings in which any opium liable to confiscation under this section is found, and the other contents (if any) of the receptacles or package in which such opium may be concealed, and the animals, carts, vessels, rafts and conveyances used in carrying it."

WEST BENGAL

The section has been amended in its application to Bengal by Bengal Act V of 1933, S. 6. The section as amended by the said Act reads as follows :—

"11. Confiscation of opium. — In any case in which an offence under sections 9, 9A, 9B, 9C, 9D, 9E, 9F or 9G has been committed,—

- *                      *                      *                      *                      *

  - (b) where, in the case of an offence relating to the transport, import or export of opium, the offender is transporting, importing or exporting any opium exceeding the quantity (if any) which he is permitted to transport, import or export, as the case may be, the whole of the opium which he is transporting, importing or exporting,
  - (c) where, in the case of an offence relating to the sale of opium, the offender has in his possession any opium other than the opium in respect of which the offence has been committed, the whole of such other opium,
- shall be liable to confiscation.

The receptacles, packages and coverings in which any opium liable to confiscation under this section is found, and the other contents (if any) of the receptacle or package in which such opium may be concealed, and the animals, carts, vessels, rafts and conveyances used in carrying it, shall likewise be liable to confiscation."

12. Order of confiscation by whom to be made.

When the offender is convicted, or when the person charged with an offence in respect of any opium is acquitted, but the Magistrate decides that the opium is liable to confiscation, such confiscation may be ordered by the Magistrate.

Whenever confiscation is authorized by this Act, the officer ordering it may give the owner of the thing liable to be confiscated an option to pay, in lieu of confiscation, such fine as the officer thinks fit.

When an offence against this Act has been committed, but the offender is not known or cannot be found, or when opium not in the possession of any person cannot be satisfactorily accounted for, the case shall be inquired into and determined by the Collector of the district or Deputy Commissioner, or by any other officer authorized by the State Government in this behalf, either personally or in right of his office, who may order such confiscation : Provided that no such order shall be made until the expiration of one month from the date of seizing the things intended to be confiscated or without hearing the

[1] The jurisdiction conferred on the Magistrate under S. 12 is a special jurisdiction and is not limited, in any way, by the Code of Criminal Procedure. Under the section a Magistrate, who has power to order confiscation has also the power to give the owner of the thing liable to be confiscated an option to pay in lieu of confiscation such a fine as the officer thinks fit even exceeding his jurisdiction under Cr. P. Code. 1921 Pat 232 (232) [AIR V 8].

[9] Unless an Excise Inspector had been authorized to enter a building and search, unless he had reduced to writing the information received by him as required by S. 14, he would not be acting in the lawful discharge of a duty imposed on him by law as an Inspector in attempting to make a search and an assault committed on him would not be an assault committed on him in the execution of his duty and therefore, the person assaulting such Inspector cannot be convicted under S. 353, Penal Code. 1933 Sind 174 (175, 176) [AIR V 20] : 27 Sind L R 209 : 34 Cri L Jour 1147 (DB).

(1) For the words "Any officer of any of the departments of Excise, Police, Customs, Salt, Opium or Revenue superior in rank to a peon or a constable", the following shall be substituted, namely :—

"Any officer not below the rank of a sub-Inspector of the Department of Excise, Police and any officer of the Customs, Salt or Revenue Department."

(2) For the words "between sunrise and sunset" the words at any time by day or night," shall be substituted ; and

15. Power to seize opium in open places.

Any officer of any of the said departments may—

(a) seize, in any open place or in transit, any opium or other thing which he has reason to believe to be liable to confiscation under section 11 or any other law for the time being in force relating to opium ;

Power to detain, search and arrest.

ed or found in possession. ('97-'01) 1 Upp Bur Rul 239 (239, 240).

[15] Though in view of the measure of the penalty prescribed for an offence under Ss. 9 (a) and 9 (c) of the Opium Act or a criminal conspiracy to commit the same, the police cannot, under the second schedule to the Cr. P. C. arrest persons without warrant, they can do so under Ss. 14 and 15 of the Opium Act itself in the circumstances stated in those sections. 1958 Cal 213 (217) [AIR V 45 C 50] ; 1958 Cri L Jour 622 (DB).

[16] The provisions of Ss. 14, 15 and 19 are mutually exclusive and not cumulative. In other words, each is self sufficient, so that in any given case the one or the other, but no two, of them need be applicable. But there is one thing common to all the said provisions by virtue of S. 16 and the IIInd Paragraph of S. 19, and that is that the provisions of Cr. P. C. apply to all searches under Ss. 14 and 15 and to the execution of warrants under S. 19. 1952 Him-Pra 74 (77) [AIR V 39] ; 1952 Cri L Jour 1712.

[17] Sections 14 to 20 of the Opium Act make it clear that the offences under that Act are to be investigated, inquired into and tried in accordance with the provisions of the Criminal P. C. The Opium Act does not lay down any scheme of procedure for the investigation and trial of offences under the Act. There is also no section in the Act prohibiting a Magistrate from taking cognizance of any offence under the Act except on a charge sheet presented by the police in accordance with the provisions of Cr. P. C. 1952 Madh-B 17 (21) [AIR V 39] ; 1952 Cri L Jour

[18] Opium is not covered by the U. P. Excise Act, the recovery of opium is governed by the Opium Act and the U. P. Opium Smoking Act, neither of which empowers an Excise Inspector to search a house without a search warrant. Hence he is not competent to search a house to recover crude opium without obtaining a search warrant from a Magistrate. 1955 NUC (All) 5499 [AIR V 42].

Section 15 — Note 1

[1] Sections 14 and 15 are mutually exclusive and are not cumulative provisions. There is only one feature which is common to both and that is the search under either of them must be made in accordance with the provisions of the Criminal Procedure Code. 1952 Him-Pra 74 (77) [AIR V 39] ; 1952 Cri L Jour 1712.

[2] Opium which is being carried about from place to place in a boat is undoubtedly "in transit" for the requirements of S. 15 of the Opium Act. Even if the boat be temporarily anchored S. 15 does not authorise an officer to enter a boat without the permission of the person in charge of it. In order to justify entry and search of a boat between sunset and sunrise against the will of the person in charge, an officer must first secure a warrant from another officer authorised in that behalf under S. 10 of the Act. upon to answer it. ('92-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 139 (141).

[4] Under Ss. 14, 15 and 16 it is only search that has to be carried out in accordance with the rules for searches under Cr. P. Code, and the rules have no bearing on seizures. 1930 Rang 49 (50) [A I R V 17] : 7 Rang 771 : 31 Cri L Jour 303.

[5] Section 103 of the Criminal P. C. does not apply to searches of persons made under cl. (b) of this section. 1941 Rang 333 (334) [A I R V 28] : 1941 Rang L R 552 : 43 Cri L Jour 217*1927 Rang 170 (170) [A I R V 14] : 28 Cri L Jour 372.

[6] An Excise Officer acting under S. 15, Opium Act has lawful authority to arrest a person who sells a black substance (not opium) alleging it to be opium though its possession is not an offence under S. 9. Consequently the escape of such a person as well as his rescue from the custody of the Excise Officer are offences under Ss. 224 and 225, Penal Code. 1917 Cal 426 (427) [AIR V 4] : 43 Cal 1161 : 17 Cri L Jour 379 (DB).

[7] In view of the measure of penalty prescribed under section 9 as it stands amended in Bengal for an offence under cls. (a) and (c) of that section or a criminal conspiracy to commit the same, the police officer cannot arrest persons suspected of such offences without a warrant under schedule 2 of the Criminal Procedure Code. But there is no such bar to their arresting without a warrant under sections 14 and 15 where the circumstances stated in these sections are present. 1958 Cal 213 (217) [AIR V 45 C 50] : 1958 Cri L Jour 622.

[8] Irregularity in the search does not necessarily invalidate the proceedings under the Act. It always affords ground for scrutiny, and if after careful scrutiny the Court comes to the conclusion that an excisable article was recovered from the possession of the accused then the conviction is a sound one. 1941 Rang 333 (333) [A I R V 28] : 1941 Rang L R 552 : 43 Cri L Jour 217.

[9] The Excise Officers investigating offences are virtually deemed to be police officers. On principle also the position of a police officer cannot be distinguished from that of an excise officer with regard to an offence under the Excise Act, because an Excise Officer is also interested in the conviction of the accused and in a position to dominate him. Therefore a confession made before an Excise Officer during investigation is inadmissible in evidence under S. 25, Evidence Act. 1931 Cal 350 (352) [A I R V 18] : 58 Cal 1260 : 32 Cri L Jour 640 (DB).

Section 16 — Note 1

[1] Provisions of S. 103, Criminal P. C. not observed in conducting search under Opium Act of premises occupied by accused — Residents of locality not called to be present at search — List of property found not made — Opium found in accused's house — Held irregularity of search might impair value of evidence regarding discovery of opium. ('92-96) 1 Upp Bur Rul 135 (135).

[2] Mere illegality in the exercise of the right of search under the Opium Act is not in itself a sufficient ground for setting aside a conviction under the Act. 1919 Pat 488 (489) [AIR V 6] : 20 Cri L Jour 745 (DB).

[3] Witnesses present at time of search deposing that opium was found in accused's house — Witnesses living two or three miles away from accused's village — Mere fact that witnesses are not from immediate vicinity cannot justify Court in rejecting their evidence. 1937 Rang 434 (436) [A I R V 24] : 39 Cri L Jour 278.

[4] It is objectionable to be constantly calling the same person to witness a search as it may prejudice the mind of the trying magistrate. When searches are undertaken under the Opium Act respectable neighbours should be called in to witness the search. The fact that witnesses were not those contemplated by Opium Act does not otherwise affect the con-

STATE AMENDMENTS

ASSAM

For section 20, new sections were substituted by Assam Act I of 1933.

MADHYA PRADESH

In its application to the State of Madhya Pradesh, for section 20 the following sections shall be substituted, namely,—

"20. Powers of certain officers of Excise Department with regard to offences.— Every officer of the Department of Excise not below the rank of a Sub-Inspector or any other officer of the Customs, Police or Revenue Department specially empowered in this behalf by the State Government under a notification in the Official Gazette shall investigate offences and grant bail to the persons arrested under this Act.

20A. (1) When any person is arrested or any opium or other thing is seized under the provisions of this Act, the person making the arrest or seizure shall if he is an officer of the Excise, Customs, Police or Revenue Department, forthwith forward the person arrested or the thing seized to the nearest officer of the Excise Department empowered under section 20, unless he is himself so empowered.

(2) When any person is brought in custody before an officer empowered under section 20, or when such officer has himself arrested or procured the appearance by summons under section 20D of any person, he shall make such investigation as seems to him necessary, and shall either release such person or admit him to bail to appear, or if bail is not given, produce him or cause the officer-in-charge of the nearest police station to produce him before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case :

Provided that if the investigation is not completed within twenty-four hours of the arrest, the said officer may take bail with or without security from the person arrested to appear on any subsequent date before himself and shall, if such bail is not given, forthwith forward the arrested person to the nearest Magistrate with a report of the case and a request to detain him in custody for such period not exceeding fourteen days as may be necessary to complete the investigation and to order his production before the said officer when necessary, for such investigation.

(3) The Magistrate to whom an arrested person is so forwarded, whether he has or has not jurisdiction to try the case, may, by order in writing stating the reasons therefor, authorise the detention of the arrested person in default of bail in such custody as he thinks fit for a term not exceeding fourteen days in the whole.

20B. Power of investigating officer to summon witnesses.— (1) An officer empowered under section 20 may summon any person to appear before himself to give evidence or to produce any document necessary for the purposes of an investigation.

(2) Such summons shall state whether the person summoned is required to give evidence or to produce a document or both, and shall specify a time and place for appearance.

(3) It shall be lawful for such officer instead of issuing a summons to proceed to the residence of any person whom by reason of sickness or other infirmity or by reason of rank or sex it may not seem proper to summon, and may require him to answer such questions as may be necessary for the purpose of the investigation.

(4) Any person examined in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) shall be bound to answer all questions relating to the investigations put to him by such officer, other than questions the answer to which would have a tendency to expose him to a criminal charge or to a penalty or forfeiture.

(5) The provision of section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply to the statements made by any person under this section.

(6) No oaths shall be administered to any such person.

20C. Power of investigating officer to release accused when evidence deficient.— If upon an investigation under this Act it appears to the officer-in-charge of such investigation that there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify the forwarding of the accused to a Magistrate, such officer shall release him on his executing a bond with or without sureties as such officer may direct to appear, if and when so required before Magistrate having jurisdiction.

20D. Power of certain officer to summon suspected persons.— When any officer of the Excise Department empowered under section 20 to investigate offences has reasonable grounds for believing that any person has committed an offence under this Act, he may, after recording his reasons in writing and either with or without previous investigation summon such person to appear before him.

20E. Summoning witnesses, etc., how to be made.— The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 relating to summons and compelling the appearance of persons summoned and the production of documents shall apply as far as may be, in the case of any summons issued by an officer empowered to issue a summons under this Act.

20F. Procedure in case of forfeiture of bond.— When it appears to an officer empowered under section 20 that a bond for appearance before himself has been forfeited, he shall forward the bond to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence of which the person bailed was accused together with a report in writing giving the reasons for his belief and the relevant documents and the Magistrate shall deal with the matter in the manner provided by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the forfeiture of bonds for appearance before his own Court.

20G. Jurisdiction of Magistrate on receipt of report from Excise Officer.—When an officer empowered under section 20 to investigate offences or grant bail forwards in custody any person accused of an offence under this Act to the Magistrate, having jurisdiction to try the case, or admits any such person to bail to appear before such Magistrate, he shall submit a report setting forth the name of the accused person and the nature of the offence with which he was charged and the names of the persons who appear to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case, and shall send to such Magistrate any article which it may be necessary to produce before him. Upon receipt of such report the Magistrate shall inquire into such offence and try the person accused thereof in like manner as if such report is a report in writing made by a police officer under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

20H. Attendance of witnesses before Magistrate.—An officer acting under the provisions of section 20G shall have all the powers conferred by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898 on an officer-in-charge of a police station for the purpose of causing the appearance before the Magistrate of persons acquainted with the circumstances of the case.

20-I. Police to take charge of articles seized.—All officers-in-charge of police station shall take charge of and keep in safe custody, pending the order of a Magistrate or an investigating officer, all articles seized under this Act which may be delivered to them, and shall allow any investigating officer who may accompany such articles to the police station, or who may be deputed for the purpose by his superior officer to affix his seal to such articles and to take samples of and from them. All samples so taken shall also be sealed with the seal of the officer-in-charge of the police station and with the seal of the accused or his agent, if he is available. All such packets of sample shall be signed by the accused or his agent, if he is available."

— M. B. Act XV of 1955, S. 11 [17-6-1955] read with M. P. Act XXIII of 1958, S. 3.

MADRAS

In section 20, after the words "nearest police-station" insert "or to the nearest officer of the Prohibition Department empowered under section 20-A."

After section 20, insert the following:—

"20A. Power to invest Prohibition Officers with certain powers.—The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, invest any officer of the Prohibition Department, or every officer belonging to any specified class in that Department, with the powers of an officer in charge of a police-station for the investigation of offences under this Act."

—Mad. Act XXXII of 1951, Ss. 3 and 4 [23-10-1951].

ORISSA

For section 20 the following sections shall be substituted, namely:—

"20. Power of State Government to authorise officers to investigate offences and grant bail.—(1) The State Government may, by notification in the Gazette, authorise any class of officers of the Excise or Police Department to investigate offences, and to grant bail to persons arrested, under this Act.

Power to determine form of bail bond.—(2) The State Government may, from time to time, determine the form of the bail bond to be used.

20A. Persons arrested or article seized how to be dealt with.—(1) When any person is arrested or any opium or other thing is seized under the provisions of this Act, the person making the arrest or seizure shall, if he is an officer of the Excise or Police Department, forthwith forward the person arrested or the thing seized to the nearest officer of his department empowered under section 20 unless he is himself so empowered.

(2) When such arrest or seizure is made by any officer referred to in section 14 or section 15 other than an officer of the Excise or Police Department, he shall forthwith forward the person arrested or the thing seized to the nearest officer of the Excise or Police Department empowered under section 20 and having jurisdiction in the case.

(3) When any person is brought in custody before an officer empowered under section 20 or when such officer has himself arrested or procured the appearance by summons under section 20D of any person, he shall make such investigation as seems to him necessary, and shall either release such person or admit him to bail to appear, or if bail is not given,

Section 20-A (Madras) — Note 1

[1] An Excise Officer invested with the powers of an Officer in charge of a police station for investigation of offences under S. 20-A is a "Police Officer" coming within the purview of S. 25 of the Evidence Act and S. 162, Criminal P. C. 1953 Mad 917 (924)

[AIR V 40 C 361] : ILR (1954) Mad 57 : 1953 Cri L Jour 1693 (DB). (Hence confession made to him is inadmissible under S. 25 of the Evidence Act ; and a statement made to the officer under S. 162, Criminal P. C. can be used only according to that section.)

produce him or cause the officer-in-charge of the nearest police-station to produce him before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case :

Provided that if the investigation is not completed within twenty-four hours of the arrest, the said officer may take bail with or without security from the person arrested to appear on any subsequent date before himself, and shall, if such bail is not given, forthwith forward the arrested person to the nearest Magistrate with a report of the case, and a request to detain him in custody for such period not exceeding fourteen days as may be necessary to complete the investigation and to order his production before the said officer when necessary for such investigation.

(4) The Magistrate to whom an arrested person is so forwarded, whether he has or has not jurisdiction to try the case, may by order in writing stating the reason therefor, authorise the detention of the arrested person in default of bail in such custody as he thinks fit for a term not exceeding fourteen days in the whole.

20B. Power of investigating officer to summon witnesses or examine them otherwise.—

(1) An officer empowered under section 20 may summon any person to appear before himself to give evidence, or to produce any document, necessary for the purposes of investigation.

(2) Such summons shall state whether the person summoned is required to give evidence or to produce a document or both, and shall specify a time and place for appearance.

(3) It shall be lawful for such officer, instead of issuing a summons, to proceed to the residence of any person whom by reason of sickness or other infirmity or by reason of rank or sex it may not seem proper to summon, and then require him to answer such questions as may be necessary for the purposes of the investigation. It shall also be lawful for such officer to examine any person who may appear before him to give evidence or to produce any document necessary for the purposes of the investigation, although the said person appears voluntarily and no summons has been issued to him.

(4) Any person examined in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) shall be bound to answer all questions relating to the investigation put to him by such officer other than questions the answers to which would have a tendency to expose him to a criminal charge or to a penalty or forfeiture.

(5) The provisions of section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply to the statements made by any person under this section. No oaths shall be administered to any such person.

20C. Power of investigating officer to release accused when evidence deficient.—If, upon an investigation under this Act, it appears to the officer-in-charge of such investigation that there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify the forwarding of the accused to a Magistrate such officer shall release him on his executing a bond, with or without sureties, as such officer may direct, to appear, if and, when so required, before a Magistrate for trial.

20D. Power of certain officers to summon suspected persons.—When any officer of the Excise or Police Department, not below such rank as may be prescribed by the Provincial Government by notification in the Gazette, has reasonable grounds for believing that any person has committed an offence under this Act, he may, after recording his reasons in writing, and, either with or without previous investigation, summon such person to appear before him.

20E. Summoning of witnesses etc., how to be made.—The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, relating to summonses and compelling the appearance of persons summoned and the production of documents, shall apply, as far as may be, in the case of any summons issued by an officer of the Excise or Police Department, empowered to issue a summons under this Act.

20F. Procedure in case of forfeiture of bond.—When it appears to an officer of the Excise or Police Department that a bond for appearance before himself has been forfeited, he shall forward the bond to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence of which the person bailed was accused, and the Magistrate shall deal with the matter in the manner provided by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the forfeiture of bonds for appearance before his own Court.

20G. Jurisdiction of Magistrate on receipt of report from Excise Officer or Police Officer.—When an officer of the Excise or Police Department forwards in custody any person accused of an offence under this Act, to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the case, or admits any such person to bail to appear before such Magistrate, he shall submit a report setting forth the name of the accused person and the nature of the offence with which he was charged and the names of the persons who appear to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case, and shall send to such Magistrate any article which it may be necessary to produce before him. Upon receipt of such report the Magistrate shall inquire into such offence and try the person accused thereof in like manner as if such report is a report in writing made by a Police Officer under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

20H. Attendance of witness before Magistrate.—An officer of the Excise or Police Department acting under the provisions of section 20G shall have all the powers conferred by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, on an officer-in-charge of a police-station for the purpose of causing the appearance before the Magistrate of persons acquainted with the circumstances of the case.

20I. Police to take charge of the articles seized.—All officers-in-charge of police-stations shall take charge of and keep in safe custody, pending the orders of a Magistrate or an investigating officer of the Excise or Police Department, all articles seized under this Act, which may be delivered to them, and shall allow any investigating officer who may accompany such articles to the police-station or who may be deputed for the purpose by his superior officer, to affix his seal to such articles and to take samples of and from them. All samples so taken shall also be sealed with the seal of the officer-in-charge of the police-station and with the seal of the accused or his agent if he is available. All such packets of samples shall be signed by the accused or his agent if he is available."

—Orissa Act II of 1939, S. 2 [in Balasore District on 1-6-1940; in Cuttack, Puri, Sambalpur, Ganjam and Koraput Districts on 1-6-1942].

WEST BENGAL

For section 20, the following sections shall be substituted, namely,—

20. Power of State Government to authorise officers to investigate offences and grant bail.—(1) The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette authorise any class of officers of the Excise, Police or Customs Department to investigate offences, and to grant bail to persons arrested under this Act.

(2) The State Government may, from time to time, determine the form of the bail bond to be used.

20A. Persons arrested how to be dealt with.—(1) When any person is arrested or any opium or other thing is seized under the provisions of this Act, the person making the arrest or seizure shall, if he is an officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department, forthwith forward the person arrested or the thing seized to the nearest officer of his department empowered under section 20 unless he is himself so empowered.

(2) When such arrest or seizure is made by any officer referred to in section 14 or section 15 other than an officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department, he shall forthwith forward the person arrested or the thing seized to the nearest officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department empowered under section 20 and having jurisdiction in the case.

(3) When any person is brought in custody before an officer empowered under section 20, or when such officer has himself arrested or procured the appearance by summons under section 20D of any person, he shall make such investigation as seems to him necessary, and shall either release such person or admit him to bail to appear, or if bail is not given, produce him or cause the officer-in-charge of the nearest police-station to produce him before a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the case :

Provided that if the investigation is not completed within twenty-four hours of the arrest, the said officer may take bail with or without security from the person arrested to appear on any subsequent date before himself, and shall, if such bail is not given, forthwith forward the arrested person to the nearest Magistrate with a report of the case, and a request to detain him in custody for such period not exceeding fourteen days as may be necessary to complete the investigation and to order his production before the said officer when necessary for such investigation.

(4) The Magistrate to whom an arrested person is so forwarded, whether he has or has not jurisdiction to try the case, may, by order in writing stating the reasons therefor, authorize the detention of the arrested person in default of bail in such custody as he thinks fit for a term not exceeding fourteen days in the whole.

20B. Power of investigating officer to summon witnesses.—(1) An officer empowered under section 20 may summon any person to appear before himself to give evidence, or to produce any document, necessary for the purposes of an investigation.

(2) Such summons, shall state whether the person summoned is required to give evidence or to produce a document or both, and shall specify a time and place for appearance.

(3) It shall be lawful for such officer instead of issuing a summons to proceed to the residence of any person whom by reason of sickness or other infirmity or by reason of rank or sex it may not seem proper to summon, and there require him to answer such questions as may be necessary for the purposes of the investigation.

(4) Any person examined in accordance with the provisions of sub-section (1) or sub-section (3) shall be bound to answer all questions relating to the investigations put to him by such officer other than questions the answers to which would have a tendency to expose him to a criminal charge or to a penalty or forfeiture.

(5) The provisions of section 162 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply to the statements made by any person under this section.

(6) No oaths shall be administered to any such person.

20C. Power of investigating officer to release accused when evidence deficient.—If upon an investigation under this Act it appears to the officer-in-charge of such investigation that there is not sufficient evidence or reasonable ground of suspicion to justify the forwarding of the accused to a Magistrate, such officer shall release him on his executing a bond, with or without sureties, as such officer may direct, to appear, if and when so required, before a Magistrate for trial.

20D. Power of certain officers to summon suspected persons.—When any officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department, not below such rank as may be prescribed by the Provincial Government by notification in the Official Gazette has reasonable grounds for believing that any person has committed an offence under this Act, he may, after recording his reasons in writing, and either with or without previous investigation, summon such person to appear before him.

20E. Summoning witnesses, etc., how to be made.—The provisions of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, relating to summonses and compelling the appearance of persons summoned and the production of documents shall apply, as far as may be, in the case of any summons issued by an officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department, empowered to issue a summons under this Act.

20F. Procedure in case of forfeiture of bond.—When it appears to an officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department that a bond for appearance before himself has been forfeited, he shall forward the bond to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the offence of which the person bailed was accused, and the Magistrate shall deal with the matter in the manner provided by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, for the forfeiture of bonds for appearance before his own Court.

20G. Jurisdiction of Magistrate on receipt of report from Excise Officer, etc.—When an officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department forwards in custody any person accused of an offence under this Act to the Magistrate having jurisdiction to try the case or admits any such person to bail to appear before such Magistrate, he shall submit a report setting forth the name of the accused person and the nature of the offence with which he was charged and the names of the person who appear to be acquainted with the circumstances of the case, and shall send to such Magistrate any article which it may be necessary to produce before him. Upon receipt of such report the Magistrate shall inquire into such offence and try the person accused thereof in like manner as if such report is a report in writing made by a police officer under clause (b) of sub-section (1) of section 190 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898.

20H. Attendance of witnesses before Magistrate.—An officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department acting under the provisions of section 20G shall have all the powers conferred by the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, on an officer in charge of a police-station for the purpose of causing the appearance before the Magistrate of persons acquainted with the circumstances of the case.

20I. Police to take charge of articles seized.—All officers-in-charge of police-stations shall take charge of and keep in safe custody, pending the orders of a Magistrate or an investigating officer of the Excise, Police or Customs Department, all articles seized under this Act which may be delivered to them, and shall allow any investigating officer who may accompany such articles to the police-station or who may be deputed for the purpose by his superior officer, to affix his seal to such articles and to take samples of and from them. All samples so taken shall also be sealed with the seal of the officer-in-charge of the police-station and with the seal of the accused or his agent if he is available. All such packets of samples shall be signed by the accused or his agent if he is available.

20J. Diary of proceedings in investigation.—(1) Every Excise, Police or Customs officer making an investigation under this Act shall, day by day, enter his proceedings in the investigation in a diary, setting forth the time at which the information reached him, the time at which he began and closed his investigation, the place or places visited by him and a statement of the circumstances ascertained from day to day until the investigation is closed.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (2) of S. 172 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, shall apply in the case of every such diary." —Beng. Act V of 1933, S. 12.

Section 20-G (West Bengal)—Note 1

[1] Although under S. 20-G (Bengal) the report of an excise officer can be treated as a police report for the purpose of taking cognizance of a case, it cannot be considered to be a police report within the provisions of S. 173, Criminal P. C. Hence in the trial the Magistrate has to adopt only the procedure prescribed by S. 252 of Criminal P. C. The procedure prescribed by S. 251-A of the Criminal P. C. being applicable only where the case commences on a police report under S. 173, of that Code cannot be adopted by the Magistrate. 1958 Cal 213 (218, 219) [AIR V 45 C 50] : 1958 Cri L Jour 622 (DB).

21. Report of arrests and seizures.

Whenever any officer makes any arrest or seizure under this Act, he shall, within forty-eight hours next after such arrest or seizure, make a full report of all the particulars of such arrest or seizure to his immediate official superior.

STATE AMENDMENT*WEST BENGAL

For the words "forty-eight hours" the words "twenty-four hours" shall be substituted.
—Beng. Act V of 1933, S. 13.

22. Procedure in case of illegal poppy cultivation. [Repealed by the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930 (II of 1930), section 40 and Schedule II.]*23. Recovery of arrears of fees, duties, etc.

Any arrear of any fee or duty imposed under this Act or any rule made hereunder, and any arrear due from any farmer of opium-revenue, may be recovered from the person primarily liable to pay the same to the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] or from his surety (if any) as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

STATE AMENDMENT*WEST BENGAL

The words "or any person licensed in this behalf under this Act" shall be inserted after the words "opium-revenue."
—Beng. Act V of 1933, S. 14.

24. Farmer may apply to Collector or other officer to recover amount due to him by licensee.

When any amount is due to a farmer of opium-revenue from his licensee, in respect of a license, such farmer may make an application to the Collector of the district, Deputy Commissioner or other officer authorized by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] in this behalf, praying such officer to recover, such amount on behalf of the applicant; and, on receiving such application, such Collector, Deputy Commissioner or other officer may in his discretion recover such amount as if it were an "arrear of land-revenue, and shall pay any amount so recovered to the applicant :

Provided that the execution of any process issued by such Collector, <sup>b</sup>[Deputy Commissioner] or other officer for the recovery of such amount shall be stayed if the licensee institutes a suit in the Civil Court to try the demand of the farmer, and furnishes security to the satisfaction of such officer for the payment of the amount which such Court may adjudge to be due from him to such farmer :

Provided also that nothing contained in this section or done thereunder shall affect the right of any farmer of opium-revenue to recover by suit in the Civil Court or otherwise any amount due to him from such licensee.

[a] See the Revenue Recovery Act, 1890 (I of 1890). [b] Substituted for "Deputy Collector", by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891), Sch. II.

25. Recovery of penalties due under bond.

When any person, in compliance with any rule made hereunder, gives a bond for the performance of any duty or act, such duty or act shall be deemed to be a public duty, or an act in which the public are interested, as the case may be, within the meaning of the Indian Contract Act, 1872, section 74; and, upon breach of the condition of such bond by him, the whole sum named therein as the amount to be paid in case of such breach may be recovered from him as if it were an arrear of land-revenue.

Section 21 — Note 1

[1] The Act does not lay down any special procedure relating to search, seizure or arrest.

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

—Amended by Act XLIV of 1951.

[THE] OPIUM AND REVENUE LAWS (EXTENSION OF APPLICATION) ACT, 1950

(ACT XXXIII OF 1950)<sup>a</sup>

[18th April, 1950.]

An Act to provide for the extension of certain opium and revenue laws to certain parts of India.

BE it enacted by Parliament as follows :—

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE OPIUM AND REVENUE LAWS (EXTENSION OF APPLICATION) ACT, 1950.

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1950, Pt. II-Sec. 2, p. 198.

2. Extension of certain opium and revenue laws to certain parts of India.

(1) The following Acts, namely,—

- (i) the Opium Act, 1857,
- (ii) the Opium Act, 1878,
- (iii) the Revenue Recovery Act, 1890,
- (iv) the Government Trading Taxation Act, 1926,
- (v) the Dangerous Drugs Act, 1930,
- (vi) the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947, and
- (vii) the Payment of Taxes (Transfer of Property) Act, 1949, and all rules and orders made thereunder, which are in force immediately before the commencement of this Act in certain parts of India, are hereby extended to and shall be in force in, the rest of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.

(2) The amendments specified in the Schedule shall be made in the aforesaid Acts.

3. Modifications in State laws relating to income-tax investigation.

If immediately before the commencement of this Act there is in force in any Part B State<sup>a</sup> other than Jammu and Kashmir any law (hereinafter in this section referred to as "the State law") corresponding to the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947, that law shall continue to remain in force with the following modifications, namely :—

- (a) all cases referred to or pending before the State Commission (by whatever name called) in respect of matters relating to taxation on income other

Section 2— Note 1

[1] The Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act, 1950, which came into force on 20th April 1950, has by S. 2 of the Act, extended the application of the Revenue Recovery Act (I of 1890) to the Pepsu State. 1955 Pepsu 133 (134) [(S) AIR V 42 C 30] : ILR (1956) Patiala 234 (DB).

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] The absence of a provision saving the operation of the prior Act in the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act which extended the operation of the Central Revenue Recovery Act of 1890 to Part B States is not fatal to the enforcement of claims that arose under the Cochin Revenue Recovery Act which was repealed. 1954 Trav-Co 518 (520) [AIR V 41 C 180] : ILR (1954) Trav-Co 1005 (FB).

[2] Section 3 of this Act as amended by Act 44 of 1951 provided that the Travancore Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947, shall continue to remain in force with certain modifications. 1954 Trav-Co 131 (134) [AIR V 41 C 45] : ILR (1953) Trav-Co 1145 (FB).

[3] The Government of Travancore-Cochin by its order, Ext. G dated 14th February, 1950, accepted the findings of the Investigation Commission and directed that immediate steps be taken to recover the net amount of income-tax due from the party according to the said findings under the Travancore Income-tax Act of 1096. The Government of India apparently found that the Income-tax Authorities were not following the procedure prescribed by the Travancore Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1124 in implementing Ex. G; and issued Ex. H, dated 25th October, 1951, in which they said : "The Central Government hereby, in implementation of the order of the Government of Travancore-Cochin dated 14th February, 1950, direct that appropriate assessment proceedings under the Travancore Income-tax Act (XIII of 1096) shall be taken against the assessee with a view to assess or re-assess the amount of concealed income of Rs. 1,31,750 which escaped assessment." Held, that Ext. G issued by the Government of Travancore-Cochin which was the basic order under S. 8 (2), Travancore Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1124, and Ex. H issued by the Government of India after the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Act, 1950, which was nothing more than a communication calling the attention of the Income-tax Authorities to the procedure they should follow in implementing Ex. G under S. 8, Travancore Taxation on Income-tax (Investigation Commission) Act, 1124, were both well within the competence of the Governments concerned and were valid orders. 1955 Trav-Co 15 (16) [AIR V 42 C 8] (SB).

than agricultural income shall stand transferred to the Central Commission for disposal :

Provided that the Central Commission shall not, by reason merely of the transfer of any case under the provisions of this section, be bound to recall or rehear any witness who has given evidence in the case, and may act on the evidence already recorded by or produced before the Commission which was originally investigating into the case ;

- <sup>b</sup>[(b) in the disposal of cases transferred to the Central Commission under clause (a), it shall have and exercise the same powers as it has and exercises in the investigation of cases referred to it under the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947, and shall be entitled to act for the same term as under sub-section (3) of section 4 of that Act ;
- (bb) any decision given, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, by the Chief Revenue Authority of Travancore or of Travancore-Cochin in the exercise or purported exercise of any powers conferred on it by any law for the time being in force in the State shall be deemed to be a decision given by the Income-tax authority for the purposes of sub-section (2) of section 8 of the Travancore Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1124c;]
- (c) any reference in the State Law, by whatever form of words, to the State Government or the State Commission shall, in relation to income other than agricultural income, be construed as a reference to the Central Government or the Central Commission, as the case may be ;
- (d) the report of the Central Commission shall be submitted to the Central Government, and the Central Government may, by order in writing, direct that such proceedings as it thinks fit under the law in force in the State relating to income-tax, super-tax or excess profits tax or any other law, shall be taken against the person to whose case the report relates in respect of his income other than agricultural income, and upon such a direction being given, all such proceedings may be taken and completed under the appropriate law applicable in the State, as if the direction had been given and the proceedings had been instituted thereunder ;
- (e) where under any law in force in the State the agricultural income of an assessee is to be included in his total income for the purpose of determining the tax payable by him, the tax payable in respect of his income other than agricultural income shall be an amount bearing to the total amount of tax which would have been payable under the appropriate law in force in the State if a combined assessment had been made, the same proportion as such income bears to the total income including the agricultural income :

Provided that for this purpose any reduction of tax allowed on the agricultural income by the appropriate law in force in the State shall not be taken into account.

Explanation. — In this section, “Central Commission” means the Income-tax Investigation Commission constituted under the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947.

[a] Immediately before 1-11-1956 the following were Part B States, namely, Hyderabad, Jammu and Kashmir, Madhya Bharat, Mysore, Pepsu, Rajasthan, Saurashtra and Travancore-Cochin. [b] Substituted and deemed always to have been substituted for the former clause (b) of S. 3, by the Opium and Revenue Laws (Extension of Application) Amendment Act, 1951 (XLIV of 1951), S. 2. [c] Travancore Act XIV of 1124.

4. Repeals and savings.

If immediately before the commencement of this Act there is in force in any Part B States*, other than Jammu and Kashmir, or in the merged territory of Cooch Behar any law corresponding to any of the Acts specified in section 2, other than the Taxation on Income (Investigation Commission) Act, 1947, that law shall, upon the commencement of this Act, stand repealed :

Provided that such repeal shall not affect—

- (a) the previous operation of that law, or
- (b) any penalty, forfeiture or punishment incurred in respect of any offence committed against that law, or
- (c) any investigation, legal proceeding or remedy in respect of any such penalty, forfeiture or punishment ; and any such investigation, legal proceeding or remedy may be instituted, continued or enforced, and any such penalty, forfeiture or punishment may be imposed as if this Act had not been passed :

Provided further that anything done or any action taken under any provision of that law shall be deemed to have been done or taken under the corresponding provision of the Central Act as now extended to the State and shall continue in force accordingly.

[a] See foot-note 'a' under S. 3.

5. Removal of difficulties.

If any difficulty arises in giving effect to the provisions of any of the Acts, rules or orders now extended to any part of India in which they were not in force before the commencement of this Act, the Central Government may, by order published in the Official Gazette, make such provision or give such direction as appears to it to be necessary for removing the difficulty.

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] The effect of S. 4 is to repeal the Gwalior State Rules for the Recovery of Government Dues, Samvat 2001, which embodied a law corresponding to the Revenue Recovery Act, 1890. 1952 Madh B 194 (196) [AIR V 39] : 1953 Cri L Jour 27.

[2] Where the proceedings for the recovery of the dues to a Co-operative Bank were initiated under the Patiala Recovery of State Dues Act, Bk. 2002, before the Central Act 33 of 1950 had received the assent of the President and was published, the validity of the mode of initiation of the proceedings cannot be questioned on the ground of anything contained in the Revenue Recovery Act, 1890, as the previous operation of the corresponding law in force in the State is expressly saved by proviso (a) to S. 4. 1955 Pepsu 129 (130) [(S) AIR V 42 C 29] (DB).

[3] Section 4 of Act 33 of 1950, by which certain Acts including Revenue Recovery Act of 1890 are enforced in Pepsu repeals only those local laws which correspond to these Acts. Revenue Recovery Act and Patiala Revenue Recovery of State Dues Act (2002 Bk.) do not wholly correspond; either of them, to a great extent supplements the other. Hence, in cases where State royalty with respect to a brick kiln is being realised as an arrear of land revenue by the Collector in his own district there is no conflict between the two Acts and the question of the Central Act repealing the local law does not arise. 1956 Pepsu 14 (16) [(S) AIR V 43 C 6] (DB).

[4] The Revenue Recovery Act of 1890 simply prescribes the procedure for starting the proceedings for recovery of certain public demands. It does not lay down the procedure to be followed after the proceedings are initiated. The procedure for the actual recovery is to be guided by the law in force in the State where the recovery is made. 1955 Pepsu 129 (130) [(S) AIR V 42 C 29] (DB).

[5] Section 4 expressly repeals any law in force in Part B States corresponding to the Acts specified in S. 2. The Patiala Recovery of State Dues Act, 4 of 2002 Bk. is a law corresponding to the Revenue Recovery Act of 1890. 1955 Pepsu 133 (134) [(S) AIR V 42 C 30] : ILR (1956) Patiala 234 (DB).

[See however 1959 Punj 440 (444) [AIR V 46 C 133] : ILR (1959) Punj 1384 (DB).]

[6] Mere similarity in the names given to the Patiala Recovery of State Dues Act and Revenue Recovery Act does not lead to the conclusion that the application of the Revenue Recovery Act has the effect of repealing the Patiala Act, in its entirety. By necessary implication of S. 4 of the Act of 1950 the provisions of the Patiala Act, so far as they do not correspond to, but may supplement, those of the Revenue Recovery Act are preserved. 1955 Pepsu 133 (135, 136) [(S) AIR V 42 C 30] : ILR (1956) Patiala 234 (DB).

ACT HOW AFFECTED BY SUBSEQUENT LEGISLATION

—Extended by Act XI of 1867.

[THE] ORIENTAL GAS COMPANY

(ACT V OF 1857)<sup>a</sup>

[13th February, 1857.]

An Act to confer certain powers on the Oriental Gas Company, Limited.

Preamble.

WHEREAS a Joint Stock Company has been lately formed for the purpose of introducing Gas-works into India, which Company having been completely registered in England under the Act of Parliament of the eighth year of the of Her present Majesty, Cap. 110, has since been registered in England under "The Joint Stock Companies' Act, 1856", with limited liability, and has duly obtained a certificate of Incorporation under the name of the Oriental Gas Company, Limited; and whereas the said Company has erected Gas-works on land granted for that purpose by Government in the vicinity of the Town of Calcutta, and is engaged in the preparation of apparatus and materials for the manufacture and supply of Gas for lighting the said Town; and whereas it is expedient that powers and facilities should be given to the said Company to enable them to carry out their undertaking of lighting with Gas the said Town of Calcutta, which powers and facilities may hereafter be extended to the operations of the said Company in other towns and places; It is enacted as follows :—

[a] For extension of the Act to certain places in India, see the Oriental Gas Company (Act XI of 1867).

1. Power to break up streets, etc., under superintendence, and to open drains.

In the Town of Calcutta and its environs, and in any other town or place to which the provisions of this Act may hereafter be extended, by a law to be passed for that purpose, the Oriental Gas Company, Limited, under such superintendence as is hereinafter specified, may open and break up the soil and pavement of the several streets and bridges, and may open and break up any sewers, drains, or tunnels within or under such streets and bridges, and lay down and place within the same limits pipes, conduits, service-pipes, and other works, and from time to time repair, alter, or remove the same, and also make any sewers that may be necessary for carrying off the washings and waste liquids which may arise in the making of the Gas; and for the purposes aforesaid, may remove and use all earth and materials in and under such streets and bridges; and they may in such streets erect any pillars, lamps, and other works, and do all other acts which the said Company shall from time to time deem necessary for supplying Gas to the inhabitants of the said Town of Calcutta and its environs, or other town or place as aforesaid, doing as little damage as may be in the execution of the powers hereby granted, and making compensation for any damage which may be done in the execution of such powers.

2. Not to enter on private land without consent.

Provided always, that nothing herein shall authorize or empower the said Company to lay down or place any pipe or other works into, through, or against any building, or in any land not dedicated to public use, without the consent of the owners and occupiers thereof; except that the said Company may at any time enter upon and lay or place any new pipe in the place of an existing pipe, in any land wherein any pipe has been already lawfully laid down or placed in pursuance of this Act, and may repair or alter any pipe so laid down.

3. Notice to be served on persons having control, etc., before breaking up streets or opening drains.

Before the said Company proceed to open or break up any street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, they shall give to the Municipal Commissioners for the Town of Calcutta* or other persons under whose control or management the same may be, or to their Clerk, Surveyor, or other officer, notice in writing of their intention to open or break up the same, not less than three clear days before beginning such work; except in cases of emergency arising from defects in any of the pipes or other works, and then so soon as is possible after the beginning of the work, or the necessity for the same shall have arisen.

[a] For amendment of this section where this Act is extended to any place other than Calcutta, see section 2. of the Oriental Gas Company (Act XI of 1867).

- 4. Streets or drains not to be broken up except under superintendence of persons having control of the same. If persons having the control, etc., fail to superintend, Company may proceed with the work.

No such street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel shall, except in the cases of emergency aforesaid, be opened or broken up, except under the superintendence of the persons having the control or management thereof, or of their officer, and according to such plan as shall be approved of by such persons or their officer, or in case of any difference respecting such plan, then according to such plan as shall be determined by a Magistrate; and such Magistrate may, on the application of the persons having the control or management of any such sewer or drain, or their officer, require the said Company to make such temporary or other works as they may think necessary for guarding against any interruption of the drainage during the execution of any works which interfere with any such sewer or drain: Provided always that, if the persons having such control or management as aforesaid, and their officer, fail to attend at the time fixed for the opening of any such street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, after having had such notice of the said Company's intention as aforesaid, or shall not propose any plan for breaking up or opening the same, or shall refuse or neglect to superintend the operation, the said Company may perform the work specified in such notice without the superintendence of such persons or their officer.

- 5. Streets broken up to be reinstated without delay.

When the said Company open or break up the road or pavement of any street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel, they shall, with all convenient speed, complete the work for which the same shall be broken up, and fill in the ground, and reinstate and make good the road or pavement, or the sewer, drain, or tunnel so opened or broken up, and carry away the rubbish occasioned thereby; and shall at all times, whilst any such road or pavement shall be so opened or broken up, cause the same to be fenced and guarded, and shall cause a light, sufficient for the warning of passengers, to be set up and maintained against or near such road or pavement where the same shall be open or broken up, every night during which the same shall be continued open or broken up; and shall keep the road or pavement which has been so broken up in good repair for three months after replacing and making good the same, and for such further time, if any, not being more than twelve months in the whole, as the soil so broken up shall continue to subside.

Note.—Violation of the provisions of sections 3, 4 or 5, entails the forfeiture of a sum not exceeding fifty rupees for every offence.

- 6. Penalty for delay in reinstating streets.

If the said Company open or break up any street or bridge, or any sewer, drain, or tunnel, without giving such notice as aforesaid, or in a manner different from that which shall have been approved of or determined as aforesaid, or without making such temporary or other works as aforesaid, when so required, except in the cases in which the said Company are hereby authorized to perform such works without any superintendence or notice; or if the said Company make any delay in completing any such work, or in filling in the ground or reinstating and making good the road or pavement, or the sewer, drain, or tunnel so opened or broken up, or in carrying away the rubbish occasioned thereby; or if they neglect to cause the place where such road or pavement has been broken up to be fenced, guarded, and lighted, or neglect to keep the road or pavement in repair for the space of three months next after the same shall have been made good, or such further time as aforesaid, they shall forfeit to the persons having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, in respect of which such default is made, a sum not exceeding fifty rupees for every such offence, and they shall forfeit an additional sum not exceeding fifty rupees for each day during which any such delay as aforesaid shall continue after they shall have received notice thereof.

7. In case of delay, other parties may reinstate, and recover the expenses. Expense how to be ascertained and recovered.

If any such delay or omission as aforesaid take place, the persons having the control or management of the street, bridge, sewer, drain, or tunnel, in respect of which such delay or omission shall take place, may cause the work so delayed or omitted to be executed; and the expense of executing the same shall be repaid to such persons by the said Company; and the amount of such expense shall, in case of any dispute about the same, be ascertained and recovered in Calcutta and in any other town or place subject to the jurisdiction of any of Her Majesty's Courts of Judicature, in the manner in which expenses are ascertained and recovered under Act XIV of 1856,<sup>a</sup> and in any town or place not within the jurisdiction of any of Her Majesty's Courts, in the same manner as damages are recoverable under this Act.

[a] This Act provided for Conservancy in Presidency-towns; it was repealed by the Repealing Act, 1874 (XVI of 1874).

For amendment of this section where this Act is extended to any place other than Calcutta, see section 2 of the Oriental Gas Company (Act XI of 1867).

8. Power to enter buildings for ascertaining quantity of gas consumed.

The Clerk, Engineer, or other officer duly appointed for the purpose by the said Company, may, at all reasonable times, enter any buildings or place lighted with Gas supplied by the said Company, in order to inspect the meters, fittings, and works for regulating the supply of Gas, and for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity of Gas consumed or supplied; and if any person hinder such officer as aforesaid from entering and making such inspection as aforesaid at any reasonable time, he shall, for every such offence, forfeit to the said Company a sum not exceeding fifty rupees.

9. Recovery of rent due for gas.

If any person supplied with Gas, or any person to whom any meter or fitting shall have been let for hire by the said Company, neglect to pay the rent due for the same to the said Company, the said Company may stop the Gas from entering the premises of such person, by cutting off the service-pipes, or by such means as the said Company shall think fit, and recover the rent due from such person, together with the expenses of cutting off the Gas, by action in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

10. Power to take away pipes when supply of gas discontinued.

In all cases in which the said Company are authorized to cut off and take away the supply of Gas from any house or building or premises under the provisions of this Act, the said Company, their agents or workmen, after giving twenty-four hours' previous notice to the occupier, may enter into any such house, building, or premises, between the hours of nine in the forenoon and four in the afternoon, and remove and carry away any pipe, meter, fittings, or other works, the property of the said Company.

11. Meters not liable to distress for rent, etc.

Any meter or fitting let for hire by the said Company shall not be subject to distress for rent or revenue or any rate due upon the premises where the same may be used, nor be taken in execution under any process of a Court of law or equity, or any proceeding in insolvency against the person in whose possession the same may be.

12. Penalty for fraudulently using gas.

Every person who shall lay, or cause to be laid, any pipe to communicate with any pipe belonging to the said Company, without their consent, or shall fraudulently injure any such meter as aforesaid, or who, in case the Gas supplied by the said Company is not ascertained by meter, shall use any burner other than such as has been provided or approved of by the said Company, or of larger dimensions than he has contracted to pay for, or shall keep the lights burning for a longer time than he has contracted to pay for, or shall otherwise improperly use or burn the Gas, or shall supply any other person with any part of the Gas supplied to him by the said Company, shall forfeit to the said Company the sum of fifty rupees for every such offence, and also the sum of twenty rupees for every day such pipe shall so remain, or such works or burner shall be so used, or such excess be so committed or continued, or such supply furnished ; and the said Company may take off the Gas from the house and premises of the person so offending, notwithstanding any contract which may have been previously entered into.

13. Penalty for wilfully damaging pipes.

Every person who shall wilfully remove, destroy, or damage any pipe, pillar, post, plug, lamp, or other work of the said Company for supplying Gas, or who shall wilfully extinguish any of the public lamps or lights, or waste or improperly use any of the Gas supplied by the said Company, shall, for each such offence, forfeit to the said Company any sum not exceeding fifty rupees, in addition to the amount of the damage done.

14. Satisfaction for accidentally damaging pipes.

Every person who shall carelessly or accidentally break, throw down, or damage any pipe, pillar, or lamp belonging to the said Company, or under their control, shall pay such sum of money by way of satisfaction to the said Company for the damage done, not exceeding fifty rupees, as any Magistrate shall think reasonable.

15. Penalty for causing water to be corrupted. Daily penalty during the continuance of the offence.

If the said Company shall at any time cause or suffer to be brought, or to flow into any stream, reservoir, aqueduct, pond, or place for water, or into any drain communicating therewith, any washing or other substance produced in making or supplying Gas, or shall wilfully do any act connected with the making or supplying of Gas, whereby the water in any such stream, reservoir, aqueduct, pond, or place for water, shall be fouled, the said Company shall forfeit for every such offence a sum not exceeding one thousand rupees ; and they shall forfeit an additional sum not exceeding five hundred rupees for each day during which such washing or other substance shall be brought or shall flow, or the act by which such water shall be fouled shall continue, after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the time when notice of the offence shall have been served on the said Company, by the person into whose water such washing or other substance shall be brought or shall flow, or whose water shall be fouled thereby; and such penalties shall be paid to such last-mentioned person.

16. Daily penalty during escape of Gas after notice.

Whenever any Gas shall escape from any pipe, laid down or set up by or belonging to the said Company, they shall, immediately after receiving notice thereof in writing, prevent such Gas from escaping ; and in case the said Company shall not, within twenty-four hours next after service of such notice, effectually prevent the Gas from escaping, and wholly remove the cause of complaint, they shall for every such offence forfeit the sum of fifty rupees for each day during which the Gas shall be suffered to escape, after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of such notice.

17. Penalty if water be fouled by Gas.

Whenever any water shall be fouled by the Gas of the said Company, they shall forfeit to the person whose water shall be so fouled for every such offence a sum not exceeding two hundred rupees, and a further sum, not exceeding one hundred rupees, for each day during which the offence shall continue, after the expiration of twenty-four hours from the service of notice of such offence.

18. Power to examine Gas-pipes to ascertain cause of water being fouled.

For the purpose of ascertaining whether such water be fouled by the Gas of the said Company, the person to whom the water supposed to be fouled shall belong, may dig up the ground, and examine the pipes, conduits, and works of the said Company ; provided that such person, before proceeding so to dig and examine, shall give twenty-four hours' notice in writing to the said Company of the time at which such digging and examination is intended to take place, and shall give the like notice to the persons having the control or management of the road, pavement, or place where such digging is to take place, and they shall be subject to the like obligation of reinstating the said road and pavement, and the same penalties for delay, or any nonfeasance or misfeasance therein, as are hereinbefore provided with respect to roads and pavements broken up by the said Company, for the purpose of laying their pipes.

19. Expenses to abide result of examination.

If upon any such examination it appear that such water has been fouled by any Gas belonging to the said Company, the expenses of the digging, examination, and repair of the street or place disturbed in any such examination shall be paid by the said Company; but if upon such examination, it appear that the water has not been fouled by the Gas of the said Company, the person causing such examination to be made, shall pay all such expenses, and shall also make good to the said Company any injury which may be occasioned to their works by such examination.

20. How expenses to be ascertained.

The amount of the expenses of every such examination and repair, and of any injury done to the said Company, shall, in case of any dispute about the same, together with the costs of ascertaining and recovering the same, be ascertained and recovered in the manner prescribed for the ascertainment and recovery of expenses in section 7 of this Act.

21. Liability to indictments for nuisance.

Nothing in this Act contained shall prevent the said Company from being liable to an indictment for nuisance, or to any other legal proceedings to which they may be liable in consequence of making or supplying Gas.

22. Copies of the original Deed of Association and of all rules, etc., to be kept for inspection at the office of the Company in Calcutta and in the office of the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, or the Keeper of the Records of the Supreme Court at Fort William.

A copy of the original Deed of Association of the said Company, and of every other instrument registered under the said "Joint Stock Companies' Act, 1856", as constituting the Regulations of the said Company, and a copy of every special resolution of a General Meeting whereby any change shall have been, or at any time shall be made in the Regulations of the said Company, shall be kept at the office of the said Company in Calcutta, and shall there be open to the inspection of all persons during the usual hours of business of the said office; and a copy of such original Deed of Association, and of every other such instrument, and of every special resolution as aforesaid, shall also be deposited by the said Company as soon as it can be done after the passing of this Act, or after the making of any such special resolution hereafter to be made, in the office of the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, or, if there be no such officer, in the office of the Keeper of the Records of the Supreme Court of Judicature at Fort William*, and shall there be filed; and an examined copy of any such filed copy as aforesaid, certified by and under the hand of the Registrar of Joint Stock Companies, or of the Keeper of the Records of the said Supreme Court, shall be good and sufficient evidence of each such original Deed, instrument, or special resolution, in all actions, suits, and proceedings whatsoever, whether civil or criminal, to be had in any Court of Justice or before any Magistrate, or Revenue or other officer, and whether acting judicially or in any proceedings preliminary to a judicial inquiry, throughout the territories of the East India Company.

[a] Now High Court at Calcutta.

For amendment of this section where this Act is extended to any place other than Calcutta, see section 2 of the Oriental Gas Company (Act XI of 1867).

23. Service of process.

All services of mesne or other process, and all notices whatsoever, which, by law or by the practice of any Court wherein the said Company shall sue or be sued, are required to be made, served, or given for any purpose whatsoever to the said Company, shall and may be made, served, and given, in addition to all ways and means by which the same may otherwise be legally made, served, and given, by leaving the same addressed to the Managing Agent of the said Company at the office in Calcutta of the said Company.

24. Recovery of penalties, etc.

All penalties and forfeitures imposed by this Act, and all damages and expenses the recovery of which is not specially provided for, may be recovered by summary proceeding before a Magistrate.

25. Levy by distress.

All penalties, forfeitures, damages, and expenses adjudged due under this Act, if the amount be not otherwise paid, may be levied by distress and sale of the goods and chattels of the party liable to pay the same, and the overplus arising from such goods and chattels, after satisfying such amount and the expenses of the distress and sale, shall be returned on demand to the party whose goods shall have been distrained; or instead of proceeding by distress and sale, or in case of failure to realise by distress the whole or any part of any penalties, forfeitures, damages, or expenses imposed or incurred under the provisions of this Act, the person claiming such penalty, forfeiture, damage, or expenses, may sue the person liable to pay the same in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

26. No distress unlawful for want of form, etc.

No distress levied by virtue of this Act shall be deemed unlawful, nor shall any party making the same be deemed a trespasser, on account of any defect or want of form in the summons, conviction, warrant of distress, or other proceeding relating thereto, nor shall any such party be deemed a trespasser ab initio on account of any irregularity afterwards committed by him; but all persons aggrieved by any irregularity may recover full satisfaction for the special damage in any Court of competent jurisdiction.

27. Interpretation.

The following words and expressions used in this Act shall have the meanings hereby assigned to them, unless there be something in the subject or context repugnant to such construction (that is to say):—

Words importing the singular number only shall include the plural number, and words importing the plural number only shall include also the singular number.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"There are hundreds of orphanages and other charitable homes in the country whose pitiable conditions of existence do not appear to have been taken into consideration in any legislation so far undertaken in any State Legislature or in Parliament.

The Bills hitherto introduced either in the State Legislatures or in Parliament have sought to penalise criminal activities commonly presumed to be indulged in by orphanages and widows' homes and to vest in the executive powers to deal with such activities. But very little attention has been given to the constructive side of these institutions.

It must be admitted on all hands that orphanages and other charitable homes are necessary for the society for diverse reasons.

Besides giving protection to the unprotected and unhappy members of the society and affording an outlet for laudable charity for charitably minded persons, these institutions, if run on proper national lines, can help the building of the nation.

Thus every State Government in India is required under this Bill to establish a Board of Control for orphanages and charitable homes in the State.

So far as the constructive side is concerned, no existing orphanage or charitable home is to be disturbed, but only its management is sought to be regularised through a managing committee to be elected as prescribed."

3. Act not to apply to certain institutions.

Nothing in this Act shall apply to—

(a) any hostel or boarding house attached to, or controlled or recognised by, an educational institution ; or

(b) any protective home established under the Suppression of Immoral Traffic in Women and Girls Act, 1956 ; or

(c) any reformatory, certified or other school, or any home or workhouse, governed by any enactment for the time being in force.

4. Effect of Act on instruments governing recognised homes.

The provisions of this Act shall have effect notwithstanding anything inconsistent therewith contained in any instrument governing a recognised home.

CHAPTER II

THE BOARD OF CONTROL AND ITS POWERS AND FUNCTIONS

5. Board of Control, its constitution, etc.

(1) The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, establish a Board of Control for the supervision and control of homes in the State.

(2) The Board shall consist of the following members, namely :—

(a) three members of the State Legislature to be elected by the members thereof; provided that where the State Legislature consist of two Houses, two members shall be elected by the members of the Legislative Assembly from among themselves and one member shall be elected by the members of the Legislative Council from among themselves ;

(b) five members of the managing committees in the State, to be elected by such committees from among themselves, each such committee having one vote only for this purpose ;

(c) the officer in charge of social welfare work in the State, to be nominated by the State Government ;

(d) six members to be nominated by the State Government, of whom not more than one shall be a member of Parliament from the State and not less than three shall be women.

(3) If for any reason the officer referred to in clause (c) of sub-section (2) is unable to attend any meeting of the Board, he may depute any officer subordinate to him to attend such meeting.

(4) The Chairman of the Board shall be elected by the members of the Board from among themselves :

Provided that at the time of the first constitution of the Board, one of the members of the Board shall be nominated by the State Government to be its Chairman.

6. Term of office and casual vacancies.

(1) Save as otherwise provided in this section, the term of office of a member of the Board shall be five years from the date of his election or nomination or until his successor has been duly elected or nominated, whichever is longer :

Provided that the term of office of a member elected under clause (a) or clause (b) of sub-section (2) of section 5, or of a member of Parliament nominated under clause (d) of sub-section (2) of section 5, shall come to an end as soon as he ceases to be a member of the House of the State Legislature which elected him, the managing committee or Parliament, as the case may be.

(2) A member may at any time resign his office by giving notice in writing to the State Government and on such resignation being notified in the Official Gazette by that Government, the seat of such member shall become vacant.

(3) A casual vacancy in the Board shall be filled by fresh election or nomination, as the case may be ; and the term of office of a member elected or nominated to fill such vacancy shall be the remainder of the term of the member in whose place he is elected or nominated.

(4) Members of the Board shall be eligible for re-election or re-nomination.

(5) No act done or proceeding taken by the Board shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or defect in the constitution of, the Board.

7. Functions of the Board.

(1) It shall be the duty of the Board to supervise and control generally all matters relating to the management of homes in accordance with the provisions of this Act ; and exercise such other powers and perform such other functions as may be prescribed by or under this Act.

(2) In the performance of its functions under this Act, the Board shall be bound by such directions as the State Government may give to it.

Note.— The purpose of the Act is to regularise the management of orphanages and charitable homes through a managing Board constituted under this Act. The purpose is to see that more attention is paid to the constructive side of the institutions.

8. Power of the Board to give directions to manager of a recognised home.

Subject to the directions, if any, given under sub-section (2) of section 7, the Board may, from time to time, give such general or special directions to the manager of a recognised home as it thinks fit for the efficient management of the home and the manager shall comply with such directions.

9. Power of inspection.

Any member of the Board, or any officer of the Board authorised in writing by it in this behalf, by general or special order, may enter at all reasonable times any home for the purpose of ascertaining whether the provisions of this Act or of any rules, regulations, directions or orders thereunder are being complied with and may require the production, for his inspection, of any document, book, register or record kept therein and ask for any information relating to the working of the home :

Provided that no such member or officer shall enter any home or part thereof where there are females, except in the presence of two respectable women of the locality.

10. Funds of the Board.

The funds of the Board shall consist of—

- (a) contributions, subscriptions, donations or bequests made to it by any person ; and
- (b) grants made to it by the State Government or any local or other public body.

11. Staff of the Board.

Subject to such rules as may be made by the State Government in this behalf, the Board may, for the purpose of enabling it to perform efficiently its functions or exercise its powers under this Act, appoint such officers or other employees as it may think fit and determine their functions and conditions of service.

12. Delegation of powers.

Subject to the control of the State Government, the Board may, by general or special order in writing and subject to such conditions and limitations, if any, as may be specified therein, delegate to the Chairman or any other member or any officer thereof such of its powers and functions under this Act, as it may deem necessary, for the efficient carrying on of its administration.

CHAPTER III RECOGNITION OF HOMES

13. Homes not to be run without certificate.

After the commencement of this Act, no person shall maintain or conduct any home except under, and in accordance with, the conditions of a certificate of recognition granted under this Act.

14. Application for certificate.

Every person desiring to maintain or conduct a home shall make an application for a certificate of recognition to the Board in such form and containing such particulars as may be prescribed :

Provided that a person maintaining or conducting a home at the commencement of this Act shall be allowed a period of three months from such commencement to make an application for such certificate.

15. Grant or refusal of certificate.

(1) On receipt of an application under section 14, the Board, after making such inquiry as it considers necessary, may, by order in writing, either grant a certificate or refuse to grant it.

(2) No order refusing to grant a certificate shall be made until an opportunity is given to the applicant to be heard in the matter and where a certificate is refused, the grounds for such refusal shall be communicated to the applicant in the prescribed manner.

(3) No fee shall be charged for the grant of a certificate.

(4) A certificate shall not be transferable.

16. Contents of certificate.

(1) The certificate shall specify —

(a) the name and location of the recognised home ;

(b) the name of the manager thereof ;

(c) the nature of the home, whether for women generally or for widows or for children generally or for orphans or for one or more of these classes ;

(d) the number of inmates to be taken by the home ;

(e) the minimum standards regarding boarding, lodging, clothing, sanitation, health and hygiene which, having regard to the conditions of the locality in which the recognised home is situated and its resources, should be complied with in the home ;

(f) the standard of education or training to be provided for the inmates of the home, in case the education or training of its inmates is undertaken ; and

(g) such other conditions and particulars as may be prescribed :

Provided that there shall be deemed to be included in the certificate granted in respect of a home for females a condition to the effect that the person in charge thereof, whether called superintendent or by any other name, shall ordinarily be a woman.

(2) The Board shall not, ordinarily, permit any recognised home to admit as inmates, persons of different sexes, but may do so for reasons to be recorded and subject to such conditions and limitations as may appear to it to be in the public interest.

(3) Without the previous written consent of the Board, no recognised home shall—

(a) change its name or location as specified in the certificate in respect of it; or

(b) alter the purpose of any service specified therein.

17. Revocation of certificate.

(1) The Board may, without prejudice to any other penalty to which a person to whom a certificate has been granted may be liable under this Act, revoke the certificate—

(a) if it is satisfied that the home is not being conducted in accordance with the conditions laid down in the certificate ; or

(b) the management of the home is being persistently carried on in an unsatisfactory manner or is being carried on in a manner highly prejudicial to the moral and physical well-being of the inmates ; or

(c) the home has, in the opinion of the Board, otherwise rendered itself unsuitable for that purpose :

Provided that no order of revocation shall be made under this sub-section until an opportunity is given to the person to show cause why the certificate should not be revoked ; and in every case of revocation, the grounds therefor shall be communicated to the person in the prescribed manner.

(2) Where a certificate in respect of a home is revoked under sub-section (1), such home shall cease to function —

- (a) where an appeal has not been preferred under section 18 against the order of revocation, immediately on the expiration of the period prescribed for such appeal ;
- (b) where such appeal has been preferred, but the order of revocation is upheld, from the date of the appellate order.
- (3) On any home ceasing to function under sub-section (2), the Board may direct that any woman or child who is an inmate of such home shall be—
  - (a) restored to the custody of her or his parent, husband or lawful guardian, as the case may be, or
  - (b) transferred to another recognised home, or
  - (c) entrusted to the care of any other fit person :

Provided that no woman shall be entrusted to the care of any person other than a woman.

18. Appeals.

Any person aggrieved by an order of the Board refusing to grant a certificate or revoking a certificate may, in such manner and within such period as may be prescribed, prefer an appeal to the State Government or to such authority as may be specified by it against such refusal or revocation :

Provided that the State Government or the authority so specified, as the case may be, may admit an appeal after the expiry of the period so prescribed, if it is satisfied that the applicant was prevented by sufficient cause from preferring the appeal in time.

19. Surrender of certificate and its effect.

(1) The manager of a home, if specially authorised in this behalf by resolution of the managing committee, may, on giving six months' notice in writing to the Board of his intention so to do, apply for the withdrawal of the certificate granted in respect of that home and on the expiration of the said period from the date of notice, the certificate shall, unless before that time the notice is withdrawn, cease to have effect; and the home shall cease to function.

(2) No woman or child shall be received into any such home after the date of such notice ; but nothing in this section shall be construed to affect the obligation of the manager to comply with all the requirements of this Act and the rules, regulations, directions and orders thereunder until the certificate ceases to take effect under sub-section (1).

CHAPTER IV MANAGEMENT OF RECOGNISED HOMES

20. Managing committee.

(1) There shall be a managing committee in charge of the management of every recognised home and the members of the managing committee shall appoint a member thereof to be the manager of such home for the purposes of this Act.

(2) The constitution, powers and functions of the managing committee and the term of office of the members thereof shall be such as may be provided in the constitution pertaining to such home.

21. Duty of manager.

It shall be the duty of the manager to comply with all the requirements of this Act and the rules, regulations, directions and orders thereunder in respect of every woman or child admitted into the recognised home until the woman is rehabilitated or the child completes the age of eighteen years or until the certificate ceases to have effect.

22. Discharge of inmates of home.

(1) Subject to the regulations, if any, made by the Board, if the managing committee of a home is satisfied that an inmate of the home has become fit to earn his or her livelihood or is otherwise fit to be discharged from the home, the manager may discharge such inmate.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), no female inmate of a home shall be discharged or given in marriage or entrusted to the care of any other person unless such female has made a declaration before the Board or an officer specified by it in this behalf that she consents to such discharge, marriage or entrustment, as the case may be, and, if the inmate to be given in marriage is a minor, unless the Board or officer, as the case may be, has, after recording the reasons in writing, given its or his approval thereto.

23. Reports regarding deaths of inmates.

The manager shall, immediately after the occurrence of any death among the inmates of the home, send a written report thereof to the Board explaining the cause of death to the best of his knowledge.

---

CHAPTER V
MISCELLANEOUS

24. Penalties.

Any person who fails to comply with any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule, regulation, direction or order thereunder or any of the conditions of a certificate shall be punishable in the case of a first offence with imprisonment which may extend to three months or with fine which may extend to two hundred and fifty rupees or with both, and in the case of a second or subsequent offence, with imprisonment which may extend to six months or with fine which may extend to one thousand rupees or with both.

25. Sanction for prosecutions.

No prosecution under this Act shall be instituted except with the previous sanction of the District Magistrate or the Chief Presidency Magistrate, as the case may be.

26. Persons performing functions under Act to be public servants.

The members of the Board and every person empowered by the Board to exercise any of its powers under this Act shall be deemed to be public servants within the meaning of section 21 of the Indian Penal Code.

27. Protection of acts done in good faith.

No suit, prosecution or other legal proceeding shall lie against any person who performs any function under this Act for anything done or intended to be done in good faith under this Act or any rule, regulation, direction or order thereunder.

28. Power of State Government to exempt homes.

(1) If, after consultation with the Board, the State Government is satisfied that the circumstances in relation to any class of homes or any home are such that it is necessary or expedient so to do, it may, by notification in the Official Gazette, and for reasons to be specified therein, exempt, subject to such conditions, restrictions or limitations, if any, as it may think fit to impose, such class of homes or home, as the case may be, from the operation of all or any of the provisions of this Act or of any rule or regulation made thereunder.

(2) Every notification issued under this section granting an exemption shall be reviewed in consultation with the Board at intervals not exceeding two years, but nothing herein contained shall affect the power of the State Government to amend, vary or rescind any such notification at any time in consultation with the Board.

29. Power of State Government to make rules.

(1) The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) all matters relating to, or in connection with, elections to the Board under clause (b) of sub-section (2) of section 5 and the election of the Chairman;
- (b) the disqualifications for membership of the Board and the procedure to be followed in removing a member who is or becomes subject to any disqualification;
- (c) the funds of the Board;
- (d) the travelling and other allowances to be drawn by members of the Board;
- (e) the appointment of staff for enabling the Board to perform its functions efficiently under this Act and their recruitment and conditions of service;
- (f) the calling of returns and other information by the State Government from the Board and the managing committees;
- (g) the form in which an application for certificate of recognition may be made, the particulars to be contained in such application and the form in which, and the conditions subject to which, such certificate may be granted;
- (h) the maintenance of registers and accounts by the Board and the audit of its accounts;
- (i) any other matter which is to be, or may be, prescribed.

(3) All rules made under this Act shall, as soon as may be after they are made, be laid before the State Legislature.

30. Power of the Board to make regulations.

(1) The Board may, with the previous approval of the State Government, by notification in the Official Gazette, make regulations not inconsistent with this Act and the rules made thereunder, for enabling it to perform its functions under this Act.

(2) In particular, and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such regulations may provide for all or any of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) the time and place of the meetings of the Board, the procedure to be followed in regard to the transaction of business at such meetings and the quorum necessary for the transaction of business at such meetings;
- (b) the maintenance of the minutes of meetings of the Board and the transmission of copies thereof to the State Government;
- (c) the appointment of sub-committees and local committees and of persons by the Board for the purpose of assisting it in performing its functions under this Act;
- (d) the supervision and control of the management of recognised homes;
- (e) the inspection of homes;
- (f) the calling of returns and other information by the Board from managing committees;
- (g) the reception, care, treatment, maintenance, protection, training, welfare, instruction, control and discipline of inmates in recognised homes;
- (h) visits to, and communication with, inmates of recognised homes and the grant of permission to such inmates to absent themselves for short periods;
- (i) the discharge of inmates from recognised homes, their transfer from one recognised home to another and the reports to be sent by managers to the Board;

(j) any other matter in respect of which provision is, in the opinion of the Board, necessary for the efficient supervision and control of homes.

(3) The State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, amend, vary or rescind any regulation which it has approved; and thereupon the regulation shall have effect accordingly, but without prejudice to the exercise of the powers of the Board under sub-section (1).

31. Repeals and savings.

(1) As from the date of the coming into force in any State of this Act, the Women's and Children's Institutions (Licensing) Act, 1956, or any other Act corresponding to this Act in force in that State immediately before such commencement, shall stand repealed.

(2) Notwithstanding such repeal, anything done or any action taken (including any direction given, any register or rule or order made or any restriction imposed) under the said Act shall, in so far as such thing or action is not inconsistent with the provisions of this Act, be deemed to have been done or taken under the provisions aforesaid, as if they were in force when such thing was done or such action was taken, and shall continue in force accordingly until superseded by anything done or any action taken under this Act.

[THE] OUDH LAWS ACT, 1876

(ACT XVIII OF 1876)<sup>a</sup>

[10th October, 1876.]

An Act to declare and amend the laws to be administered in Oudh.<sup>b</sup>

Preamble.

WHEREAS it is expedient to declare and amend the laws to be administered in Oudh; It is hereby enacted as follows:

[a] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1873, Pt. V, p. 493; for Report of the Select Committee, see Gaz. of Ind., 1876, Pt. V, p. 710. [b] For construction of references to Oudh, see U. P. General Clauses Act, 1904 (I of 1904), S. 29.

PART I

PRELIMINARY

1. Short title.

This Act may be called THE OUDH LAWS ACT, 1876.

Local extent.

It extends only to <sup>a</sup>[* * *] Oudh<sup>b</sup>;

Preamble — Note 1

[1] The Act is stated in preamble to be "an Act to declare and amend the laws to be administered in Oudh." This indicates that it is only the courts administering laws in Oudh which could put in force the provisions of the Act. (10) 32 All 477 (479) (DB).

Commencement.

and it shall come into force on the passing thereof.

[a] The words "the territories for the time being administered by the Chief Commissioner of" were omitted by A. O. 1937 [1-4-1937]. [b] For construction of references to Oudh, see U. P. General Clauses Act, 1904 (I of 1904), S. 29.

2. Repeal of enactments. [Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1936 (I of 1936), S. 2 and Sch.].

PART II*GENERAL LAWS TO BE ADMINISTERED IN OUDH

*3. Statutory law to be administered in Oudh.

The law to be administered by the Courts of Oudh shall be as follows :—

- (a) the laws for the time being in force regulating the assessment and collection of land-revenue ;
- (b) in questions regarding succession, special property of females, betrothal marriage, divorce, dower, adoption, guardianship, minority, bastardy family relations, wills, legacies, gifts, partitions, or any religious usage or institution, the rule of decision shall be—
  - (1) any custom applicable to the parties concerned which is not contrary to justice, equity or good conscience, and has not been, by this or any other enactment, altered or abolished, and has not been declared to be void by any competent authority;
  - (2) the Muhammadan law in cases where the parties are Muhammadans, and the Hindu law in cases where the parties are Hindus, except in so far as such law has been, by this or any other enactment, altered or abolished, or has been modified by any such custom as is above referred to :
- (c) the rules contained in this Act :
- (d) the rules published in the <sup>A</sup>[Official Gazette] as provided by section 40, or made under any other Act for the time being in force in Oudh :

Section 3 — Note 1

[1] A plea of custom may be entertained in modification of the personal law, Hindu law or Mahomedan law, but not in entire abrogation of such law. 1928 Oudh 138 (139) [AIR V 15] : 3 Luck 154 (DB).

[2] The term "gift" in S. 3 includes gifts in trust which would, therefore, be governed by the Muhammedan law if both the parties are the followers of Islam. 1916 PC 27 (31) [AIR V 3] : 43 Ind App 212 : 38 All 627 : 19 Oudh Cas 192. (14 Oudh Cas 356, reversed.) + 1914 Oudh 167 (170) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 60.

[3] Gift in trust to the son should be considered as a gift within the meaning of section 3 of the Oudh Laws Act and, as such, to be operative must comply with the conditions prescribed by Mohammedan Law. 1923 Oudh 80 (83) [AIR V 10] : 25 Oudh Cas 291.

[4] Where a grant is substantially a gift of land to be held on zemindari tenure, under S. 3 the parties being Hindus the law to be administered in the case is the Hindu Law. (1900) 3 Oudh Cas 55 (63).

[5] Where a case is not provided for by any part of S. 3 of the Oudh Laws Act preceding cl. (g) of that section or any other law in force, the Court is justified in acting under cl. (g) by applying to the case the doctrine of the English Law. ('99) 2 Oudh Cas 239 (243).

[6] Where a Muslim wife had been allowed to take property upon the express agreement that it shall not be outside the family, those who seek to make title through a direct breach of this agreement could hardly support their claim by an appeal to any high-sounding principles. 1932 PC 158 (160, 161) [AIR V 19] : 59 Ind App 236 : 7 Luck 257.

[7] Though the Land Revenue Act is silent as to the date from which the rent fixed under S. 100 of the Act shall be payable, yet under S. 3 (g) of the Oudh Rent Act, an under-proprietor is liable for the rent fixed by the Deputy Commissioner from the date on which the revenue is assessed on the plot. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 227 (229).

[8] The mere fact that the plaintiff along with his brother's sons has been living exactly like the members of a joint Hindu family and also the family has adopted many customs which are not in accordance with the Muhammadan Law, would not empower the managing member to bind his minor brother by an alienation of ancestral property of the family for a debt incurred by the deceased father because in such a case, it is the Muhammadan Law only which can be applied as is required under S. 3 (b) (2) of the Oudh Laws Act. ('08) 11 Oudh Cas 1 (6).

- (e) the Regulations and Acts specified in the second schedule hereto annexed, subject to the provisions of section 4, and to the modifications mentioned in the third column of the same schedule :
- (f) subject to the modifications hereinafter mentioned, all enactments for the time being in force and expressly, or by necessary implication, applying to <sup>b</sup>[the territories which, immediately before the 1st November, 1956 were comprised in Part A States and Part C States] or Oudh, or some part of Oudh :
- (g) in cases not provided for by the former part of this section, or by any other law for the time being in force, the Courts shall act according to justice, equity and good conscience.

[a] The provisions of this section have been repealed in so far as they are inconsistent with the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937 (XXVI of 1937); see S. 6 of that Act. [b] Substituted for "Part A States and Part C States" by 2 A. L. O., 1956 [1-11-1956].

4. Validity of local customs and mercantile usages.

All local customs and mercantile usages shall be regarded as valid, unless they are contrary to justice, equity or good conscience, or have, before the passing of this Act, been declared to be void by any competent authority.

PART III CHAPTER I

DOWER AMONG MUHAMMADANS

5. Muhammadan dower contracts how to be enforced.

Where the amount of dower stipulated for in any contract of dower by a Muhammadan is excessive with reference to the means of the husband, the entire sum provided in the contract shall not be awarded in any suit by decree in favour of the plaintiff, or by allowing it by way of set-off, lien or otherwise to the defendant; but the amount of the dower to be allowed by the Court shall be reasonable with reference to the means of the husband and the status of the wife.

Rule applicable after husband's death.

This rule shall be applicable whether the suit to enforce the contract be brought in the husband's life time or after his death.

Section 4 — Note 1

[1] There is a customary right of privacy prevailing in Oudh which is so well established and known as not to require proof, in any case, by a party setting it up and the court itself may take judicial notice of the custom. 1926 Oudh 352 (352) [AIR V 13].

Section 5 — Note 1

[1] Section 5 lays down that the dower to be allowed by the Court shall be reasonable with reference to the means of the husband and the status of the wife. In determining what amount would be reasonable considering the means of the husband, the Court has to look to the means of the husband at the present time when the contract is sought to be enforced and not to his means at the time when the contract was entered into. 1929 Oudh 32 (34) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 193 * 1931 Oudh 63 (65) [A I R V 18] (DB) * 1924 Oudh 232 (233) [AIR V 11]. (Where the assets left by the husband were about Rs. 12,000 while the dower settled at the time of the marriage was Rs. 70,000 and the widow was childless —Held, that Rs. 4000/- i. e., about one third of the assets was an equitable amount.) * 1917 Oudh 392 (396) [A I R V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 246 (DB). (If the amount is found to be excessive, there is no occasion to discuss the status of wife for the purpose of reducing the amount.) * 1914 Oudh 131 (136) [AIR V 1] : 16 Oudh Cas 325 (DB). (Deceased leaving property worth over 3 lakhs of rupees — Mother of deceased only heir—Widow's claim for dower to the extent of a lakh and a quarter of rupees should be decreed.) * 1914 Oudh 1 (16) [AIR V 1] (DB). (Where the property left by the deceased husband was estimated at 9 lacs of rupees—Held, that one lac of rupees was a reasonable and sufficient amount of dower to be awarded to the wife.)

[2] The principal matters to be considered in deciding whether a certain sum is excessive or not are the extent and nature of the claims of the various persons who as heirs are entitled to divide the estate. If it appears that the payment of a certain sum on account of dower would reduce the divisible estate to such an extent as to leave the heirs poorly

PRE-EMPTION

6. Right of pre-emption.

The right of pre-emption is a right of the persons hereinafter mentioned or referred to, to acquire, in the cases hereinafter specified, immovable property in preference to all other persons.

Section 5 — Note 1 (contd.)

provided for, such a sum would be considered excessive. 1917 Oudh 392 (397) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 246 (DB) * 1926 Oudh 128 (129, 130) [AIR V 13].

[3] The expression "means of the husband" in S. 5 signifies the value of the husband's estate at the time of his death in cases where the claim is made by a widow. 1917 Oudh 392 (397) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 246 (DB).

[4] In considering whether the amount agreed upon is excessive with reference to the means of the husband in cases where the claim for dower is made by a widow, regard must be had to the value of the husband's estate at the time of his death. 1917 Oudh 392 (397) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 246 (DB).

[5] Where the husband's means of subsistence is an allowance made to him by his parents the court can in fixing the amount of dower take the means of the parents into account especially where the marriage had taken place while the bridegroom was still below the age of majority. 1919 Oudh 30 (31) [AIR V 6].

[6] The value of the assets of a deceased Mahomedan after deducting his one third share of mortgage debt amounted to Rs. 11,465-5-0. The amount of dower, settled at the time of the marriage, was Rs. 70,000/- and two dinars—Held having regard to the means of the husband and the status of wife, and the fact that they left no children, it would be desirable to award dower under S. 5 of the Oudh Laws Act, (XVIII of 1876) about one-third of that amount or roughly Rs. 4000. 1924 Oudh 232 (233) [AIR V 11].

[7] In determining a claim of dower, the question of the other liabilities, affecting the property of the deceased is wholly irrelevant. 1914 Oudh 131 (136) [AIR V 1] : 16 Oudh Cas 325 (DB).

[8] The Courts in Oudh have a discretion to award to a Muhammadan lady only so much of the stipulated amount of dower as the Court may consider reasonable with reference to the means of husband and the status of the wife. ('99) 21 All 17 (20) * ('94) 21 Cal 135 (139, 140) : 20 Ind App 144 (PC).

[9] The fact that the husband has life interest in some property may be taken into consideration in determining what amount may reasonably be allowed on account of dower under S. 5. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 241 (242).

[10] When a Muhammadan husband has promised a certain amount of dower, the facts that under S. 5 of the Oudh Laws Act, only a less amount would have been decreed if the matter had come before the Courts and that such amount had been already realised by the wife and that even otherwise the claim to the balance of the amount had become barred at the time, cannot invalidate a transfer of property by the husband to the wife in lieu of a portion of the balance. 1925 Oudh 267 (268) [AIR V 12].

[11] The fact that the parties who were domiciled in Agra province entered into a marriage contract in Lucknow would not empower the Agra Courts to reduce the dower amount of the widow in a suit brought by her against the heirs of the husband. ('10) 32 All 477 (479) (DB).

Section 6 — Note 1

[1] Sections 6 and 9, when read together, give a definition of the right of pre-emption in both its aspects, that is, in relation to persons and also to property. 1930 Oudh 274 (275) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 12 (FB).

[2] The right of pre-emption is not a right to be substituted for a vendee in any particular sale deed; it is a right to acquire, in certain specified cases, immovable property in preference to all other persons. ('49) 1 L R (1949) All 604 (608) (DB).

[3] A right of pre-emption is a right to the benefit of a contract or a right of substitution entitling the pre-emptor by reason of a legal incident to which the sale itself was subject, to stand in the shoes of the vendee in respect of all rights and obligations arising from the sale under which he has derived his title. ('10) 13 Oudh Cas 219 (223, 224) (DB).

[4] It is impossible to regard the right of pre-emption as defined in S. 6 as one arising out of a mere offer and acceptance. A suit to enforce a right arising in this way is a suit to enforce a contract; a suit to enforce a right of pre-emption is a suit to vindicate the invasion of a special right conferred by statute. ('10) 13 Oudh Cas 219 (227) (DB).

[5] Section 6 is to be read along with S. 9 and it lays down the general principle that the whole body of co-sharers has a right of pre-emption as against an outsider. ('12) 15 Oudh Cas 389 (395) (DB).

[6] In the case of a town, lands outside the abadi which form a part of a revenue paying mahal are subject to the ordinary law of pre-emption as provided in Ss. 6 and 7 of the Oudh Laws Act because it is the abadi only which constitutes the town within the meaning of S. 8 of the Act. 1944 Oudh 27 (28) [AIR V 31] : 19 Luck 489.

[7] Where a property subject to a right of pre-emption is sold and after the sale the

7. Presumption as to its existence.

Unless the existence of any custom or contract to the contrary is proved, such right shall, whether recorded in the settlement-record or not, be presumed—

- (a) to exist in all village-communities, however constituted, and whether proprietary or under-proprietary, and in the cases referred to in section 40 of the Oudh Land-revenue Act,* and
- (b) to extend to the village-site, to the houses built upon it, to all lands and shares of lands within the village-boundary, and to all transferable rights affecting such lands.

[a] See now the U. P. Land Revenue Act, 1901 (U. P. III of 1901).

Section 6 — Note 1 (contd.)

vendee pays off incumbrances on that property this payment ought to be included in the purchase money specified in the decree for pre-emption. 1924 Oudh 1 (6) [AIR V 11] (DB).

[8] It cannot be said that no right of pre-emption arises in any case in which the vendor was out of possession and litigation would be necessary to recover possession of the property. 1922 Oudh 156 (158) [AIR V 9].

[9] To be subject to pre-emption under S. 6, the property must have been in actual possession of the vendor. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 331 (337) (DB).

[10] Under the Oudh Laws Act, a right of pre-emption arises only when a person proposes to sell any property or when he forecloses a mortgage upon any property and in order to ascertain in any particular cases whether a right of pre-emption existed, it is necessary first to see whether there had been a sale or the foreclosure of a mortgage. 1927 Oudh 161 (161) [AIR V 14] (DB).

[11] A previous denial of title of the vendor does not deprive a person of a right of pre-emption under the Oudh Laws Act. A sale of a mere share in a law suit does not give rise to a right of pre-emption and the mere fact that legal proceedings are necessary to obtain possession of the property sold is no ground for holding that the sale does not give rise to a right of pre-emption. 1919 Oudh 58 (59) [AIR V 6] : 23 Oudh Cas 13:.

[12] When property which carries with it the right of pre-emption passes from one person to another the right also passes with it and the new holder of the property acquires the status of a co-sharer which his predecessor had possessed. Similarly when the property which bears the burden of pre-emption is transferred by any of the various modes of acquisition of the property known to law, such as gift, purchase, devise or inheritance, the burden is also transferred with it. The last vendee in a chain of successive vendees of a property which bears the burden of pre-emption, is therefore as liable to deliver the property to the legitimate pre-emptor as is the first vendee. 1930 Oudh 274 (275) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 12 (FB).

[13] The chapter does not apply to a transfer made by a Court sale but applies only to voluntary transfers by way of sale. No right of pre-emption can be exercised in respect of such transfer. 1917 Oudh 158 (159) [AIR V 4].

SECTION 7 — SYNOPSIS

1. Village Community.
2. Existence of custom or contract to the contrary.
3. Presumption as to existence of pre-emption.
4. Clause (b).

1. Village community.—[1] "The village community" has not been defined by the Act. The meaning of those words depends upon the construction of S. 7 (a) in the light of the following sections. The village community contemplated by S. 7 (a) refers to persons having proprietary or under-proprietary rights in the village. It does not include any one who happens to reside in the village but has no proprietary interest therein. S. 7 (a) contemplates a proprietary village community as distinguished from an under-proprietary village community. 1934 PC 153 (156) [AIR V 21] : 61 Ind App 235 : 9 Luck 407.

[See also ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 1 (12) (DB) + ('02) 5 Oudh Cas 266 (274, 275) (DB).]

[2] To maintain a right to pre-empt as a member of the village community the claimant must establish either that he is a superior proprietor or an under-proprietor. 1944 Oudh 263 (264) [AIR V 31] : 20 Luck 15 (DB).

[3] The Ss. 7 and 8 of the Oudh Laws Act, are not exhaustive and cases may arise where there is land which does not come within the boundaries of a town or a village community. ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 1 (7) (DB).

[4] Under-proprietors have a right under the Oudh Laws Act, to pre-empt a sale of proprietary tenure, their right however comes subsequent to that of the co-sharers. Where there are no co-sharers they will have an immediate right as being members of the village community. 1930 Oudh 428 (429) [AIR V 17] (DB).

[5] The expression "village communities" in S. 7 (a) of the Oudh Laws Act is wider in its scope than proprietary or under-proprietary communities. Hence a perpetual lessee with heritable and transferable rights is a member of village community within the meaning of S. 40, Oudh Land Revenue Act, and entitled to a right of pre-emption. 1934 Oudh 145 (148) [AIR V 21] (DB).

[6] A perpetual leaseholder who by his lease has acquired under-proprietary rights is a member of the village community, but he cannot be recognised as an under-proprietor when he derives his title from an under-proprietor who has not transferred to him his whole under-proprietary interest in the property conveyed nor can he be allowed to pre-empt as a member of the village community. 1944 Oudh 263 (264) [AIR V 31] : 20 Luck 15 (DB).

[7] The existence of separate revenue papers and the fact that land revenue is paid in respect of a Mahal in which the particular plot of land is situated as well as the continued existence of the abadi of a village lead to the inference that the village community continues to exist and hence the custom of pre-emption will be presumed to exist even though a part of the village area may have been included within the ambit of the town. 1947 Oudh 162 (163) [AIR V 34 C 60] : 22 Luck 204.

[8] Village community is necessary condition for a custom of pre-emption—Waste lands purchased for cultivation and inhabitation — Lands sold in distinct blocks to different persons — Neither the original purchaser nor purchasers from him form a village community. 1927 Oudh 227 (230) AIR V 14 (DB).

2. Existence of custom or contract to contrary. — [1] The Act did not in any sense purport to create a right of pre-emption. It merely recognised the custom already prevailing and laid down that a particular custom of pre-emption was to be presumed unless there was a custom or contract to the contrary, but that such right of pre-emption could only exist where there was a village community. 1927 Oudh 227 (229, 230) [AIR V 14] (DB).

[2] The fact that no one claimed pre-emption is not sufficient to justify an inference that no custom existed. 1916 Oudh 320 (321) [AIR V 3].

[3] The existence of pre-emption is presumed under S. 7 of the Act where the Wajib-ul-arz is silent on the point of the right of pre-emption. 1916 Oudh 320 (321) [AIR V 3] + 1928 Oudh 498 (499) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[4] The presumption as to a right of pre-emption is in the absence of a custom or contract to the contrary a statutory one created by S. 7 of the Oudh Laws Act, and an entry in a Wajib-ul-arz to the effect that every co-sharer is entitled to sell his share to whomsoever he pleased is sufficient to exclude the right of pre-emption. 1914 Oudh 165 (166) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 105.

[5] Wajib-ul-arz at the first settlement contained a clear entry to the effect that every co-sharer had power to sell or mortgage his share to whomsoever he likes. The subsequent wajib-ul-arz prepared at the time of partition contained an entry to the effect that all co-sharers had power to sell or mortgage their shares. Held that the omission of words "to whomsoever he likes" from the second wajib-ul-arz did not imply that the custom of excluding the right of pre-emption was abrogated by the second wajib-ul-arz. 1928 Oudh 498 (500) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[6] Where in a previous suit relating to a village a claim for pre-emption had been put forward and allowed, and it was contended in a subsequent suit for pre-emption relating to the same village that the previous decision proved the existence of the custom of pre-emption in the village, but it was found that in the previous suit no defence like that in the subsequent suit was put forward to the effect that the custom did not obtain in the village, it was held that the above previous decisions could not establish the custom of pre-emption in the village. 1914 Oudh 163 (166) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 105.

3. Presumption as to existence of pre-emption. — [1] Section 7 of the Oudh Laws Act provides for the raising of presumption as to the existence of the right of pre-emption in all village communities. The true test therefore is to determine whether a village community continues to exist. If it does the custom will still be presumed even though a part of the village area may have been included within the ambit of the town. 1947 Oudh 162 (163) [AIR V 34 C 60] : 22 Luck 204.

[2] Under S. 7 of the Oudh Laws Act, read with S. 40 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act (17 of 1876) the right of pre-emption should be presumed to exist not only in the case of under-proprietary communities, but also in the case of communities constituted by the holders of leases, which are transferable subject to the landlord's interference and are heritable. 1925 Oudh 527 (528) [AIR V 12] (DB) + 1935 Oudh 427 (428) : [AIR V 22] : 11 Luck 289 (DB).

[3] In a suit for pre-emption, the vendor of the house in dispute, although she was the owner of the materials of the house and may have a right to occupy the site, had no proprietary or under-proprietary right in the land of the village. Held, that the sale of the house gave the plaintiff, the proprietor of the village, no right to sue, under the Oudh Laws Act, to enforce a right of pre-emption. ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 26 (27).

4. Clause (b). — [1] Section 7 (b) applies to transactions by which proprietors create transferable rights of occupancy in another for a consideration. ('05) 8 Oudh Cas 121 (123) (DB). (Sale-deed creating but right in favour of purchaser—Government revenue of eight annas payable to seller—Suit for pre-emption — Pre-emption could be claimed under S. 7 (b).)

[2] The words "transferable rights" only refer to subject-matter of a transfer and not the mode or manner of the transfer. 1927 Oudh 161 (162) [AIR V 14] (DB).

[3] Even if it be granted that the standing trees are "immoveable property" and that the right of the planter of a grove in a village, who is entitled to transfer the trees is a transferable right affecting such land within the meaning of S. 7 (b), a sale by him of the grove, to be enjoyed as such, does not give rise to a right of pre-emption under the provisions of that Act. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 284 (289) (DB).

8. Its existence in towns to be proved.

The right of pre-emption shall not be presumed to exist in any town or city, or any sub-division thereof, but may be shown to exist therein and to be exercisable therein by such persons and under such circumstances as the local custom prescribes.

9. Devolution of right when property to be sold or foreclosed is a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure.

If the property to be sold or foreclosed is a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure, or a share of such a tenure, the right to buy or redeem such property belongs, in the absence of a custom to the contrary,—

- 1st, to co-sharers of the sub-division (if any) of the tenure in which the property is comprised, in order of their relationship to the vendor or mortgagor;
- 2ndly, to co-sharers of the whole mahal in the same order;
- 3rdly, to any member of the village-community; and
- 4thly, if the property be an under-proprietary tenure, to the proprietor.

Where two or more persons are equally entitled to such right, the person to exercise the same shall be determined by lot.

Section 8 — Note 1

[1] Section 8 clearly allows the right of pre-emption to exist in a town and even in a city. It only lays down that such a right must not be presumed to exist. 1929 Oudh 301 (303) [AIR V 16] (DB).

[2] Mere inclusion in a municipality is no test as to whether an area is or is not a town. 1929 Oudh 301 (302) [AIR V 16] (DB).

[3] The word "town" in S. 8 means nothing outside the urban area or abadi. 1941 Oudh 77 (78) [AIR V 28] : 16 Luck 230.

[4] The word "sub-division" in S. 8 of the Act includes a part made by a division of a town or a city and is not confined to a part made by division of part of a city into smaller parts. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 211 (212).

[5] The exclusion laid down in S. 8 must be applied to the situation of the lands and not to the residence of a village community. ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 1 (12) (DB).

[6] The question whether any particular piece of land is situated within a town or not depends on whether it is part of an urban area or not, and it is a question of fact which has nothing to do with the contingency of its being included within the limits of a municipality for administrative purposes. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 74 (77) (DB).

SECTION 9 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and applicability.
2. Sale.
3. Foreclosure.
4. Proprietary or under-proprietary tenure.
5. Co-sharers.
6. Sub-division of the tenure.
7. "In order of their relationship".
8. Co-sharers of the same mahal.
9. Member of Hindu joint family whether co-sharer.
10. Preferential right.
11. "Any member of village community".

12. Proprietor.*13. Drawing of lots.*14. Denial of title.*15. Partial pre-emption.*16. Share in law suit.

1. Scope and applicability. — [1] The provisions of Chapter II of the Oudh Laws Act apply to transfers of land by sale or mortgage. ('12) 15 Oudh Cas 389 (395) (DB) (Oudh) * 1949 Oudh 19 (20) [AIR V 36 C 4] : 22 Luck 515 (DB).

[2] The right of pre-emption originates in a sale or mortgage of lands in a village or of transferable rights affecting such lands made by a member of the proprietary or under-proprietary body or an under-proprietor in a mahal or one of the holders of a heritable non-transferable lease. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 75 (77).

[3] There can be no pre-emption of a sale of a protected land which is made by an agriculturist without the requisite permission of the Assistant Collector in accordance with S. 12 of U. P. Regulation of Agricultural Credit Act, 14 of 1940. 1949 Oudh 19 (20) [AIR V 36 C 4] : 22 Luck 515 (DB).

[4] The right of a person to pre-emption cannot be defeated by a decree obtained by another person in a suit to which the plaintiff in the second suit is not a party. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 1 (3, 4).

[5] Right and liability of pre-emption pass with property and can be enforced by or against the last vendee. 1930 Oudh 274 (275) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 12 (FB) * 1922 Oudh 289 (291) [AIR V 9] : 25 Oudh Cas 319 (DB).

[6] The whole notion underlying the right of pre-emption is that where there are co-owners of a definite portion of a village any of them is entitled to exclude outsiders by having a right to acquire any portion of the division in which he is an owner to the exclusion of other persons who are not co-owners in that particular division. ('13) 16 Oudh Cas 203 (205, 206).

Section 9 — Note 1 (contd.)

[7] There is nothing in the Act which overrides the fundamental principle of the law of pre-emption that a court should not grant a decree for pre-emption when it would place the plaintiff in a position he is not entitled to hold in the existing circumstances of the case. ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 229 (234) (DB).

[8] In a pre-emption suit in determining the right of the pre-emptor or of the vendee, the appellate court may consider any circumstances which have arisen during the pendency of the suit in appeal, even though these circumstances may have come into being subsequent to the decree of the first court. 1914 Oudh 238 (240) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 242.

[9] Section 9 must be interpreted as speaking at the time of the transfer with respect to which the claim to pre-emption is alleged to arise. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 257 (262) (DB).

[10] The provisions of Ch. 2, Oudh Laws Act, mean that the persons who in S. 9 are described in a proleptic or anticipatory sense as having a right of pre-emption are invested with an actual right to pre-empt as soon as a sale to a stranger takes place. 1919 Oudh 62 (68) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

[11] Section 9 is applicable not only where there are persons equally entitled to buy a property and the property has been sold to a stranger, or to a person whose right to acquire it is inferior to that of the persons who are equally entitled to pre-empt, but is applicable also to cases where two or more persons are equally entitled to buy the property and one or more of them has or have acquired it. 1929 Oudh 313 (314) [AIR V 16].

[12] The principles of the pre-emption in Agra as enunciated by the Allahabad High Court, cannot be made to affect the scope of Oudh Laws Act on pre-emption in Oudh. 1917 Oudh 214 (214) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 185n (DB).

[13] The right of pre-emption after it has once accrued cannot be defeated by anything that happens subsequently. 1944 Oudh 190 (193) [AIR V 31] (DB).

2. Sale. — [1] The right of pre-emption arises only in cases of sale or foreclosure and not in cases of lease, though perpetual, mortgage or gift. 1914 Oudh 360 (360) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 299 (DB). (8 Oudh Cas 121 and 14 Oudh Cas 41, Dist.)

[2] In order to attract the right of pre-emption under the Act, the sale need not be an out and out sale as distinguished from sale simpliciter. 1944 Oudh 190 (192) [AIR V 31] (DB) * ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 374 (376) (DB).

[3] A sale of property not in actual possession of the vendors cannot be said to be the subject of pre-emption. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 331 (337) (DB).

[4] Parties, who deliberately adopt a form of conveyancing, which gives rise to a right of pre-emption and thus induce third parties to embark on expensive litigation will not be permitted as against those parties to plead that the transaction was of a different nature. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 75 (77).

[5] A transfer of a part on condition that a transferee shall pay the mortgage money over the whole and also the rent for some period, is a sale and not gift. 1917 Oudh 36 (36) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 394.

[6] To determine if a transfer in lieu of dower gives rise to a right of pre-emption under the Oudh Laws Act the adequacy of consideration is material for it may or may not amount to a sale under the Act though it may be a Hiba-bil-Ewaz under the Muhammadan law. If a bona fide sale is intended a right of pre-emption would accrue irrespective of consideration. ('13) 21 Ind Cas 60 (61) (Oudh).

[7] When the right of a successful pre-emptor lapses by reason of his failing to execute his decree within the time allowed by law such lapse whether intentional or accidental does not amount to a resale of the pre-empted property so as to give rise to a right of pre-emption on its own account under S. 9. 1917 Oudh 80 (80) [AIR V 4].

[8] A sale by an occupier of a house in a village who has merely the ordinary rights of a raiyat in it does not give rise to a right of pre-emption exercisable under Chap. II of the Oudh Laws Act. 1918 Oudh 290 (291) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[9] It is settled law that a transfer by inheritance of the pre-emptor's property subsequent to the sale which is to be pre-empted, transfers to the heir the right of pre-emption. It is also settled law that a transfer of the pre-emptor's property by sale to a stranger subsequent to the sale to be pre-empted does not transfer the right of pre-emption to the vendee. 1922 Oudh 269 (290) [AIR V 9] : 25 Oudh Cas 319 (DB).

[10] A sale in favour of a member of a pre-empting class cannot be pre-empted by another member of the same class. 1925 Oudh 665 (666) [AIR V 12].

[11] A perpetual lease is not a sale and no right of pre-emption can be claimed in respect thereof. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 348 (350) (DB).

[12] Section 9 is only applicable to a case where one tenure is sold and there is no provision in it for cases in which several tenures are sold by the same sale for one amalgamated price. ('49) ILR (1949) All 604 (608) (DB).

[13] Where a deed calling itself a lease has been executed and there is no fraud it is not open to the lessee subsequently to go behind this lease deed when the question of pre-emption of another land arises, and lead evidence to show that the deed was in fact a sale and claim to be a cosharer by reason of it and thus entitled to pre-empt. 1948 Oudh 7 (8) [AIR V 35 C 2] * 1942 Oudh 55 (56) [AIR V 29] : 17 Luck 281.

[14] Where after a sale and delivery of possession a separate agreement is executed on the same day by the vendee agreeing to resell the property to the vendor on payment of the price within a fixed period, the transaction is a sale and an agreement to re-sell and not a mortgage by conditional sale. Hence it can be pre-empted under S. 9, Oudh Laws Act. 1944 Oudh 190 (193) [AIR V 31] (DB).

[15] An under-proprietor executed a deed described as patta Istimrari matahti by which heritable rights were conferred on the transferee in certain plots for a nazrana. The latter was to be in possession of the plots with full rights of transfer of all kinds. The transferee was to pay a nominal sum along with haq malikana lagan of the plots to the transferor and his heirs year after year and was given the rights to get her name mutated as under-proprietor in the Revenue papers. Held that the terms of the deed read as a whole showed that it was a permanent lease only and not a sale of under-proprietary rights and as such the transaction was not liable to pre-emption. 1948 Oudh 191 (192) [AIR V 35 C 72] : 23 Luck 249.

[See also 1914 Oudh 360 (360) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 299 (DB). (A grant of under-proprietary rights by means of pattas or leases of birt sankalp giving heritable and transferable rights in lieu of nazrana or premium taken in advance and an annual rent reserved thereby cannot be treated as a sale of either a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure.)]

[See however 1935 Oudh 217 (226) [AIR V 22] : 10 Luck 392 (FB).]

[16] The question whether it is a sale of a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure or not, must be determined primarily upon the construction of the deed of transfer. Certainly it is open to a vendee to show that the transfer which he has taken was not the sale of a proprietary or under-proprietary right. But to say that the transfer is one that might be avoided by a third party in certain contingencies can be no defence to a suit for pre-emption. All such questions whether there was or was not legal necessity for the sale, are, therefore, foreign to a suit for pre-emption. Hence a sale of proprietary tenure by a Hindu widow, even if not proved to be made wholly for legal necessity gives rise to a right of pre-emption under the Oudh Laws Act. 1946 Oudh 127 (129) [AIR V 33 C 48] : 21 Luck 190.

[But see 1916 Oudh 82 (83) [AIR V 3].]

[17] In considering whether a transaction is sale or not, the safest guide to the nature of the transaction is the deed itself. If it clearly purports by its own force to transfer the property from the ownership of the vendor to the ownership of the vendee, it should be regarded as a sale deed of that property. The nature of the transaction or the import of it cannot be changed merely because at the time when it was executed, it was necessary to launch a litigation in order to obtain possession of the property. 1945 Oudh 167 (169) [AIR V 32].

[18] Hiba-bil-ewaz is not a sale within the meaning of S. 9 of the Act and confers no right of pre-emption under Chap. 2 of the Act. 1916 Oudh 273 (274) [AIR V 3] : 18 Oudh Cas 67 * 1926 Oudh 186 (187) [AIR V 13] : 29 Oudh Cas 108 : 1 Luck 83 (DB) * ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 169 (171) * ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 75 (77) (DB).

[19] A sale of an equity of redemption effected partly in lieu of money and partly in lieu of something computable in money or valued in money is subject to the right of pre-emption under S. 9 of the Act, where the vendor was admittedly the owner of the property and there was no cloud over his title preventing him or his vendee from recovering the property from the mortgagees. ('13) 16 Oudh Cas 99 (102).

[20] In a suit for pre-emption in respect of property conveyed to the defendant by the Government for a nominal consideration—Held that as the deed of transfer had an outstanding element of grant by the Crown, the transfer was not a sale pure and simple and hence no right of pre-emption was exercisable over the property. 1927 Oudh 207 (208) [AIR V 14] (DB).

[See also 1933 Oudh 134 (141, 142) [AIR V 20] : 8 Luck 322 (FB). (Property compulsorily acquired by Secretary of State—Auction sale—Claim for pre-emption not sustainable.) * (1900) 3 Oudh Cas 110 (118) (DB).]

[21] A person who has no right of pre-emption at the date of sale but who inherits the property by reason of the ownership of which the right of pre-emption arose, from a person who has such right can claim pre-emption. 1916 Oudh 247 (249) [AIR V 3] : 18 Oudh Cas 256 (DB).

[22] It is not forbidden to a person to circumvent the law of pre-emption by taking a transfer which falls short of a sale which may eventually have the same effect as a sale. 1928 Oudh 25 (26) [AIR V 15] : 2 Luck 416 (DB).

[23] Where property is transferred with all the usual incidents of a sale, the fact that the transfer masquerades under a cloak of a mortgage to defeat pre-emption will not prevent the pre-emptor from claiming the pre-emption, if he can show that a sale was really effected. The Court will look to the terms of the document, the surrounding circumstances and the previous and subsequent conduct of the parties. ('13) 21 Ind Cas 69 (70) (DB) (Oudh).

[24] Deed relinquishing all claims to property in return for some benefits—Transaction does not amount to sale within meaning of chapter II of the Act. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 31 (33) (DB).

[25] It is not forbidden to a person to circumvent the law of pre-emption by taking a transfer which falls short of a sale though it may evidently have the same effect as a sale. A person, in order to defeat the right of pre-emption, may decide not to have a sale deed but to have a mortgage deed with onerous conditions making its redemption difficult or might have a lease executed in his favour making himself liable to pay a small sum, however insignificant as rent. 1928 Oudh 472 (474) [AIR V 15] : 4 Luck 68 (DB).

3. Foreclosure. — [1] The right of pre-emption, in respect of a deed of mortgage arises, under S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act when the mortgage is foreclosed. It also arises where it is shown that the transaction was an out and out transfer and the right of redemption reserved was merely nominal. In order to establish this it must be shown that the terms of the transaction are such as to render it practically impossible for the mortgagors ever to recover the property. If a genuine right of redemption is reserved there is nothing in the parties resorting to a mortgage instead of a sale for the purpose of avoiding pre-emption. 1921 Oudh 201 (201, 202) [AIR V 8] : 24 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

[2] Where a pre-emptor happens to be a mortgagee of the property sought to be pre-empted the condition in the sale deed as to redemption of the mortgage as economically as possible does not affect the nature of the transaction as it appears from the deed so as to debar the pre-emptor from claiming pre-emption of the property sold. 1919 Oudh 62 (66) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

4. Proprietary or under-proprietary tenure. — [1] Under S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, only proprietary or under-proprietary tenures can be the subject of pre-emption and the actual right that can be pre-empted is only the proprietary or under-proprietary tenure and not any of the rights mentioned in S. 40 of the Oudh Land Revenue Act, 1876. Hence, where a permanent lease is executed by the under-proprietor in favour of a third person, the right created by it cannot be pre-empted. 1950 All 209 (201) [AIR V 37 C 75].

[2] The provisions of the Act contained in S. 9 make no reference to the term for which the proprietary or under-proprietary tenure is held. All that is required is that the property sold should be a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure. 1946 Oudh 127 (128) [AIR V 33 C 48] : 21 Luck 190.

[3] Section 9 shows that in order to entitle a plaintiff to a decree for pre-emption the property sold or foreclosed must be a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure "or a share of such a tenure." If the property foreclosed is only an interest for life it cannot be regarded as a proprietary tenure. 1931 Oudh 358 (364) [AIR V 18] : 6 Luck 715 (DB).

[4] On a proper interpretation of S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, an under-proprietary tenure may be any area of lands, whether constituting an entire mahal or only a small portion thereof. 1922 Oudh 101 (102) [AIR V 9].

[5] No right to pre-empt exists in a person who has got no proprietary right in a village. 1927 Oudh 367 (368) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 703 (DB).

[6] Pukhtadar is a class of under-proprietors. 1942 Oudh 113 (114) [AIR V 29] : 17 Luck 412.

5. Co-sharers. — [1] The word "co-sharer" implies that there must be co-relation between the vendor and the pre-emptor by virtue of their common capacity. A person who is a co-sharer at the time of the sale may lose his rights, if any, afterwards by virtue of his conduct or by reason of his ceasing to be a co-sharer after the sale. If he was not a co-sharer at the time of the sale his subsequent acquisitions cannot clothe him with a right which he did not possess at the date of the sale or at the time when the cause of action for the suit accrued. 1916 Oudh 301 (302) [AIR V 3] : 19 Oudh Cas 110.

[2] The view that no person is a co-sharer in a tenure whose interest in that tenure is not a definite fraction of the whole cannot be entertained. (02) 5 Oudh Cas 399 (401).

[3] The right of pre-emption is given to co-sharers even when their names are not recorded in revenue records. 1928 Oudh 486 (487) [AIR V 15] : 3 Luck 430 (DB) + 1928 Oudh 592 (592) [AIR V 13] (DB). (Father and sons constituting joint Hindu family—Father alone recorded as co-sharer—Property purchased from joint family—Sons are co-sharers for contesting claim for pre-emption.)

[4] In order to determine whether a person is a co-sharer or not, the test is the liability to pay Government revenue. 1927 Oudh 514 (515) [AIR V 14] (DB) + (04) 26 All 574 (580) : 30 Ind App 212 (PC).

[5] To be co-sharer a person need not be so recorded. 1920 Oudh 265 (268) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 370 (FB).

[6] Where the vendor and the pre-emptor are co-sharers in an under-proprietary tenure and the vendee is a co-sharer in the proprietary tenure in which the under-proprietary tenure is situated, the pre-emptor comes within first clause of Section 9 and has a preferential right. He and the vendee do not come in clause (3) as members of the village community. 1922 Oudh 101 (102) [AIR V 9].

[7] A pre-emptor does not lose his right of pre-emption by reason of the vendee becoming a co-sharer after the date of the sale but before the date of the pre-emption suit. 1919 Oudh 62 (67) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

[8] The mere fact that some shamilat land appertaining to one patti is thrown into another patti in which a vendee is a co-sharer, does not make the latter a co-sharer in the former patti. 1917 Oudh 36 (37) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 394.

[9] A co-sharer cannot defeat the suit brought by a pre-emptor by acquiring the position of a co-sharer during the pendency of the suit. 1930 Oudh 428 (429) [AIR V 17] (DB).

[10] It cannot be stated as a general proposition that shamilat land only means land which though undivided, pertains to the same patti, or putting it in another form, that each patti includes a portion of the shamilat land. Where plots in a patti and in shamilat patti are sold to a relative of the vendor who is a co-sharer in a different patti and in the shamilat patti, a co-sharer in the same patti as well as another patti and shamilat patti cannot pre-empt the land sold in the shamilat patti. 1942 Oudh 117 (120) [AIR V 29] : 17 Luck 435 (DB).

[11] The onus of establishing that he plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption is a co-sharer and entitled to pre-empt is on the plaintiff and it is not discharged by the mere fact that in the revenue papers his name was entered as a co-sharer. (13) 18 Ind Cas 386 (388) (Oudh).

6. Sub-division of the tenure. — [1] The word "sub-division" in S. 9 must be interpreted in the same sense which it bears in S. 8. ('13) 16 Oudh Cas 203 (205).

[2] The sub-division contemplated by S. 9 are units bearing the relation one to another of having been called into existence by one and the same act or event of sub-division, whatever be the purpose of such sub-division. 1925 Oudh 527 (529) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[3] The word 'sub-division' in S. 9 has no technical meaning nor is it confined to a portion of a village described as patti in the Revenue records but where separate villages are component parts of a mahal, each village is a sub-division. ('12) 13 Ind Cas 490 (491) (Oudh).

[4] "Tenure" under S. 9 of the Act is the proprietary or the under-proprietary tenure in which the property sold may be comprised and the sub-division thereof would be a patti or thok or other defined part made by the division of that tenure. No person, who is not a co-sharer in a part or sub-division of the tenure in which the land sold is included, has a right of pre-emption under cl. (1). ('13) 20 Ind Cas 474 (474) (Oudh).

[5] Distribution of the revenue is not essential in order to constitute sub-divisions of a tenure. ('13) 16 Oudh Cas 202 (205).

[6] Section 9 of the Oudh Laws Act will allow a right of pre-emption to be exercised by a co-sharer of the sub-division of a tenure resulting from a lease, which is non-transferable except subject to the lessor's interference and which is heritable. 1925 Oudh 527 (529) [AIR V 12] (DB).

[7] Where a village was divided into two thoks of two pattis each, and one of the pattis was further sub-divided into khata, each khata consisting of a definitely assigned area : Held that each khata was a sub-division within S. 9 of the Act, and it was not essential that a separate amount of revenue on each khata should be shown in the village papers. ('13) 16 Oudh Cas 203 (205, 206).

[8] Though the liability to pay Government Revenue may remain joint whenever an under proprietary village is divided into mahals and sub-divided into pattis there come into existence sub-divisions of tenure which should be treated as separate entities for the purposes of S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act. 1919 Oudh 315 (316) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 97.

[9] Birt-dars holding on behalf of pukhtadars and having no right of pre-emption in case of sale of proprietary or under-proprietary rights, except as members of the village community are in no sense co-sharers of a sub-division of a tenure. ('13) 20 Ind Cas 474 (479) (Oudh).

[10] Where the only division of a village is into proprietary mahals and there is no under-proprietary mahal which has been divided into khata there being merely isolated under-proprietary holdings or khata, the under-proprietary khata cannot be considered to be sub-divisions of the proprietary mahals within cl. 1 of S. 9. In such a case one under-proprietor cannot claim a preferential right over another for the purpose of pre-emption. 1944

Oudh 160 (161, 162) [AIR V 31] : 19 Luck 510 (DB).

[11] Joint ownership in Shamilat khata by a co-sharer does not make him co-sharer in sub-division, if he owns no land in the khata a part of which is sold. 1919 Oudh 367 (367) [AIR V 6].

[12] Where it appeared from a later khewat that a joint khata had been split up into two, one in favour of the vendor, the other in favour of the pre-emptor and the rent had been apportioned between the two and the apportionment had never been questioned by the pre-emptor. Held, that the parties had ceased to be co-sharers of the sub-division and that the pre-emptor could claim pre-emption not under cl. (1) but under cl. (3) of S. 9 as members of a village community. 1931 Oudh 316 (317) [AIR V 18] (DB).

[13] The word sub-division in cl. (1) of S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act should be literally construed so as to include an under-proprietary khata which is a unit or component part of an under-proprietary tenure in a mahal. So when the property sold forms part of an under-proprietary khata and both the pre-emptor and the vendee are co-sharers in that khata, they are co-sharers in a sub-division of the under-proprietary tenure under this first clause. 1942 Oudh 113 (114) [AIR V 29] : 17 Luck 412.

[14] An arrangement by which the co-sharers agree to collect certain portions of the rent of one tenant does not amount to a 'sub-division of a tenure' within meaning of S. 9. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 45 (47).

[15] The plaintiffs and one B brought separate suits for pre-emption in respect of a certain land which was divided into two mahals, viz., mahal mustaqil which was an imperfect pattidari and mahal intimali which was a pure zamindari mahal. In the mahal mustaqil there were two pattis, the plaintiff's having a share in the one and B in the other. B was related to the vendors, but there was no proof that the plaintiffs were in any way related to them. Held, that the patti in which the plaintiffs had a share was a sub-division of the mahal within the meaning of cl. (1). ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 129 (132).

7. "In order of their relationship."

[1] Clause (1) of S. 9 means that amongst co-sharers in the sub-division who are related, priority is to be determined by nearness of relationship and that co-sharers in the sub-division who are not related can claim under this clause but after those who are related, thus—nearly related—less nearly related—not related. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 129 (132).

[2] The kind of relationship contemplated by S. 9 is consanguinity from a common stock. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 6 (7) * 1949 All 325 (326) [AIR V 36 C 126] * 1927 Oudh 474 (475) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 736 (DB) * ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 193 (194) * ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 397 (405).

[3] The relationship mentioned in S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act is not confined to relationship through males. The test laid down by the section is nearness in point of relationship.

Section 9 — Note 7 (contd.)

and not the position of the parties in the line of inheritance. ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 193 (194).

[4] Section 9 of the Act only contemplates a legitimate relationship and therefore illegitimate sons, who are entitled only to maintenance and not to the inheritance, have no better right to pre-emption than a legitimate collateral relation. 1914 Oudh 243 (243) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 250.

[5] The wife of one vendor and co-wife of the other does not come within the "order of relationship" referred to in S. 9 cl. (1). ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 397 (405).

[6] Relationship alone is not considered to be sufficient to confer a right of pre-emption on any individual. The person claiming the right by relationship must be a co-sharer in the village. 1927 Oudh 367 (368) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 703 (DB).

[7] The words "in order of their relationship" in S. 9 (1) do not refer only to such a class of persons amongst whom, on the fiction that the vendor was dead and the inheritance opened on the date of the sale, the heir or the heirs of the vendor exist. Those words simply mean according to the degree in the line of relationship with the vendor. The circle of relationship is much wider than the circle covering the heir or the heirs only, and in the law of pre-emption as enacted in the provision of Chapter 2 Oudh Laws Act, 1876, there is nothing to justify the courts to interpret in order of their relationship in the restricted sense. 1927 Oudh 474 (475) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 736 (DB).

8. Cosharers of the same mahal. —

[1] 'Mahal' means land separately assessed to, or held under separate engagement for, the revenue and for which there is a separate record of rights. ('10) 32 All 351 (362) : 13 Oudh Cas 165 : 37 Ind App 124 (PC) * 1919 Oudh 62 (66) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

[2] The words "cosharers of the whole mahal" in the second clause of S. 9 imply that there must be a co-relation between the vendor and pre-emptor by virtue of this common capacity. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 257 (261) (DB).

[3] The expression "co-sharers of the whole mahal" as used in S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, includes a person whose share in the mahal consists of a separate chak; the circumstance of his being non-resident does not seem to affect, or even bear upon the language of the enactment. ('04) 26 All 574 (580, 581) : 30 Ind App 212 : 7 Oudh Cas 284 (PC).

[4] A person is a cosharer whether the property in virtue of the ownership of which he is a cosharer is acquired in one way or in another. 1922 Oudh 289 (292) [AIR V 9] : 25 Oudh Cas 319 (DB).

[5] A cosharer in an under-proprietary mahal falls under the category of the persons referred to in S. 9, cl. (2) and can enforce his right of pre-emption, if he is related to the vendor as against a person who is a cosharer in the same mahal but is not related to the vendor or is a cosharer in another under-proprietary mahal. 1919 Oudh 315 (316) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 97.

[6] When the property, the ownership of which confers on a person the capacity of a cosharer, is transferred, the transferee acquires the status of a cosharer subject to all the obligations or liabilities with which the property is burdened. 1922 Oudh 289 (292) [AIR V 9] : 25 Oudh Cas 319 (DB).

[7] The arrangement under which the plaintiff and the defendants held the under-proprietary interest in the villages in suit under the defendant as talukdar, and under which a half of the taluk was assigned to their predecessors in under-proprietary right, on their agreeing to pay the Government revenue plus malikana to the talukdar, did not constitute them cosharers in the mahal within the meaning of S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act. ('10) 32 All 351 (363) : 37 Ind App 124 : 13 Oudh Cas 165 (P.C.).

[8] Lands held in under-proprietary tenure situate in a village consisting of only one mahal, within S. 9 were sold to persons who owned a proprietary share in the village but not related to the vendor—Held, that the proprietors who were related to the vendors could pre-empt the stranger sharers. 1914 Oudh 405 (406) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 339.

[9] When a proprietary tenure is sold, an under-proprietor would not come within cl. 2 of co-sharers of the whole mahal. Only the proprietor would come within cl. 2. The under-proprietors would come within cl. 3 as members of the Village community. 1925 Oudh 538 (538) [AIR V 12].

[10] Where there has been a perfect partition in a village, a proprietor in one mahal has a right to pre-empt property in another mahal as against a person who has nothing to do with the village. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 206 (207).

[11] Pre-emption, suit for—'Mahal', what constitutes—Co-sharer of mahal—Agreement to pay land-revenue in mahal—Land Revenue Act (Oudh), Ss. 15 and 220—Rule for amendment of land-revenue—Evidence—Secondary evidence, admissibility of—Evidence Act, S. 91—The plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption against the defendants (the vendor and the vendee) in respect of a village on the allegation that he was a co-sharer of a mahal comprising nine villages, one of which was the village in dispute. There was evidence that, at the recent settlement, land-revenue was assessed on each of the nine villages and that the aggregate amount of such assessments was assessed on the local area comprising those villages. According to the malguzari and Mahalwar register and other evidence, the plaintiff and defendant (vendor) were jointly and severally liable for the aggregate amount of the assessments on the nine villages. But no engagement in writing on the part of those persons promising to pay such aggregate amount was adduced in evidence—Held, that the local area comprising nine villages did not constitute a mahal within the meaning of S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act and that the plaintiff was not a co-sharer of the whole mahal within the meaning of that section. ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 365 (368).

9. Member of Hindu joint family whether cosharer. — [1] It is open to a member of a joint Hindu family to acquire by pre-emption a portion of the property belonging to the joint family of which he happens to be member, when the said property has been sold by the manager of the family. 1929 Oudh 265 (267) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 370 (FB).

[See also 1922 Oudh 115 (117) [AIR V 9] : 25 Oudh Cas 57. (Joint family property sold by member of joint family — Suit for pre-emption by another member is maintainable.)]

[2] Section 9 of the Act includes a member of a joint Hindu family with a share in the joint family property, as a co-sharer of the sub-division where the property is situated in spite of his name not appearing in the khewat. 1917 Oudh 245 (247) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 306 (DB).

[3] Foreclosure decree against some members of Hindu joint family — Others are not co-sharers — (Dalal Offg., J. C.) dissenting — Where a foreclosure decree is passed against some members of a Hindu joint family without making the others parties and the joint family owns property other than that foreclosed the members not made parties are not cosharers entitled to pre-empt the property within the meaning of S. 9. 1925 Oudh 352 (359) [AIR V 12] : 26 Oudh Cas 139 (DB).

10. Preferential right. — [1] Where there are no co-sharers in the proprietary mahal a plot in which is sold, the under-proprietor in the same mahal has no preferential right of pre-emption as against a co-sharer in a different proprietary mahal. ('46) 21 Luck 248 (251).

[2] Where a village is divided into proprietary mahals only one under-proprietor cannot claim a preferential right over another for the purpose of pre-emption because his under-proprietary holding is situated in the same proprietary mahal as the land sold while that of the vendee is not. 1944 Oudh 160 (161, 162) [AIR V 31] : 19 Luck 510 (DB).

[3] If every khata in the village is distinct without any joint right or joint obligation with the other khatas every khata would be in the position of a separate mahal and the co-sharers of every khata would be separate and independent. Under these circumstances among the parties who are members of the village community so far as the right of pre-emption is concerned no right of preference is given on account of relationship. 1923 Oudh 159 (160) [AIR V 10].

[4] In accordance with the provisions of S. 9 it is possible for one cosharer to claim preference over another. ('12) 15 Oudh Cas 389 (395) (DB).

[5] A cosharer in a sub-division of a mahal who is not related to the vendor has a better right of the pre-emption than a cosharer of the whole mahal who is related to the vendor. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 129 (131).

[6] Where the vendee is the son of the vendor's father's brother and the pre-emptor is the brother of the vendor's mother, but both are co-sharers, the pre-emptor is not nearer in degree to the vendee and he cannot, therefore, succeed. 1927 Oudh 474 (476) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 736 (DB).

[7] The law clearly requires the selection of one person of the nearest degree or by lot where there are several persons of equal degree in relationship to the vendor for the purpose of giving preferential right to buy. This in the very nature of things, implies that the competitors and the vendors are descended from a common stock. 1927 Oudh 474 (475, 476) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 736 (DB).

[8] Nearness in degree of relationship is the only test for determining the preferential right to pre-emption. 1927 Oudh 474 (475) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 736 (DB).

[9] The tenure which had been sold was a proprietary tenure. There was only one mahal in which the plaintiff pre-emptor was a co-sharer of proprietary rights and the vendees were under-proprietors. Held, that the plaintiff had a preferential right to pre-emption. 1925 Oudh 538 (539) [AIR V 12].

[10] Where A who was entitled to pre-empt had agreed with B a stranger to transfer his (A's) interest in the pre-empted property after pre-emption, and both A and B sued as plaintiffs for pre-emption. Held that though B was subsequently left out of the suit yet as a man cannot be allowed to do by indirect means what is forbidden to be done directly A also should not be allowed to pre-empt because the result in that case would be that B would get the property in preference to the vendee. 1924 Oudh 420 (421) [AIR V 11] : 27 Oudh Cas 137 (DB).

[11] If the pre-emptor claims a preferential right under S. 9 cl. (2) the onus lies upon him to establish that there is an under-proprietary mahal of which he is a co-sharer. 1930 Oudh 90 (91) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 539 (DB).

11. "Any member of village community." — [1] A village community under the Oudh Laws Act consists of the whole body of persons possessing rights as proprietors, under-proprietors or heritable lessees in village lands. 1928 Oudh 501 (503) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[2] Only those persons can be regarded as being members of the village community who have some interest in the village estate. 1934 Oudh 145 (149) [AIR V 21] (DB).

[3] The residence in the village is not a necessary qualification for membership of a village community for the purposes of S. 9. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 275 (283) (DB).

[4] After the enactment of S. 9, previous decrees of settlement or other Courts would cease to be of value as against other members of the same village community unless they could be appealed to as evidence of custom. ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 220 (224) (DB).

[5] Where the whole talukdari mahal containing several villages has been sold by one deed, the members of the under-proprietary village community of different villages have not, a right of pre-emption under the Oudh Laws Act. emption exists to an under-proprietor. 1934 P C 153 (155) [AIR V 21] : 61 Ind App 235 : 9 Luck 407. [AIR 1930 Oudh 428, Reversed.]

[6] Four mahals were amalgamated as a fiscal whole, i. e. though each Mahal was separately assessed to land revenue, yet default of land revenue over any Mahal could be recovered from a sharer in any one of the Mahals. Held, that there was one village community for the whole of the four mahals and a sharer in any one of the Mahals was a member of that village community. 1928 Oudh 501 (503) [AIR V 15] (DB).

[7] Where an estate is subdivided into mahals and one of such mahals comprises villages and each village retains its separate boundaries and separate maps, and separate books are prepared for each mahal, an amalgamation of the villages does not constitute one village community. 1934 Oudh 145 (150) [AIR V 21] : 9 Luck 670 (DB).

[8] Reading the words "any member of the village community" in S. 9 in connection with the definition or description of village communities contained in S. 7, it appears to be reasonably clear that an under-proprietor is a member of the village community within the meaning of S. 9. ('02) 24 All 420 (422) (FB).

[9] The plaintiff brought a suit for pre-emption in respect of an under-proprietary interest in a village of which he was the superior proprietor. The vendee held under-proprietary rights in the village but neither he nor the plaintiff resided in the village. Held, that, under S. 9 of the Act, the plaintiff and the vendee were members of the village community and were equally entitled to pre-empt the property. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 271 (272) (DB) + 19 '0 Oudh 90 (92) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 539 (DB).

[10] An under-proprietor in one of the mahals of a perfectly divided village sold some land to a co-sharer in another mahal. The plaintiff, a birt-holder in the mahal in which the land was sold, sued for pre-emption of the land. It was held that the plaintiff was not a co-sharer of the tenure in which the property sold was situate but he and the vendee came under the definition of a village community given in S. 9 (5). ('12) 13 Ind Cas 631 (632) (Oudh).

[11] Where land is sold by an under-proprietor, the pre-emptor and vendee come under the definition of "Members of a village community" within the meaning of S. 9 of the Act and the right to purchase must be determined by lot. ('12) 13 Ind Cas 631 (632) (Oudh).

[12] An entire mahal, the property of an estate, was sold by the Court of Wards on behalf of the proprietor of that estate to a stranger. The plaintiff, an under-proprietor in the mahal claimed pre-emption under S. 9, cl. (3) of the Oudh Laws Act XVIII of 1876. The question was whether his status as an under-proprietary tenant constituted him a "member of the village community" under cl. (3) of S. 9 of the Act. Held that it did constitute him as such and that, consequently, he was entitled to pre-empt. ('02) 24 All 420 (423) (FB).

[13] Under S. 9 an under-proprietor of certain specified plots in a mahal of a village and the proprietor of another mahal in the same village are both members of the village community and neither has a right of pre-emption superior to that of the other. 1918 Oudh 237 (240) [AIR V 5] (DB).

[14] The village in which the land in a suit for partition was situated consisted of two proprietary mahals one of which was called Mahal M. The parties to the suit for pre-emption and several other persons sued for under-proprietary rights in M. The suit was settled by compromise under which each of the plaintiffs obtained under-proprietary rights in separate and specific plots of land. The existence of one mahal only was disclosed by the evidence and that was a mahal which was the property of the superior proprietor who had no co-sharer. It was held that the parties were not co-sharers in a tenure of any description but were members of the same village community and, as such, entitled to claim pre-emption under the last part of S. 9. ('02) 5 Oudh Cas 399 (402).

[15] A grove-holder who is not responsible for the revenue assessed on the village can only pre-empt property as a member of the village community mentioned as the third class of persons entitled to pre-empt under S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act, inasmuch as he cannot be called a co-sharer of the mahal. 1944 Oudh 27 (28) [AIR V 31] : 19 Luck 489 (DB).

[16] The owner of a grove who owns the land underneath is entitled to be considered a member of the village community. 1925 Oudh 685 (686) [AIR V 12] + ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 86 (87).

[See also ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 19 (21).]

[See however ('10) 15 Oudh Cas 202 (205) (DB).]

[17] The joint owner of the grove and scattered trees, who claims the right of pre-emption, is not entitled to that right under the Act. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 284 (289) (DB).

[18] A mere rent free grantee is not a member of the village community for pre-emption purposes within S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act. 1918 Oudh 280 (282, 283) [AIR V 5] : 21 Oudh Cas 124 (DB).

[19] A village was partitioned in 1883, between eight sets of co-sharers and was divided into eight separate mahals. In 1888 one of co-sharers mortgaged one-anna share in his mahal to G, the father of the second defendant. G obtained a conditional decree for foreclosure and it was followed by an order absolute. The first defendant brought a suit for pre-emption to which the plaintiff was not made a party. The plaintiff instituted a suit for pre-emption on the basis of the foreclosure decree obtained by G and impleaded the second defendant. It was held that the vendor, the plaintiff and the first defendant were all members of the same village community under S. 9, Cl. (3). ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 1 (5).

[20] In the matter of pre-emption ownership of land is the one condition of membership of the village community for the purpose of S. 9. It does not matter if the land consists of one plot only on which no revenue is assessed. The payment of revenue cannot be the criterion for proof of share in the village or of ownership of land. 1925 Oudh 665 (666) [AIR V 12].

[21] The circumstance that the proprietors hold lands of the village under one tenure is quite sufficient to constitute them a village community. (1900) 3 Oudh Cas 110 (120) (DB).

[22] There is nothing in the third clause of S. 9 which suggests that the vendor also must be a member of the village community to which the claimant belongs. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 257 (260) (DB).

12. Proprietor.—[1] An under-proprietor has no right of pre-emption in respect of a transfer of proprietary property, but a proprietor has such right in the case of a transfer of property held under an under-proprietary tenure under cl. 4. 1941 Oudh 77 (79) [AIR V 28] : 13 Luck 230.

13. Drawing of lots.—[1] The last clause of S. 9, Oudh Laws Act, is applicable not only where there are persons equally entitled to buy a property, and it has been sold to a person who has no right at all to acquire it, or to a person who, although he has a right to acquire it, has, as against the persons equally entitled to buy it, a less preferential right, but is also applicable where two or more persons are equally entitled to buy the property and one or more of them has or have acquired it. (1900) 3 Oudh Cas 330 (333) (DB).

[2] Where rival pre-emptors, having the right to pre-emption claim the same property in exercise of such right, the right to acquire the property must, under S. 9, be decided by lot. 1917 Oudh 214 (215) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 185n (DB).

[3] Section 9 of the Oudh Laws Act gives jurisdiction to the Court to draw lots only after the rights of the parties have been gone into and their equality of right has been ascertained. Hence a lottery before arriving at such determination is a nullity binding on neither party. 1943 Oudh 321 (322) [AIR V 30] : 19 Luck 227 (DB).

[4] Where the plaintiff and the vendee are equally entitled to the property, the question as to who is entitled to the property should be decided by drawing lots. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 271 (272) (DB)* 1928 Oudh 218 (219) [AIR V 15]* 1914 Oudh 238 (240) [AIR V 1] : 17 Oudh Cas 242.

14. Denial of title.—[1] Person denying the title of the vendor cannot claim to pre-empt the sale. ('94) 21 Cal 496 (502) : 21 Ind App 26 (PC).

[2] Previous denial of vendor's title by pre-emptor cannot deprive him of his right of pre-emption—Pre-emptor attesting adoption deed executed by A's widow in favour of B and depositing in mutation Court that B was in fact adopted by A's widow—Pre-emptor's conduct held did not amount to denial of vendor D's title as reversioner of A. 1945 Oudh 167 (170) [AIR V 32].

[3] The law of pre-emption, contained in Ss. 9, 10, 11 and 13 of the Oudh Laws Act is not applicable where the person who would be entitled to pre-emption denies the title of the person who proposes to sell and alleges that he is not a co-sharer. ('99) 2 Oudh Cas 9 (11).

15. Partial pre-emption.—[1] It is settled law that a person seeking pre-emption must sue to pre-empt all the property included in the conveyance of which his right of pre-emption exists. ('10) 13 Oudh Cas 260 (264) (DB).

[2] A pre-emptor is entitled to pre-empt even a part of the property sold if he pays the entire consideration money paid for the whole of the property sold. 1945 Oudh 167 (168) [AIR V 32]* ('44) 215 Ind Cas 116 (117) (DB) (Oudh)* 1943 Oudh 382 (383) [AIR V 30] : 19 Luck 212 (DB)* 1942 Oudh 113 (114) [AIR V 29] : 17 Luck 412* 1941 Oudh 18 (19) [AIR V 28].

[But see ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 397 (403, 404).]

[3] In spite of the fact that the right of partial pre-emption on payment of the whole consideration of the sale is recognised, the preference between the competing pre-emptors must be regulated in accordance with the order set down in S. 9. Hence where there are a number of properties included in the sale-deed all of which are pre-emptible a person who has a right to pre-empt all properties, has a superior claim to the person who is entitled to pre-empt only some of them. 1946 Oudh 77 (78) [AIR V 33 C 31].

[4] In the case of a composite sale deed, the transaction can be treated as several distinct sales each of one tenure for a proportionate price and pre-emption of a part of the property may, be allowed and each one of the properties must be considered separately to determine who has the priority in that particular property in accordance with the principles laid down in S. 9. ('49) ILR (1949) All 604 (611) (DB).

16. Share in law suit.—[1] A share in a law suit does not give rise to a claim for pre-emption. ('94) 21 Cal 496 (504) : 21 Ind App 26 (PC)* 1925 Oudh 253 (253) [AIR V 12].

[2] Where property was not in possession of the vendor at the time of the sale and he had only a doubtful right to recover it, such a right, if sold, could not be considered a proprietary or under-proprietary tenure or a share of such tenure within the meaning of S. 9 of the Act, on the sale of which a right of pre-emption could be claimed. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 86 (90) (DB)* 1925 Oudh 253 (253) [AIR V 12].

[3] Where an agreement was entered into between a vendor and a vendee by which the latter undertook to meet the costs of litigation, the amount of which was uncertain, in consideration of receiving half the property in the event of success, no money having been paid by the vendee in cash. Held, that what was transferred to the vendee was a share in a law

9A. When a suit for pre-emption lies.

No suit shall lie for enforcing a right of pre-emption under this Act in respect of a portion only of the property sold or foreclosed:

Provided that, where the plaintiff has a right of pre-emption in respect of only a portion of the property sold or foreclosed, then notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in any enactment a suit for the pre-emption of that portion only shall lie and the plaintiff shall have to pay the proportionate price or the proportionate amount due in respect of such mortgage for such portion of the property, as the case may be.]

[a] Inserted by U. P. Act XV of 1939, S. 2.

10. Notice to pre-emptors.

When any person proposes to sell any property, or when he forecloses a mortgage upon any property, in respect of which any persons have a right of pre-emption, he shall give notice to the persons concerned of the price at which he is willing to sell such property, or of the amount due in respect of such mortgage, as the case may be:

*[Provided that, where a person has a right of pre-emption in respect of a portion only of the property proposed to be sold or foreclosed, the notice to such person shall specify the proportionate amount of the price or the proportionate amount due in respect of such mortgage at which the person proposing to sell or foreclose is willing to sell or redeem such portion of the property, as the case may be.]

Such notice shall be given through the Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the property or any part thereof is situate, and shall be deemed sufficiently given if it be stuck up on the chaupal or other public place of the village or city in which the property is situate.

suit and not a share in a proprietary tenancy and that therefore it did not give rise to a right of pre-emption. 1925 Oudh 253 (254) [AIR V 12].

[4] A sale deed left the consideration with the vendee to fight out a litigation. The vendor and the vendee were not to have any claims against each other either in respect of any excess or deficit expenditure in regard to the litigation. On a question as to the nature of the transaction, Held, that it was a sale fulfilling the requirements of S. 9 of the Oudh Laws Act and S. 54 of the T. P. Act and that the mere fact that there was a cloud on the title of the vendor or that he was out of possession would not change the nature or import of the deed in question. 1945 Oudh 167 (169) [AIR V 32].

Section 9A — Note 1

[1] A sale of a mere right to recover a property cannot be the subject of a suit for a pre-emption under Chap. II of Oudh Laws Act. ('11) 11 Ind Cas 279 (280) (Oudh).

SECTION 10 — SYNOPSIS

1. "Any person."
2. "Foreclosing a mortgage."
3. Notice required by section.
4. Notice, when should be given.
5. Persons entitled to notice.
6. Omission to give notice.

7. Estoppel and waiver.*8. Proviso—Retrospective operation.

1. "Any person."—[1] The words "any person" in the phrase "when any person proposes to sell any property" in S. 10 of the Oudh Laws Act, does not include a Collector when he takes action under S. 28, U. P. Encumbered Estates Act. Consequently, a transfer in execution of a decree effected by a Collector under the latter section is not a sale in respect of which a right of pre-emption can arise under the Oudh Laws Act. 1949 All 774 (778) [AIR V 36 C 289] : I L R (1950) All 100 (DB).

2. "Foreclosing a mortgage."—[1] The expression "foreclosing a mortgage" in S. 10 refers to any action of the mortgagee which compels the mortgagor either to pay the mortgage amount or to suffer his right of redemption to be extinguished. ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 314 (317) (DB).

3. Notice required by section.—[1] The object of notice is to give persons who have a right to pre-empt an option of making an offer within three months which the person proposing to sell can accept. ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 1 (3).

[2] Section 10 provides that when a person proposes to sell any property he shall give notice of the price at which he is willing to sell such property. This obviously means that he must enter correctly in the notice all property which he proposes to sell, so that persons having the right of pre-emption can decide if they care to take that property at that price. ('04) 7 Oudh Cas 237 (238).

[3] Where a notice is given according to the Act and the price stated in the notice is fixed in good faith there must be an acceptance of the proposal by tender or payment of that price before a claim to pre-empt can succeed. ('06) 9 Oudh Cas 189 (171) (DB).

[4] The burden of proving whether the price stated in the notice was fixed in good faith lies on the plaintiff in the first instance; but only very slight evidence is required to shift the burden to the vendee. ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 1 (3).

[5] Where a mortgagee, while issuing a notice under S. 10, entered therein a sum which was not really due to him, it was unnecessary to consider whether the notice issued by him was issued at the proper time or was served properly. The decree must in such a case provide for payment by the pre-emptor of what was due on the mortgage at the date of the order absolute, or, if that exceeds the market value of the property, upon the payment of the market value. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 179 (187) (DB).

[6] A mortgagee issuing a notice under S. 10 is not entitled to claim interest up to the date of notice, but only up to the date on which the decree for foreclosure was made absolute. ('07) 10 Oudh Cas 179 (187) (DB).

[7] The amount due in respect of the mortgage on foreclosure is the amount found by the Court to be due on the mortgage, in a suit between mortgagor and mortgagee on which the decree for foreclosure is passed. That is the only amount which a mortgagee can in good faith, enter in the notice prescribed by S. 10. ('99) 2 Oudh Cas 103 (108).

[8] Section 10 requires the notice to be in writing in every case. Oral evidence of notice is inadmissible. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 254 (261).

[See also 1947 Oudh 81 (82) [AIR V 34 C 25] : 21 Luck 598. (The rigour of the law relating to notice has gradually been relaxed.)]

[9] Where a vendor has given notice under S. 10 the purchaser is not affected though the notice was issued more than one year before sale. ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 332 (335).

[10] A notice issued under S. 10 is not defective merely because by some methods of calculation it appears that the area stated in the notice is not strictly accurate. ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 332 (335).

[11] A pre-emptor who shows that the person from whom the title to the property, which carries with it the right of pre-emption had devolved on him was not given the notice required by S. 10, then such person must be held to be a legitimate pre-emptor and is entitled to acquire the subject-matter of the same. 1930 Oudh 274 (276) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 12 (FB).

[12] A vendee, who at the date of the sale was not a co-sharer, cannot defeat the suit brought by a pre-emptor by acquiring the possession of a co-sharer during the pendency of the suit, provided he has not acquired such a position from a person who was entitled to a notice under S. 10 and has not received it and whose right of pre-emption has not been extinguished by any rule of law on the date of the acquisition by the vendees. 1930 Oudh 274 (276) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 12 (FB).

[13] A right of pre-emption is enforceable in the event of a person entering into a contract for the sale of property, in respect of which other persons have a right of pre-emption, and failing to give such other persons the notice required by S. 10, and the enforcement of such right does not depend upon the existence of a sale of the property in the mode provided by S. 54, T. P. Act. ('99) 2 Oudh Cas 7 (8).

[14] In S. 10 there is no mention of a constructive notice. Every co-sharer is entitled separately to a notice or the procedure should be adopted of striking it up on the chaupal or other public places of the village in which the property is situated. 1925 Oudh 352 (354) [AIR V 12] : 28 Oudh Cas 139 (DB).

4. Notice, when should be given. —

[1] The notice referred to in S. 10 of the Act should be given at the time of filing the suit of foreclosure or with such reasonable promptitude thereafter that the three months' grace allowed under S. 12 may expire before the decree absolute is passed. The issue of notice after the date of passing the decree absolute is not valid under S. 10. ('09) 12 Oudh Cas 314 (317) (DB).

[2] To comply with S. 10 notice need not be issued before any contract to sell has been entered into. It is sufficient if it is issued after the contract has been entered into but before actual sale has been completed. 1919 Oudh 324 (325) [AIR V 6] (DB).

5. Persons entitled to notice. — [1] It is the duty of the mortgagees when they foreclose the mortgage to give notice to the plaintiff pre-emptor of the amount due in respect of such mortgage—That duty is cast on them by S. 10. ('99) 2 Oudh Cas 103 (108).

[2] When a foreclosure decree is to be passed against the members of a Hindu joint family and the joint family owns property other than that foreclosed, notice need not be served individually on all the members of the joint family. 1925 Oudh 352 (356) [AIR V 12] : 28 Oudh Cas 139 (DB).

[3] The meaning of the section is not that after the vendor has agreed to sell the property to some person he should issue a notice to those persons who have a right of pre-emption as against the vendee, but that a person who intends to sell property, which is subject to the right of pre-emption shall issue a notice to all persons who have under the law of pre-emption a right to buy. 1928 Oudh 218 (219) [AIR V 15].

[4] As an auction-purchaser has a right to claim confirmation of auction-sale that the property vested in him from the date of the auction, he is entitled to a notice under S. 10 in respect of any sale which takes place before the date of confirmation but after the date of auction and if such notice is not given to him he is entitled to pre-empt the sale. 1926 Oudh 189 (190) [AIR V 13] : 1 Luck 80 (DB).

11. Loss of right of pre-emption.

Any person having a right of pre-emption in respect of any property proposed to be sold shall lose such right, unless within three months from the date of

Section 10 — Note 5 (contd.)

[5] By S. 10 notice is to be given to the "person concerned", that is, the person who obtained a right of pre-emption by reason of the sale. Whether the plaintiffs were entitled to notice depends on whether they have a right of pre-emption or not. 1925 Oudh 352 (359) [AIR V 12] : 28 Oudh Cas 139.

[6] Only such persons are entitled to acquire or retain the property, which is the subject-matter for a claim for pre-emption, who are entitled to the proper notice prescribed by S. 10 on the date of the proposal to sell and must have received such a notice. Such persons, however, include their representatives-in-interest. 1930 Oudh 274 (276) [AIR V 17] : 5 Luck 12 (FB).

6. Omission to give notice. — [1] Where decree for foreclosure in favour of a mortgagee is made final and the mortgage is foreclosed within S. 10 no notice being given by the decree-holder under S. 10 to any of the pre-emptors and a pre-emptor institutes a suit for the declaration of his right of pre-emption and obtains a decree, the interests of the decree-holder under the foreclosure decree are transferred by operation of law to the pre-emptor who by his action places himself in the exact position of the foreclosure decree-holder and is therefore entitled to execute that decree under O. 21, R. 16. Civil P. C. The action of the foreclosure decree-holder in withdrawing his rights as decree-holder and in certifying to the Court that his decree is satisfied by the execution of a fresh mortgage by the judgment-debtor can have no effect as against the pre-emptor. 1927 Oudh 358(360) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 710 (DB).

[2] If a vendee fails to see that the vendor complies with S. 10 of the Act and files a redemption suit against the mortgagee who files a simultaneous pre-emption suit, the vendee cannot recover from the pre-emptor-mortgagee the costs of the redemption suit. (1919) Oudh 62 (67) [AIR V 8] : 22 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

[3] It is a fundamental principle of law that a person cannot take advantage of his own wrong-doing. A purchaser who purchases property, without ascertaining that it has been offered first to a person having a preferential right of purchase is assisting the vendor in evading his obligation to give notice under S. 10. 1919 Oudh 62 (68) [AIR V 8] : 22 Oudh Cas 353 (DB).

7. Estoppel and waiver. — [1] Where estoppel by acquiescence as distinct from estoppel by prescribed notice is pleaded it is necessary that there must be an offer specifying the price at which it was proposed to sell the property and refusal to purchase it. And the mere publication of a notice of a proposed auction sale in the village of a person is not sufficient to estop such person from claiming right of pre-emption. 1933 Oudh 134 (138, 139) [AIR V 20] : 8 Luck 322 (FB).

[2] Where the plaintiff never put himself forward as an heir of the deceased in the first instance but the decree-holder himself proceeded to execute against him a decree for specific performance of a contract to execute a sale deed obtained against the deceased, alleging him among others to be the legal representative of the deceased and the sale deed was finally drawn up by the Court on behalf of the widow of the deceased as his sole legal representative to the exclusion of the plaintiff and others, the plaintiff cannot be said to be a party to the deed so as to estop him from claiming pre-emption of the property conveyed by the sale-deed. 1941 Oudh 611 (612, 614) [AIR V 28] : 17 Luck 164 (DB).

[3] Pre-emptor, though aware of sale, not objecting—Vendee spending money in getting sale deed—Pre-emptor present when sale deed was executed and registered—Refusal of pre-emptor to purchase and his consent to sale, held could be inferred. 1947 Oudh 81 (85) [AIR V 34 C 25] : 21 Luck 598.

[4] Mere omission or refusal to accept an oral offer of sale does not of itself, and without some positive act of the pre-emptor by way of discharging the vendor, constitute a waiver of the right of pre-emption or dispense with performance of the obligation to serve a written notice. (198) 1 Oudh Cas 254, 262.

[5] Village devolved by, on several grantees living in England—Owners desiring to dispose of the property—Property divided into blocks and put in market for some time—Blocks delineated in separate plans—Separate khasras and Jamabandis prepared—One block purchased by P—P having knowledge that other blocks were also in the market and knowing their prices—P informing that he did not wish to purchase other blocks—Oral agreement to sell to third person entered prior to agreement with P—P held not entitled to pre-empt. 1929 P. C. 259 (280) [AIR V 18] : 56 Ind App 356 : 4 Luck 421.

8. Proviso — Retrospective operation. —

[1] The Amending Act 15 of 1939 lays down that the law as it stood created hardship inasmuch as it forbids pre-emption of a part of the property upon payment of a proportionate part of the price and therefore it was necessary to remove the defect in the law and amend it so as to permit partial permission. 1943 Oudh 382 (384) [AIR V 30] : 19 Luck 212 (DB).

[2] Act XV of 1939—which amended S. 10 of the Oudh Laws Act does not expressly lay down that it shall be retrospective nor can an intention that it should be retrospective in its operation be inferred by implication from its provisions. 1943 Oudh 382 (383) [AIR V 30] : 19 Luck 212 (DB) + 1943 Oudh 129 (130) [AIR V 30] : 18 Luck 397 (DB).

Section 11 — Note 1

[1] Section 11 lays down the procedure where the sale-deed has not been executed yet. 1923 Oudh 91 (92) [AIR V 10].

such notice he or his agent pays or tenders the price *[specified in the notice given under the preceding section] to the person so proposing to sell.

[a] Substituted for "aforesaid" by U. P. Act XV of 1939, S. 4.

12. Right of pre-emptor on foreclosure.

When the right of pre-emption arises in respect of the foreclosure of a mortgage *[or a portion of the mortgage], any person entitled to such right may, at any time within three months after the giving of the notice required by section 10, pay or tender to the mortgagee or his successor in title the amount specified in such notice, and shall thereupon acquire a right to purchase the property, *[or a portion thereof, as the case may be].

On completion of the purchase the person exercising the right of pre-emption shall be bound to pay to the mortgagee or his successor in title the amount specified in such notice, together with interest on the principal sum secured by the mortgage *[or the proportionate amount of such principal sum in respect of the portion of the property in which he possesses the right of pre-emption, as the case may be], at the rate specified by the instrument of mortgage, for any time which has elapsed since the date of the notice, and any additional costs which may have been properly incurred by the mortgagee or his successor in title.

[a] Inserted by U. P. Act XV of 1939, S. 5.

13. Suit to enforce right of pre-emption.

Any person entitled to a right of pre-emption may bring a suit to enforce such right on any of the following grounds (namely):—

- (a) that no due notice was given as required by section 10;
- (b) that tender was made under section 11 or section 12 and refused;
- (c) in the case of a sale, that the price stated in the notice was not fixed in good faith;

Section 12 — Note 1

[1] Under the provisions of S. 12 the mortgagee is entitled to be paid by the pre-emptor the costs properly incurred by him in obtaining a decree for foreclosure of the mortgage. (1900) 3 Oudh Cas 184 (191) (DB).

SECTION 13 — SYNOPSIS

1. Persons entitled to bring suit.
2. Suit to enforce right of pre-emption.
3. "In good faith."
4. Market value of property.
5. Word "and" in cl. (d) and last para.

1. Persons entitled to bring suit. —

[1] The words "entitled to a right of pre-emption" as used in S. 13 must be construed as meaning entitled at the date of suit. There is nothing in the language of the section to support the interpretation that a person entitled to a right of pre-emption at the date of sale may bring a suit to enforce such rights even after he has ceased to be so entitled. The plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption must show that he possessed the necessary qualifications not only at the date of sale but also at the date of suit. 1931 Oudh 281 (284) [AIR V 18] : 7 Luck 51 (FB).

[2] The knowledge of the karta of a joint Hindu family in respect of the sale transaction cannot be deemed to be the knowledge of the other members of the family so as to estop them from bringing a suit for pre-emption. 1949 Oudh 65 (65) [AIR V 36 C 15] : 23 Luck 139 + 1929 Oudh 158 (160) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 524 (DB).

[3] If the notice required by S. 10 be not served on the holder, his heir is entitled to bring a suit under the provisions of S. 13. 1916 Oudh 247 (249) [AIR V 3] : 18 Oudh Cas 256 (DB).

2. Suit to enforce right of pre-emption.

—[1] The true interpretation of S. 13 seems to be that in all cases a violation of the right is an essential condition to the bringing of a suit for enforcement of it. There can be no cause of action without an invasion of the plaintiff's right. (10) 13 Oudh Cas 219 (228) (DB).

[2] The claims of the pre-emptor must be determined with reference to the position of his co-sharership not only at the date of sale but also at the date of suit and the position claimed by the vendee must be determined only with reference to his position as a co-sharer at the date of sale. 1931 Oudh 281 (283, 284) [AIR V 18] : 7 Luck 51 (FB).

[3] The plaintiff in a suit for pre-emption has to show that his right to pre-empt still subsists at the time he brings the suit for. As is explained in the preceding sections, such a right may be lost by failure to tender within three months from the date of the notice. (10) 13 Oudh Cas 219 (228) (DB).

[4] R owned property in respect of which J S had a right of pre-emption R entered into negotiations with M who made a tenta-

(d) in the case of a mortgage, that the amount claimed by the mortgagee was not really due on the footing of the mortgage and was not claimed in good faith, and that it exceeds the fair market-value of the property mortgaged, * [or the portion of the property mortgaged in respect of which he possesses the right of pre-emption, as the case may be.]

If, in the case of a sale, the Court finds that the price was not fixed in good faith, the Court shall fix such price as appears to it to be the fair market-value of the property sold, * [or the portion of the property sold in respect of which he possesses the right of pre-emption, as the case may be].

If, in the case of a mortgage, the Court finds that the amount claimed by the mortgagee was not really due on the footing of the mortgage, and that it was not claimed in good faith and that it exceeds the fair market-value of the property mortgaged * [or the portion of the property mortgaged in respect of which he possesses the right of pre-emption, as the case may be], the amount to be paid to the mortgagee shall not exceed what the Court finds to be such market-value.

[a] Inserted by U. P. Act XV of 1939, S. 6.

Section 13 — Note 2 (contd.)

tive offer of Rs. 1,200 for it. R thereupon gave the notice required by S. 10 to J S that R was ready to sell the property for Rs. 1,200. J S made a tender of Rs. 1,200 by paying the said sum into Court. The tender was made within three months from the date of notice, but R and M did not continue the transaction. M resiled from the bargain and the property was not sold. J S came into Court claiming that under the provisions of S. 13 (b) he being the person entitled to a right of pre-emption could bring a suit to enforce such a right on the ground that he had made a tender under S. 11 and that that tender had been refused. Held that there had been no transfer by sale and the property had remained in possession of R. J S had therefore, no right to the property. 1927 Oudh 438 (439) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 726 (DB).

[5] The Court should only look as to who is the transferee according to proper construction of the deed and the suit for pre-emption would lie against such transferee. 1927 Oudh 509 (509, 510) [AIR V 14] (DB).

3. "In good faith." — [1] The words "in good faith" under S. 13 mean 'honestly' and the word 'honestly' applied to the fixing of the price of the property sold which is subject to pre-emption must import that the price fixed was meant to be actually paid and was not to be false or fictitious one in order to make out the value to be higher than the reality and to defeat pre-emption. 1927 Oudh 361 (362, 363) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 694 (DB).

[2] To determine whether the price has been fixed in good faith the Court can examine whether there is any very great difference between that price and the market value of the property. 1920 Oudh 76 (79) [AIR V 7] : 22 Oudh Cas 335 (DB).

[3] A Court has a perfect right to decide on the facts whether property has been genuinely sold for a fancy price which has been paid to and enjoyed by the vendor or whether the sale price has been fixed fictitiously in order to defeat claims for pre-emption and has not been actually enjoyed by the vendor. 1917

Oudh 172 (2) (173) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 236.

[4] In the absence of actual evidence to show that the price was fixed in bad faith, no legal presumption to that effect can arise simply because it is found that the price paid by the vendee, as well as even that offered by the pre-emptor are, in view of the recorded income of the property, such as no reasonable man actuated by business principles would offer. 1927 Oudh 361 (363) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 694 (DB) + 1917 Oudh 172 (2) (173) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 236.

[5] Where a pre-emption suit is decreed and it is found that deliberately a fictitious price was entered in the sale deed, the vendee's price are not entitled to the value of stamps and cost of registration of the fictitious deed. 1940 Oudh 120 (128) [AIR V 27] : 16 Luck 1 (FB).

[6] In the absence of any special reason for paying fancy price for a property, the fact that such a fancy price has been entered in the sale deed is in itself evidence of the price being fictitious. 1919 Oudh 55 (57) [AIR V 6].

[7] The mere fact that an excessive or a fancy price is paid for the property or that the vendee fails to make proper inquiries about the property does not establish that the price was not fixed in good faith. 1927 Oudh 361 (362) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 694 (DB).

[8] If the price entered in the deed greatly exceeds the market value, that fact would be relevant to the issue of good faith but it would be open to the vendee to show special circumstances which induced him to pay a fancy price for the property. 1920 Oudh 76 (79) [AIR V 7] : 22 Oudh Cas 335 (DB).

[9] Chapter 2 of the Oudh Laws Act does not allow any discretion to a Court in a pre-emption suit to go into the question of the good faith of the plaintiff. 1919 Oudh 1 (4) [AIR V 6] : 22 Oudh Cas 323 (DB).

4. Market value of property. — [1] A court in a pre-emption suit can decide on facts whether the property was sold for a fancy or fictitious price and can further determine its market value if it holds that the sale price was fixed in bad faith. 1927 Oudh 361

14. Decree to fix time for payment.

If the Court find for the plaintiff, the decree shall specify a day on or before which the purchase-money or the amount to be paid to the mortgagee shall be paid.

15. Effect of non-payment of purchase-money.

If such purchase-money or amount is not paid into Court before it rises on that day, the decree shall become void, and the plaintiff shall, so far only as relates to such sale or mortgage, lose his right of pre-emption over the property to which the decree relates.

Section 13 — Note 4 (contd.)

(363) [AIR V 14] : 2 Luck 694 (DB) * 1917 Oudh 172 (2) (173) [AIR V 4] : 19 Oudh Cas 236.

[2] Market value of a property is a question of fact unless an error of law in determining the market value is pointed out. 1929 Oudh 244 (246) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 643 (DB).

[3] Where the court arrives at a finding that the price fixed in the deed has not been fixed in good faith it is its duty to determine what is the fair market value of the property sold. No doubt in many cases the price actually paid is a very good indication for determining the fair market value of the property sold, and that it is an element which the Courts must consider in determining the market value but the court must not treat the money actually paid as conclusive evidence of the market value. The market value, however, so determined should not exceed the sale price mentioned in the deed. 1929 Oudh 244 (245) [AIR V 16] : 4 Luck 643 (DB) * 1940 Oudh 120 (128) [AIR V 27] : 16 Luck 1 (FB) * 1936 Oudh 100 (101, 102) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[4] Even if no notice has been given of the intended sale, the Court should fix the fair market-value, if the price fixed in the sale deed is found to be fictitious or not fixed in good faith. The price to be paid by the pre-emptor is the fair market-value and not the sum actually paid by the purchaser. 1936 Oudh 100 (101) [AIR V 23] (DB).

[5] When the plaintiff in a suit under Ch. 2 of the Act alleges that the price stated in the sale deed is fictitious and the allegation is denied, the court under S. 13 of the Act has not to determine what the price paid for the property actually is, but whether the price stated in the deed is fictitious as alleged and if so what the fair market value of the property is. 1926 Oudh 68 (1) (68) [AIR V 13] * ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 158 (161) (DB).

[6] If the plaintiff succeeds in showing that the price stated in the sale deed is fictitious, he is not entitled to acquire the property for the price actually paid, but must pay for it a price equivalent to the fair market value. ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 158 (161) (DB).

[7] Under S. 13 of the Oudh Laws Act if any single item forming part of the price mentioned in the sale-deed is found to be fictitious the Court must fix such price as appears to it to be the fair market value of the property sold. 1919 Oudh 55 (57) [AIR V 6].

[8] The market value of the property in a pre-emption suit may be ascertained and treated as evidence in dealing with the question of bad faith. ('98) 1 Oudh Cas 227 (229).

[9] Where a person has purchased a property for a price much above the market value the pre-emptor must pay the price so paid before he can be allowed to pre-empt. The fact that an excessive or a fabulous price has been paid will not enable the pre-emptor to acquire the property at the market value even though such price may have been paid for the purpose of injuring or annoying the pre-emptor. ('11) 9 Ind Cas 58 (59) (Oudh).

5. Word "and" in cl. (d) and last para.

—[1] The word 'and' in cl. (d) and the last paragraph of S. 13 should be understood in its natural grammatical sense to indicate a conjunctive sense and not a disjunctive sense and cannot be read as 'or'. To read 'and' as 'or' would be wholly inconsistent not only with the provisions of the Act relating to sales but also with the provisions of Ss. 10 and 12 of the Act relating to foreclosure. In this view it must be held that it is necessary to prove the existence of all the three conditions mentioned therein before the Court can reduce the amount payable to mortgagee. 1951 All 119 (121) [AIR V 38 C 14] : 1 L R (1952) 1 All 194 (FB). (10 Oudh Cas 179 and AIR 1943 Oudh 282, Overruled.)

Section 14 — Note 1

[1] In suits between rival pre-emptors the claimant with inferior right should be granted a decree conditional on the claimant with superior right failing to avail himself of his decree. ('01) 4 Oudh Cas 397 (406).

[2] The procedure controlling the deposit of purchase money in a suit for pre-emption is stated in Ss. 14 and 15 of the Oudh Laws Act, 1876, and not in the rules of the Code of Civil Procedure. The expression "purchase money" means the whole of the purchase money as specified in the decree. 1927 Oudh 69 (69) [AIR V 14] : 1 Luck 158 (DB).

Section 15 — Note 1

[1] Section 15 in most unequivocal terms declares what the consequences shall be if the purchase money is not paid into Court as required by that section. 1920 Oudh 25 (28) [AIR V 7] : 23 Oudh Cas 254.

[2] Under S. 15 the pre-emptor is bound to pay the purchase-money as specified in the decree into Court, and this obligation is independent of the question whether the decree did or did not expressly prescribe payment into Court. ('11) 14 Oudh Cas 85 (88)

CHAPTER III

PROCEDURE OF THE COURTS

16. Rule of limitation.

The Judicial Commissioner's Circular No. 101 of July, 1860, shall be held to have been a notification within the meaning of section 24 of Act 14 of 1859,* and such Act shall be deemed to have been in force in Oudh from the fourth day of July, 1862; and all orders and decrees passed under the rules contained in the said Circular, or under the said Act, shall be deemed to have been passed under a law in force for the time being.

Section 15 — Note 1 (contd.)

(DB) * (05) 8 Oudh Cas 57 (59) (DB). (Payment by pre-emptor out of Court — No payment in pre-emption suits, except a payment directly into Court, can be held valid under this section.)

[3] A decree, declaring that in default of payment of the amount specified therein the suit shall stand dismissed, becomes a decree for dismissal on the happening of such default. Such an order of dismissal is appealable as a decree, to the proper Court and no revision can be entertained by the second appellate Court. 1914 Oudh 221 (222) [AIR V 1].

[4] Section 15 is mandatory and the attempted payment of purchase money at 6.30 P.M. at the house of subordinate Judge is not a payment as required by S. 15. 1920 Oudh 25 (28) [AIR V 7]; 23 Oudh Cas 254.

[5] A Court has no power under S. 148, Civil P. C. to enlarge the time fixed in a decree for pre-emption for depositing the purchase money. 1920 Oudh 25 (29) [AIR V 7]; 23 Oudh Cas 254.

[6] Although it is true that the Court has no jurisdiction to extend the time for payment of purchase money of a pre-emption decree and that such money should be paid in Court to render the payment valid, yet where the vendee by inducing the plaintiffs to believe that he would part with the property on receipt of money even after due date, has obtained money from the plaintiffs, he is estopped from contesting the plaintiff's right to execute the decree. 1924 Oudh 153 (154) [AIR V 11].

[7] The validity or otherwise of the tender of the purchase money has to be determined with reference to S. 15 and not O. 20, R. 14, Civil P. C. 1920 Oudh 25 (27) [AIR V 7]; 23 Oudh Cas 254.

[8] The mere submission of a tender for the deposit of a decree amount as per terms of a pre-emption decree on a particular date cannot be regarded as payment on that date so as to constitute compliance with the terms of S. 15 which must be construed strictly. 1948 Oudh 47 (49) [AIR V 35 C 22]; 22 Luck 497 (DB). (Amount paid to Nazir shortly after 3 P.M. on last day — Refusal is not justified.)

[9] The right of pre-emption is not lost when the pre-emptor has not deposited the amount fixed by the trial Court but has preferred an appeal contesting the amount either before or after the expiry of the time fixed by the trial Court and the appeal does not become infructuous by reason of his failing to deposit the money. 1940 Oudh 120 (127) [AIR

V 27]; 16 Luck 1 (FB) (AIR 1924 Oudh 102, Overruled); * 1942 Oudh 399 (2) (401) [AIR V 29]; 18 Luck 164 (DB).

[10] The word "decree" as used in S. 15 must be read as meaning the final decree passed in the case. It would be contrary to sound principle to compel the plaintiff to pay the amount decreed by the trial Court and to subject him to the penalty of losing his right of pre-emption if he fails to do so when he has a right to question the correctness of the amount made payable by the trial Court by means of an appeal against it. 1932 Oudh 63 (66) [AIR V 19]; 7 Luck 350 (DB).

[11] In accordance with a decree in a pre-emption suit, the money was tendered in court within the time fixed by the decree, the form of application prescribed therefor by the Oudh Civil Court Rules framed under Ss. 122 and 127 of the C. P. Code was duly filled up and received by the Munsif. The party entitled to the money under the decree applied to the court for permission to withdraw the amount; the court, after being satisfied, that the property had been handed over to the plaintiff, directed payment out, without resorting to the cumbersome process, of the money being first placed into the treasury and then withdrawn therefrom under order of court by the decree-holder. The money under such circumstances was held to have been validly paid into court within the meaning of S. 15 of the Act. 1931 Oudh 22 (25) [AIR V 18]; 5 Luck 116 (DB).

[12] The respondent obtained a pre-emption decree subject to payment of Rs. 60 which he duly deposited but subsequently attached and withdrew on account of the amount due to him for costs a sum of Rs. 22/-. The appellate Court increased the amount payable for the property to Rs. 108-6-0. He accordingly paid the balance of Rs. 26-6-0 and obtained possession of the property. Under the decree both parties were to pay their own costs in the event of the plaintiff complying with the decree. On the matter being brought to notice the plaintiff paid in the amount of Rs. 22/- which he had withdrawn but not within the one month allowed by the decree — Held that there was a sufficient compliance with the decree, 34 All 596, Foll. It made no difference that in Oudh the right of pre-emption is a statutory right and payment is made in accordance with S. 15 of the Act. 1923 Oudh 271 (271, 272) [AIR V 10].

Nothing in this section affects the provisions of sections 102, 104, 105, 106, 107 and 108 of the Oudh Rent Act (XIX of 1868)<sup>b</sup> with regard to the limitation of suits under that Act.

[a] See now the Limitation Act, 1908 (IX of 1908). [b] Act XIX of 1868 was repealed by the Oudh Rent Act, 1886 (XXII of 1886), S. 2, Act XXII of 1886 was repealed by the U. P. Tenancy Act, 1939 (U. P. XVII of 1939).

18. Recognized agents. [Repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (XII of 1891).]

19. Rules for taking evidence.

*Section 172 of Act No. 8 of 1859 is hereby repealed, so far as the province of Oudh is concerned, and the following section is substituted therefor :—

“On the day appointed for the hearing of the suit, or on some other day to which the hearing may be adjourned, the evidence of the witnesses in attendance shall be taken orally in open Court in the presence and hearing and under the personal direction and superintendence of the Judge.

“A note of the essential points of the evidence of each witness is to be taken at the time, and in the course of oral examinations, by the officer who tries the case, in his own language, or in English if he is sufficiently acquainted with that language and such note shall be filed, and shall form part of the record of the case.

“If the evidence be taken down in a different language from that in which it has been given, and the witness does not understand the language in which it is taken down, the witness may require his deposition as taken down to be interpreted to him in the language in which it was given.

“It shall be in the discretion of the Court to take down, or cause to be taken down, any particular question and answer, if there appear any special reason for so doing, or any party or his pleader requires it.

“If any question put to a witness be objected to by either of the parties or their pleaders, and the Court allow the same to be put, the question and the answer shall be taken down, and the objection and the name of the party making it shall be noticed in taking down the depositions, together with the decision of the Court upon the objection.

“The Court shall record such remarks as it may think material respecting the demeanour of the witness while under examination.

“[“The note as above required may be written and signed by the Judge with his own hand or typed to his dictation in open Court and signed by him with his own hand, and such note shall form part of the record.”]

CHAPTER IV

VILLAGE AND ROAD-POLICE

29. Right to nominate village-policemen.

The nomination to the post of village-policeman shall be made by the zamindar of the village, or, where there are more zamindars than one, by the lambardar as their representative ; and, where there are more lambardars than one, the opinion of the majority (unless there is some special provision to the contrary in the village administration-paper) shall prevail.

30. Obligation to nominate.

Every person authorized to nominate to the office of village-policeman shall, within fifteen days after the occurrence of a vacancy in such office, nominate a proper person to the vacant post, and communicate the nomination to the Magistrate of the district.

31. Discretion to appoint or reject nominee.

The person so nominated shall, after due enquiry into his age, character and ability, be appointed or rejected by the <sup>A</sup>[State Government].

32. Power to Government to appoint.

In default of such nomination within the said fifteen days, the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] shall appoint such person as <sup>A</sup>[it] thinks fit to the vacancy.

Procedure in case of rejection of nominee.

If the nomination has been made within the said fifteen days, but the nominee is rejected, the person authorized to nominate shall, within fifteen days from the date of such rejection, nominate another person to the vacant post ; and in default of such nomination, or if such nomination has been made but the nominee is again rejected, the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] shall appoint such person as it thinks fit to the vacancy.

[a] Substituted for "he" by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

33. Appointment of road-police.

Subject to the rules to be framed under section 39 and for the time being in force, the <sup>A</sup>[State Government] may from time to time appoint persons to be <sup>A</sup>[road-police].

[a] Substituted for "the road-police of his district", by A. O., 1937 [1-4-1937].

34. Duties of village and road policemen.

Every village-policeman and every road-policeman shall perform the following duties :—

- (a) he shall give immediate information to the officer in charge of the police-station appointed for his village or beat—
  - (1) of every unnatural, suspicious or sudden death occurring in the village of which he is chaukidar, or within his beat ;
  - (2) of each of the following offences occurring in such village or on such beat (that is to say), murder, culpable homicide, rape, dacoity, theft, robbery, mischief by fire, house-breaking, counterfeiting coin, causing grievous hurt, riot, harbouring a proclaimed offender, exposure of a child, concealment of birth, administering stupefying drugs, kidnapping, lurking house-trespass ; and
  - (3) of all attempts and preparations to commit, and abetments of, any of the said offences ;
- (b) he shall keep the police informed of all disputes which are likely to lead to any riot or serious affray ;
- (c) he shall arrest all proclaimed offenders, and all persons whom he may find in the act of committing any offence specified in paragraph (a), clause (2), of this section ;
- (d) he shall observe and from time to time report to the officer in charge of the police-station within the jurisdiction of which his village or beat may be situate, the movements of all bad characters in or on such village or beat ;
- (e) he shall report to the officer in charge of such police station the arrival of suspicious characters in the neighbourhood ;
- (f) he shall supply to the best of his ability any local information which a Magistrate or any officer of police may require, and shall promptly execute all orders issued to him by competent authority.

35. Procedure on arrest by village or road-policeman.

Whenever a village-policeman or road-policeman arrests any person, he shall take him as soon as possible to the police-station within the jurisdiction of which his village or beat is situate.

36. Dismissal of village or road-policeman.

The Magistrate of the district may dismiss any village-policeman or road-policeman for any misconduct or neglect of duty.

Where any village-policeman is guilty of neglect of duty or other misconduct, the person authorized to nominate to his office may report him for dismissal to the Magistrate of the district ; and such Magistrate shall dismiss him accordingly, unless the Magistrate has reason to think that such dismissal would be improper.

37. Acts punishable.

Every village-policeman and road-policeman guilty of any wilful misconduct in his office, or of neglect of duty, such misconduct or neglect not being an offence within the meaning of the Indian Penal Code, or withdrawing from the duties of his office without permission and without having given at least two months' notice of his intention to withdraw from such duties to the persons authorized to nominate or appoint under sections 29, 32 and 33 (as the case may be), or offering any unnecessary personal violence to any person in his custody, shall be liable, on conviction before a Magistrate, to a penalty not exceeding three months' pay, or to imprisonment for a period not exceeding three months, or to both.

Penalty.

38. Fines to be credited to such fund as Government appoints.

All fines levied under this Act on village-policemen or road-policemen shall be credited to such fund as the <sup>a</sup>[State Government] from time to time appoints.

LIMITATION ACT, 1908.

A. I. R. 1963 Punj. 457 (459) (C. 127 Pr. 7) — Grover J. — "As stated in Chitaley's Limitation Act, (8rd Edition), Volume 1 Page 524, the words 'Stayed by an injunction or order' have reference to an order of a court and not to a disability to sue or to apply arising from other causes."

A. I. R. 1961 Pat. 134 (137) (C. 35 Pr. 18) — Raj Kishore Prasad J. — "The question under consideration has been thoroughly and clearly dealt with in A. I. R. Commentaries on the Indian Limitation Act, 3rd Edition, Vol. I, Note 11, page 595. Note 18, pages 601.604 and Note 32 page 638."

A. I. R. 1960 Kerala 306 (308) (C. 144 Pr. 17) — M. S. Menon and T. K. Joseph JJ. — "As pointed out by Chitaley: 'Where no time is fixed for delivery, if the correspondence between the parties shows that the matter was being enquired into and that there was no refusal to deliver up to well within a year of the suit, this article (Art. 31) cannot be pleaded as a bar . . . . . ' (Limitation Act, Vol. 2, Page 1137)".

A. I. R. 1959 Mad. 26 (27, 28) (C. 6 Pr. 10) — Ramaswami J. — "This conflict of opinion has been settled by a Bench decision of this Court in Kampanna Gowder v. Ponnuthayee, 1955.2 Mad. L.J. (N. B. C.) 62=(A. I. R. 1956 Mad. 198). . . . In this connection it is interesting to note that in the A. I. R. Commentaries on the Limitation Act, the view expressed in this Bench decision is submitted to be the correct view (Vol. I page 568)."
